BADGER RUNNERS IN GRAND SHAPE

Wisconsin Cross-Country Men Hope to Win Meet at Urbana.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 18.—The Badger cross-country runners go to Urbana Saturday for the Big Ten conference meet with one overwhelming victory to their credit and one hard-fought defeat registered against them. Coach George T. Bresnahan says that his men are in top shape and stand on equal terms with other teams for chances at the championship.

The victory of Minnesota on Nov. 6 by a three-point margin over Wisconsin has not discouraged the Badger runners. They were without the support of Mark H. Wall of Eau Claire, the star of the team, who was out with an injured foot. He is expected to be in shape to run in the conference meet.

Minnesota and Purdue loom as the strongest competitors, with Ames rated as a leading contender once more for the Western championship. The Badgers expect to repeat their performance of previous years and lead the field in the coming event.

Dayton Finished Second.

Willard L. Dayton of Rhinelander was the leading Wisconsin man in the Minnesota meet. He came in second. G. C. Wade of Wauwatosa finished fourth as the second Badger and Henry C. Dennis of Cortland, N. Y., was the next to finish, being in sixth place. These men, with Capt. Wellington Brothers of Evanston, Ill., and R. A. Noble of Riceville, Iowa, will again make up the Wisconsin team. Wade, who is running his first year, made an unexpected showing two weeks ago. He is counted on for a good showing in the conference, as is Dennis. Dennis and Dayton are the two smallest runners in the conference. Neither weighs more than 100 pounds and they stand but a few inches over five feet. Both have made names for themselves as distance runners and will be among the leaders, it is predicted. Capt. Brothers has failed to show his usual form this year.

Wisconsin was an easy winner in the conference last season, but lost the Western title to Ames. Purdue and Minnesota are said to be the strongest contenders at the present meet. Coach Bresnahan says that they will meet a rejuvenated Wisconsin team which has been tempered by its two weeks of careful training since the last race.

BELGIAN CONTENDER BRINGS ALONG PET CUE

New York, Nov. 18.—Edouard Horemans, Belgian billiard wizard, who arrived here yesterday to arrange a championship match with Willie Hoppe, brought with him his pet "patched" cue, with which he won nearly all his European contests.

It has been repaired, spliced and swaddled with adhesive tape seven times. Belgium, France and Holland have furnished various pieces of wood in making the composite one it is today. Horemans intends to use it in all his matches in this country.

CHASE TO RETURN WHEN EXTRADITED

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 18.—Hal Chase, former major league first baseman, will not respond voluntarily to the indictment issued against him by the Chicago grand jury in connection with its inquiry into alleged baseball crookedness, he said here yesterday. He also said the New York National league club had offered him a contract which he had refused.

Pressure of business interests in California will prevent him from going to Chicago in answer to the indictment, unless he is extradited, Chase said.

"If it were not for private reasons I would be glad to go to Chicago to testify, if they wanted me. They haven't anything on me," he declared.

ILLINOIS CAPTAIN OUT OF FINAL GAME

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 18.—Joy over the news that Halfback Don Peden may recover from the injury to his arm and be able to play part of the game against Ohio State next Saturday was turned to gloom today when it was learned that Capt. John Depler, center, received a serious injury to his shoulder in the final four minutes of scrimmage last night.

WHITE SOX GARNER TWO MORE RECRUITS

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Secretary Harry Grabinger of the Chicago American Baseball league club today announced the signing of two players. One of them is Johnny Mostil, an outfielder, who was with the White Sox spring camp for the past few seasons. He played with the Milwaukee American association team the past two seasons.

Mikey Collins, the othtr player signed, performed last season with an independent local team as outfielder.

REFUSE MAN O' WAR TO OUTSIDE BREEDERS

New York, Nov. 18.—Man o' War, the super-horse, will not become a public stallion, as was recently announced by his owner, Samuel Riddle, but will be turned over to Walter M. Jeffords, who will breed him only to his own mares. This announcement today caused disappointment to many well known breeders.

CLOSED SEASON ON MUSKRATS

Governor Burnquist Issues Special Order to Protect Animals.

The humble muskrat which makes its home in the rivers and feeders of the inlands lakes is threatened with extinction in this state as a result of the great demands of the furriers covering a period of years. Conditions have arrived at the point where muskrat pelts have become so scarce that they are practically off the market.

Realizing that unless this hardy little animal is given prompt and efficient protection, it will be wiped out completely, Governor J. A. A. Burnquist, through a special order, has closed the season on muskrats until the adjournment of the 1921 regular session of the state legislature, unless sooner revoked or modified.

Traffic in muskrat pelts has been brisk covering a period of years and the ascending prices in recent seasons has caused a great slaughter of the animals by hunters and trappers. Until recent years the average muskrat pelt brought from 10 cents to 25 cents. From this low figure the value increased until two years ago a good muskrat pelt was worth as high as $6. On account of the present scarcity they are practically off the market right now.

A prominent Duluth furrier stated this morning that more than 40 per cent of the furs used in coats, capes, caps, linings and trimmings were muskrat. All of the near-seal coats were made from the muskrat pelts.

MAJOR LEAGUES MAY LENGTHEN SCHEDULES

New York, Nov. 18.—When the major leagues hold their annual meeting in February, they will consider a proposition to lengthen each team's schedule to 168 games instead of 154, as heretofore, it was learned today.

Proponents of the plan argued that since many of the teams are allowed to play on Sunday on their home grounds, the season would not be unduly lengthened by the proposed change.

GOTHAM FIGHT BAN BEFORE COMMISSION

New York, Nov. 18.—The question of lifting the ban on heavyweight boxing bouts here was before the meeting of the state boxing commission and license committee today. Holding of the forthcoming championship match between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier in or near New York, was said to hinge on the outcome of today's decision.

DENIES CICOTTE WILL TURN STATE'S EVIDENCE

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 18.—Daniel P. Cassidy, attorney for Eddie Cicotte, yesterday denied published reports that the former White Sox pitcher had agreed to turn state's evidence when the men indicted by the Cook county grand jury, in the recent baseball investigation, are tried.

Billiard Tourney Begins.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—John Layton of Sedalia, Mo., continued yesterday his steady playing in the preliminaries for the national three-cushion billiard championship, defeating Charles Morin of Chicago, 50 to 23, in forty-five innings. Joseph Capron of Chicago won his first game of the tournament, defeating Hugh Heal of Toledo, 50 to 49.

One Meeting Only.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Instead of holding two winter meetings, the affairs of the American association will be transacted in one, President Hickey announced last night. The combined business and schedule meeting will be held here Feb. 15.

Leonard Easy Winner.

New York, Nov. 18.—Benny Leonard, the lightweight champion, won a technical decision over Harlem Eddie Kelly in the fifth round of a scheduled 12-round contest at the Commonwealth Sporting club here last night. The referee stopped the bout after Leonard had severely punished the local boxer.

COUNTRY CLUB OPENS ROSTER

Membership Limit Extended to 350; Mitchell Re-elected President.

Oscar Mitchell, prominent Duluth attorney, was re-elected president of the Northland Country club at the annual meeting held last evening at the clubhouse near Lakeside. George W. Welles, John S. Lutes and Pentecost Mitchell were re-elected directors, each for a three-year term. A secretary, treasurer and vice president will be named in the near future by the president and directors.

For several years the corporate membership of the club has been limited to 300. At last evening's gathering the limit was raised so that fifty additional members can be taken in. The annual membership fee, which has been $60, was boosted to $100. Nonresident membership fees, which were $15, were raised to $25. Associate members will pay $25 a year instead of $15, as formerly, and the junior membership fee was raised from $5 to $10.

While the attendance was not as large as expected the meeting was an enthusiastic one and was featured with many interesting discussions.

RUTH ECLIPSED BY CUBAN WONDER

Havana, Nov. 18.—During the series of baseball games played by the New York Giants in this city, Babe Ruth, the champion home run hitter, compiled a batting average of .345, but managed to hit only twice for the circuit. He scored five times, his efforts with the bat resulting in two home runs, three triples, three doubles and two singles. He struck out six times.

Ruth was signed by a local promoter for ten more games in this city. During the contests in which he figured during his first series here, capacity crowds gathered at the baseball park, the enthusiasts having but one ambition—to see Babe hit the ball out of the park.

Torriente, a member of a team which met the Giants last week, eclipsed the efforts of Ruth by hitting three homers in one game. As a result of this feat, he has been named by local lovers of the game the "Babe Ruth of Cuba."

EVERS HOMECOMING BANQUET DEC. 17

Chicago, Nov. 18.—The date for the homecoming banquet to be tendered Johnny Evers, newly appointed manager of the Chicago National baseball league club, the Cubs, was set today for Dec. 7. Judge Landis, recently appointed chairman of the national commission, will be asked to act as toastmaster. Many baseball officials from other cities are expected to attend. Jack Hendricks and Roger Bresnahan, prominent American association managers, have sent in reservation requests.

Johnny Evers is remembered as the "keystone pilot" of the 1907 and 1908 championship years, in which the "Tinker to Evers to Chance" combination became famous.

STRONG IN 1921.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 18.—With the football season past history for this year, Princeton is looking forward to the prospects for next year's team, which should be superior to even the 1920 aggregation if material means anything.

CHAMPION ORIOLES TO REMAIN INTACT

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 18.—With virtually his entire team signed up—the same players who won the championship of the International league for the Orioles, the last two seasons and the inter-league series with the St. Paul American association club this fall, Jack Dunn, manager of the Baltimore club is not worrying about next year's baseball problems.

His team very probably will train at Goldsboro, N. C., next spring, it was understood today, if some improvements he desires in the club house are made.

AMATEURS CLASH IN SERIES OF FIGHTS

New York, Nov. 18.—Amateur boxers representing Philadelphia and New York clubs, will meet in a series of bouts here tonight. Four classes, 110, 118, 135 and 145 pounds, will make up the card with four men in each. In addition, there will be a special middleweight contest between A. Schardt of Staten Island, and S. Colt of this city.

Brooklyn Pitcher to Be Married.

New York, Nov. 18.—Leon Cadore, Brooklyn, National league baseball pitcher, and Miss Helen J. Sweeney of Brooklyn will be married next Saturday, it was announced today. Cadore was a lieutenant during the war and was decorated for bravery.

CENTRAL TO GET A MAJOR COACH

Duluth Central high school, for years without a physical director, will employ a professional coach who will instruct in basket ball, football and baseball, principally, and who will have general charge of all branches of sports at the big brownstone institution of learning.

This was determined at a meeting of the members of the D. C. H. alumni, members of the board of education and several faculty members which was held last evening in the school auditorium. A permanent organization, to be made up of Central graduates and some others, will be perfected at a meeting which has been called for next Monday evening and all former students are asked to get busy and join in the good work.

The alumni organization will establish a fund from which can be drawn the necessary money to provide for the services of a first-class mentor. A committee consisting of Paul Winship, Earl Shaw, Sig Hendrickson, George Boyer, Chauncey Peterson and T. F. Phillips was named to notify all Central graduates of the movement underway and to have them present at next Monday's meeting.

For several years Central high has had a wealth of football material but the teams have not been able to get anywhere because they lacked instruction in the finer points of the game. It was pitiful to see some of the Central teams of late years, trying to hold their own against Superior and the Mesaba range teams. The players were all right in every way and, man for man, usually superior physically to their opponents; but they did not know anything about football and the result was usually humiliating defeat.

With the alumni ready to provide a competent coach to drill the Central players there is absolutely no good reason why they should not be able to cop the Head of the Lakes and probably, the Minnesota state football banners next season. With a winning team in the field the turnstiles at Athletic park will show swollen figures and the school treasury will materially benefit as a result.

Select Training Ground.

New York, Nov. 18.—Selection for a site of winter training ground and other "family matters" were on the program at a conference of owners and managers and scouts of the New York American league baseball club here late today. It was indicated that several strong players from other teams would be brought into the Yankee fold.

Trade Players.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 18.—Bert Ellison, Tiger infielder, has been traded to the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league today for Pitcher Cole, President Navin of the Detroit Americans announced.

Sharkey to Fight Lynch.

New York, Nov. 18.—Tex Rickard, boxing promoter, has received a message from Jack Sharkey, who is in London, stating he would be in New York Dec. 2 to carry out his agreement to meet Joe Lynch on that date. The winner of the Lynch-Sharkey bout will meet Pete Herman here on Dec. 21, Rickard said.

Cross-Country Race.

New York, Nov. 18.—William Ritola, cross-country Finnish runner, who won the A. A. U. hill and dale race at Van Cortlandt park last Saturday, will compete as an individual for national senior championship honors in the race next Saturday over the Franklin park course in Boston.

CITY FOOTBALL ELEVENS READY

Duluth and Superior Will Play Sunday If Weather Is Right.

The Duluth and Superior City football elevens will meet on the gridiron next Sunday surely if the weather holds the way it is today, according to statements given out this morning by Art Ilson, manager of the Badger eleven, and Joe Feakes, pilot of the Duluth team.

"Both teams are ready and waiting to get into action, and the only question right now is the weather," said Feakes this morning. "We were promised storms and got sunshine. If the Daymaker continues to blaze away and the temperature does not lower we are sure to play."

There is still some doubt as to whether the contest will be staged at Hislop park in Superior or at Athletic gridiron in this city. The latter seems to be in the better condition and Superior may waive its right to have the teams play over there. If the game is played here there is no question of what a record crowd will turn out to witness the struggle for Superior can always pack 'em in here. Just how many Duluth fans would journey across the bay, at this stage of the season, is a shaky problem and one worth while giving serious consideration.

Tillman Shades Perry.

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 18.—Johnny Tillman of Minneapolis was given a shade in the newspaper decision over Jack Perry of Pittsburgh in their 12-round bout here last night. The men are welterweights.

ON THE IRON RANGES

NEW COUNTY FAIR SITE COMING UP

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the St. Louis County Agricultural society will be held here on the evening of Nov. 23 at the village hall. Reports of the secretary and treasurer will be read and the directors will discuss the plans for next year's fair and will also decide probably on a site for the proposed new fair grounds. The moving of Hibbing means that a new site must be chosen. Although this is not likely to happen next year, nevertheless the directors must prepare for the future and the annual meeting offers the best opportunity to do so.

Last year the fair did well and next year promises to be even better. The directors will take up the proposition of having Duluth evince more interest in the fair as local citizens don't like the attitude that the Duluth civic clubs have taken toward the fair. The Commercial club of that city will be asked to show more interest.

HIBBING POST WILL HAVE FINE QUARTERS

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A sign of the American Legion placed in front of the Center street entrance of the village hall will be an invitation to all service men to "drop in." Furniture for the new clubrooms is now arriving and W. J. Ryder is placing the carpets, rugs and tables. The formal opening of the clubrooms will not be until after Thanksgiving. The rooms will be equipped with a pool and billiard table, candy counter, card tables, etc.

With the post election over, Legion boys are all working as a unit, despite stories to the contrary, as members realize that to accomplish anything, the post must work together and that is what the 450 members are doing.

The election was considered a victory to the both factions who desired offices. The executive board includes men from all ranks while the officers themselves were the popular choices. Most of the opposition that the Legion post has had to encounter thus far has been caused by outside parties who are attempting to interject politics into the Legion, fortunately without success.

Both the S. &S. club and the Legion port are working harmoniously together, neither one trying to interfere with the policies of the other.

BUILDING TROLLEY TO "NEW HIBBING"

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—By early next year it is expected the Mesaba railway will be running cars to South Hibbing, as work on the extension is going on.

Tracks will be laid in the bithulithic pavement, the contract for which was awarded by the village. The line will run along Howard street and First avenue.

Construction of the road bed and laying of track is being done under the direction of engineers of the Oliver Iron Mining company. The entire road bed, with the exception of the portion in South Hibbing proper, is in readiness for rails.

Along the new right-of-way of the Mesaba Railway company, which joins the present right-of-way about two miles from Chisholm, track laying has started. The rails have been laid for about three miles to the bridge near Mitchell. About four miles of tracks remain to be laid.

The car line will run from Chisholm to Mitchell, thence south to Brooklyn, skirting the east edge of that location. From Brooklyn it will proceed west to Howard street and a turn to the south will be made on First avenue. The line will extend along First avenue to Alexander street. Cars will return along First avenue and proceed along the newly laid-out road, skirting the west end of the cemetery to a point near the Missabe depot.

EVELETHIAN AGAIN HALED INTO COURT

Eveleth, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dan Tomljanovich, who conducts the U & I buffet at 416 Grant avenue, is scheduled to appear in municipal court today to answer to a charge of keeping a disorderly house, which was preferred against him late Tuesday evening, when he was arrested by the police. It is also stated by the officers who made the arrest that Tomljanovich resisted officers when they attempted to arrest him. His bail was placed at $500.

This is the third time in the past few weeks that Tomljanovich has been arrested. The first time he paid a fine in municipal court for beating his wife and a couple of weeks ago his place was raided by Federal officers and some moonshine was taken.

VIRGINIA ROTARIANS PRAISED BY "Y" MAN

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Properly supervised athletics tend to strengthen home health and create greater efficiency in industries," declared Dr. H. T. Kallenberg, international secretary of the Y. M. C. A., the principal speaker at yesterday's luncheon of the Rotary club.

Dr. Kallenberg congratulated the Rotary club on the work it has accomplished among the boys of this city, stating that the results had been noticeable to him since his arrival here. He told of his experience in directing athletics in many industrial organizations throughout the country and spoke particularly of the benefit derived from properly supervised play during the noon hour period.

This committee was named to attend to the club's arrangements for the several conventions to be held here the coming year: H. J. Kopp, chairman; Joseph Christopherson and W. H. Fliehr.

A meeting of the board of directors of the club will be held Monday evening. Wednesday, Dec. 1, will be ladies' night.

VIRGINIAN DIES OF AUTO INJURY

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Olaf Olson, age 65, died at a local hospital today from injuries received two weeks ago while working on Central avenue, when he was struck by a car said to have been driven by Albert Frantz of Eveleth, and sustained internal injuries. He was employed by the street department. He came here from Tower twelve years ago, and is survived by his wife and seven children living at 614 Tenth street south. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

SPEND HONEYMOON ON HUNTING TRIP

Two Harbors, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The marriage of Miss Vivadale Schultz and Elmer A. Swenson was solemnized at noon today at the home of the bride's parents, 314 Fourth avenue, by Rev. Mr. Dinsdale, pastor of the M. E. church of this city. Both young people are well and favorably known in the community, the bride having been librarian of the Carnegie public library of this city for several years past, which position she still retains. The groom is employed in the general offices of the D. & I. R. at Two Harbors. He was overseas with the Ninetieth division.

They were attended by Miss Nina Peterson of this city and Hugo Olson of Cloquet. They will spend their honeymoon on a hunting trip and after their return will reside at 315 Fourth avenue.

LOTS OF HUNTERS, FEW DEER, REPORT

Two Harbors, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deer are reported very wild and comparatively scare in this locality. Very few have been brought here yet and with weather conditions favorable it is feared that the shooting will not be as good as in former years.

There are probably twice as many hunters in the woods this season as were here last year, a special train having been run in over the Drummond branch of the D. & I. R. to accommodate a party of hunters.

BENNETT FUNERAL VERY SAD EVENT FOR TACONITE

Taconite, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tuesday was the saddest day in this village's history, when as told in The Herald of that day, last rites were said for Phillip Clarence Bennett, who made the supreme sacrifice in France and whose body was just returned from abroad. Whitley-Bennett post, American Legion, named for two local boys who gave their lives for their country, had charge of the services, which were conducted in the village hall, Rev. P. A. Schwarz, Presbyterian minister of Coleraine and Bovey, officiating, the hall being crowded far beyond its limits. All business suspended here and in adjoining towns during the funeral. Mr. Schwarz praised the young man's exemplary life and the great sacrifice he made for his country. Such floral offerings were never seen at a funeral here and a long cortege followed the body to Lakeview cemetery, where a firing squad fired a volley over the new grave and "taps" were sounded.

The pallbearers were Robert and Raymond Lour, Walter Myers, Leo Downing, Grover Mitchell and Amal Western.

Mr. Bennett is survived by his wife and little daughter, Edith May, and sister, Gertrude, two brothers, Cecil, Taconite, and James, who enlisted in the marines and was unable to attend the funeral.

COW MOOSE IS KILLED IN DEFIANCE OF LAW

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Killing of a young cow moose about one mile south of the Ryan dam, near here, was reported yesterday to Special Game Warden Dick Whitney, residing near Stingy lake. The moose had been dead only a few hours when Hibbing hunters came upon the scene. Severe penalty awaits the person or persons who killed the animal, as cow moose are protected by law. The carcass was shipped to the state game and fish commissioner, as required by state law.

Mines Still Shipping.

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although most range properties have either begun their winter work or are preparing for it many of the mines are still shipping. Properties of the Oliver Iron Mining company received notice to forward increased shipments the first of the week.

Indications are that, in spite of the coal and car shortage which hampered work to some extent this season, the total shipments will compare favorably with previous years.

PARTLY CLOUDY

PARTLY CLOUDY

The sun rose this morning at 7:16 and will set this evening at 4:30, giving nine hours and fourteen minutes of sunlight. Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Fair weather prevailed Wednesday and last night except that rain or snow fell from North Illinois northeastward to including Quebec and New England, and over Idaho, Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. Except for a turn to colder in Atlantic states and Alberta the temperature has generally risen somewhat. The barometer is high over Southeastern states and low over North Pacific districts."

No verdict is announced yet in the Arvid Hernesmaa and Mary Helsko statutory case, heard yesterday by Judge Lafayette Bliss in municipal court.

Matt Nickola, arrested several days ago on the charge of violating the prohibition laws, will be arraigned today. Charles Saarl, involved in the same case, paid a fine of $100 and costs several days ago for selling liquor.

VIRGINIA'S PATROL WAGON NOT TAKEN FAR

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Virginia is laughing today over wild reports current of the theft of a patrol and ambulance wagon which disappeared last night while Driver Kraker was eating supper, especially the thrilling stories of its being seen at various places along the line between here and Hibbing as all are declared to have been untrue, notably about a pursuing auto being wrecked. The missing vehicle was found this morning on North side, here beside a county engineers' road camp and in good shape. Some jokesters are believed to have run it off in sport.

Hibbing Gets Yarn, Too.

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large Winton police car used in trailing the men who "stole" the Virginia patrol wagon last night went into a ditch on the Dupont road south of Hibbing and the occupants, "Virginia patrol men," had narrow escapes from serious injuries, according to reports. The rear of the car was badly damaged. No clew of the missing patrol wagon being in Hibbing was obtained by the local police.

BROOKLYN WILL BE SOUTH HIBBING PART

Hibbing, Minn Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—With improvements that are now contemplated and with the removal of the old Buffalo-Susquehanna ore dump by the Winston-Dear company, Brooklyn will be practically joined to South Hibbing by a few minutes' walk.

The steam shovels are now at work removing the tons of dirt. The work is nearly completed to the power house and will be carried out beyond this point. The Sargent addition which should experience a building boom this coming summer will be the connecting link between Brooklyn and South Hibbing and will give that portion of the city the major portion of Hibbing's population.

Prepare for Thanksgiving Rush.

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Preparations for the annual Thanksgiving rush to begin next Monday are being made by the local postoffice. Additional help will be required for Thanksgiving mail which, although not as heavy as Christmas, demands extra service. Thanksgiving packages, according to Postmaster J. B. Connors, are usually bulky, consisting for the most part of turkeys, ducks, geese, chickens and articles of clothing.

The canteen, which has heretofore been conducted by Ray Kilbride personally, was taken over by the club and will hereafter be operated under club management, proceeds to go into the club funds.

MANY IRISH BONDS ARE SUBSCRIBED ON RANGE

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Over $7,000 in Irish "republic" bonds have been subscribed for on the Mesaba range, according to local officers of the Friends of Irish Freedom who conducted the sale, about $5,000 being taken in Hibbing alone and friends of the movement feel gratified at the result of the drive. It is understood the bonds are not to be paid for till the proposed republic is established.

Friends of Irish Freedom are planning a busy winter and will have speaking and other affairs. It is proposed to again ask J. F. T. O'Connor, the brilliant lawyer of Grand Forks, N. D., who recently made such a good run as the fusion candidate against Lynn Frazier, Nonpartisan, in the Flickertail state, to come here and speak, as he is popular with the local organization.

Virginia, Minn., Nov. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farmers of this locality are bringing in potatoes quite freely, but farmers who formerly brought butter here to the market have not done so lately, as the majority of them live west of Cook and the roads are bad out that way. There is a large stock of winter cabbage, dried peas, carrots, honey on hand, the market master reports. A shipment of frozen fish from the north of Ray will soon be on sale.

MARINE

CHARGES GUARDS ARE INEFFICIENT

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 18.—Capt. Arthur Forbes of the wrecked steamer Francis J. Widlar issued a statement here last night, charging the Crisp Point and Vermilion coast guard stations with inefficiency and lack of co-operation in the effort to rescue the crew of the Widlar last Friday night, when the vessel grounded at Pancake shoals during a severe storm.

Rescue tugs had arrived at the scene of the wreck and taken off the crew, Capt. Forbes declared, before any of the coast guard vessels came to their assistance. In response to the call for aid, he said, the stations had replied that they could not get boats away immediately, owing to ice-covered launchways.

Capt. Forbes added that flares from his vessel had not been seen by the coast guard crews, while points further distant had observed them.

Warning to Vessels.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 18.—Coast guard officials here are going to draw the line on vessels which insist on anchoring too close to the intake pipe near the pumping station. P. H. Uberroth, commanding officer over the coast guard, has stated that vessels anchor there during a fog or storm—and throw refuse overboard and that this is liable to get into the pipes and contaminate the city's water. He said that vessel masters who anchored their boats near the intake pipe would be harshly dealt with if they are caught.

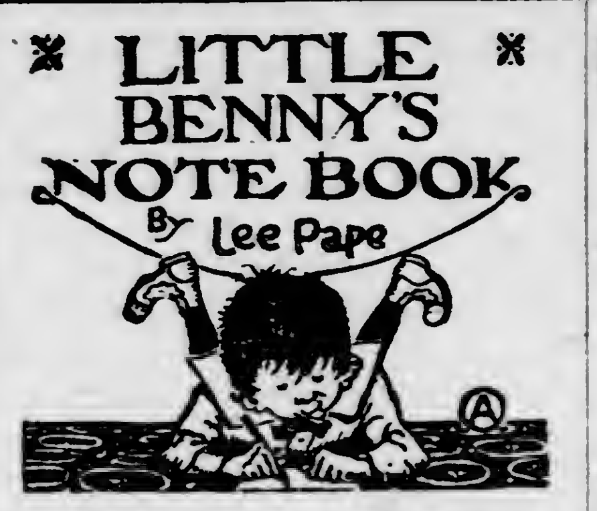
STUDENTS FOR ARTILLERY UNIT

Graduates and students of Central high school who are interested in the formation of a field artillery battery, to be part of the Second regiment of Minnesota artillery, will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the boys' department building of the Y. M. C. A.

Lieut. Stephen McGiffert explained the proposition at a meeting of the high school boys' club last night. It is planned to enroll from 75 to 100 boys for three years. Three men are to be selected each year from the regiment for advanced military training at West Point. During the winter, the entire battery will receive two weeks' training at a Southern camp.

Members of the battery will drill one night each week. As pay, they will receive the same wages they would receive in a corresponding rank for a day's work in the regular army. Organization of the battery is part of the government's plan of national preparedness.

President Lindsley Edson of the boys' club at last night's meeting appointed the following committees: Membership, William Hearding, William Coventry and John McCarter; entertainment, Reginald Cowen and Windom Walker; service, Murray Fowler and John McCoy. Windom Walker was elected secretary.



LAST nite after suppir ma went out to the movies and I was doing my lessins at the sitting room table and wishing I wasn't, and pop had his feet up smoaking a long segar with a injoyable ixpression, saying, as Shakespeer says in his greatest play, King Gillette the 3rd, this is some segar.

And he took it out of his mouth and looked at it as if he thawt it was grate and then he took some more big puffs, and jest then the doorbell rang, pop saying, Hang the dubble hang, I bet 5 dollars thats some simp to bore me to deth jest as Im all fixed to injoy a perfeck segar in peece and quiet.

Its a wise child that tips off its own father, sed pop. And he kepp on smoaking and the bell kepp on ringing and pops ixpression kepp on getting less and less injoyable, me saying, I tell you wat, pop, wy dont you have a contest to see if you can make the segar last as long as they make the bell ring?

COLOR OF HEALTH RETURNS TO CHEEKS

Pale cheeks are not always a sign of poor health but when they are accompanied by loss of energy and strength, nervousness and poor digestion there is positive evidence that the blood is thin. Build up the blood with a safe and effective tonic and the entire system responds to the treatment. This is convincingly shown by the experience of Mrs. M. E. Norwood, who lives at No. 3075 Madeline street, Oakland, Cal.

"I was as pale as a ghost for a long time," she says. "I was losing strength, and was tired all the time. My appetite was affected and I could not eat a meal with any enjoyment.

"A doctor in New York recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for my condition so I tried them. The pills had a wonderful effect, almost from the very first. After taking one box my color began to return. I think the first place I noticed it was in my ears which were formerly wax-like. As I continued to take the remedy my strength returned and my appetite became better. I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in my family for several years and they always help me and my children."

A useful booklet, "Building Up the Blood," containing a special chapter on the after-effects of the grip, will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or you can order them direct by mail, postpaid, at 60 cents a box.

A Simple Way to Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c-30c.

GRAIN PRICES AGAIN DROP

Wheat Breaks Sharply Under Selling Pressure; Low Levels in Flaxseed.

Duluth Board of Trade, Nov. 18.—Closing prices in wheat were well above the low spots for the session. December spring wheat closed 3¾c off at $1.69¼ bid; March, 4½c off at $1.69 asked; December winter, 3¾c off at $1.68¼ nominally; December durum, 4½c off at $1.77½ asked, and March, 5c off at $1.75 asked.

Rye closed 4c off at $1.56½ for spot; December, 4c off at $1.49½ asked, and May, 1½c off at $1.39 asked. Oats closed ⅝c off at 43¾@44¾c, and barley, 2c off and unchanged at 65@85c for spot.

The slump in wheat prices was more precipitate in today's market, a drop of 6c being recorded during the first two hours trading. December spring wheat broke 5c up till the noon hour at $1.68, and March, 6c at $1.67¾. December durum broke 4c at $1.78, and March, 5c at $1.75.

December rye broke 5c at $1.49½, and May, 1½c at $1.39.

There was on track here for the day just 189 cars of all grains, including spring wheat, 21; durum, 87; winter wheat, 1; corn, 3; oats, 6; rye, 33; barley, 20; flax, 11, and bonded screenings, 7 cars.

Operators could not find any export demand, and buying by millers was limited to a current needs basis as jobbers refuse to contract for flour in the present unsettled market. While cash business in wheat was slow, the offerings on the tables were picked up to cover shipping contracts up to the close of the lake navigation season. Operators were interested in advices from Fort William to the effect that boats going over there for loads are finding difficulty in obtaining cargoes. All but a small proportion of the wheat in the elevators at the Canadian Head of the Lakes is asserted to be held by farmers who refuse to sell at present prices. An increasing tendency to hold is also noted over the American Northwest.

Flaxseed Breaks.

The flaxseed market followed the course of other grains but in a more orderly way. Scattering buying by crushers of small lots was reported, but against that there was increased selling pressure in the pit. All the day's news was bearish.

November flax closed 3c off at $2.28 asked; December, 2½c off at $2.28½ asked; January, 2½c off at $2.31½ nominal, and May, 3½c off at $2.28½, and December 2½c off at $2.26½ bid. At Buenos Aires flax opened at $1.75 for December.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Bartlett Frazier Co. wired from Chicago: "The wheat market was largely a local affair yesterday, as the seaboard was practically shut off, but it is a matter of general surmise that exporters would have been in the market on the decline had they been able to communicate with the West. Receipts in the Southwest do not pick up any, and we are told that a large proportion of the stocks at Fort William and Port Arthur is not for sale, as the owners are not satisfied with going prices. Our December delivery continues to hold its premium over March, without any signs as yet of any real addition to stocks in the near future. We look for support on all breaks."

A Chicago wire said: "Despite the comparatively low level of prices now ruling, there is no increase in interest on the part of buyers. We see nothing to warrant the idea of any permanent improvement in values."

Hadley A. Hanson, manager of Duluth Logan & Bryan's business on the board of trade trading floor, came in for warm congratulations from his Masonic friends in the grain trade for the heroic manner in which he went through his initiation ordeal for the Shrine last evening.

* * *

Australian exportable surplus of wheat from the new crop is estimated at 92,000,000 bu, against 100,000,000 bu as previously.

Simons, Day & Co. wired from Chicago: "A large export business in cash wheat was put through at the seaboard yesterday and not reported due to the crippled wire service. There has been an excellent class of buying in the pit, part of which is regarded as removing hedges against this grain. A liberal number of orders came here to exchange futures for the cash grain. The December March spread widened to around 12½c, the greatest difference so far reflecting the buying by houses with Eastern connections. March was bought on the break by strong commission houses and the market tightened up quickly."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Wheat prices rallied today after a decline at the outset. Word that a large amount of export business had been done yesterday at the seaboard was the chief bullish factor, whereas bearish financial and economic conditions were ascribed as reasons for the initial weakness. Opening quotations which ranged from ¾c to 2c lower, with December $1.83 to $1.83½ and March $1.71 to $1.71¾, were followed by a material further setback, and then by sharp upturns.

Subsequently, decided fresh breaks took place owing apparently to a big downward swing in the value of feed stuffs and to reports of enlarged country offerings of wheat. The close was nervous, 3c to 4c net lower with December $1.80½ to $1.80¾ and March $1.69½ to $1.69¾.

Corn dropped to a new low price record for the season, but rallied somewhat when wheat developed strength. Large stocks in growers' hands counted as a depressing influence. After opening ⅛c to ⅞c off, including December at 71¼c to 71½c, the market sagged further before beginning to recover.

Later, general liquidation by holders set in and both corn and oats fell to new low figures on the crop. Prices closed unsettled, 1¼c to 2⅝c net lower, with December 69⅞c to 70c.

Oats were easy with corn starting unchanged to ¼c to ⅜c down, May 51¾c to 52c, and keeping within a narrow range.

Lower quotations on hogs had a bearish effect on provisions.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

New York, Nov. 18.—Trading in stocks at the opening of today's session was only slightly affected by the storms in the West, little interruption to wire service being reported. First prices were mainly downward on renewed selling of shippings, coppers and some of the minor rails. The list soon improved, however, on buying of Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Reading and Chesapeake & Ohio. Mexican Petroleum, Houston Oil, Shell Trading, Pressed Steel Car, United States Rubber, General Electric and Sears-Roebuck also were higher by fractions to 1½ points. Exchange on London made a vigorous rally, demand bills being quoted at $3.49.

New low records were reached before the end of the first hour when selling of shippings, steels, equipments and oils became extensive. American International, whose directors are to act on the dividend later in the day, added 5 points to its recent severe losses and Marine preferred, Mexican Petroleum, United Fruit, Royal Dutch, Canadian Pacific and some of the leather and tobacco issues declined 1 to 3 points. Crucible, Lackawanna and Gulf States Steels dropped 1 to 2 points and Baldwin Locomotive, New York Air Brake and American Car 1 to 1½. Stromberg Carburetor featured the weak specialties, losing 6 points. An irregular rally before noon, based presumably on the 7 per cent rate on call money, was led by Reading and Southern Pacific.

Prices denoted increased feverishness at midday. Mexican and Pan-American Petroleums continued to react. Atlantic Gulf followed the downward course of other shippings and Sears-Roebuck was included among the heavy specialties. This was balanced to a degree by supporting orders in Southern Pacific, Reading, Baldwin and American Car.

Investment rails rallied 1 to 2 points in the last hour with call money down to 6 per cent but the movement proved ineffectual in the face of increased pressure against shippings and industrials. The closing was weak.

Liberty bonds: 3½s, $92.80; first 4s, $87.00 bid; second 4s, $85.50; first 4¼s, $86.80; second 4¼s, $85.48; third 4¼s, $88.10; fourth 4¼s, $85.90; Victory 3¾s, $96.10; Victory 4¾s, $96.02.

NATIONAL BANK RESOURCES.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Resources of all national banks amounted to $21,885,480,000 on Sept. 8, a reduction of $211,257,000 compared with June 30, but an increase of $270,064,000 over Sept. 12, 1919, according to reports of the last bank call summarized last night by Comptroller Williams.

Deposits totaled $16,751,956,000, the comptroller said, a reduction of $403,465,000 compared with the June call and an increase of $70,349,000 over September of last year. Loans and discounts increased by $18,662,000 as compared with June.

Between June and September there was an actual net increase in deposits in all the national banks outside of New York of $82,697,000, but a reduction in the deposits of the New York banks of $486,162,000. Between September, 1919, and September of this year, however, the increase in loans and discounts exceeded the decrease in deposits by $1,259,951,000.

The state showing the largest increase in deposits since June in country banks was Pennsylvania, $40,000,000, while those showing the largest reduction were Connecticut and Minnesota, $8,000,000 each.

STOCK BREAK AT CLIMAX

Unfavorable Conditions Culminate; Copper Quotations at Bottom Level.

The recent severe breaks in quotations of copper mining stocks on the New York and Boston markets are attributed by brokers to a culmination of unfavorable conditions that have been developing for some time.

The surplus of blister copper is estimated today at 850,000,000 pounds of which more than 500,000,000 pounds is refined. Some improvement has, however, taken place during the last few months owing to reduced productions of the mines, as illustrated in the fact that stocks of refined copper as on Jan. 1 last were reported at 631,000,000 pounds and in addition there were 310,000,000 pounds of blister copper on hand making a total of 241,000,000 pounds. Sales of copper were heavy during the first three months of the year. They then declined but picked up during October under the stimulation of lower prices.

Bad Sag in Copper.

At its present basis of 14¾ cents a pound, copper is selling at within half a cent of the lowest price in seven years and mines operations have been reduced to around 55 per cent of their capacities. Authorities in the trade were interested in the stand taken recently by the Calumet & Hecla company in ordering a cut of 15 per cent in wages paid to miners, and it is assumed that other operators will follow that lead. In support of that assumption it is pointed out that it is hardly reasonable to presume that the mining companies will continue to meet wages based on 24 cents a pound copper while the current market for delivery up until next June stands at 14¾ cents.

See Ray of Hope.

While conditions in the copper market and the mining situation are below par at present, some of the leaders in the industry see a ray of hope in the inquiry being received from some of the largest domestic consumers. It is argued that the situation would be materially relieved through the placing of orders for power plant developments and extensions that have been held in abeyance during the last three years. Large quantities of copper would be required.

NOTIFY AMERICANS TO LEAVE DISTRICT

Laredo, Tex., Nov. 18.—Striking Mexican coal miners who seized the mines in the Monclova district of Coahuila yesterday, have notified all Americans to leave the district, according to reports reaching the United States consular office at Nuevo Laredo today. No Americans have been victims of violence, the report said, but there is an exodus toward Eagle Pass.

A number of American refugees were reported to have arrived at the border at Eagle Pass today. Those unable to leave the Monclova district were said to have gone to Sabinas where a large force of Mexican Federal troops are garrisoned.

The striking miners have notified the operators that the workers will operate the mines hereafter, according to the reports. Mine owners were reported in conference with Luis Gueteriz, governor of Coahuila at Sabinas today.

WONDERS OF THE ATOM.

Kansas City Star: An atom of matter, as now understood, is a tiny package containing a number of "electrons."

The number of electrons contained in the package varies with different kinds of matter. In an atom of iron, for example, the number is not the same as in an atom of oxygen. But the substance composing the electrons is always the same. It is the substance out of which all things are made—the fundamental structure material of the universe.

The electrons inside of the atom are always in motion at an astonishing speed. They are traveling at a rate of 90,000 miles a second, or even faster.

Thus the term "atomic energy" may be to some extent comprehended. Sir Oliver Lodge, famous physicist, recently said that the atomic energy contained in one ounce of matter would suffice to lift all the warships sunk by the Germans at Scapa Flow out of the water and place them on top of the highest mountains in Scotland.

Obviously, if we could find out how to utilize even a small fraction of this energy our civilization would be revolutionized.

What we call an electric current is a stream of electrons.

LINES ON THE WALL.

Detroit Free Press: Butler Glaenzer, poet and authority on period furniture, tells this story:

"A rich young society woman asked me to visit her Persian home in order to get my advice about certain changes she wished to make. I found the one room particularly beautiful. Deep panels of jet black wood wainscoted the walls and over the doors there were innumerable mottoes traced in beautiful gold Persian letters.

"In the midst of my discussion with the Persian expert whom I had taken with me, the owner of the home exclaimed:

" 'Oh, by the way, could this gentleman perhaps translate those Persian mottoes over the doors? I always imagine them to be some lovely poetical lines from Omar Khayyam or something of that sort.'

"The Persian smiled.

" 'I have been puzzling for some time, madam,' he said, 'about the introduction of those mottoes here. I did not speak about them for fear they were there for some private reason. Oddly enough, there are but two wishes in all, expressed; but these are repeated over and over again. One is, 'May all my enemies die by torture,' and the other is, 'May I have fifty sons.' ' "

ANOTHER SALT LAKE.

Brooklyn Eagle: When five capitalists of Calgary bought a small lake near Senlac, Sask., recently, the country people laughed. The joke was that hard-headed business men should be so foolish as to invest real money in 187 acres of water. The lake has been known for years as the Dead Sea. Though a few miles away rich farm lands stretch on every side, the country immediately about it is desolate, treeless prairie. Encircling it are beaches white with heavy encrustations of salt. Boys who swim in its deep holes can lie on the surface without motion. Standing upright without touching the bottom half their bodies are out of water. Those who dive bob to the surface like corks. It is almost impossible to sink.

Before purchasing the capitalistic quintet had the water analyzed. It contained from 53 to 55 per cent salt. This is a salt content greater than that of the Dead Sea in Palestine and five times greater than that of Great Salt lake in Utah. The Saskatchewan lake is believed to be the saltiest body of water in the world. The new proprietors began at once to operate a solar plant on the shores to extract the salt from the water.

BREAKING INTO PRINT.

Christian Register: "So you got your poem printed?"

"Yes," replied the author. "I sent the first stanza to the editor of the correspondence column with the inquiry, 'Can anyone give me the rest of this poem?' Then I sent in the complete poem over another name."

TEMPORARY PROMINENCE.

Birmingham Age-Herald: "Every time we have a revival in Chiggersville, Sam Sorghum hits the sawdust trail."

"That's a fact," said Squire Witherbee.

"But just as soon as the evangelist leaves town Sam backslides."

A Run-Down Street Railway System Costs a Community More Than Any Increase in Fares Necessary to Preserve Its Efficiency.

Opinion of the United States Supreme Court

"Our social system rests largely upon the sanctity of private property, and the state or community which seeks to invade it will soon discover the error in the disaster that follows. The slight gain to the consumer which he would obtain from a reduction in the rates charged by public service corporations is as nothing compared with his share in the ruin which would be brought about by denying to private property its just reward, thus unsettling values and destroying confidence."

NO HOUSE-TO-HOUSE CANVASS IN ROLL CALL

No house to house canvass will be conducted in the American Red Cross membership drive in West Duluth, according to W. B. Getchell, in charge of the campaign for that section of the city. Instead, the banks of West Duluth have been supplied with enrollment blanks and buttons and people are asked to stop in at these places and renew their memberships. Other business places may possibly be supplied with blanks and people stationed in these stores to solicit renewals of the customers.

"People are sufficiently well acquainted with the work of the American Red Cross to make canvassing unnecessary," the West Duluth chairman stated today. "The cost of a membership is only a dollar and the work of such importance that no one will withhold his support from it. We expect a 100 per cent enrollment in West Duluth."

COAL SUPPLY INADEQUATE.

Commercial Club Will Again Discuss Tardy Dock Deliveries.

Following the regular meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club tomorrow night, residents of West Duluth will meet in an open session to hear the report of the committee on the coal situation in that section of the city.

The local dealers state that the dock companies have made immediate deliveries promised the committee, but that the amounts delivered were too small to relieve the shortage in West Duluth to any appreciable extent. One dealer said that he received 100 tons and that he needs approximately 1,000 tons of hard coal. They say that should a cold spell set in there would be a great deal of suffering among West Duluth people.

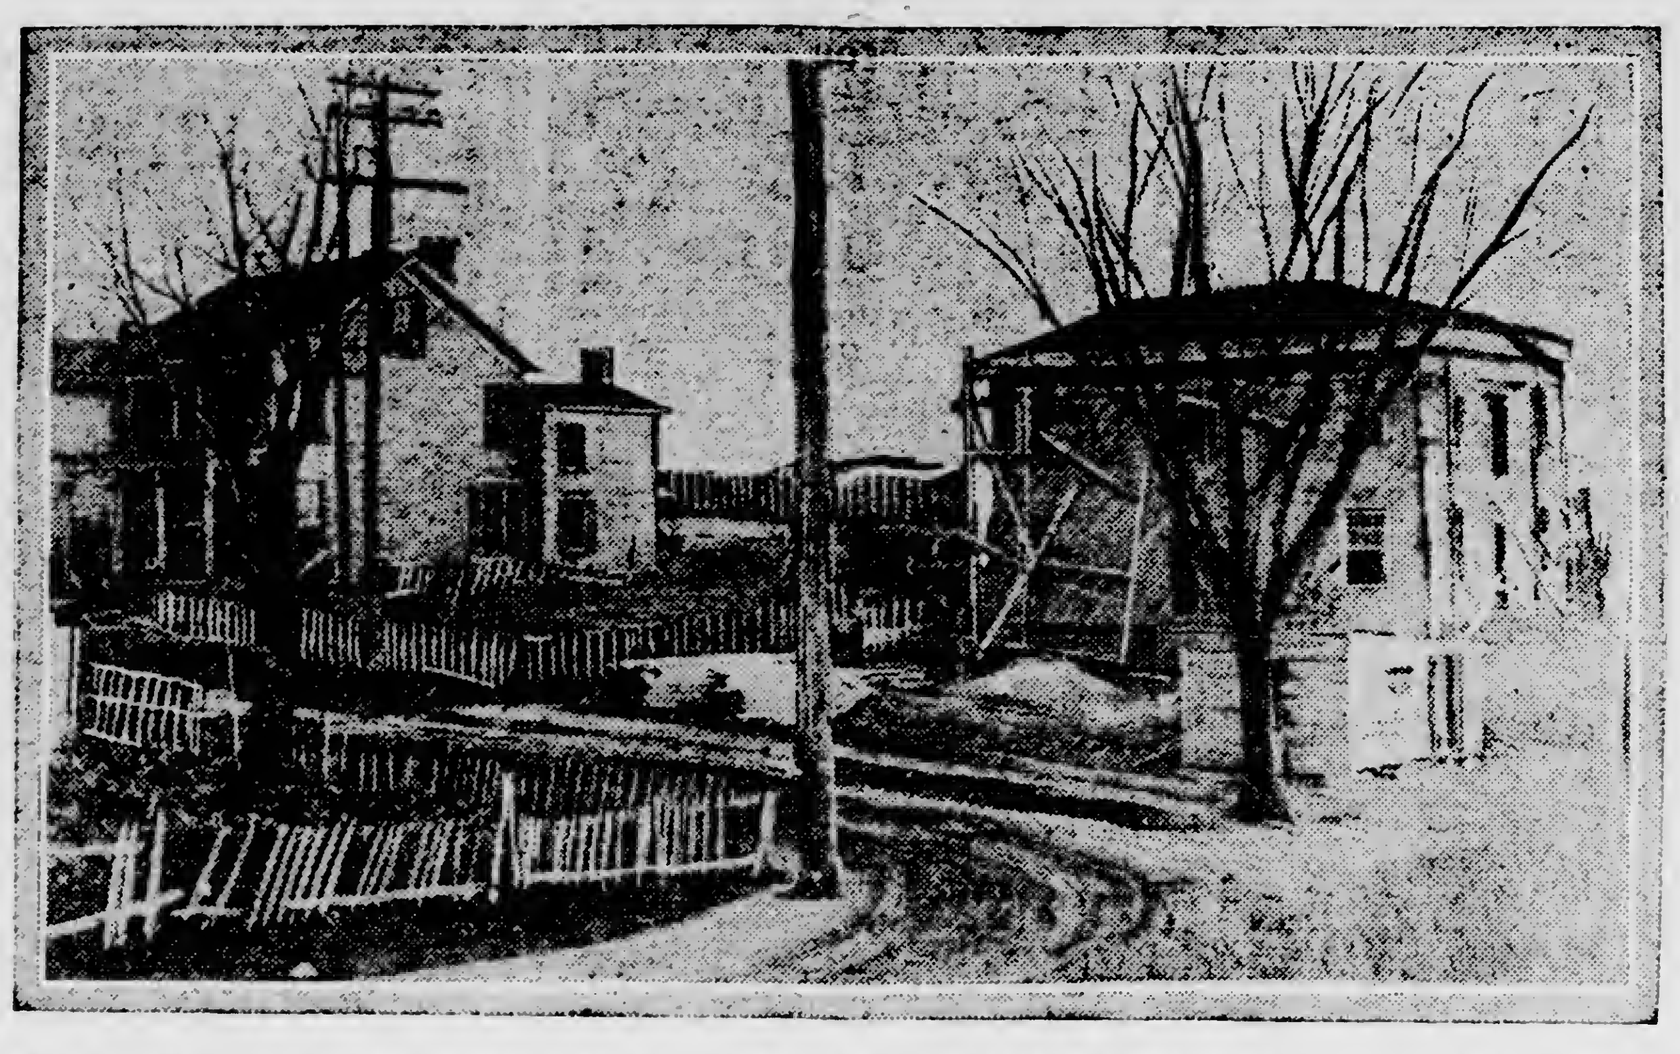
SEASONABLE BEAUTY AID

We find you can bring out the beauty of your hair to its very best advantage by washing it with canthrox. It makes a very simple, inexpensive shampoo, which cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all the dandruff, dirt and excess oil, leaving a wonderfully clean, wholesome feeling. After its use you will find that the hair dries quickly and evenly, is never streaked in appearance and is always bright, soft and fluffy; so fluffy, in fact, that it looks more abundant than it is, and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. Just use a teaspoonful of canthrox, which you can get from any good druggist's, dissolve it in a cup of hot water; this makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head.—Advertisement.

VANDERLIP BOUGHT THIS TOWN TO MAKE IT DRY



Frank A. Vanderlip, former president of the National City bank, has a new way of enforcing the Volstead act. He has bought the town of Sparta, N. Y. All undesirables, including dispensers of booze and too sturdy near beer, have lost their home sites. Mr. Vanderlip, however, is not posing as a reformer. The reason Sparta has gone dry is that Sparta adjoins the beautiful Vanderlip estate.

WEST END

COASTING DANGEROUS AT CAR CROSSINGS

Every avenue crossing tracks of the Duluth Street Railway company between the Point of Rocks and the ore docks has been a source of worry for the motormen on the cars, according to William J. Hafner, station foreman, to whom many tales of narrow escapes have been made since the first fall of snow this month. Children with sleds coasting on the hillside have escaped from injury so far only because of extreme caution used by the motormen, said Mr. Hafner.

"Every evening some motorman will tell how his hair stood on end because some kid whizzed past the fender of his car and just missed being cut in two under the wheels," said Mr. Hafner. "The motormen are getting so that they dread approaching a crossing where they know the children are playing with their sleds and they have got into the habit of slowing up for all of those crossing so as to take as little chance as possible of injuring them. Even that precaution has not prevented some child who has been unable to steer his sled, from running into the side of the car while crossing the avenue and just missing the wheels."

Eighteenth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, Twenty-third and Twenty-seventh avenues are said to be the most popular with the children in the West end for coasting, and these after school hours, are said to be crowded with the little folk with sleds enjoying the pastime despite its dangers and warnings that have been repeatedly issued. Several of the street crossings in the East end are said to be used in the same way.

For Benefit of Poor.

A silver collection will be taken up for Thanksgiving baskets for the poor. The program includes an organ solo by Harold Hanson, a reading by Ethel Bergstrom, a talk by Rev. H. C. Rex, a solo by L. V. Swartzendrover and a song by the boys' chorus. All members and their friends are urged to be present.

Hobo Party at Church.

The Epworth League of the Grace Methodist church will give a "hobo" party at the church at Twenty-second avenue west and Third street tomorrow evening. Reid left early today for Madison to personally file an application with Governor Philipp for extradition of the Federal prohibition enforcement agents to be brought to trial here for slaying of John M. NEW CRIPPLES ONLY VICTIMS OF SHRINERS

Sixty-Four Cross Burning Sands and Big Crowd Watches Them at Auditorium; Shrine Girls Make Usual Hit.

The sixty-four half-dazed individuals who gingerly crept along Superior street today and spasmodically examined themselves with a sort of ludicrous caution are not survivors of a railroad wreck.

But they think they are. Last night they trod the flaming sands which today makes them full-fledged Shriners. It was a huge, glorious, magnificent frolic—for the old members.

Activities began yesterday afternoon when Aad temple, gaudily arrayed, marched to the Spalding hotel where they greeted Ellis L. Garretson of Tacoma, Wash., imperial potentate of North America, and then paraded back to the Shrine auditorium.

At 6 o'clock a buffet luncheon was served in the banquet hall, which proved one of the most attractive features of the day. The banquet hall was far from deserted even when the rest of the ceremonial began. A playlet presented by the Imperial Shrine girls, coached by A. F. Custance, was exceptionally well received. It contained references galore to local celebrities, and the crowd roared its appreciation.

Following the playlet came the initiation under the direction of Charles C. Jones, illustrious potentate of Aad temple. Its details were not revealed but the results are still quite in evidence.

FARM LANDS

WE ADMIT

that our 10 and 20-acre fruit and poultry farms in the suburbs of beautiful Sacramento, Cal., are attracting many people looking for homes and incomes in the "Land of Sunshine and Flowers." We cannot deny that their daily words of praise are being sent back to old friends and neighbors, urging them to "come" and "come right away." We concede that our new booklet, "Poultry and Orchards," gives one of the best propositions in the way of small poultry and fruit farms that has been offered in a good many moons. If you are thinking of going to California, we will gladly mail this book to you on request.

DISARMAMENT IS REMEDY FOR FINANCIAL PROBLEM

American Taxes High Until European Creditors Begin to Pay.

No Limitation of Armaments Until All Nations Enter League.

Pressure Upon Congress to Tackle Tax Reduction Next Month.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

Washington, Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—It's a far cry from Geneva, where the League of Nations is meeting, to the income tax division of the American treasury or the pocketbooks of the American people, but entirely aside from the international politics of the occasion, the United States government is taking a deep interest in the effect of the league's meeting on the finances of Europe.

The pressure from all parts of the United States for a reduction of taxes is so overwhelming that the Republican congress which meets next month will find it necessary to make a start upon the problem, even before the next Republican president takes office. Yet the officials most familiar with the taxation question seem to be almost a unit in their belief that taxes cannot be reduced, unless the American government can sooner or later begin to expect money from its various debtors in Europe. And the ability of European governments to pay America either the interest on the war debt—which alone amounts to $175,000,000 a year—or payments on the principal loaned during the war, approximately $10,000,000,000, depends entirely upon the credit situation inside Europe.

Disarmament the Remedy.

Disarmament is the single remedy which one hears discussed in official Washington. If European countries would cease thinking about future wars and agree to a dissarmament program, they would have available not only money to pay America her interest but money on the big war debt itself. Similarly if the United States could feel free to reduce her own armament because of agreement with other nations, including Japan, the estimated total of $1,000,000,000 needed by our government in taxes from the American people could be materially reduced.

The general feeling here is that on the political stability of Europe depends her ability to pay external debts as well as to produce goods for export around the world, so that her own revenue from taxes will increase and so that international exchange will tend to become equalized. Great Britain and France, who owe America large sums of money and who have not been able to pay interest to the United States, are laying aside huge sums of money for military and naval defense.

All Must Enter Agreement.

Although there is faith in the ultimate ability of the League of Nations to prevent war European countries will not limit their armaments until all nations, including the United States, enter into the agreement.

The unwillingness of the United

SAY BEER CONTAINS TOO MUCH ALCOHOL

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 19.—Important developments are expected to follow raids made yesterday by Federal prohibition agents on East Cincinnati breweries and approximately 100 saloons. The raids were conducted by thirty-five prohibition agents brought here from Northern Ohio points by Supervising Federal Prohibition Agent Thomas E. Stone of Baltimore.

At each place the agents took samples of beer and placed internal revenue seals on liquid goods not taken, warning the proprietors that no sales were to be made from the stock until the samples which had been taken could be analyzed.

It was said at the government building that analysis of samples of beer obtained by the prohibition agents and deputies from the office of internal revenue collector have in a number of instances shown an alcoholic content in excess of the legal amount. It was estimated that in some cases the alcoholic content ran as high as 3½ and 4 per cent.

The analysis of twenty samples of beer seized by Federal prohibition agents show that the alcoholic content ranged from 2 to 5 per cent.

ASK GOETHALS TO HELP THEM

Pittsburgh Calls on Engineer to Aid in Stopping Landslide.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 19.—Damage estimated by engineers to vary from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 will result from the great slide of earth and stone which for the past two weeks has been steadily moving down the hillside from Bigelow boulevard to the downtown passenger terminal of the Pennsylvania railroad here. Nine steam shovels are working day and night to move the earth as it reaches the railroad tracks, and approximately 5,000 tons are sent out on special trains every twenty-four hours.

Buildings Buried.

The slide began when the city attempted to straighten a curve in the boulevard which follows the hillside. Piling driven into the hill failed to stop the movement and within a day or two a railroad yard building in the path of the slide was buried.

The slide which moves at the rate of about one foot an hour has reached a point where it was necessary today for the railroad company to route all trains on the Monongahela division by way of the Fourth avenue station, while suburban service to the east was curtailed.

Mayor E. V. Babcock yesterday obtained the services of Maj.-Gen. Goethals, builder of the Panama canal, who will come here tomorrow from New York to advise with the city engineers on a plan to stop the slide.

N. Y. EDUCATOR RESIGNS TO TAKE UP EDITORIAL WORK

DR. JOHN H. FINLEY.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 19.—Dr. John Huston Finley tendered his resignation as state commissioner of education and president of the university of the state of New York to the board of regents yesterday. He will enter "an important advisory and editorial position" with the New York Times.

CONSTANTINE'S MOTHER NOW GREEK REGENT

People Plan to Recall Former King at Plebiscite Next Week.

London, Nov. 19.—Admiral Coundouriotis resigned as Greek regent last night and was succeeded by Queen Mother Olga, says an Athens dispatch to the London Times. Immediately a message to the Hellenic people was issued by the new regent, announcing she had assumed office in conformity with the constitution, "on account of the absence of my well beloved son, Constantine."

The people were called upon to maintain order, and to do nothing calculated to compromise national peace and prosperity and the queen mother expressed the hope that the people and army, wherever soldiers may be fighting for the national rights of Greece, will do their duty by the country.

Premier Rhallis is said to have issued a manifesto in which after criticising the "oligarchical" methods of the Venizelos government he urged national unity and called upon the people and army to give the government fullest assistance.

General political amnesty has been proclaimed in Athens.

Oppose Constantine.

Paris, Nov. 19.—Allied nations probably will intervene to prevent the return of Former King Constantine to the Greek throne, says Charles C. A. Jonnart, former French high commissioner in Greece and at present extraordinary French ambassador at the Vatican. His views on the situation are set forth in an interview published today by the newspaper "Excelsior," and a similar opinion is voiced by Baron

PLAN TO CONTINUE N. Y. "CURB" MARKET

New York, Nov. 19.—Broad street's weekday convention on wildly gesticulating, traffic blocking dealers in unlisted securities—the Curb stock market—may remain a fixture in the city's financial district, it was learned today, notwithstanding that the New York Curb Market association had voted to move indoors.

More than 200 dissenters have started organization of a new curb association whose members hope to continue edifying the visitors to the famous money market with the spectacle of bizzarely capped, curb representatives "wirelessing" orders via finger signals to their offices in adjacent buildings.

The only stumbling block on the plan, it was said, was a recent ruling of city authorities that the "Curb" must go. This ruling was to be appealed.

Steps to maintain the historic Curb were taken by members of the Curb Market association when that organization announced a ruling that henceforth no member firm could clear, directly or indirectly, on the indoor curb any transaction made by a nonmember.

ANOTHER DIES FROM RESULT OF EXPLOSION

Germantown, Md., Nov. 19.—James Bolton, a farmer, whose home near here was dynamited early yesterday morning, died last night, bringing the death list in the explosion to three. Mrs. Hattie Shipley, Bolton's housekeeper, whose two small children were killed instantly, is believed mortally injured. Vernon Thompson is being held in connection with the explosion.

Montgomery county authorities said an investigation showed Bolton and Thompson had been enemies of long standing and that their enmity culminated in an encounter election day in which Thompson was shot in the neck by Bolton.

NEW INQUIRY IN STEEL CASE IS EXPECTED

Trade Commission May Reverse Previous Decision on Pittsburgh Plus.

Hearing Adjourned Until Dec. 6, When Respondents Will Be Heard.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The opinion is expressed by the representatives of the Northwest who attended the hearings before the Federal trade commission in the Pittsburgh plus steel case that the commission will order an investigation, as asked by Attorney General Hilton of Minnesota. Such an investigation, however, does not mean that the commission will authorize the Western Association of Rolled Steel Consumers to file a complaint. It will be a preliminary step to determine whether the commission will reverse its previous action in dismissing the application.

The presentation of the side of the case for the consumers has been more comprehensive than in the first hearing and, in the view of those who have attended the sessions this week, it has made an impression on the members of the commission.

Violates Clayton Act.

Elliott Cheatham, counsel for the Southern Association of Rolled Steel Consumers, in his argument before the commission, said the practice of charging the Pittsburgh basic price plus the freight rate from Pittsburgh to destination, regardless of whether the steel is actually shipped a much shorter distance, violates the price discrimination section of the Clayton act. He declared that the existing system tends to lessen competition.

H. E. White, representing the Steel & Machinery company, yesterday presented to the commission supplementary statements showing the effect of the Pittsburgh plus price in the Northwest and Middle West. "Including a small portion of Wisconsin and Minnesota, most of South Dakota, about half of Colorado and New Mexico, a third of Kansas, and small portions of Missouri, Nebraska, Wyoming and Utah, is the territory to feel the full effect of the Pittsburgh plus," said Mr. White.

"This is the only territory in which the through rate from Pittsburgh to destination is equal to the sum of the local rates from Pittsburgh to Chicago and from Chicago to destination. In all the other territory the through rates from Pittsburgh to destination is less than the sum of the locals from Pittsburgh to Chicago, and from Chicago to destination. In other words, the steel producers are not selling to

FORMER EMPRESS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Doorn, Holland, Nov. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Former Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany, who yesterday suffered another severe heart attack, appeared last night to be in a more serious condition than officials at Doorn castle would admit. All her sons and daughters were notified of her illness and are expected today. Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of the former emperor, may also arrive today. Great depression prevails at Doorn castle.

Dr. Heymans Vanderbergh, a heart specialist, examined the former empress yesterday and found her condition dangerous. She may, however, linger for many weeks.

A bulletin issued at Doorn castle this morning stated the former empress had passed a good night, and that her temperature was 38 deg. centigrade (100.4 F.)

FARGO EQUITY COMPANY CURTAILING ACTIVITIES

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 19.—The Equity Co-operative Packing company, with headquarters here, is at present following a policy of curtailed activities, said P. M. Casey, its president, today in denying rumors that the company is in serious financial difficulties.

Farmers holding wheat for higher prices throughout the state and continued crop failures in the western part of North Dakota are, he said, responsible for the temporary curtailment.

Mr. Casey stated that all debts of the company are more than balanced by its property and accounts due.

"The Equity plant here, representing $1,250,000, is clear of all indebtedness," he added. "Equipment at plants in Duluth and the Twin Cities is also clear of debt."

URGES JOINT CONFERENCE

Miners and Operators Can Adjust Problems, Says James Lord.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 19.—Adoption of "broad and humanitarian policies" by the American Mining congress in dealing with labor was urged today by James Lord, president of the mining department of the American Federation of Labor, in an address before the annual convention of the American Mining congress. He was the only representative of labor on the program as announced in advance by the congress.

"The worker," Mr. Lord declared, "will not be satisfied to be a mere cog in the machinery, but must be taken into account as a human entity.

"Neither the workers nor the operators alone can satisfactorily adjust joint questions. They must be worked out in voluntary joint conference. A chaotic situation exists throughout the world. Readjustment of the world's economic affairs will occur in the same proportion that industrial peace is maintained and established.

"The miners and operators can adjust any problem that affects the mining industry. No one else can or should. All problems regarding wages, hours, conditions of work, competitive and legislative matters can properly come before a joint conference for discussion.

"An earnest, intelligent effort to adjust the differences of worker and empleyer along democratic lines means more peace and greater efficiency here at home, and safeguards American interests internationally."

COOK TAKEN FROM BOAT

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Michael Cox, alias James McCarthy, the ship's cook, wanted by the Chicago police in connection with the death of Maree Ramey and Lillian Thompson, actresses, last Sunday, was arrested today when the steamer E. E. Loomis docked at Sault Ste. Marie, according to reports received here.

Cox denied that he was in the cabaret party which preceded the actresses' death. He said he met Miss Ramey and Miss Thompson on Saturday afternoon and had escorted them to their home. He said he left when the young women met the two other men at their residence.

Cox said he was known in Chicago as McCarthy.

The Duluth police were notified Wednesday that McCarthy was in Duluth, a cook on the steamer E. J. Loomis, and were asked to take him into custody. Before they could get to the steamer, which loaded grain at Elevator D for Buffalo, she had started down the lakes, leaving here shortly after 1 o'clock that afternoon.

Badly Scratched.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Albert Gross, watchman on the steamer Edward E. Loomis, said this morning to the chief of police here that Michael J. Cox, alias McCarthy, cook on the Loomis, came aboard the boat early last Sunday morning in Chicago with much blood on his face, which was badly scratched. His hand was bruised also and he bore distinct evidences of being in a fight.

He told the watchman that he had been in crap game that ended in a fight. This also explained the fact that he had considerable money with him. He was somewhat under the influence of liquor. He was very excited and talkative, Gross declared. Capt. J. D. Green of the Loomis said that Cox or McCarthy took two loaded suitcases with him on his last trip. McCarthy is said to be a pugilist, fighting in the winter time under the name of Corbett. He still maintained his innocence of any connection with the affair when interviewed by reporters and refused to talk about it.

MORE ARRESTS MADE IN MAIL ROBBERY

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Nov. 19.—Seven more arrests, one confession and the recovery of a large amount of money, all in $10 bills, today have resulted in the clearing up of the mystery surrounding the $3,500,000 mail car robbery in the local railroad yards Saturday night. Two of the men, T. A. Daly and H. A. Reed, are white, and the others are negroes. The money was recovered from the chicken house of the Daly home, following the confession of Reed. Reed rooms at the Daly home.

The negroes arrested are members of the John Bell family, and are held in connection with one mail sack not yet recovered.

Reed was arrested last night following his implication in the case by Fred Poffenbarger yesterday afternoon. Taken to the Federal building and put through a severe grilling, he finally gave information which led to the arrest today.

Federal officials announced the case had now been completed to all intents and purposes. The ten persons under arrest will be given a hearing before United States Commissioner W. A. Byers tomorrow.

Leader of Gang.

Mrs. Daly insists that Reed was at the Daly home the night of the robbery. Developments seem to show that he was leader of the gang, with Poffenbarger as his lieutenant, and that the latter with Orville Phillips, who surrendered yesterday to save his older brother, Merl Phillips, did the work.

According to Mrs. Daly, who is the wife of the man under arrest, Poffenbarger brought the money to their home early Sunday, put it first in the garage and later in the chicken coop. Mrs. Daly said she overheard them say they had burned everything in the sacks but the currency.

"My husband knows nothing of the case," she added. "He and Mr. Reed were home the night of the robbery."

SIXTEEN DROWNED IN LAKE IN MAINE

Bangor, M., Nov. 19.—Sixteen woodsmen were drowned in Chesuncook lake, in the heart of the lumbering district, late yesterday afternoon when a motorboat took afire. The men were being taken across the lake from Chesuncook dam to Cuxabexis. Efforts to quench the fire failing, the party became panic stricken and many leaped overboard, according to word brought here today.

Wife Murderer Executed.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Arthur Haensel, convicted of murdering his wife, was executed in Cook county jail today after efforts to obtain an eleventh-hour reprieve from Governor Lowden failed. As Haensel smilingly mounted the gallows he was asked if he had any statement to make. In a voice free from emotion, he thanked the jailers and those who had tried to aid him.

BARS MINOR FROM PUBLIC ADDRESS HERE

Radical Lecturer, Scheduled for Saturday, Disapproved By Murnian.

Twin Cities Won't Have Him; Is Revolutionary Leader.

Robert Minor, radical lecturer, will not be allowed to speak at a public gathering in Duluth, was the announcement made by Commissioner W. F. Murnian, commissioner of public safety this morning. Minor was scheduled to speak at Workers' hall, Nineteenth avenue west and First street tomorrow night on "What I Saw in Russia and Germany During the Revolution."

No application for permission to speak has been made to Commissioner Murnian by those who are sponsoring Minor's appearance in Duluth, but the controversy that has developed in Minneapolis and St. Paul and the report on Minor who is accredited as being the leader of the "revolutionary movement in this country" was sufficient for his decision, said Mr. Murnian.

When the announcement was made that Minor was to speak in Duluth after being refused permission in Minneapolis and denied the use of the Auditorium in St. Paul, members of different civic organizations protested against his being allowed to stir up trouble in this city. It was declared by several that these protests would be lodged with Commissioner Murnian in the event he failed to prohibit Minor's public speaking.

Was Prisoner in Coblenz.

Minor has quite a record. He was arrested by the military officials of the army of occupation at Coblenz, Germany. He was charged with spreading Red propaganda among the soldiers of the army of occupation. He was held for more than two months, but later released. He is a contributing editor of the Liberator. This publication, at its masthead, showing the ownership of the publication, and its subscription rates, advertises itself as "a journal of revolutionary progress."

In last Friday's publication of the Duluth Truth, of which Joe Carney was editor, it advertises Minor as "the big boy in the revolutionary movement in this country." In another paragraph the same article asserts that the alleged plutocrats of the country should have "hated to see him (Minor) join the Bolsheviki and help the proletarian revolution." Again farther in the

ABOUT 500 RADICALS AWAIT DEPORTATION

Washington, Nov. 19.—More than 500 Russian radicals remain to be deported, it was said today at the department of labor. All except forty of these are at liberty on bail, but the others are held in confinement at Deer island, Boston, and Ellis island, N. Y., as they are regarded as too dangerous to be allowed at liberty, even temporarily.

Delay in deporting Russians was explained at the department to be due to a refusal of the Scandinavian countries to receive the deportees and to the closing of the frontier between Finland and Russia.

Negotiations between this country and Esthonia looking to the sending of the Russians home through Esthonia soon are to be resumed, officials said.

HARDING ENJOYING TRIP THROUGH GULF

On Board Steamship Parismina, Nov. 19.—(By wireless to the Associated Press.)—President-elect Harding and his party enjoyed balmy gulf breezes under a clear sky today while his ship plowed toward Panama.

The president-elect rested after the strenuous day spent in New Orleans yesterday.

The "press" sheets from the wireless room claimed his early attention today after which he "took it easy" in the social hall and on deck.

NO FRILLS IN MEN'S CLOTHES NEXT YEAR

Washington, Nov. 19.—Next year is to be "Harding year" in clothing styles for men, members of the Custom Cutters' and Designers' association were told by speakers at a dinner last night. P. J. Foley of Washington, an officer of the association, said that President-elect Harding wears conservative suits, leaning to blues and dark grays, and that is what all well dressed men will wear in 1921.

"There will be no frills in clothes next year," Mr. Foley said.

CAN EASILY AMEND LAW

May Be Necessary in Volstead Act, Author of Measure Says.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 19.—Amendment of the Volstead prohibition enforcement act may be necessary as a result of the recent decision of the United States supreme court legalizing the movement of liquor intended for personal use, in the opinion of the chief framer of the act, Congressman Andrew J. Volstead, who was in Minneapolis today.

"I have seen nothing but the newspaper accounts of the decision," Mr. Volstead said, "and it may not be as serious as it seemed. But the Federal law clearly prohibits 'transportation' of liquor, the same as the Minnesota state law, which has been construed in this state to prohibit movement of liquor except under permits for permitted uses.

"I think the Federal enforcement bureau has been unnecessarily strict perhaps, in refusing to issue permits for the movement of liquor bought for personal use before the act took effect, but it seems to be unwise to permit liquor to be moved without some kind of a permit.

"If the situation seems to call for it, we can easily amend the law."

ADMISSION OF GERMANY TO LEAGUE IS DEMANDED

URGES PROMPT ADMISSION OF GERMANY TO THE LEAGUE

GEORGE NICHOL BARNES,
British Labor Leader.

British Labor Member Puts Matter Before Assembly at Geneva.

Wants All Other Enemy States Brought in Without Delay.

Says Great Question Is to Rescue the World From Ruin.

Geneva, Nov. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Immediate admission of Germany and the other former enemy states to the League of Nations was urged before the assembly of the league today by George Nicoll Barnes of the British delegation. Representing the laboring people of Great Britain, Mr. Barnes said he knew the great majority of them demanded that all the enemy states be admitted without delay.

The British delegate recalled that Germany had taken part already in the deliberations of the international labor bureau established by the league.

"The people of Great Britain," he said, "do not forget that the Central empires plunged the world into war. They do not forget the misery and devastation caused. But the question is to rescue the world from ruin and the co-operation of former enemy states is needed."

Criticizes Inaction.

Mr. Barnes in his speech, which was delivered in course of discussion on the report to the assembly made by the executive council of the league, spoke approvingly of the action of the council on some questions, but criticized its inaction during the last year while Poland and soviet Russia were engaged in hostilities.

He cited Article 11 of the league Covenant, providing that any war or threat of war should constitute a matter of concern to the whole league, and that it should take any action deemed wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations, and inquired why the council had not taken action under that article to prevent the Russo-Polish war.

In reinforcing his argument for speedy membership of ex-enemy states in the league, Mr. Barnes referred to the instability of present economic conditions and the anomolies in exchange.

Greater Production Needed.

"What is needed above all," he said, "is greater production and the utmost freedom in business transaction between the different countries and this is unobtainable as long as the world is divided in two camps."

"Countries kept out from association with us will form an association of their own," he added, "and we shall return to the dangerous pre-war system of alliances."

Mr. Barnes pointed out that the world was dealing now in Central Europe, not with European kings, but with free peoples.

The Dutch minister of foreign affairs, H. A. Van Karnabeek, addressed the assembly on registration of treaties. He called attention to the provision of the treaty of Versailles that treaties were not binding until registered. He said there were several interpretations of Article 18 of the Covenant containing this provision and he proposed that

CHARGE RAIDS MADE WITHOUT PROVOCATION

Commissioner From Balbriggan, Ireland, Testifies Before Committee.

Tells of "Black and Tan" Attack on His Town in September.

Washington, Nov. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Charging that the "black and tan" militia in Ireland made raids without provocation, John Derham, town commissioner of Balbriggan, Ireland, gave today to the committee of one hundred investigating the Irish question what he described as details of the September raid on his home town, which, he said, resulted in the death of half a dozen persons.

"The 'black and tan' spent a night of yelling, burning and shooting," said Mr. Derham.

Eye Witnesses Testify.

Eye witness reports of disturbances in Ireland connected with the movement for Irish independence were given yesterday. Four witnesses, including Denis Morgan, chairman of the town council of Thurles, Ireland, and three Americans who visited Ireland recently—John F. Martin of Green Bay, Wis., and two clergymen, Father Michael English of Whitehall, Mont., and Father James H. Cotter of Ironton, Ohio, were heard by the commission. All expressed sympathy for the Irish independence movement and told of violent events which they had seen and agreed that civil processes except of the provisional Irish republic were virtually at an end under the rule of the British military forces.

Mr. Morgan said his home was riddled with bullets prior to his arrest and deportation to England without any definite charges being preferred against him. With 200 other Irish Republican leaders, he said, he went on a hunger strike until they were released. He also told of "murders" of Irish citizens by constabulary and soldiers, including the "black and tan" forces.

Confiscated Papers.

Father English asserted that British soldiers had confiscated his papers. The

NO CHANGES ARE TO BE MADE IN STEEL PRICES

New York, Nov. 19.—The United States Steel corporation announced today its decision to recommend to presidents of subsidiary companies that the "present base selling prices of all commodities continue in force unless and until it becomes necessary and proper to make changes to meet altered conditions."

This action was taken, according to a statement by Chairman Elbert H. Gary, because of the importance of stabilizing business conditions at this time.

VIGOROUS PROTEST AGAINST RUSS STAR

Chicago, Nov. 19.—A protest against the appearance of Georges Baklanoff, Russian star of the Chicago Grand Opera company, who was released from Ellis Island this week on a three months' parole after being held for deportation, was sent to the directors of the Chicago Opera company today by Dr. Herbert L. Willett, president of the Chicago Church Federation.

Baklanoff was arrested during the opera season last year when Mlle. Vera Amazar, a Russian member of the company, complained to Federal authorities that he had brought her to this country under promise of marriage and she later discovered he had a wife and children in Europe.

SALEM, OR., HAS 780 CASES OF TYPHOID

Salem, Or., Nov. 19.—Seven hundred and eighty persons were today suffering from typhoid fever in this little city of less than 10,000 people. Four emergency hospitals established within the last few weeks were filled with patients and the situation, according to R. A. Lamont, chairman of the citizens' relief committee, was said to be desperate. "We have not yet reached the peak of the epidmic," Mr. Lamont said.

MANDATE DIVISION IS OPPOSED BY GERMANY

Geneva, Nov. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—The German government has officially protested to the League of Nations against the system of distributing mandates under the treaty of Versailles, it was learned today.

The Berlin government claims it is illegal for the Entente powers to distribute mandates among themselves.

The mandates referred to in the German protest were provided for in Article XXII of the Covenant of the League of Nations in the treaty of Versailles. It was stipulated there that colonies and territories severed from their former sovereignty by the war and inhabited by peoples of backward development should be placed under the tutelage of advanced nations acting as mandatories on behalf of the league. All of Germany's former colonial possessions come under this category, the list including the African colonies, such as German East Africa and the Kamerun and the several groups of islands in the Pacific.

PRIVILEGES FOR FARMERS

Duluth Board of Trade Membership Open to Trading Bodies.

Notices may be issued shortly by the Duluth board of trade to farmers' elevator companies and co-operative associations drawing their attention to the fact that under the rules of the board, any selling agency, or company organized by them may apply for membership and be accorded full trading privileges on the market here.

A director of the board of trade said today that such action may be taken in order to show that the local grain board is in full sympathy with the suggestion of N. J. Holmberg, state commissioner of agriculture, that co-operative grain shipping associations over the Northwest should be accorded the privilege of forming a central marketing organization and seeking membership on the various grain exchanges.

"It always has been the rule with Duluth board, and also with the Minneapolis chamber of commerce that any farmers' organization or co-operative association might organize a joint stock company and apply for membership on the boards in the regular way. They are required to purchase a membership and if they agree to conform with the rules of the board and show that they are financially responsible no difficulty has been or will be placed in the way of such a company being elected to membership and obtaining full trading privileges on the Duluth board of trade," said Charles F. Macdonald, secretary of the board.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state supreme court today handed down decisions in the following cases:

ST. LOUIS COUNTY.

Duluth City Loses Appeal.

Ada P. McManus, respondent, vs. City of Duluth, appellant—

1. Where a municipality negligently permits snow and ice to accumulate upon its sidewalks to such an extent and for such time that slippery ridges are formed therein from travel thereon, thus rendering the walks unsafe and dangerous for public use, it renders itself liable for injuries sustained in consequence thereof.

2. Evidence considered and held sufficient to support the verdict, within the rule stated.

3. Where an alternative motion for judgment, or for a new trial is made and determined upon the minutes, the court is not required to entertain a second motion, based upon a proposed settled case.

Affirmed. QUINN, J.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.

On Statute of Frauds.

Upton Mill & Elevator company, appellant, vs. Baldwin Flour Mills and Dwight M. Baldwin, Jr., respondents—

1. There may be a sufficient compliance with the provisions of the statute of frauds (Sec. 4, Chap. 465, G. L. 1917), relating to a note or memorandum of a contract of sale, if the party to be charged writes a letter to the opposite party admitting the contract and repudiating its obligation, but the letter of the defendant set out in the opinion is not such an admission.

2. The right to invoke the statute of frauds as a defense is not regarded with disfavor, nor is the statute to be deemed obnoxious because of the consequences which sometimes follow its application.

3. The printed signature of the defendant at the bottom of a blank confirmation of sale slip, which had been filled out by one of his employes, was not sufficient to charge him under the statute of frauds, the signature being, "Baldwin Flour Mills, by ———," defendant not having signed his name in the blank line after the word "By."

Affirmed. LEES, C.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.

Oral Contract to Lease.

David H. Pierce respondent, vs. Henry S. Hanson, appellant—

1. The finding that plaintiff and defendant made an oral contract by which defendant leased the house in controversy to plaintiff from Nov. 1, 1919, to April 15, 1921, is sustained by the evidence.

2. This contract was void under the statute of frauds; but the finding that there had been a sufficient part performance and change of position in reliance upon it to remove the bar of the statute from such a short term lease is sustained by the evidence.

3. Under the liberal rules obtaining in this state, the complaint was sufficient as against an objection to the introduction of evidence.

Affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.

Libel Law Interpreted.

W. L. Hoff, respondent, vs. Pure Oil company and John Hancock, appellants—

In an action to recover damages for an alleged libel, held that a communication in the form of questions and answers concerning the standing of a former employe to a party who, by his authority requested it, is privileged, and is not a publication of any libel contained therein for which the law affords remedy, in the absence of proof of express malice.

Reversed. QUINN, J.

Hallam and Dibell, JJ., dissent.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.

On Condemnation Proceeding.

In the matter of acquiring lands for an alley, Ford Motor company, respondent, vs. City of Minneapolis, appellant—

The sum which the taker of land under the right of eminent domain is entitled to offset against the interest accruing on the award, because of the use made of the land taken by the owner, between the filing of the first award and the payment of the final award, is the fair rental value of the part actually occupied.

The burden is upon the party claiming the offset to prove the extent of the use as well as the rental value.

Affirmed. HOLT, J.

Securities Commission Reversed.

In re Investors' Syndicate—

The Investors' Syndicate issues a ten-year installment savings certificate which promises the purchaser at the end of ten years a sum which is equivalent to the amount of the annual installments paid with 6 per cent interest compounded semi-annually. Its ability to perform its contract is not questioned. After the second year a certificate has a surrender value which until the sixth year is less than the principal amounts paid. Many purchasers fail to make their payments and suffer lapses and consequent losses. Held, that such certificates do not 'work a fraud upon the purchaser" within the meaning of Laws 1917, c. 429, and that the State Securities commission is not justified in suspending the license of the Syndicate to sell them.

Order reversed. D. I. BELL, J.

BELTRAMI COUNTY.

Trial Court Affirmed.

James M. Reed, respondent, vs. Union Central Lumber company, a corporation, appellant—

The evidence is sufficient to sustain the order of the trial court refusing to vacate an attachment.

Affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

LE SUEUR COUNTY.

On Fire Insurance Case.

Hugh Haley, as special administrator of the estate of Michael Haley, deceased, appellant, vs. Sharon Township Mutual Fire Insurance company, respondent—

1. Sec. 8378, G. S. 1913, does not disqualify a member and agent of a township mutual fire insurance company from testifying to a conversation had with the insured when he took an application for insurance, because the insured was dead at the time of the trial of an action brought on the policy issued on such application.

2. The delivery of the policy to the insured and his retention of it is not conclusive evidence that after the application was made and accepted the parties agreed to modify their original contract so as to cover property described in the policy instead of that described in the application.

3. The evidence justified the court in finding that the policy did not express the actual agreement of the parties and that its failure so to do was the result of the mistake of the secretary of the company in writing the policy. Such a mistake is sufficient ground for a reformation of the policy at the suit of the company.

4. The negligence of the secretary in writing the policy so that it did not correctly express the actual agreement of the parties was not a bar to the right of the company to have the policy reformed. LEES, C.

Affirmed.

BLUE EARTH COUNTY.

Alimony Provisions Stricken.

John Larson, appellant, vs. Jennie Larson, respondent—

This action was begun in December, 1917. Defendant alleged, and the court found, that plaintiff wilfully and without cause deserted her in February, 1900. The court also found "that for a number of years prior to said desertion the plaintiff was in a state of habitual drunkenness," and "that the plaintiff is the owner of property of the value of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000)." It appears that plaintiff moved to strike out the first finding as immaterial and the second because there was no support for it in the evidence. The record does not show what disposition was made of the motion, but evidently it was denied or not acted on, for upon the same findings are predicated the assignments of error in this court. We think they are well taken. Proof of drunkenness prior to 1900 was wholly immaterial and so was the finding based thereon and should not have been inserted. Drunkenness as a cause for divorce must exist for one year immediately prior to the bringing of the suit.

No testimony was given as to the property or earning capacity of plaintiff, except as elicited from him on cross-examination. He is 68 years old and was hurt some years ago so that he limps in walking. He testified that he was living with a brother doing chores for his board, but receiving no other wages; that he had no money or property of any nature whatsoever. He admitted that about two years before the trial a brother died who owned 160 acres of land and who left no wife or child, but said he never got anything from the estate, did not know who owned the land, or whether there was anything left after paying the debts and expenses of his last illness. Even if this land was undisposed of by deed or will, there is nothing to indicate its value, or what part would be coming to plaintiff, for he has other brothers and sisters. There is no evidence to sustain the finding that plaintiff was the owner of any property whatever. With that finding eliminated, there is nothing to sustain the judgment awarding permanent alimony. There is no evidence warranting a finding that this old man had any earning capacity beyond what was absolutely necessary for his own sustenance, and that would be far short of $90 a month. The $30 monthly alimony must therefore be stricken from the judgment. Costs, including the attorney's fees awarded, are discretionary and cannot be disturbed.

PER CURIAM.

COTTONWOOD COUNTY.

Lower Court Upheld.

State of Minnesota, ex. rel., Winter-Truesdall-Ames company, a corporation, relator, vs. District Court of Cottonwood county, The Honorable L. S. Nelson, Judge of said Court, et al, respondents—

Mandamus to change the place of trial to Hennepin county, where is located the principal place of business of relator, a domestic corporation, on the ground that the plaintiff in the action, for the purpose of retaining the same for trial in Cottonwood county, made one Kurt Krueger, a resident of that county, a party defendant with relator, but that said Krueger has now no interest in the case and is only a nominal party. The respondent, the court below, returns that relator's motion to transfer was denied because it appeared that Kurt Krueger was a necessary and proper party defendant and was made a defendant in good faith and not for the purpose of preventing a change of venue.

The plaintiff's action is to enjoin the prosecution of an action against her and Kurt Krueger upon a guaranty, brought by relator as plaintiff in a court in North Dakota. From the return herein it appears that Kurt Krueger has interposed an answer in the North Dakota suit. He has also answered in the action involved in this proceeding. From the pleadings and affidavits made part of the return we think the court below reached the correct conclusion, and the alternative writ issued herein should be and hereby is discharged. PER CURIAM.

WINONA COUNTY.

An Action For Libel.

Northwestern Detective Agency, Inc., respondent, vs. Winona Hotel Co., a corporation, C. A. Hine, appellants—

1. A written false statement relative to the failure of the plaintiff to pay an alleged debt is held, taken in connection with the circumstances surrounding, reasonably susceptible of a defamatory meaning as tending to injure the plaintiff in its business and as charging want of business integrity.

2. An allegation that the publication, made by the corporation defendant's manager, was made as its agent, is sufficient as a pleading to charge the defendant with responsibility for his act.

Order affirmed. DIBELL, J.

OFFICERS FOR JEWISH CLUB

Rabbi Lebendiger Will Modernize Hebrew School in Duluth.

Officers elected at a meeting of the Young Folks' club of the Duluth Jewish center last night were: Philip Altman, president; Miss Anna Laskawitz, vice president; Miss Sadie Kremen, secretary, and William Jolson, treasurer. A. N. Natelson was chosen honorary president. Members of the entertainment committee selected were: Frank Krupp, chairman; Esther Saksanoff, Cecil Laskawitz, Miss Harriet Krupp and Harry Levin. The next meeting was set for Dec. 2.

Rabbi Israel Lebendiger, who was recently elected superintendent of the Hebrew school, announced that it would be his intention to modernize the school, promote Sunday school classes for the younger children, and organize classes for the study of Jewish music, history and philosophy. He also stated that he was planning a modern religious service on Friday evenings.

"The Jews have always been an invaluable factor in the growth and progress of their different adopted fatherlands," he said. "In the crew that came over with Columbus, two individuals, the physician and the interpreter, were Jews. It was a Jew by the name of Tyman Solomons who financed the American Revolution against England. In the late war, the Jewish quota in the army totaled 7 per cent of the enlisted forces although their population is only 3 per cent of the total population of the United States."

Dr. Lebendiger also called attention to the fact that nations that have persecuted the Jews have invariably met their downfall. The Jew is given strength, he said, by the conviction that is always struggling for an ideal.

KITTSON COUNTY BOY IS BEST STOCK JUDGE

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 19.—A Kittson county boy, Carl G. Ash of St. Vincent, won first place in the livestock judging contest at University farm in connection with the third annual junior livestock show. Ruben Affeldt, Preston, Fillmore county, and Jay Schuller, Welcome, Martin county, won second and third places, respectively. In addition to winning medals and trophies, this trio will represent Minnesota at the international livestock show in Chicago, competing with teams from other states. They will get a free trip. Fourth and fifth places were awarded Stephen Easter, St. Vincent, and Peter McKay, Princeton, who will get $7 and $5, respectively.

Medals and trophies were awarded last night at a banquet given for the 300 visiting boys and girls by the St. Paul association at the St. Paul Athletic club.

TO WIDEN SCOPE OF INDIAN SOCIETY

St. Louis, Nov. 19.—Plans for widening the scope of the Society of American Indians were launched at the ninth annual conference of the organization here yesterday, when it was voted to apply for a charter in every state in the Union.

Delegates asserted that in spreading the influence of the society an important step would be taken to obtain the legislation for full citizenship which the race is seeking. A committee was appointed to put the plan into operation. Thomas L. Sloan, Washington, D. C., was re-elected president; Theodore H. Beaulieu, White Earth, Minn., vice president, and Thomas G. Bishop, Washington, D. C., secretary-treasurer.

TWO THOUSAND MEN PUT BACK AT WORK

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 19.—Two thousand men have been put back to work in the parts department of the Willys-Overland company, according to announcement yesterday by Vice President Kilpatrick, in charge of production. The announcement also said there has been no reduction in wages, purporting to correct a rumor that some of the men accepted 35 cents an hour, with a maximum of 57 cents an hour.

The company in normal times employs about 6,000 men and women, it is said. The entire plant was shut down recently.

SUICIDE IDENTIFIED.

Minneapolis Man, Returning From Hunt, Jumps Under Train.

The man who committed suicide by plunging beneath a train at Superior, Wednesday, was identified last evening as Victor Eckman, 2436 Colfax avenue north, Minneapolis. His body was taken to Minneapolis.

Mr. Eckman left last Sunday morning with a party of Minneapolis friends to embark on a hunting trip and was returning home. The hunters were at the railroad station when Eckman ran from the platform and dived under a string of freight cars. He was ground to death beneath the wheels.

FARMERS MUST SELL TO PAY BANK LOANS

Red Oak, Iowa, Nov. 19.—Farmers who are borrowers must market their products despite low prices, in order to get money into Iowa banks which must meet heavy obligations to the Federal reserve banks, according to speakers here yesterday at the conference of bankers of group No. 5 of the State Bankers' association, with farm bureau members of the same territory.

Iowa banks are now overdrawn on Federal reserve institutions, the bankers stated, and it will not be possible for farmers to borrow until these obligations are discharged.

DIRECT PRIMARY IS FAVORED BY HUGHES

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 19.—Charles Evans Hughes advocated retention of the direct primary system in making party nominations for offices in states and lesser political units, in an address here last night before delegates to the convention of the National Municipal league, of which he is president.

Speaking on "the fate of the direct primary," Mr. Hughes declared it was the "essential compliment of the short ballot" and that it would be a mistake to throw over the system in favor of a return to the old convention system or its predecessor, the party caucus.

He made plain that his remarks could apply only to political systems under state jurisdiction, it not being possible under the Constitution to provide for direct presidential primaries.

He said the primary system could be made an effective barometer of the will of parties only when primary laws provided for strict enrollment of voters, thus insuring that nominations be strictly along party lines and within the control of the members of the party in question. The open primary, in which citizens vote the ticket of whichever party they choose, he said, had been proved a failure.

The ideal method of making nominations, Mr. Hughes said, was to have a convention to which delegates would be chosen by selections within the membership of the party. This convention, besides drawing a platform enunciating the policies of the organization, should discuss likely candidates for office, making public their recommendations, to be subsequently ratified or reversed in favor of other candidates by the voters at the polls on primary election.

"LOYALTY DAY" AT STATE UNIVERSITY

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 19.—Today is "Loyalty day" in connection with the "Better Minnesota" homecoming week being celebrated at the state university. A huge convocation was held this morning and a pep fest and musical program will be given tonight.

The celebration will end Saturday with an elaborate program, including the Minnesota-Michigan football game on Northrop field.

At 9 a. m. the alumni will register in the time-worn alumni book in the library. At 10:30 an all-university parade through downtown streets will begin. In the judges' stand will be Governor and Mrs. Burnquist, Mayor and Mrs. Hodgson of St. Paul, Mayor and Mrs. Meyers of Minneapolis, and Presidents Coffman and Burton.

The parade will include floats by every organization on the campus. The university band, the Rooters' club and the R. O. T. C., 2,200 strong, will be in the lineup.

The organization having the best float will receive a silver trophy cup and the R. O. T. C. company, which appears to be the best drilled, also will be given a cup.

At noon the annual freshman-sophomore scrap will take place on the campus. The classmen will hold a push ball contest and a tug-of-war event, in which the losers will be drawn through a fire hose stream. In the afternoon the Minnesota and Michigan football teams will meet on Northrop field.

The struggle will be for the historic "brown jug" now in the locker rooms of the University of Minnesota gymnasium.

Between halves of the contest, the Macquers club, under the direction of George Lamb, St. Paul, will stage burlesque stunts.

STILLWATER HAS ROOM FOR FEDERAL CONVICTS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 19.—Federal prisoners may be sent to Stillwater instead of to Leavenworth or Atlanta, if a request the state board of control plans to make of Federal officials is granted. The population of the state prison is decreasing so rapidly that the industrial life of the prison is threatened, officials said.

Although the number of prisoners at Stillwater is decreasing the population of the state reformatory at St. Cloud is rapidly increasing with "first offenders" found guilty of stealing or forging checks.

Result of Prohibitoin.

The abolition of the saloon is said to have caused the decrease at Stillwater while movies, war and novels are a few of the reasons given for boys being sent to St. Cloud.

The decrease at Stillwater has been steady since July 1, 1919. From that date to July 1, 1920, it fell from 872 to 849 and on Nov. 1 it was down to 748 and prospects of a further decrease this month, records show.

On July 1, 1919, there were 380 prisoners in St. Cloud reformatory, while on Nov. 1, 1920, there were 428.

In the last fiscal year ended June 30, St. Cloud reformatory received 364 prisoners, all first offenders, between the age of 18 and 30 years. Of these 264 men men no less than 205 were in for stealing. One hundred and three were convicted of larceny, forty-four of forgery, thirty-three of burglary and twenty-five of robbery.

CROOKSTON BODY ELECTS OFFICERS

Crookston, Minn., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A farm bureau meeting of importance to the entire Minnesota Red River valley will be held here Dec. 9 and 10 when members of the board of directors of the county farm bureaus in the Northwestern Minnesota counties will meet for two all-day conferences. Invitations to attend the meeting were issued by L. M. Bond, the Polk county agent, at the direction of Carl Berg, recently elected president of the Polk county farm bureau.

Subjects pertaining to agricultural problems will be discussed and legislative recommendations are expected to be drawn up and sent to the state legislature.

One of the most important developments to result from the conference is expected to be the organization of a Red River Valley Potato Growers' association in an effort to increase the acreage and handle the crop of Red River valley seed potatoes. A Red River valley farm bureau association also may develop at the meeting, it is said. About 100 farm bureau directors will attend the two-day meeting.

HILL CITY RAILROAD HEARING CONDUCTED

Grand Rapids, Minn., Nov. 19.—Judge Ira Mills of the railroad and warehouse commission was here Tuesday and Wednesday and heard the petition of the Hill City road that it be allowed to abandon its spur from its main line into Mississippi landing. The claim of the railroad is that the cost of maintaining that spur, but about a mile long, is excessive. A heavy grade makes hauling difficult and the cost of the spur adds to the cost of every item shipped. If the spur can be removed the company agrees to establish depot facilities on its main line near the present spur and at a place near where a proposed Babcock road crosses the track.

The company also asks for an increase in freight charges of 11 per cent. If the spur cannot be removed the increase wanted is 21 per cent.

The petition of the road for removal of the spur was opposed by the Mississippi Mercantile company and Hill City merchants opposed the increase in freight rates.

The railroad company was represented by Attorneys Paul F. Blanchard and W. M. Manker of Chicago and the opposition by Victor L. Power of Hibbing.

ITASCA COUNTY FAIR OWES BUT SMALL SUM

Grand Rapids, Minn., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the Itasca County Agricultural association which holds a fair here every fall is a thriving proposition was evidenced by reports presented at the annual meeting here this week, figures showing that although the expenses for the year were $5,336.24 the deficit is only $81.84, while everything indicates that another year will see a bigger and better fair. It was decided to embark upon a systematic building campaign to get the grounds into fine condition. A campaign for membership will be started.

The officers for the coming year are Henry Hughes, president; John Carlson of Nashwauk and William M[illegible] of Grand Rapids, vice presidents; E. J. Farrell, secretary; Glen [illegible], treasurer. The directors are S. A. Pr[illegible], Coleraine; C. J. Franti, Bovey; Guy Kelly, Warba; William Welte, Bigfork; H. A. Gruessendorf, Harristown; O. I. B[illegible]n and George F. Kremer, Grand Rapids.

The president, secretary and treasurer were named as delegates to the Minnesota state agricultural meeting to be held in St. Paul.

CONQUERS RHEUMATISM

It is an established fact that one teaspoonful of Rheuma taken once a day for a very short time has driven all the pain and agony from thousands of racked, crippled and despairing rheumatics.

While powerful, gratifying and quick-acting Rheuma contains no narcotics, is absolutely harmless and must give lasting and blessed relief or its cost, small as it is, will be refunded. The magic name has reached nearly every hamlet, and there are hundreds of druggists who can tell you of the good it has done in some of the very worst cases.

If you are tortured with rheumatism or sciatica you can get a bottle of Rheuma from Lyceum pharmacy for not more than 75 cents, with the understanding that if it does not rid you of all rheumatic suffering your money will be cheerfully refunded.—Advertisement.

DIRECT PRIMARY IS FAVORED BY HUGHES

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 19.—Charles Evans Hughes advocated retention of the direct primary system in making party nominations for offices in states and lesser political units, in an address here last night before delegates to the convention of the National Municipal league, of which he is president.

Speaking on "the fate of the direct primary," Mr. Hughes declared it was the "essential compliment of the short ballot" and that it would be a mistake to throw over the system in favor of a return to the old convention system or its predecessor, the party caucus.

He made plain that his remarks could apply only to political systems under state jurisdiction, it not being possible under the Constitution to provide for direct presidential primaries.

He said the primary system could be made an effective barometer of the will of parties only when primary laws provided for strict enrollment of voters, thus insuring that nominations be strictly along party lines and within the control of the members of the party in question. The open primary, in which citizens vote the ticket of whichever party they choose, he said, had been proved a failure.

The ideal method of making nominations, Mr. Hughes said, was to have a convention to which delegates would be chosen by selections within the membership of the party. This convention, besides drawing a platform enunciating the policies of the organization, should discuss likely candidates for office, making public their recommendations, to be subsequently ratified or reversed in favor of other candidates by the voters at the polls on primary election.

"LOYALTY DAY" AT STATE UNIVERSITY

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 19.—Today is "Loyalty day" in connection with the "Better Minnesota" homecoming week being celebrated at the state university. A huge convocation was held this morning and a pep fest and musical program will be given tonight.

The celebration will end Saturday with an elaborate program, including the Minnesota-Michigan football game on Northrop field.

At 9 a. m. the alumni will register in the time-worn alumni book in the library. At 10:30 an all-university parade through downtown streets will begin. In the judges' stand will be Governor and Mrs. Burnquist, Mayor and Mrs. Hodgson of St. Paul, Mayor and Mrs. Meyers of Minneapolis, and Presidents Coffman and Burton.

The parade will include floats by every organization on the campus. The university band, the Rooters' club and the R. O. T. C., 2,200 strong, will be in the lineup.

The organization having the best float will receive a silver trophy cup and the R. O. T. C. company, which appears to be the best drilled, also will be given a cup.

At noon the annual freshman-sophomore scrap will take place on the campus. The classmen will hold a push ball contest and a tug-of-war event, in which the losers will be drawn through a fire hose stream. In the afternoon the Minnesota and Michigan football teams will meet on Northrop field.

The struggle will be for the historic "brown jug" now in the locker rooms of the University of Minnesota gymnasium.

Between halves of the contest, the Macquers club, under the direction of George Lamb, St. Paul, will stage burlesque stunts.

STILLWATER HAS ROOM FOR FEDERAL CONVICTS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 19.—Federal prisoners may be sent to Stillwater instead of to Leavenworth or Atlanta, if a request the state board of control plans to make of Federal officials is granted. The population of the state prison is decreasing so rapidly that the industrial life of the prison is threatened, officials said.

Although the number of prisoners at Stillwater is decreasing the population of the state reformatory at St. Cloud is rapidly increasing with "first offenders" found guilty of stealing or forging checks.

Result of Prohibitoin.

The abolition of the saloon is said to have caused the decrease at Stillwater while movies, war and novels are a few of the reasons given for boys being sent to St. Cloud.

The decrease at Stillwater has been steady since July 1, 1919. From that date to July 1, 1920, it fell from 872 to 849 and on Nov. 1 it was down to 748 and prospects of a further decrease this month, records show.

On July 1, 1919, there were 380 prisoners in St. Cloud reformatory, while on Nov. 1, 1920, there were 428.

In the last fiscal year ended June 30, St. Cloud reformatory received 364 prisoners, all first offenders, between the age of 18 and 30 years. Of these 264 men men no less than 205 were in for stealing. One hundred and three were convicted of larceny, forty-four of forgery, thirty-three of burglary and twenty-five of robbery.

EXPECT LOWER PRICES FOR CANNED GOODS

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Prices of canned goods will be no higher and may be somewhat lower in the coming months, Walter J. Sears of Chillicothe, Ohio, president of the National Canners' association, said here today.

"We are hopeful of making prices lower," he said.

"Canned goods have advanced less than any other staple and prices are just about as low as they can be. The present decline in the price of canned goods is due to financial conditions, not to any overproduction. We don't know what materials will cost in the coming year, but we don't expect them to go higher and they may be somewhat lower."

Albert Lea Taxpayers Enjoin.

Albert Lea, Minn., Nov. 19.—Taxpayers of this city have served an injunction on the mayor and the city council restraining them from paying the sum of $82,000, final payments on paving contracts, to Fielding & Shepley, Inc., of St Paul, who claim the paving completed. The injunction charges that the contractors have not fulfilled their contracts.

MODEST BUILDERS RELIEVED OF UNDRESSED CHICKEN CARRYING

Members of the Duluth Builders' exchange laid in their stock of Thanksgiving supplies at the party given at the Spalding hotel last night. Big turkeys, ducks and geese were disposed of as were many other articles such as flour, potatoes and candy.

Many of the members at the party last year objected to carrying undressed chickens home late at night, so this year the committee, to relieve the modest ones, so they say, of any embarrassment, arranged to have all of them fully dressed, with the result that there was peace and harmony everywhere.

WAGE SCALE BEING PROBED

Minimum Commission Holding Investigation Here to Fix Requirement.

Duluth employers and employes will have an opportunity to present their views on the minimum wage question at a public hearing to be conducted tonight at 8 o'clock at the Commercial club by the Minnesota minimum wage commission.

Following numerous hearings in the Twin Cities and in Duluth tonight the commission will go to Winona on Monday and St. Cloud on Wednesday and will then determine how much above the present minimum of $11 a week the new wage will be.

It is possible according to John P. Gardiner state labor commissioner and chairman of the minimum wage commission, that following the public hearings the commission will exercise a prerogative authorized by the law and subpoena employers or employes or both and require them to give testimony which may be considered necessary to have and which is not volunteered at the public hearings.

New Wage Announced Soon.

It is expected that the new wage will be fixed some time this month, although Chairman Gardiner was noncommital, both with respect to the time when the decision would be announced and as to the probable figure at which it would be fixed.

"No matter how the matter is decided," said Mr. Gardiner, "somebody is going to be dissatisfied. It is a thankless job and one which the state labor commissioner, whoever he may be, should not be required to do. The chairman of the minimum wage commission, who is supposed to represent the general public, should be a man or woman who is neutral and fairminded and who holds no other public office. It embarrasses the work of the labor department to have the labor commissioner a member of the minumum wge commission. Labor is likely to be dissatisfied if the minimum is not raised to a certain figure and employers are likely to protest if it is appreciably raised at all, so there you are."

Other Commissioner Members.

Besides Mr. Gardiner, the other members of the commission who will conduct the hearing at the Commercial club tonight are Miss Eliza P. Evans, secretary, who represents the employes' views and C. W. Gordon of the Gordon-Ferguson company of St. Paul, who is a representative employer.

In the Twin Cities separate hearings were conducted in some instances for employers and employes to get expressions of opinion on the subject. According to Mr. Gardiner the testimony from the workers came just as reluctantly at the separate hearings as it did at the public hearings, where both sides are represented.

The working girls in the Twin Cities who testified refused to give their names "for fear that their bosses would fire them." Mr. Gardiner says that there should be no feeling of this sort as the employers to date have taken no definite stand on the matter and are not contradicting the statements made by employes as to living costs.

Public Will Pay.

Joseph Strong of Strong & Miller, wholesale milliners of St. Paul, has urged the commission not to set the minimum too high.

"The public will have to pay the raise anyway," he said. "The employers can't do business and make any profit if the wage is shoved up too high." He deprecated the girls' "tendency to invest in $500 fur coats," and asked for a reasonable adjustment.

Miss Evans, secretary of the commission, has compiled a tentative budget which corresponds with one which has been adopted by the minimum wage commission in Massachusetts and which gives the absolute minimum of a girl employe in Minnesota as follows:

Board and room, $9; clothing, $3.25; laundry, 60 cents; doctor and dentist, 50 cents; church, 15 cents; newspapers and magazines, 25 cents; vacation, 50 cents; recreation and education, 50 cents; insurance, 10 cents; contingent fund, 40 cents; incidentals, 25 cents; total, $15.50.

Chairman Gardiner is anxious to have a representative attendance of employes and employers at tonight's meeting so that the commission will have an opportunity to procure first hand data on living costs upon which to base the new minimum wage scale. Anyone who has any views on the subject will be given a chance to express them at tonight's meeting.

GRIFFIN-SWANSTROM RECOUNT BRINGS LITTLE CHANGE

The result of the recount of the ballots cast for Walter Swanstrom and Earl Griffin, candidates for commissioner of the Third district, showed little change from the official count as reported by the election judges. As the count now stands, Griffin has cut down the lead of Swanstrom to about twenty votes, according to Paul Quigley, one of the inspectors. There are twenty-eight ballots that will be referred to the court, if the contest is brought into court, which is not believed probable considering the result.

Few changes were noted in any of the districts with the exception of the Sixty-eighth, where Griffin gained nineteen votes. On the straight count there were nine ballots that were found for Griffin, while Swanstrom lost ten.

The official vote of the election judges was 3,128 for Griffin and 3,183 for Swanstrom.

Ditch Proceedings Dismissed.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge William Watts of the Red Lake county district court has dismissed proceedings to establish judicial ditch No. 70, traversing Western Polk, Pennington and Red Lake counties following a public hearing. Attorneys for various landowners whose lands would be affected by the establishment of the ditch contended that the benefits to be derived would not offset the damages and the judges sustained their contention.

Union to Meet in Old Synagogue.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—The new $60,000 home of the Electrical Workers' union, local 134, was ready for occupancy today. The former synagogue has been repainted, the interior redecorated and improved with modern lights and conveniences. A $20,000 pipe organ was acquired with the new property of the union, strains from which will open the meetings of the organization.

Changes Mind About Going Away

"Five years ago doctors told me I would have to move my wife to another climate, as she suffered so with stomach and liver trouble and bloating. Also, that she would have to have an operation for gall stones. Our mail carrier told me of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and, on his advice, she has taken it and is now as well as ever in her life." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Boyce Drug Co., 331 West Superior street, and druggists everywhere.

OHIO STATE ON WAY TO CRUCIAL GAME OF YEAR

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 19.—Ohio State's football squad, twenty-eight strong, reached Danville, Ill., this morning on the first lap of its journey to Urbana, where tomorrow will be recorded the final results of the 1920 conference season.

Saturday's contest, the second in two consecutive years, in which Ohio State and Illinois have been contenders for championship honors, will, according to Coach Wilce, find the Buckeye players in as good condition as they have been at any time this season.

A general exodus of Ohio State pigskin fans continued throughout the day.

Either victory or a tie game tomorrow will bring the pennant to Columbus. The Buckeyes have won four games and lost none, while the Illini have won four and lost one.

This year the teams appear to be of about the same strength with Ohio State averaging 179 pounds and Illinois 184 pounds.

BAER'S OFFICE AT THE CAPITOL RANSACKED

Washington, Nov. 19.—Guards at the capitol today found that the offices of Representatives Baer of North Dakota and Oliver of Alabama, in the house office building, had been entered during the night and the personal files of the two representatives ransacked. Entrance to the offices was gained by smashing the glass in the windows.

Secretaries of the two members, both of whom are at their homes, said that so far as could be ascertained, nothing was taken. No clew to the identity of the miscreants had been obtained by the capitol guard or the police.

Geer. The witnesses were Miss Katherine Hanson and Harry Morgan.

ONE OF CROWN JEWELS ONLY COLORED GLASS

London, Oct. 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sir George Younghusband, keeper of the Jewel house at the Tower of London, has just revealed the fact that one of the British crown jewels, of which he is custodian, is an imitation. The stone was believed to be a magnificent aquamarine, but proved on examination to be only a piece of colored glass. It figured first in the crown of King James II. The mystery of when the imitation was substituted for the real stone has not been solved.

Hoover Heads Engineering Society.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Herbert Hoover was elected president of the Federated American Engineering societies today by the Federation's council in session here. TIME TO MAIL FOR OVERSEAS

Christmas Packages Will Take Some Time Getting There.

If you're sending Christmas gifts to Europe it's high time to mail them.

"It takes three weeks or more to get parcels overseas," said Postmaster Thomas E. Considine today. "There is far more business of that sort than most people imagine. In a few weeks our postoffice will be crowded with gifts to Europe. The steamers carrying the goods will be in even worse position, because they must carry such parcels from all over the country."

The United States has now established full postal communication with every country in Europe except Russia, Finland and Jugo-Slavia. Letters alone will be accepted for Russia, but their delivery cannot be guaranteed. Parcels will not be taken. With Finland and Jugo-Slavia there is a postal convention so that the delivery of letters is practically certain. Parcels to these two countries will be accepted, but the United States takes no responsibility for their delivery. A similar restriction on Hungary was lifted this week.

This year the parcels of food, clothing and miscellaneous gifts going to Europe is exceeding all previous records, postal officials declare. Food drafts and money orders are also being sent in unusual numbers.

SEVERE BREAKS IN GRAIN AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 19. — Grain prices smashed heavily downward today all along the line, with hogs and provisions following suit. Corn led the way, notwithstanding that it was already lower than at any time since 1915.

Expected greatly enlarged pressure of offerings from the new crop of corn appeared to be a leading factor in emphasing bearish sentiment caused by unsettled financial and economic conditions. As a result before the day was half over, wheat had fallen 7½c to $1.73¼ for December delivery and to $1.63¼, March; corn was off 3c to 66⅞c. December, and oats down to 46⅝c for May.

The severity of the new breaks in prices and the extent of the accompanying selling to liquidate holding excited much comment. It was pointed out in this connection that the value of corn had not been cut from $1.83½ a bushel to less than 70c inside of five months, whereas it was two years after the war was started before a bushel of corn could command an even dollar.

OBJECT TO IMPORTS OF AMERICAN TIRES

Washington, Nov. 19.—Sharp protests have been entered in the British house of commons aganist the continued importation of large quantities of American manufactured automobile tires to Great Britain in the face of virtual stagnation in the English rubber industry, according to advices to the department of commerce. TWO WOMEN FINED $5 FOR REFUSING TO TAKE OFF HATS IN COURT

Chicago, Nov. 19.—"Equal suffrage for women means that they must not wear their hats when in this courtroom," Justice of the Peace F. P. Aring, declared yesterday when he fined two women $5 each for contempt of court when they refused to remove their hats. The women paid.

When the justice called the court to order he said:

"Everybody will please remove their hats."

Mrs. Oscar McCann and Mrs. Frederick Ritter failed to do so. The court hesitated a moment, but the two continued to wear their hats.

"Five dollars and costs for contempt of court," the justice said.

"If women can have equal suffrage with men, they can also remove their hats in my courtroom."

BOTTINEAU MEMORIAL IS GIVEN HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Red Lake Falls, Minn., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A memorial presented to congress in March, 1879, signed by many of the leading citizens of Minnesota at that time, praying congress to pass a special act granting Pierre Bottineau, pioneer scout and guide, a pension of $50 a month, has been presented to the Minnesota Historical society by Victor E. Patnaude, chief state boiler inspector, a former resident of Red Lake Falls, and a grandnephew of Bottineau. Bottineau founded Red Lake Falls back in the '70s and for many years this city was known as Bottineau's colony. The memorial states that Bottineau was an old and experienced guide and for many years materially helped in the development of the Northwest and Minnesota and that his services to the government merits the consideration of the members of congress. Some of the signers of the memorial were Governor J. S. Pillsbury, Henry H. Sibley, late major United States army; H. P. Van Cleve, adjutant general of Minnesota, and Judge C. E. Vanderburgh of the Hennepin county district court.

TWO KILLED IN PISTOL FIGHT AT SANDS, W. VA.

Williamson, W. Va., Nov. 19.—Private Ernest L. Rippley of the state police, and William Hatfield, said to be union organizers, killed each other in a pistol fight at Sands, twenty-three miles east of here last night, according to reports received by Capt. Brockus, commander of the troopers on duty in the Mingo coal strike zone.

The trooper met Hatfield on the railroad tracks at Sands, and, according to reports to Capt. Brockus, the latter drew a pistol and ordered Rippley to hold up his hands. When the trooper complied, the report said, Hatfield started shooting. Rippley immediately answered the fire, and in the exchange of shots both men were killed.

Custer following his death at the hands of the Sioux and Ute Indians, died yesterday after a lingering illness. McDonnell was a member of the old Seventh cavalry, located at Fort Sheridan, Wyo., and was dispatched from that place in company with Buffalo Bill to roundup Yellowneck and Crazy Horse, the Indian chieftains responsible for the massacre. A few years later McDonnell was a member of the party that surveyed the Yellowstone National park.

Improving Red Lake Falls Church.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Extensive improvements are being made to St. Joseph's Catholic church here. A full basement of reinforced concrete walls has been built and the church has been raised several feet. The space, 47 by 100 feet, will contain clubrooms, library, dining room, kitchen besides furnace room and fuel room and will be used for the many social gatherings conducted by the church. The estimated cost of the improvements that are being made this fall is $5,000, according to Rev. E. J. Lemire, pastor, under whose direction the work is being done.

Offered Brainerd Pastorate.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Samuel M. Kelly, for the past three years pastor of the Presbyterian church here, has received a call from the First Presbyterian church of Brainerd and intends to accept if Adams Presbytery, of which he is a member, will grant him a letter of dismissal. EXTORTION IS CHARGED

New York, Nov. 19.—While the joint legislative committee investigating the "building trust" was hearing further testimony yesterday regarding alleged graft payments to Robert P. Brindell, president of the building trades council, the grand jury strengthened its indictment of Wednesday and added another, charging the labor leader with extortion.

After pleading not guilty to the amended indictment alleging attempted extortion of $25,000 and the new charge, Brindell was granted his liberty on the $100,000 bail furnished Wednesday.

Judge Mulqueen, before whom Brindell was arraigned, warned the defendant's counsel, Martin W. Littleton, that the "time might come when people would demand more security."

Mr. Littleton said he "hoped" there would be sufficient time between indictments to enable him "to go out and dig up bail if more is needed."

The new indictment charged Brindell with extortion in that he received $500 from Louis J. Cohen, a housewrecker, on July 15, in connection with a demolition job.

Pay for Protection.

While Brindell was pleading in the criminal courts building, the legislative committee in the city hall heard witnesses testify to the payment of more than $48,000 to the labor leader for wrecking jobs and protection against labor troubles. Of these witnesses, Albert Hirskowitz headed the list, having declared he paid $25,000 to Brindell to prevent a "rumored strike."

George Atwell, one of the city's largest demolition contractors, said he had paid $17,120 for jobs and protection.

Nieman Klomposs, a housewrecker, testified to giving Brindell $1,000 for "getting me men," and arranging for "protection from trouble."

He said he also paid $200 for "privilege cards," in order that his men could work. Later Klomposs added, he gave $1,000 to a partner, B. Siegel, to be given Brindell to prevent interruption of work.

Joseph Goldblatt, building and sheet-metal contractor, testified he paid $2,000 to Brindell's agents at the request of the labor leader to have a strike called off on an alteration job.

FAILURE TO USE SHIPS COST $3,000,000 LOSS

New York, Nov. 19.—Failure of the tank steamer department of the United States shipping board to utilize its fleet of bulk oil carriers for the needs of shipping board vessels caused a loss to the government of $3,000,000 in one month, Martin J. Gillen testified here yesterday before the Walsh congressional committee inquiring into the shipping board transactions.

Gillen was special assistant to Former Chairman John Barton Payne, last May, when he said the alleged dereliction occurred.

The tank steamer department had fifty-four vessels, he added. Of these, twenty were in the hands of private operators. It was discovered on May 26 last, that fifty-four vessels were tied up at a Southern port for lack of fuel oil, and in addition, 40 per cent of the operators were buying oil in the open market for $4 to $6 a barrel. At the same time, he added, "60 per cent of the oil we were carrying in our ships was furnished at $2.07 a barrel."

Gillen further testified that this condition of affairs was disclosed through complaints of two operators. Capt. Paul Foley was then head of the tank steamer department, he said, and "it was ascertained he did not know that ships were compelled to buy oil at a higher price than it could have been furnished by the board."

Capt. Foley, he added, was later relieved of his duties as head of the tank steamer department. Gillen said Foley was now director of operation of the board's entire fleet of more than 1,100 ships, including the tankers.

A chart made of the tank steamer operations, Gillen testified, showed that thirty-three were in government service and others in semi-private and official work. Some were operated for the benefit of public utilities, and some in the service of supplying oil for shipping board fuel stations abroad.

ADMISSION OF GERMANY TO LEAGUE IS DEMANDED

Relation of Council.

Giuseppe Motta, president of Switzerland, raised the question of the relation of the council of the League of Nations to the assembly. He held that the report of the council was not presented to the assembly for the approval of the latter body, but for its information. He gave as his view that the council and the assembly could not be regarded as bearing the relation to each other, for example, of government and parliament, but rather that each had its own separate function and status.

President Motta alluded to the treaty registration question and called attention to the fact that of nine treaties registered with the league, five were Swiss.

"There will always be diplomacy, I will not say secret, but discreet," remarked M. Motta, who pleaded, however, for the most open diplomacy possible, with full publicity through the registration of all treaties.

Reads Reply From President.

Geneva, Nov. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—At the opening of today's session of the assembly of the League of Nations, Paul Hymans, the president, read a reply from President Wilson to the message sent to Washington by the assembly on Monday.

George Nicoll Barnes, a British delegate, then took the floor to begin discussion of the report of the council of the league.

Mr. Barnes dwelt especially on the necessity of lending assistance to the Armenians.

"They are," he declared, "hemmed in by the brutal Bolshevikl on one side and by inhuman beings on the other."

The labor chapter would become the most important part of the treaty of Versailles, Mr. Barnes predicted.

"There can be no permanent peace," he said, "until there is industrial peace; and there can be no industrial peace until labor gets a better share of the product of its efforts."

Must Have Support.

He referred to the action of the league in the Polish Lithuanian dispute and in the question of the Aland islands between Finland and Sweden. He said the council must have support, but he wanted to know why the council had not taken action, as provided for in Article XI of the league Covenant, to prevent the war which had been going on for a year between Poland and soviet Russia.

The British delegate held that it was quite possible for the league to do something to prevent a fresh outbreak of hostilities between Poland and soviet Russia, which he declared was unmistakably threatening, in spite of the "patched up peace."

Regarding the admission of former enemy states, Mr. Barnes said he was here to represent the labor element of Great Britain and he knew the vast majority of the laboring people demanded that all the enemy states be admitted without delay.

States to enter the League of Nations and the controversy about it in the United States has for the moment prevented an understanding about disarmament, but irrespective of whether President-elect Harding decides that he wants America to join a League of Nations, he has pledged himself to work for disarmament. The League of Nations has a special commission at work on the question of disarmament, but it is doubtful whether the movement will get much momentum until President-elect Harding throws the moral force of America behind it.

Can Taxes Be Reduced?

Practically every tax expert in Washington can work out a formula whereby taxes would be reduced and Liberty bonds restored to par if the entire world agree not to build any extensive armaments but simply to maintain sufficient for national defense. Secretary Houston estimated, for instance, that the American government would need $4,000,000,000 in revenue during the coming year. There is a good deal of talk about extravagance in government, but when that $4,000,000,000 estimate is analyzed his figures are likely to be considered conservative. Of the $4,000,000,000 at least $1,000,000,000 must be set aside to pay the American people the interest on the Liberty bonds they hold. Another $1,000,000,000 will have been spent on guarantees to the railroads and other assistance provided for by the Republican congress during the last session in order to help the railroads out of the plight they were in when taken over by the government during the war. This leaves $2,000,000,000 for other purposes. Pensions, war risk insurance, maintenance of the military and naval establishment and other expenditures growing out of the war, together with the billion dollars that it used to cost to run the American government before 1914 consumes the remaining $2,000,000,000. Moreover, the high cost of commodities which the government itself must buy would ordinarily have increased the government budget beyond the single billion even if there were no expenses incident to the war.

Cannot Affect Main Items.

The impression is that there will be much pruning of expenditures during the coming year but that it cannot affect the main items like the sums guaranteed to the railroads, the amounts to be spent for the soldiers and sailors and the billion that must be paid in interest to Liberty bond holders. It is the general feeling, too, that the government will be doing well if it can cut its expenditures to $1,000,000,000 and raise that amount of revenue.

Nobody knows just what the loss will be on the revenue from excess profits taxes. The slump in business will mean considerable reduction in revenue. The prospect is that there will be an insistence on a cut in army and navy appropriations and things incident to war making. Should Europe be able to do the same thing the outlook for lower taxes, according to officials here, would be bright indeed.

"Constantine," says M. Jonnart, "seems to me not only undesirable for the Allies, but quite impossible. His return to the throne would mean that the greater Greece of Venizelos would be placed at the service of Germany. It is the right and duty of the protecting powers not to allow a Greece that is stronger than ever to become a vassal of Germany."

Expect Plebiscite Next Week.

Rome, Nov. 18.—Princes Andreas and Christophoros of Greece, brothers of Former King Constantine, stated to the Associated Press today that they believed the plebiscite for the purpose of deciding upon the occupant of the throne would be held next week. They declared it would be a demonstration in favor of Constantine that would eclipse that of the recent election in that country.

"The present attitude of the Greek people," said Prince Andreas, "must not be considered as a condemnation of the foreign policy of Former Premier Venizelos, but only as repudiation of his dictatorial and reactionary systems of internal government.

Objected to Domestic Policy.

"A few weeks ago the opponents of M. Venizelos, who were hiding, sent a memorandum to the Italian, French and British governments, emphasizing their support of the Greek foreign policy as adopted by M. Venizelos, but insisting it was imperative to remove him from power because of his domestic policy.

"England, therefore, need not fear the return of Constantine to the Greek throne, as that would not mean any change in the country's foreign policy. It would, however, signify the pacification of all parties at home, which would render Greek relations with the Allied countries more advantageous. Constantine never favored a policy against the interests of the Entente. Reports stating he concluded a secret understanding with the Central empires were absolutely false."

Effect of Competition.

"The steel producers are classifying their customers and are charging them what is known to economists as 'class price.' If competition was obtained among producers of steel in the Chicago district, they would compete vigorously for all the business in the territory named. They would continue forcing the price down until it reached approximately the lowest price they are obtaining at any of the points in other territory. The price of steel would be fixed uniformly under the free play of competition and prices of all the steel supplied by the Chicago mills would be forced to a minimum."

The hearing was adjourned until Dec. 6, when counsel for the United States Steel corporation and other respondent companies will present their side of the case.

same article it is announced that "St. Paul was chosen for the simple reason that the management of the Minneapolis Auditorium broke the contract weeks after it was drawn up and the full rental paid. Minneapolis is afraid of Bob."

Barred in Twin Cities.

Minor is scheduled to speak at the St. Paul auditorium in St. Paul Sunday night, but the St. Paul city commissioners, after discovering who Minor was, canceled the contract and refused permission for the auditorium to be used for this purpose. The Minneapolis auditorium was rented last week for a similar Minor meeting. Rent was paid in full, but when the Minneapolis authorities learned who Minor was and what he stood for, the rental contract was promptly broken.

Commissioner Murnian, in declaring he would prohibit the meeting, said:

"I have been lenient with speakers who live here, even though they have been somewhat radical in their utterances, but as for importing outside agitators, that I will not stand for. If he is the kind of a man I understand he is, we do not want him here. If Minneapolis and St. Paul cannot stand him, it is a certainty that Duluth does not want him. I will issue orders to Chief of Police Pugh to see that he does not deliver any radical talks in Duluth in public."

FORMER GOVERNOR OF NEW JERSEY HAS PASSED AWAY

J. FRANKLIN FORT.

South Range, N. J., Nov. 19.— J. Franklin Fort, former governor of New Jersey, died at his home here Wednesday.

military authorities derided his protests that he was an American citizen, he said, and he also told of having witnessed the shooting of an Irishman whose body, he said, was beaten into unrecognizable form.

Father Cotter, a Catholic editor, told of the killing of a Galway civilian by a British soldier without cause, he said. The soldier, he said, was shot by another civilian and reprisals against the town followed an hour later. Soldiers shot up the streets "for several hours," he said.

The aged priest added that he lay for an hour and a half under a window ledge of his hotel to escape the flying bullets. The military, he added, later set fire to two houses and fired into a Galway newspaper plant whose management was friendly to the Republican movement.

Unanimous for Independence.

Father Cotter and Mr. Martin, a Knights of Columbus official, stated that sentiment in Ireland as they found it was virtually unanimous for independence.

"Sympathies of every one I met, Catholic and Protestant, were for the Republicans," Father Cotter said.

The belief that religious prejudice or differences were involved in Ireland was unfounded, he added.

"There was absolute unanimity of opinion for home rule," Mr. Martin told the commission.

All witnesses said that civil court procedure was suspended in Ireland, coroner's inquests prohibited by the British government and that the only authority exercised, except for the British military forces, was that of the Irish Republicans.

About 600 soldiers and 400 police are stationed constantly in Limerick, Father English told the commission. Military raids through Penniwill, a Limerick district, were so frequent, he said, that it had been named the "Penniwill sector."

Damaged 200 Houses.

He told of a fire started either by hand grenades or incendiaries which damaged 200 houses in the Penniwill district and said he saw many marks of bullets and bombs.

Mr. Martin said he was halted and searched frequently by soldiers during a journey from Limerick to Cork. He said there were great numbers of military motor lorries in Cork, patrolling the streets continuously. In the space of five blocks, he said, he noted about 80 per cent of the windows of houses and stores had been shattered by the activities of the soldiers.

"No compensation has been made by the British government for the destruction of property, whose destruction has been proved against its own forces," he declared.

Father Cotter said he spent eight weeks in Ireland last summer, visiting Cork, Galway, Queenstown and many smaller towns. In Cork, he said, a sister of Terence MacSwiney, the late lord mayor, showed him a dum-dum bullet which had been fired at her, but missed.

"Nights in Cork are hideous with the shots of the military," Father Cotter said.

He and Father English told also of seeing intoxicated soldiers firing their arms in the streets.

TAXABLE INCOMES IN U. S. SHOW INCREASE

Washington, Nov. 19.—Despite the loss of seventy-five members of the country's million-a-year income class, the taxable income of the United States increased in 1918 by more than $2,272,000,000 as compared with 1917, according to income statistics issued last night by the bureau of internal revenue. Income reported for 1918 amounted to $15,924,639,355, against about $13,700,000,000 in 1917, though 141 persons filed returns for incomes of $1,000,000 or more in 1917 and only 67 in 1918.

Personal returns filed during 1918 numbered 4,425,114 and the tax, both normal and surtax, amounted to $1,127,721,835. The average tax for each individual was $254.85. As compared with 1917, a growth of 952,234 was shown in the number of returns filed. The increase in the total tax was $434,228,881.

Returns for incomes of from $500,000 to $1,000,000 were filed by 178 persons, while 1,516,938 persons filed returns for income from $1,000 to $2,000.

MINISTER WILL BE TRIED FOR SHOOTING

Toronto, Nov. 19.—Through a decision announced by Attorney General Raney here yesterday, Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, minister and license inspector, who killed Beverley Trumble during a raid on Trumble's hotel at Sandwich, will have to stand trial for the shooting despite the fact that a coroner's jury decided the minister acted in self-defense.

After a conference with Crown Attorney Rodd of Windsor, Mr. Raney said Spracklin would probably be admitted to bail after a preliminary examination pending the opening of the Sandwich court, when he will be tried on a charge of "killing and slaying" Trumble.

Canadian Immigration.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—There appears to be no abatement, though winter is approaching, in the flow of immigration from overseas. Last week, a party of 150 Cornish miners arrived for the Dome Mine, Ontario, and an additional party of eighty, a few days later. Two parties of forty domestics each passed through en route to Saskatchewan, and by a special government relaxation, a party of workers from Finland are proceeding to the lumber camps of the Ottawa river.

Society and Women's Clubs

Lanvin developed her costumes of Czecho-Slovak inspiration in the form of a long coat of overdress with a tight underskirt. Some of the costumes even had the loose hanging trousers of the rustic goat herders. There were few women who cared to accept such an extreme movement in dress, so these were soon replaced by a short, tight skirt falling below a long tunic. The tunic did not allow more than a few inches of the underskirt to show. A great deal still is made of skirts of this type. The peasant or chemise type of overdress girdled at a low waistline has passed through many evolutions.

WOULD GIVE WOMEN CHANCE

Movement on Foot to Move Correctional Institution Out of City.

Mrs. H. J. Grannis, former president of the Women's Council, will head the committee that is working for a new home in the outskirts of the city for the women's correctional institution. This appointment was made by Mrs. Fred Sermon, chairman of the correctional institution's committee, who declares the committee will continue to work until the Women's Council is able to give the women who are sent to this institution an opportunity to start life over again in the right way.

"It is help they need, not a sentence," Mrs. Sermon said.

It is the desire of the Women's Council to have the industrial home women moved from the heart of the city to some place where they will have privacy and an opportunity to help themselves. The idea is to have a number of cottages built where the women may learn to care for the household and learn occupations that will be useful to them after they leave the institution.

The council has considered two different sites, one near Woodland and the other in the vicinity of the county poor farm. It is believed that a location such as either of these would be of great benefit to the women, who would not be subject to as close confinement there as they would be in the city.

Mrs. C. E. Spring, a former president of the council, has been appointed by Mrs. Sermon as head of the legislation committee. This body will have charge of the work to enlist the support of the legislature in granting permission to move the home to a new location. It is understood that members of the legislature have already promised their support. The legislature will be asked for an appropriation fo rthe new home at the next session, it was said.

Side Talks

By Ruth Cameron.

HARDER THAN WORK.

I think the very hardest thing to stand among all the strains and complexities of life is the strain of being pulled several ways at once by different interests and affections.

And I think that women have five times as much of this sort of thing to stand as men.

Wife, Mother and Daughter.

How many women we know who are harrassed and torn by the conflicting necessities of being wife, mother and daughter all at once.

Of course the answer rises to mind that many men are husband, father and son at once.

But it isn't the same. Man's function in life is far more specialized and simple. He is the provider. He may have to provide for wife, children and parents, but he does not have the conflicting claims of personal relationship to pull him this way and that as women so often do.

Even when a man takes one of his parents to live in the house with him, it is the wife, and not he, who bears the bigger part of this burden. That is why I hold that when it is possible, the mother should live with her daughter rather than her son, since this arrangement makes the burden lightest on the one who has the most of it to bear.

Men Are Chiefly Husbands.

Besides, American men have a way of getting away from their families—I mean, of course, the families into which they were born. Sons, even the best of them, seem to slough off the old relationships with marriage, while women, the best of them at least, cling to them. I suppose this is just the opposite of the Old World customs which made the wife become part of the husband's family when she married, and I suppose a student of history could tell me what has caused this change.

Then, too, men in their relation to their wives and children seldom have the conflicting pull that a wife and mother has. Who ever heard of a wife who complained because her husband devoted too much attention to his children? But how often we hear men justifying their outside interests by such a claim. The wife was too devoted to the children, he wasn't given enough attention, and so he had to get it elsewhere. This means that many women have this conflict of calls upon them to pull them this way and that.

I think any strain of this sort is three times as wearing as hard work.

She Was Pulled Apart.

I know a woman who has just been taken to a sanatorium with nervous prostration. Her husband cannot understand it. She had an easy life, he says, a pleasant home, healthy children, no financial worries, so what earthly cause for a breakdown had she? Everyone who knows anything about the inner life of the family knows perfectly well what cause she had. It was necessary, she being an only daughter and there being no large means in the family, to have her father live with them. Since it had to be, it was surely the duty of all to avoid friction, but the husband made no effort to do this. He was jealous of any attention paid the father and made life miserable by his criticisms. The strain of being pulled two ways was too much for the wife and daughter and she had broken down.

I fancy if we could know how many breakdowns are caused by just such conflicts, we would be greatly astonished.

"TINKER BOB" STORIES

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

THE KING INSIDE THE DEN.

When Tinker Bob took a good hold on the tail of Mr. Wolf, something happened. He thought all the time that it was a spirit who was talking to him, but this changed his mind. He sprang into the air and cried at the top of his voice: "Let go of my tail, let go of my tail!" I can tell you he was so scared that he pawed the air trying to get away.

"Don't be in a hurry," said Tinker Bob. "You are such a brave fellow that every one in the forest is afraid of you. Now you are afraid even in your own cave. Just be quiet a while, till I talk to you."

"Let go of my tail, I say," cried Mr. Wolf as he struggled to free himself from Tinker Bob, whom he could not see.

"I'll let go of your tail when you promise to be quiet," said Tinker.

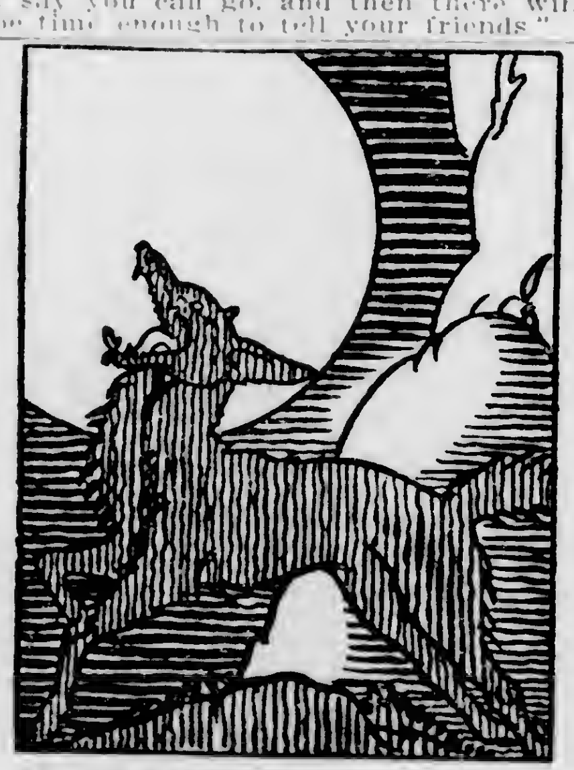
"I'll be quiet if you will not hurt me," said Mr. Wolf.

"I thought you were such a terrible fellow that everyone in the forest was afraid of you. I thought you were planning to be away when the king came to see you so as to capture him in your cave, and here you are trying to get away when a visitor comes to see you. You are a coward. You dare not stay even in the same place with me. Tell me, how are you going to capture the king of the forest?"

Poor Mr. Wolf didn't know what to say. He looked as hard as he could look, but could see no one. Tinker Bob was there but he could not be seen, for the power to become invisible had been given him by Old Man Experience through the Stone of the Unseen. As soon as he tapped the Stone of Knowledge no one could see him.

"Just let me go out of here and I will never trouble any one again in all the forest," Mr. Wolf cried out.

"I know all about you, Mr. Wolf. You don't know how to tell the truth. If I let you go out of here you will go to your friends and the very first thing you would do, would be to see how you could catch the king of the forest. I think you had better stay right here till I say you can go, and then there will be time enough to tell your friends."



"Let Go of My Tail, I Say," Cried Mr. Wolf.

"Oh, no," said Mr. Wolf, "I'll do what I say I'll do, and I said I would not harm anyone in the great forest again if you would let me out of here." Mr. Wolf trembled because he was so afraid.

"What makes you tremble so, Mr. Wolf?" asked Tinker Bob. "That's the way with these brave fellows that are always growling about. They make others think they are brave, but down in their hearts they are afraid of their own shadows."

Suddenly from outside the entrance of the cave there was a whining sound that called the attention of the king. Tomorrow we will see who it was.

AT THE THEATERS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

NEW GRAND—Jonia and Her Hawaiians; other acts.

NEW GRAND—"Oh, how she can dance!" It's certainly true when one applies the remark to Jonia, who heads the Hawaiian troupe of singers and instrumentalists heading the bill at the New Grand. "A Tropical Serenade" the act is called, and with its exceedingly pretty setting, its plaintive Hawaiian melodies — and Jonia in her dance—it deserved the thunderous applause it received. One of the men of the troupe is an especially skillful manipulator of the steel guitar and his solos were among the appealing features of the act, never forgetting Jonia and her dance.

Roach and McCurdy are about the best pair of rural comics seen here for some time, and they garnered the laughs all the way through their act.

Charles Deland and Kathryn Blair work one up to the point where murder is expected and then "Breaking It Gently" come to a close with the big laugh on the audience—and the crowds yesterday enjoyed it.

Kramer and Pattison, billed as "America's Foremost Exponents of Physical Culture," both look and act the part. Their contribution of muscle-posing, hand-to-hand balancing and equilibrist stunts brought them hearty applause. Mr. Kramer's explanation of the methods used in development added to the appreciation of the offering. The pictures are unusually interesting in this show, and no small feature.

ORPHEUM—Dave Harris is syncopation's best bet. He goes a little bit further with jazz than most of his contemporaries. There are many syncopated singers and many syncopated instrumentalists, but Harris is both. Everything he does he does in syncopation and he seems to do everything. He sings and he plays any number of instruments; the violin, the bass violin, the clarinet and so on. He is almost an entire orchestra by himself. No matter what he does it is regardless of the number of beats in a measure, he plays and sings in time that suits himself and apparently suits most people because Harris is well liked wherever he goes.

PHOTOPLAYS

NEW GARRICK—Mary Miles Minter in "Eyes of the Heart."
ZELDA—Corinne Griffith in "The Whisper Market."
NEW LYRIC—Shirley Mason in "The Little Wanderer."

NEW GARRICK — Demonstrating that vision is not a thing of the eyes alone but of the heart, with one of the most unusual stories in which she has yet been seen, "Eyes of the Heart," in which Mary Miles Minter came to the New Garrick yesterday, gives her exceptional opportunities, and she misses none of them. Blind, she is tenderly cared for by a band of crooks whom she judges by what they do for her. When an operation restores her sight there is real drama in her disillusionment and her fight for happiness despite the disappointment, and she undoubtedly does some of the finest acting of her career. "One Best Pet," the Chester comedy which is the special added feature, shows "Snooky, the Humanzee," again with many of his animal friends and other players seen in "An Overall Hero" and "Four Times Foiled," and it is a riot of fun as well as meaty with interest.

NEW LYRIC—Those among the few who have not yet seen Shirley Mason in "The Little Wanderer" and Eddie Barry in the Christie comedy, "Mr. Fatima" have their last opportunities tonight. Tomorrow Eugene O'Brien comes in "The Wonderful Chance," a new sort of crook story. It is claimed that Eugene O'Brien's charactizations of "Swagger" Barlow, a crook who would reform, and Lord Birmingham, an English nobleman, are about the best things he has done on the screen. There is action galore, which begins when Barlow is released from Sing Sing, and the scenes run all the way from East side dives to Long Island country homes of the wealthy. It is when he swerves from his determination to "go straight," in order to help a sick pal, that his "wonderful chance" comes, and with it an exceedingly pretty romance.

ZELDA—It is not always advisable for a husband to warn his wife against certain of her acquaintances, even when he is quite sure there are good reasons why she should not be on familiar terms with them. It may prove a dangerous course, indeed, when there already is a degree of friction and misunderstanding between husband and wife from other causes. That was the situation in "The Whisper Market," visualized by Vitagraph and being shown at the Zelda. Corinne Griffith appears in the role of Erminie North, wife of the vice consul at Rio.

STRAND—Coming to the Strand Sunday, Norma Talmadge will be seen in her latest production, "The Branded Woman," from Oliver D. Baily's play "Branded." This is the story of a girl who is forced to the very brink of the abyss from which no woman escapes and of what happens when her husband learns the truth. One may proudly indorse this photoplay as one of the most pretentious Norma Talmadge productions ever created and one which does honor to the star. Miss Talmadge wears many stunning gowns that will appeal to the feminine patronage. The cast includes George Fawcett, Gaston Glass, who will be remembered as Leon in "Humoresque," Grace Studdiford, Vincent Serrano and many others. Ethel Clayton in "The Ladder of Lies" is now showing.

ELIMINATE TRACTION 'Y'.

City and Street Car Company Will Consider Women's Request.

The conference between the Mothers' club of the Ensign school and the city commissioners recently was announced as being for the purpose of requesting that the Piedmont street car line be extended. According to one of the members of the club, this was not the purpose of the conference, but for an appeal to eliminate the "Y," which is directly in front of the Ensign school and said to be a constant danger to the children.

Whether the "Y" is moved or an extension of the line is granted, makes little difference to the club, it is said, but it requested that the backing up of cars and switching directly in front of the school be stopped. The council has the request under consideration and this will be one of the matters that will be discussed at the conference between the council and the Duluth Street Railway company officers in the near future.

WANT RATE INCREASE IN T. C. DISTRICT

Application for an increase in freight rates into the St. Paul-Minneapolis district will probably be made by the railroads, following a conference in Chicago last week of officials of the Trunk Line association and the Western Trunk Line association.

The railroads are seeking an increase in freight rates on lines running out of New England and Eastern seaboard states, into Wisconsin and Minnesota, the territory tributary to the Twin Cities. The increase which was recently granted to the roads provided for an increase of 33 1-3 per cent on freight over this route, while rail and lake routes were allowed a 40 per cent advance. The Trunk Line association seeks to equalize the increase.

It will be at least a month, it was said, before the machinery of a request for an increased rate is set in motion. In about a month, according to an official of the Trunk Line association, an announcement may be made by the association that it intends to ask for an increase. This announcement will be published in the public docket of the association and public record will be made in various other ways. Notification will be sent to the local Commercial club and to other commercial organizations who will be given twelve days in which to request a hearing before the Trunk Line association. The hearing itself will probably be held ten days later. If upon conclusion of the hearing, the Trunk Line association decides to file a request with the interstate commerce commission for an increase, the public will have another opportunity to be heard before the commission.

RED LAKE RED CROSS REPORTS ACTIVE YEAR

Red Lake Falls, Minn., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the Red Lake county chapter of the Red Cross has been active the last year is evident from the annual financial report submitted to the executive committee by Mrs. Fred E. Cyr, financial secretary, and George W. Christie, treasurer. The main work of the chapter has been the financing of the county public health nurse. Although the county commissioners have appropriated $100 a month towards her salary, her traveling expenses and office expenses and one-third of her compensation have been borne by the Red Cross. The Red Cross has conducted classes in home-nursing at Red Lake Falls, Oklee and Plumber and financial aid was extended last winter at the time of the recurrence of the influenza epidemic. The balance on hand a year ago was $1,812.60. Receipts for the last year from various sources totaled $1,069.51. The Ford touring car bought for the county nurse and its upkeep cost $1,037. Total expenses for the fiscal year were $2,376.18, leaving a balance in the treasury of $504.93. The Red Cross work in this county will be continued for the coming year though it will be necessary to secure a nurse to replace Miss Ruth E. Phillips, whose resignation takes effect the first of the year.

Efficient Housekeeping

By Laura A. Kirkman.

THE GUEST IN THE HOME.

"There's no use talking," I have heard women say, "guests are delightful from a standpoint of sociability, but they are a lot of trouble."

The woman who talks like that is a pessimist, to my way of thinking. The optimist woman says: "It pays me to have guests in more ways than that of enjoying their society; I always get so much done before a guest comes."

We all know how we fly around before the arrival of a guest, doing those numerous little things that we have long meant to do but neglected. Mrs. A has intended for months to rehang the etching in her living room which, she realizes, would look better in another spot—but she does not "get around" to rehanging it until the night before her mother-in-law comes to visit. Mrs. B has been on the verge of rewaxing her hardwood floors for several months—but she doesn't do it until Cousin Lucy is expected for the week-end. Mrs. C has been vaguely distressed for three months over her soiled living-room curtains—but she is not to be found actually washing them until she has sent out invitations for an informal little guest dinner.

In short, guests give us impetus. They turn a tiresome duty into a task brightened by the excitement of a coming event. I believe that the housekeeper should plan to have at least one guest a month (twelve guests a year are not many, are they?), if only for the sake of the upkeep of her home!

Not long ago I dropped into the home of a friend who had just said good-by to a week-end guest.

"My! what a lot of changes you have made around your house!" I exclaimed. "One always gets a lot done before having a guest, doesn't one?"

"Yes, but not only before," she replied enthusiastically. "I got a tremendous amount of sewing done while she was here. As we sat and talked, I finished all the odd pieces of sewing I had started and laid aside—I never in this world would have found time to finish them if Alice hadn't come."

So a guest not only gives us the ambition to make improvements before the date of his arrival, but also enables us to finish odds and ends of handiwork during the period of the visit, as we sit and chat.

But I do not wish to give the impression that I believe in having guests frequently for the sole reason of "getting things done." There is a spiritual side to the guest question. We human beings were not meant to live like hermits; we were meant to share our loaf with others, to exchange our life experiences with one another for mutual benefit. A guest brings us his viewpoint and takes away ours; he brings a little piece of his world into our world to give us a change of thought, and when he leaves he takes a little piece of our world away with him, to re-live in memory.

Many a guest has proved a substitute for a doctor's bill. I have known more than one woman who improved her health by having a visitor; for, without realizing it, we all crave change from the monotony of our daily lives, and there is nothing like a guest to take us out of ourselves. Just try it!

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

MANY TO BE DENIED PAPERS.

Claim for Exemption During War Disqualifies Applicants.

Undre a law which provides that applicants for citizenship papers must prove that they have been attached to the principles of the United States for the last five years, probably one-fourth of the applicants at the Hibbing and Virginia hearings next week will be disqualified because they sought exemption during the war, R. K. Doe, naturalization examiner said today.

Most of the applicants who have been rejected to date had their first papers when they registered. Upon claiming exemption because of no citizenship, these first papers were automatically canceled. The men to be given a hearing next week, however, had no first papers at the time they registered. Their claim of exemption on this ground has been interpreted by courts as a violation of their attachment to the principles of the United States.

Mr. Doe will hold a naturalization hearing at Barron, Wis., on Nov. 22. He will be at Hibbing on Nov. 26 and at Virginia on Nov. 27. There are forty applicants at Hibbing and sixty-five at Virginia.

NIGHT IN TURKEY.

Plans for Commercial Club's Annual Jollification Being Made.

Plans are being perfected for the "Night in Turkey" which is staged by the Duluth Commercial club every year, just before Thanksgiving. It will be held on next Wednesday night. The club rooms will be decorated and provisions made for dancing.

The feature of the night, as usual, will be one of the largest turkeys that can be obtained to be given away. Ducks, geese, chickens and other requirements for a real Thanksgiving dinner will be disposed of. There will also be numerous entirely new features in connection with the entertainment program, the arrangements committee has announced.

GIRL JAILED FOR TRYING TO HELP MAN TO ESCAPE PRISON

Edith Wahl, 21, was jailed in Superior last night on a charge of aiding a prisoner in an attempt to escape. It is charged that Miss Wahl mailed five hacksaw blades in a carton of cigarettes and a box of candy from Eau Claire, Wis., to Harry Markle, alias "Moonshine Harry," in the county jail here.

Markle is charged with a part in a holdup of an alleged gambling game two weeks ago, when thirty-five business men lost $2,500 in cash and thousands of dollars worth of diamonds. Miss Wahl said she knew Markle is married but she said she loves him and is "going to stick right to him."

FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES INSURED

The First State Mutual Fire Reinsurance association, composed of twelve mutual fire insurance companies in the Northern part of the state, was granted a license Wednesday by the Minnesota Insurance department.

Its purpose is to insure the member companies so that severe fire and lightning losses will not fall too heavily on any one company. Individuals who carry insurance with any of these mutual companies are hereafter not to be liable for an assessment larger than 1 per cent. The losses occasioned in the forest fires of 1918 necessitated an assessment of 6 per cent.

The total risks now assumed by the member companies are $7,713,050. This is the first time that mutual fire insurance companies have so organized for reinsurance.

The names and places of residence of the corporations forming the association are: Cass Lake Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company, Cass Lake, Minn.; Suomi Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company, Wawina, Minn.; Finnish Local Fire Insurance company, Cloquet, Minn.; Pine County Mutual Fire Insurance company, Askov, Minn.; Itasca County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company, Big Forks, Minn.; North Shore Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company, Two Harbors, Minn.; Cook County Mutual Fire Insurance company, Hovland, Minn.; Aitkin County Mutual Fire Insurance company, Aitkin, Minn.; Tri-County Mutual Fire Insurance company, Motley, Minn.; The Farmers' Township Mutual Insurance company of Klondike, Deerwood, Minn.; St. Louis County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company, Duluth, Minn., and Carlton County Mutual Fire Insurance company.

N. Nissen of Duluth is president of the new company. Other officers are E. A. Laage and Mr. Swanberg, vice presidents; W. N. Warner, secretary; Oscar Pearson, treasurer, and M. Zellman, assistant secretary.

BUSINESS MEN GET BUSY IN ROLL CALL

Business men throughout the city have started work on the Armistice day to Thanksgiving roll call and Red Cross headquarters is receiving inquiries and memberships in increasing numbers. This morning a number of inquiries were made as to where the money should be sent for the members and the receipts and buttons. The headquarters for the roll call are at the headquarters of the Red Cross at 507 Alworth building. There is also a roll call headquarters membership station at Third avenue west and Superior street.

Requests were sent out this morning to every minister in the city to make the work of the Red Cross and the need for renewing all memberships a part of his Sunday service next Sunday. Last Sunday was Red Cross Sunday in many of the cities in the Northern division and this coming Sunday is to be the Red Cross Sunday in Duluth. The pastors of all the churches are being asked to make special reference to what has been done and particularly to the increasing need for memberships now to take care of the peace program.

Rev. Charles W. Ramshaw, who was chaplain of the Third Minnesota infantry, which became the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth field artillery of the American expeditionary forces and who, in this country and in France, was closely acquainted with the Red Cross work for the soldiers, is to make a special plea to his congregation in Morgan Park regarding the Red Cross. Dr. Ramshaw is an enthusiastic Red Cross member himself. He declares that the work that was done during the war by the organization—and especially by the Duluth chapter—was an eye opener to him. The capacity for service in the organization, he states, is unlimited and the need for Red Cross work now is even greater than during the war. He promises to enroll the Morgan Park people 100 per cent.

CHARGED WITH QUICK START AT STEALING

James Kelley, aged 20, a Montana ranger, and recent applicant at a private detective agency to "learn the business," was arrested this morning on a charge of grand larceny. Kelley accepted a job at the Hadelsford dairy and his first work is alleged to have been to steal $130 in cash from Nels Benson, another employe of the dairy, ten minutes after his arrival at the place. The money was missed shortly after it was taken.

Kelley was charged with the theft, but claimed innocence and allowed himself to be searched. The money was not found on his person at the time. This morning he left for the city and the police were notified. He was picked up by Detective James Bradley, and when searched at police headquarters money equaling the missing sum was found in his pockets. He will probably be arraigned in police court this afternoon.

SAVE LIFE OF EXHAUSTED MAN

Delay in starting their car due to loading a large buck enabled Ed Whalen and John McCarthy to save the life of D. Archibald of Lake City, Minn., a Civil war veteran, from death by exposure. Mr. Archibald, who is 75 years old, had gone out hunting with his son Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock and was picked up at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday morning by Mr. Whalen and Mr. McCarthy, in a state of exhaustion.

According to the story told by Mr. Archibald, he had become lost from his son. The veteran wandered through the big swamp west of the Vermilion road and south of the gravel pit and tramped through the woods and swamps until he had come out on the Vermilion road only a few minutes before Mr. Whalen's automobile came along.

When the headlights of the machine lit up the highway Mr. Archibald threw up his hands and waved them to stop. He tossed his gun into the ditch. When the machine stopped he was unable to climb into the car and had to be assisted. He had lost his mittens some time during the evening and his hands were stiff from cold. He told Mr. Whalen that he was ready to lie down on a pile of timber alongside of the road, when the car came.

Mr. Achibald was brought to the city and taken to a local hotel. After receiving refreshments and having a rest he was able to again get out. He left the local hotel last evening for Cloquet, from where he intended to get into communication with his son, at Rush Lake, from which point the two had been hunting.

WOULD CONDUCT AGENCY FOR SKILLED EMPLOYES

One of the city commissioners, as yet not decided upon, will introduce an ordinance at the next meeting of the council to permit the conducting of a labor agency for skilled employes, including those of an executive, managerial and stenographic nature. The ordinance will permit the charging of 25 per cent of the first month's salary for the finding of positions for this class of employes.

The amendment provides for the employment agency to charge for each hiring not to exceed $1 for common labor in the county and $2 for outside points and not to exceed $3 for skilled labor, employed anywhere.

It also provides that this shall not apply to executive or managerial positions or for stenographic or general office work, necessitating an inquiry into the character of the applicant, their experience and qualifications.

A man named Walters is said to be behind the move.

SINGS HIGHEST NOTE REACHED BY HUMAN

New York, Nov. 19.—Among boy prodigies, Edward Rochie Hardy, 12 years old, Columbia freshman, may boast the mastery of a dozen languages, and Samuel Rzeschewski, 9-year-old Polish chess wizard, can checkmate nineteen West Point strategists in a row—but neither of them can sing.

Robert Murray, 12, of Tacoma, Wash., can. Yesterday before a group of famous metropolitan stars, including Mme. Frances Alda, who "discovered" the youth last summer, Murray not only reached with ease the high notes in arias of Galli Curci and Tetrazzini fame, but, to the astonishment of his hearers, he transposed those high notes to a higher key and breathed them with equal facility and resonance. The singers who heard the performance asserted this was the highest note ever reached by the human voice.

CAUGHT AT HURLEY, WIS., FOR MILL CITY SHOOTING

Hurley, Wis., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chris Nolan, alias John O'Neill, for whose capture a reward of $250 was offered by Minneapolis authorities, was arrested here late yesterday and this morning left for Minneapolis in custody of two detectives sent here.

Nolan had been sought since April for shooting a deputy sheriff while being taken to Stillwater prison to serve a sentence for robbery. He offered no resistance when arrested here.

THIS IS ONE REASON HE BET $1,000 SHE IS BEST MOTHER-IN-LAW IN THE WORLD

In John J. Burns we have at least one gallant defender of the much abused mother-in-law. This New York benedict has bet Edward Walsh, a next-door neighbor, $1,000 that his wife's mother has more common sense than the average mamma-in-law. A jury of women, all of whom have acquired either sons or daughters-in-law, are to decide whether Burns is competent to discuss mothers-in-law. The above photograph shows one of the reasons that prompted Burns to bless the day he became the son-in-law of Mrs. Margaret Campbell.

Better Speech Program.

Students of Lincoln junior high school, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Fifth street, gave a "better speech" program at the school this morning. The program included: "The Flag Salute," "The Star Spangled Banner," and the taking of the pledge to better speech, by the entire school; a song, "His Name Is Better Speech," by six boys of the B seventh grade; an address, "Better Speech," by R. A. Horr of the Stone-Ordean-Wells company; a better speech proclamation by Lawrence Avoy of the eighth grade; a reply to the proclamation by Helen White, also of the eighth grade and the singing of "America" by the entire school.

"THE LANGUAGE QUESTION" AT SWEDISH TABERNACLE

Rev. A. Theodore Ekblad of Superior spoke last night on "The Language Question" to a large and receptive audience at the Swedish tabernacle, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. The musical program was also well received. The following program will be given this evening:

Invocation; "I Stormen," (Mendelssohn), Mission church male chorus; organ and piano duet, march from "Tannhauser," (Wagner), Professor and Mrs. A. F. Landholm; vocal solo, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say," (Rathbun), Mrs. Dora N. Davis; "Forgat Mig Ei," (Askling), male chorus; vocal solo, "The Lord Is my Light," (Ole Speaks), Mrs. Dora N. Davis; address, "Problems and Solutions," Rev. G. Kluxdal.

Plans Welfare Social.

A welfare social will be given by the League of Zion Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, at the church tonight. A silver collection will be taken up for Thanksgiving baskets for the poor. The program for tonight consists of an organ solo by Harold Hanson, a reading by Ethel Bergstrom, a talk by Rev. H. C. Rex, a solo by L. V. Swartzendrover and a song by the boys' chorus. All members and their friends are urged to be present.

Thirty Automobiles Burned.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Nov. 19.—The Nelson company garage at Clitherall, thirty miles east of here, was destroyed by fire Wednesday with a loss estimated at $70,000. Thirty automobiles, a big machine shop, and a large quantity of gasoline and oils were destroyed. Explosions continually endangered lives of volunteer fire fighters.

Former Italian Prince Dies.

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—Dr. Delandas Berghes, an Italian prince, who renounced his title to enter the monastery of St. Thomas at Villa Nova, died Wednesday night. He was formerly archbishop of the American branch of the old Jansenistic Catholic church and renounced that body to enter the monastery.

LIONS BACK UP NEW CHIEF

Club Offers Its Support to Pugh to Make City Better.

Members of the Lions' club gave a unanimous vote of confidence to Maj. Warren E. Pugh, newly appointed chief of police for the city of Duluth, at their weekly luncheon at the Spalding hotel today. The club adopted resolutions offering the support of the organization to the new police head along any line tending to make the city a better and safer place in which to live.

Bentley P. Neff, vice president of the F. A. Patrick company, was the speaker of the day. He talked on "Our Individual Responsibilities." Co-operation, he said, is a great thing but there is need now for individual effort and individual activity and a disposition to not "pass the buck" and "let the other fellow do it."

Mr. Neff discussed the necessity for individual thought and action in bringing about concerted action on such projects as the lakes-to-ocean waterways which the West must put over if it desires to have a free right-of-way to the sea.

Asks Dairying School.

The club went on record as favoring Duluth as an ideal location for an additional dairying school now contemplated by the state and adopted resolutions which will be brought to the attention of the local delegation to the legislature.

Dec. 3, the entertainment committee announced, is the date for a ladies' night program and dance at the Commercial club. John C. Neipp is chairman of the committee and the other members are William E. Tracey and William B. Arper.

BIG BROTHER BANQUET NOV. 23

Personnel of the Big Brothers committee of the Rotary club which will foster the "big brother" movement among young Duluth boys who are in need of some such influence to keep them on the right track, has been announced by Chairman J. A. Smith as follows: Frank J. O'Donnell, Harry Hutter, Rev. C. W. Ramshaw, Roger Weaver, E. A. Silberstein, Dr. R. A. Kent, Ben Winkleman, Ben Williams, Si Forgette and Ed Furni.

The boys will meet their Big Brother Rotarians at a big turkey dinner to be given at the Y. M. C. A. boys' department on Nov. 23. Quite an elaborate program of athletics and entertainment for the youngsters has been arranged and every effort will be made to start the boys off on a new year of activity feeling right.

Every Rotarian who has a boy assigned to him will be held responsible in the matter of "following up" the case throughout the year. Most of the boys selected will be from homes where their mothers are widows and there are no men in the household to give them good wholesome advice.

Given Recess Appointments.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Frank K. Nebeker of Utah and Leslie C. Garnett of Virginia were given recess appointments today by President Wilson as special assistants to the attorney general.

JOHN'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Boston Transcript: When John McCormack was singing in grand opera, at Signor Foli, some years ago, he had on one occasion to sing from a stage balcony which was hardly strong enough to support so heavy a man. The stage manager told two assistants to hold it up from beneath, but before Signor Foli was more than half through one of the men below said: "Bejabers, Moike, the Oitalian is moighty heavy."

"Let's dhrop him, Pat; he's only an Oitalian, after all."

Voice of Signor Foli: "Will ye, ye divils, will ye?"

"Tare an 'ounds, Pat, but he's an Orishman; hould him up for the loife of yez!"

WHERE JOHN WENT.

New York Globe: Sven had been nursing logs down the chute to the buzz saw for several hours when the boss came along.

"This bane too much vark for one man," Sven told him.

"All right," said the boss, "I'll send John down to help you."

An hour passed and the boss came past again. Sven made the same complaint.

But I sent John down to help you. Where is he?"

"Yohn, he ain't bane here some time. He vent down be'ween two logs. I tank he quit his yob."

SONS DISCIPLES OF FATHERS IN CHINA

Moon Kwan in Asia: A Chinese son gets from his father, not praise or affection, but strict, grave teaching. Honor and reverence a Chinese son must pay to his parent almost to a ridiculous extent. And it was especially so between my father and me, for I was not only his son but also his disciple. When I was 11 years old he began his career as a teacher of a commentary school, and I was included among his pupils the next year, to learn the meaning of the Confucian classics, which we had committed to memory during the four or five years of reading in the beginners' school.

We had no arithmetic or geography or other courses then, as modern schools have now. So, after being eight years in school, I still did not know how to add or multiply, and neither did I know how large the earth is, or what is in the universe. My idea of the world was only our district. In fact, until I was 13 I did not know that there is a white race.

Any Chinese, if he is a follower of Confucius' teaching, has the sentiment of filial piety in his heart. It is perhaps that sentiment that has kept China from progressing to any material wealth or rising to high physical power. And it is perhaps that sentiment that will keep China from perishing. For, after all, material wealth and physical power are only the passing phenomena of an age, but sentiment and spirit live forever. Babylon and Rome have risen and fallen, but the crumbling wall of China has existed for thousands of years, and no doubt will continue to stand. "Piety is the essence of patriotism," a sage has said. "If one is not a dutiful son, he cannot be a dutiful citizen."

DECEITFUL WOMEN.

Yale Record: She was a pretty little blonde and she looked so anxious there in the Biltmore lobby. So I stepped up.

"Are you looking for some one in particular, or will any one do?"

"I was looking for a gentleman, but you'll do," she said, leading the way toward the dining room. Then we went up to some smoke roof garden.

"What are you doing in New York?" I asked.

"I go to Miss Prim's school," she replied.

"Fine!" I shouted, taking out my flask of straight gin and filling her empty water glass, at the same time tossing across my cigarettes. We got along fine until we took a taxi going home.

"Stop," she said. "Stop or I'll get out and walk. You're too rough.

"But I thought you said you came from Miss Prim's," I stuttered, dazed.

"I know I've not played fair," she confessed. "I've deceived you. I don't go to Miss Prim's or Vassar or Smith or any girls' school. I'm just a poor chorus girl trying to be wild; but I'm out-classed."

MORE WAR.

Yonkers Statesmen: Mrs. Styles—I want one of those new military bonnets, dear.

Mr. Styles—How much are they?

"About $35, I believe."

"I can't afford that, and, besides, I don't see why you want a military bonnet. You're not going to fight, are you, dear?"

"I am if I don't get that bonnet."

JUNIORS AND SOPHOMORES WIN DENFELD CONTESTS

The junior and sophomore teams defeated the freshman and senior teams respectively yesterday in the first games of the interclass basket ball tournament being held at Denfeld high school. The juniors defeated the freshman by a score of 9 to 6. The sophmores won a 18-to-10 victory over the seniors.

The games showed some real good work by several of the players. All the teams showed a weakness in their inability to cage the ball. This was especially true of the sophmore machine, which worked the ball down the floor time and time again and then failed to shoot a basket. Yesterday's games gave the sophmores the odds on winning the tournament. Coach Monat has issued his call for candidates for the Denfeld team and ordered them to report for practice Monday night. It is expected that the largest squad in the history of the school will be out for the team this year.

GARY HUNTER SHOT WHILE OUT NEAR TWO HARBORS

Arthur Wilder, aged 45, 910 House street, Gary, was shot by an unknown hunter, while he was hunting with two companions north of Two Harbors. The bullet went through Wilder's leg. He was brought to Duluth on the Duluth & Iron Range train this forenoon and taken to the St. Luke's hospital.

Miss Mabel Preston, aged 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Preston of Proctor, died at her home this morning after a lingering illness. She was a graduate of the Proctor high school of the class of 1919 and is survived by her parents; three sisters, Mrs. T. Byers of Waycross, Ga.; Mrytle and Winifred of Proctor and three brothers, I. LESSON IN ARITHMETIC.

Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph: Arithmetic, according to the average small boy, was simply invented in order to give teachers a good excuse for punishing their unhappy pupils. And, certainly, little Tommy Smith found it the unpleasant feature of his young life.

"Now, Tommy Smith," said the school teacher one morning during the usual hour of torture, "what is the half of eight?"

"Which way, teacher?" asked the youngster cautiously.

"Well, on top or sideways, teacher?" said Tommy.

"What difference does that make?"

"Why," Tommy explained, with a pitying air, "half of the top of eight is nought, but half of it sideways is three."

LESSON IN ARITHMETIC.

Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph: Arithmetic, according to the average small boy, was simply invented in order to give teachers a good excuse for punishing their unhappy pupils. And, certainly, little Tommy Smith found it the unpleasant feature of his young life.

"Now, Tommy Smith," said the school teacher one morning during the usual hour of torture, "what is the half of eight?"

"Which way, teacher?" asked the youngster cautiously.

"Well, on top or sideways, teacher?" said Tommy.

"What difference does that make?"

"Why," Tommy explained with a pitying air, "half of the top of eight is nought, but half of it sideways is three."

EVELETHIANS NOT TO QUIT TAX PROTEST

Eveleth, Minn., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. A. Whitman, who was appointed as a member of the committee of the Rotary club to act jointly with committees of the Eveleth Commercial club and the citizens' committee, read a letter at the luncheon of the club yesterday noon in which the tax commission stated that valuations of the city had been computed from a list of property transfers in the last several years and that it would do little, if any, good for a body of local citizens, or anyone else to appear before the commission in an effort to have the increases lowered.

The club will, however, act in conjunction with the general committee of citizens appointed by Mayor Essling at the recent protest meeting.

DRILLING TO RESUME NEAR GRAND RAPIDS

Grand Rapids, Minn., Nov. 19.—After a period of inactivity, drilling will soon start at the ore properties near here. Exploration work has been under way for some months by the Tod-Stambaugh company. A drill is being located in the SW¼ of SW¼ of section 13, near the old Interstate shaft. While two drills are on the ground, probably only one will be operated during the cold weather, according to local fee owners.

Several thousand pounds of samples have been shipped out for analysis and also to the state university for experimentation in washing and treatment.

There is still time for a large amount of experimentation before the expiration of the option.

Eveleth, Minn., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Elks have taken initial steps toward having a home erected on the lot purchased by the organization several months ago. It has been decided to have plans drawn for a bungalow type of home, as well as for a two-story building, the first story of which would be used for business purposes and the upper story for club and lodge rooms.

The bungalow type seems to be more popular than the other, but nothing definite has been accepted in this regard. The lot bought by the lodge is located on Jones street across from the new bakery.

The water is so slow, he reports, that vast quantities of fish are left stranded to perish. It is his opinion that the game and fish authorities should investigate the matter.

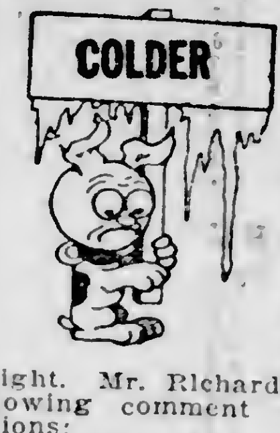
PARTLY CLOUDY, UNSETTLED, COLDER



The promise of colder weather tonight may make a change in this "dopey" weather, one that will make residents perk up. Just now most people you meet are in the dumps. The sun rose this morning at 7:19 and will set this evening at 4:29, giving nine hours and ten minutes of sunlight. Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Moderate to mild temperatures are the rule in nearly all districts. In large part this is due to the present distribution of barometric pressure, continuing high over Southwestern states and low in the British Columbia region. During the last twenty-four hours there was rain over Quebec, parts of North Michigan, and generally over Wyoming, North California, Oregon, Idaho, Washington and British Columbia. Rainfalls of an inch or somewhat greater fell over West Oregon."

MORE PRECINCTS FOR VOTERS OF HIBBING

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The recent election showed that because of much of Hibbing having been moved there must be radical changes made in boundaries of voting precints, notably in South Hibbing, and Village Recorder Murphy and Village Engineer Hawley are working in conjunction with Stuntz township officials on proposed changes to be presented to the village council.

At least two new election districts and probably three will result when the plans are finally presented to the council. The 1,200 voters in South Hibbing will vote in one more precinct than formerly, probably two. Residents of the Park addition will not be compelled to vote in Brooklyn as formerly. Precinct No. 6 which is the ward voting place located in the Holstein building may be eliminated and this additional precinct placed in the so-called Gas-office ward, which is one of the largest in the city.

EMPLOYING CHILDREN CAUSES HIBBING ARRESTS

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—On complaint of Miss Victoria Erickson, St. Paul, state inspector of child labor enforcement, two Hibbing employers will have to face trials in municipal court on charges of employing children under age. Complaint was made in municipal court that a girl under 16 was employed in one local place and in a local bowling alley parlor, youngsters under age were setting up pins. The trial was fixed for next Wednesday in municipal court.

Miss Erickson has warned other business places, particularly to some of the local fruit stores, that youngsters are being employed contrary to the child labor law and that arrests will follow.

HIBBING BONUSES TO SOON BE PAID

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the return of Secretary Saxby of the Commercial club from St. Paul, where he conferred with the state bonus board regarding unpaid Hibbing bonuses, local service men expect their claims to be paid shortly. Mr. Saxby stated that the bonus boards affairs are in somewhat of a chaotic state and will remain that way until the legislature meets and takes action which will insure immediate payment of the unpaid claims.

Secretary Saxby has received assurances that the local banks and business men will take up the $40,000 bonus claims. The greatest difficulty, he states, is due to the careless manner in which many of the service men made out their papers asking for their bonuses. They were requested to give in detail answers to all information asked but in many instances this was disregarded. The men will have an opportunity of rectifying this when the report comes back from St. Paul. If their reports sent to St. Paul were filled out correctly, they will receive bonus payments within a short time, Mr. Saxby contends.

EXPLOSION CASES HAVE BEEN SETTLED

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—When district court resumes here the judge is expected to enter orders dismissing four suits for damages growing out of the explosion at the Dupont powder plant at Wilpin, near here, in October, 1918, when James E. Perkins and Edward Ullman lost their lives and Peter Mashuga and Harry Knutson were injured. There were four suits in all against the powder concern and against the Missabe railroad the plaintiffs being Harry Knutson, Peter Edward Mashuga and Edyth Perkins as administratrix of the estate of Perkins, and Geneva Pearl Ullman administratrix of the Ullman estate.

KISER IN FIGHT FOR BOAT LINES

Fred Kiser, secretary of the traffic commission of the Commercial club, is in Washington attending a meeting of the National Industrial Traffic league, a shippers' organization. On behalf of Northwest interests, he will endeavor to obtain the support of the league in opposition to a proposed senate bill, which authorizes the railroads to obtain ownership of the boat lines on the Great Lakes.

It is the contention of the local traffic commission that such a union would permit the railroads to set the freight rates on the lakes so high that Duluth would lose its advantage as a lake port. A "divorcement" bill, ordering all railroads to relinquish their interests in the boat lines, was passed by congress only a few years ago.

Fair Complexion Conceals Age

Pimples, blackheads and other such facial blemishes may be traced to an excess of impurities being eliminated through the skin and this condition calls for calcium to enable the process of elimination to be carried on more completely.

It is the Calcium in Stuart's Calcium Wafers that has given this complexion beautifier such a wonderful reputation.

The results are soon noted in a much finer texture, the gradual disappearance of the blemishes and a really beautiful complexion. This is considered the correct way to a handsome, lily-like skin. Get a 60-cent box of these wafers at any drug store and observe how nicely the skin soon clears.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, carpenter, 671 G Marcellus avenue, Manasquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

GRAIN PRICES AGAIN DROP

New Lows Set in Wheat on Heavy Selling; Flaxseed Off.

Duluth Board of Trade, Nov. 19.—The wheat market was better supported around the close. December spring closed 5¾c off at $1.63½. March 7c off at $1.62 asked; December winter 5¾c off at $1.62½ nominally; December durum 7½c off at $1.70 asked, and March 6½c off at $1.68½ asked. Spot rye closed 4½c off at $1.52; December 6½c off at $1.43 bid, and May 3c off at $1.36. Oats closed 2⅛c off at 41⅝@42⅝c, and barley 5@8c off at 60@77c for spot.

Wheat prices slumped precipitately in today's market with declines extending to 8c recorded. Bearish sentiment was created at the start through a combination of conditions, including the failure of two North Dakota banks and advices that banks in other states are refusing to loan growers funds for the purpose of holding their grain. Reselling of wheat and rye at the seaboard was rumored and a drop in sterling exchange was registered. Lack of demand in any quarter was complained of.

December spring wheat broke 5¾c up till the noon hour at $1.63½ and March 8c at $1.61. December durum broke 7c to $1.70½ and March 6¾c to $1.68¼.

December rye broke 7c to $1.42½ and May 3c at $1.36. No demand could be found for rye, but the offerings on the track were taken care of on buying to cover shipping contracts.

There were on track here for the day 191 cars of all grains, including: Spring wheat, 26; durum, 94; winter, 1; oats, 3, rye, 32; barley, 20; flax, 12, and bonded spring, 3. The movement of wheat was light on all the American markets, but Winnipeg had a run of 941 cars for the day as compared with 656 last year. Kansas City reported 158 cars against 488 last year and Minneapolis 461 cars against 412 last year.

Grain operators are reported to be growing nervous over the financial situation and the increasing difficulty being experienced in taking care of even the limited current volume of marketing.

Flax Slumps.

Flaxseed prices broke to the lowest levels set in years owing to the absence of any demand. Sellers were forced to offer the seed down heavily and several breaks came between sales at times. The market broke again at the close.

November flax closed 11c off at $2.17 asked; December, 11½c off at $2.17 asked; January, 11½c off at $2.20 nominally, and May, 12c off at $2.30@2.30½.

At Winnipeg, November flax closed 11⅛ off at $2.17 and December, 12½c off at $2.14 bid. At Buenos Aires, December flax opened at $1.72½.

A cargo of Manitoba No. 1 northern wheat was worked in Chicago yesterday on a basis of 10c over Chicago December, and another cargo is being figured upon. Business in Canadian wheat is being hampered by the fact that over 10,000,000 bu in store at Fort William and Port Arthur elevators is held by farmers who refuse to sell.

Witchita, Kan., reports that mills in the Southwest are paying $1.94 basis for No. 2 hard wheat. The best posted men down there look for continued light receipts.

A London cable says that Lloyd George urges the passage of a bill that would force farmers to produce more. He thinks that the present heavy importations of foodstuffs are a national folly and scandal.

The Rosenbaum Review, Chicago, says: "Two months ago twelve out of sixteen market letters published in Chicago were extremely bullish on wheat. Today the statistical situation is much stronger than it was then and yet fifteen out of sixteen are now very bearish. General depression, the country over, is unmistakably the dominant market factor, temporarily. Reaction assuredly will follow."

Modern Miller says: "Winter wheat is generally making satisfactory growth. In portions of the Southwest, where the vitality of the plant was affected by the prolonged spell of dry weather early this fall, fields do not have a healthy appearance. Growth is uneven in some soft winter wheat districts. With few exceptions there is sufficient moisture in the ground to carry the crop for some time. The bulk of the wheat will go into winter in good condition."

Broomhall cabled: "The recent South African government decree prohibiting any further importation of wheat flour does not apply to cargoes now on passage to this country. In the meanwhile further importations are to be allowed under a permit system."

A bullish statistical position exists in wheat, as shown by figures compiled by S. P. Arnot. He figures the crop and carry-over of 890,000,000 bu in the United States this year. We have only 72,000,000 bu left for export to July 1, 1921, and for carry-over into the new crop, allowing for bread and seed requirements, of 673,000,000 bu and exports of around 145,000,000 bu. The smallest carry-over known was 48,000,000 bu while the average is 85,000,000 bu. No credit is given for imports of Canadian wheat.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—All deliveries of wheat, corn and oats fell today to the lowest prices yet this season. General free selling which forced down values was based largely on the fact that the movement of the big new 1920 corn crop was due. Bears asserted that there was no sufficient power in sight to stem the pressure which would result. Opening wheat prices, which varied from 1½ to 2¾c lower with December $1.78@1.79, and March $1.67@1.68, were followed by a slight rally and then by heavy downward plunges.

No adequate support for the wheat market developed until prices had dropped nearly 10c a bushel in some cases. Word that Belgium and Germany had bought 1,000,000 bushels on the break led to a moderate rally later. The close was nervous, 5¾c to 8½c net lower, with December $1.72 to $1.72¼ and March $1.63½ to $1.63¾.

Liquidation by holders was plainly evident in the corn market. The market recovered a trifle and then suffered a decided setback

An extreme decline of nearly 4c took place without encouraging any important reaction. The close was unsettled, 2⅛c to 3⅝c net lower, with December 66⅞c to 66½c.

Oats yielded to the bearish influence of corn, starting unchanged to ⅛@⅜c off, May 50¾@50⅞c, scored a little upturn and then made a sudden descent.

Tumbling prices of grain and hogs pulled down provisions.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 19.—A slump of 9 cents in Chicago December removed a prop from under the market. Small stocks in that market created fears of a squeeze, but it was longs, not shorts who liquidated today. December wheat opened weak and with no important rallies sank to $1.58¼. From this point the price advanced to $1.60¼, where buying dwindled as soon as shorts were in. March dragged down to $1.59¼. In the local cash market sales generally were 1@3c lower compared with December, even premiums on top dark northern averaging lower, although wheat weighing 62 pounds was steady. Winter wheat differences were 1@2c lower and durum was easier. Other grains shared in the weakness. Rye suffered most, dropping 5@5¾c and showing little recuperative power. Oats declined 2⅜@2⅝c and barley 3@3½c. Scattered liquidation found support poor in flax and prices broke savagely.

Wheat—Receipts, 461 cars, compared with 412 cars a year ago. Paine, Webber & Co. wired from New York: "The bearish party is still on top of the market and is aided by continual liquidation of real stocks by merchants and manufacturers all over the country. Brokers are as a rule unwilling to increase their loans at present, and cash restrictions are curtailing buying power. We are bearish on these stocks and would take advantage of every short covering rally to get out of Republic, Midvale, Lackawanna and Crucible."

STOCKS AT LOW PRICES

United States Steel Under Its Minimum for Three Years.

New York, Nov. 19.—Many substantial recoveries from yesterday's extreme weakness were made by leading stocks at the opening of today's session. Short covering and some investment buying facilitated the rally which was most conspicuous in the railway division. Reading and Great Northern rose 1¾ points each, New York Central 1½, Rock Island 1¾ and Southern Pacific and Erie 1 point. Baldwin Locomotive was strongest of the industrials, rising 2 points, and Atlantic Gulf recovered the better part of yesterday's loss. Other strong features included American Car, Mexican and California Petroleums and United States Rubber. Losses of 1 to 2 points were made by Crucible Steel, Harvester and Louisville & Nashville.

Decision of the United States Steel corporation to maintain present prices unless a change becomes necessary gave the market a firm tone for a time but this advantage was lost before the end of the first hour, when liquidation broke out, beginning with specialties of the food, chemical and related groups. Corn products dropped 5 points, American Sugar 3 and Virginia-Carolina Chemical 3¼. The drive against Crucible Steel forced that stock down 7 points, with resultant heaviness in other steels, also equipments. Rails which had been 1 to 3 points higher under lead of Atchison, cancelled their gains and shippings and oils reacted 1 to 5 points. No attention was paid to the 7 per cent opening rate for call money and the strength of British exchange.

Steels, oils and equipments suffered further loss at midday. United States Steel dropped an additional fraction under its previous low for three years and Bethlehem Steel around 51 was almost five points down and at its minimum for five years.

Steels, oils, motors, shippings, leathers and utilities were grouped in the wider reactions of the last hour at extreme declines of 3 to almost 10 points. The closing was weak.

EX-EMPRESS' CONDITION SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Doorn, Holland, Nov. 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—The condition of Former Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany who has been suffering from a severe heart attack, was so much improved today that Former Crown Prince Frederick William, who had been summoned to Doorn, returned to Wieringen this afternoon. Before he left he said to the correspondent:

"The ex-empress is a little better. There is no reason for anxiety."

The other members of the Hohenzollern family who had been summoned, have been advised that they need not come to Doorn.

This is the third severe attack from which the ex-empress has recovered, although each time her life was despaired of.

PRETTY GIRLS BROUGHT DOWER FOR HOMELIEST

Detroit News: The first known auctions of the world were held in Babylon many centuries before Christ. The articles auctioned consisted of all the virgins in the city and the sale was held once a year. On the day selected the girls were brought to the market place and there ordered to remove their garments. All the young men of the city could inspect them. The beautiful girls were sold first and every effort made to get as much as possible for their charms.

The young men of those days were as eager to win the fairest maid possible by bidding as men of a latter age were to win them by brave deeds or pleadings. As a result fortunes were in the hands of the auctioneer by the time the homely girls were reached. This fortune was then divided up and the auctioneering took a new life. The homeliest girl was given the largest part of the money collected from beauty and many a poor man found himself with a very homely wife but a comfortable start in business. The system at least did away with old maids and bachelors and insured a steady growth of population and few dependents on the state.

GUESSING THE WORLD'S AGE

Detroit News: The reckonings of time among all nations reach back to practically the same period. Chinese, Indians and Egyptians all assume that the earth was 8,000 years old before it could have assumed the state in which it is now. The oldest book of Chinese annals does not commence its historical record from an earlier time than that of the Trojan war. Neither do the Indians carry back their historical age more than 5,000 years. According to scriptural chronology, in that way of reckoning it, which appears the most 3,000 years may be added to the Indians' computation.

John von Muller, a historian, who spent much time in research work on the age of the world, arrived at a conclusion which in 1920 would make the world 7,642 years old. His figures are generally accepted, because they are based on Biblical references and facts.

Wall Street Journal: If business, as well as professional men, fully understood the psychology of handling customers and clients, they would not only retain their patronage, but would add to it more rapidly. Recently a man went to his physician, convinced he was run down and needed a prescription. The doctor examined him and told him frankly he was only in need of physical exercise.

An hour or so later the doctor was called on the telephone by a brother physician, who informed him he had just had a visit from one of his patients, who said that Doctor No. 1 "didn't know his business."

"Why," explained the first physician, "I didn't find anything wrong with him. Did you?"

"No," replied No. 2, "I didn't. But the man was convinced he needed a prescription, and wouldn't be content until he secured it. So I gave him a harmless one which satisfied him; but I prescribed the exercise as well. And I sent him home happy."

MILITARY REASON FOR PARKS

Detroit News: If you have ever visited Washington you have noted the many little circular parks that bob up in the most unexpected places, and if you were a close observer you also noticed that these parks were always the center of several streets radiating out in various directions. Had you gone over the town in an automobile seeking these little parks you would have discovered ten of them. And now for the reason:

Washington was laid out by the "Father of His Country" with the assistance of Maj. L'Enfant, a great French architect as well as a soldier. Both were determined that the time must never come when the people, or a part of the people, should rise and overthrow the government, and to this end they planned the city to make it safe for the forces in the saddle. Each of those parks are so situated that a small battery of guns planted on them could control the entire city and cover every avenue of advance that a mob might seek to find. The parks, by the way, belong to the war department, and if you should commit any offense in them you would be arrested, not by a D. C. policeman, but by a United States marine.

WHY HE DIED RICH.

Boston Transcript: Not long ago an old fellow died out in Kansas, leaving a barrel of money. He had a houseful of children—ten or a dozen. It cost considerable to feed them. The old man evolved a scheme.

He would say to the children in the evening, "Now, how many of you will take a dime and go to bed without supper?"

They all took dimes and went to bed hungry.

Next morning the old man would say, "Now, children, how many of you will give me a dime for a nice, warm breakfast?"

The old man thus saved the cost of the children's supper. This was just one of his schemes; he had others. That's why he died rich.

HANDS UP HIGHER!

Detroit Free Press—President Thanklin of Wesleyan university was condemning the profiteer.

"I know a college professor," he said, "who was disturbed at his frugal supper one night by a suspicious noise in the cellar.

"The professor put down his porridge spoon and stole down the cellar stairs. Suddenly an electric torch was flashed on him, and he stopped still in his tracks and threw up his hands.

"There was a hearty laugh, and the shadowy figure behind the torch said: 'It's all right, professor. It's only me.'

"'Me?' the professor muttered.

"'Sure—me—the provision man, ye know, leavin' yer week's provisions.'

"Thereupon the professor gave a great start, and held his hands up higher still."

HAD IT JUST RIGHT.

Harper's: The new chaplain very much wanted to amuse as well as instruct his men, and, accordingly, on one occasion, arranged for an illustrated lecture on Bible scenes and incidents.

One seaman, who possessed a phonograph, was detailed to discourse appropriate music between pictures. The first of these represented Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden. The sailor cudgeled his brains and ran through his list, but he could think of no music exactly appropriate to the picture.

"Please play up!" whispered the chaplain.

Then an inspiration came to the seaman, and, to the consternation of the chaplain and the delight of the audience, the phonograph ground out "There's Only One Girl in This World for me!"

TEACHING "CONS" AND MOTORMEN HOW TO HANDLE STREET CARS IS SOME TASK

H. H. BROWN, Superintendent.

Did you ever board a street car manned by five or six conductors and with the front vestibule all cluttered up with motormen? That is, you think they are motormen until the real motorman allows one of them to try his hand at the control handles. Then by the jerky stopping and starting of the car you know them for what they are—beginners, "rookies," breaking in.

The student car in charge of competent instructors does not run on any regular schedules but "free lances" about from line to line. In this way the men learning the work become acquainted with the various lines, at the same time becoming proficient in collecting fares or operating the car.

Andrew Olson, instructor for conductors, sees that the men in his charge learn to collect fares and issue transfers, handle bell signals to the motorman, flag railroad crossings, operate the car signs, keep track of passenger traffic passing load points, fill out daily reports and become familiar with the names of streets and avenues. He emphasizes the importance of courtesy and watchfulness to avoid accidents.

Must Be Mechanical.

S. W. Evans, instructor for motormen, also has much to teach his men. To operate a car properly requires skill which is only acquired with much practice. Each man must receive careful instruction in the mysteries of street car mechanism. They must know just "what makes the wheels go round" and know enough about electrical equipment to make minor repairs on the line when things go wrong, which is bound to happen occasionally with any kind of a machine. Student motormen must learn the running time between all points on the lines, the location of every switch, loop, wye and turnout. They must know where special care in running is necessary, where safety stops are to be made, how to operate over signal sections, operation under circuit breakers, which cars have the right of way at intersections, how to save power and never to take chances which might result in an accident.

The next steps after receiving instructions on the special car is a study of the rule book. After passing a preliminary examination by Line Foreman David Wright, an old timer who knows the book by heart, the beginner is interviewed by H. H. Brown, superintendent of the Duluth division, who decides whether or not the student is qualified to take out his own car.

Tough in Winter.

"Winter conditions are hard on the new man," said Mr. Brown. "With our chief competitors, the sidewalks and the automobiles, put out of business by the cold and snow we have the fair weather walkers and the automobile owners added to our regular patrons for a few months. Then all cars carry unusually heavy loads—increasing the troubles of the new conductor. Motormen who started since last winter have a new experience ahead of them when they will have to operate through our winter blizzards. Driving snow which makes it difficult to see, frozen switches and troublesome snow drifts are all in the game and like most other occupations, 'the first hundred years are the hardest.'"

To the "old timers" like Motorman J. P. Ryan who began to run street cars in Duluth in 1897, all of the above is very simple, but the beginner finds enough to learn to keep him mighty busy during his "breaking in" period of a week to ten days. N. Duford is another motorman with twenty years' experience. These men have traveled a distance equal to some twenty-five times around the earth. Among the conductors probably the best known is W. J. Holmes. Smiling "Bill" is noted for his courtesy and he has been very popular among street car patrons for the last nineteen years. There are at present twenty-six women conductors. Many of them have served straight through since the time during the war when the shortage of men gave them an opportunity to demonstrate their ability. These women met with public approval from the first and the company is proud of the efficient service they render.

Paving Brick Is Lost.

The paving of Railroad street has been temporarily held up on account of the shortage of brick, according to A. N. Nelson, the contractor. Brick, which was shipped from Indiana on Nov. 10, has not arrived and the crew is idle. Only two days of work remain. Some time ago Congressman Carss arranged for forty cars to be furnished the factory to bring the brick to Duluth, but so far only eight have been delivered. Efforts to have the last shipment traced have resulted in no information, and in the meantime the contractor is losing money every day, he says. Men and machines are being kept on the job in case the cars do arrive, as the contractor desires to take advantage of the fine weather if possible.

WE ADMIT

that our 10 and 20-acre fruit and poultry farms in the suburbs of beautiful Sacramento, Cal., are attracting many people looking for homes and incomes in the "Land of Sunshine and Flowers." We cannot deny that their daily words of praise are being sent back to old friends and neighbors, urging them to "come" and "come right away." We concede that our new booklet, "Poultry and Orchards," gives one of the best propositions in the way of small poultry and fruit farms that has been offered in a good many moons. If you are thinking of going to California, we will gladly mail this book to you on request.

LOAN SAVES THOUSANDS

New York, Nov. 19.—"How 500 villages were saved in Poland by the timely loan of 21,000,000 Polish marks to war refugees is one of the conspicuous results of the church's friendly work in Central Europe," said Dr. Laurit Larsen, secretary of the National Lutheran council, just returned from a three months' visit to countries in Europe where the council is giving systematic assistance to churches and their institutions. "When the thousands of people driven from their homes during the war began to trickle back, our commissioners, Dr. John A. Morehead and Prof. M. J. Stolee, were there to assist them. These farmers and villagers preferred loans to gifts and the funds we let them have were so carefully applied that at least 500 villages and a vast farm acreage were convalescing when the recent campaigns in Poland brought a setback," continued Dr. Larsen. "This indicates how the philanthropy of America is neutralized by adverse political conditions. I saw this again and again."

Russia Extremely Unhappy.

"The Russian situation alone, until order comes about, would keep Europe from settling if there were no other disturbing factors. I only saw Russia from the outside but that country is extremely unhappy. That the present conditions can continue much longer seems impossible to me!"

"What about the stocks of food, clothing and medicines?" Dr. Larsen was asked in view of occasional reports that all is well or nearly so in Central Europe. His reply was spirited. "Anyone who makes such statements has not moved far from the best hotels and has had lots of American money. To be sure, I was comfortable and had all I wanted at the Hotel Adion in Berlin, but it is difficult to believe that the poor families I visited in congested sections of the city can outlive the winter that is upon them. Even in Vienna I had enough to eat at best hotels, but a prominent pastor whom I visited had had a bit of meat about the size of two fingers on the 16th of August for the first time in months. He had bought no shoes for six years and did not know when he might have money to buy a pair."

Children Suffer Most.

"As always, the children suffer most. It is an endless story of pallid, underfed, undersized, deformed children. What is most discouraging is that no end is in sight. The situation in general is very little better than last winter. The coming months will again be an open season for general unrest, riots, and probably revolutions"

When asked whether there seemed to be an organized effort to make capital of this unrest, Dr. Larsen said, "There are extremists at both the radical and conservative ends, but there is an increasing number of people who want quiet and order. If this sentiment were reinforced by the steady employment laborers and a more lively commerce, Germany at least would recover rapidly. This, of course, is a story so well known that it is almost forgotten. Bolshevism is discredited in almost all circles in Germany. The reports brought back by commissions started it, and the failure to take Warsaw put a probable coalition between Russian Bolshevism and extreme radicalism in Germany out of the question."

"But returning to matters lying nearer to the purpose of my visit, let me say that the ministers of Central Europe generally are severe sufferers. They suffer physically. They suffer even more keenly from the lack of opportunity for study and general culture. There is not sufficient money to print books and articles that might be written. Pastors have not even money to buy the necessary literature any minister must have. Often I was asked whether it might not be possible to foster from American funds the publishing of essential books, pamphlets and church papers."

The National Lutheran council of which Dr. Larsen is secretary, has sent deputations to Europe since the armistice and has established permanent headquarters in Copenhagen with Rev. Dr. John A. Morehead, former president of Roanoke college, Virginia, in charge. An extended organization has been effected in all countries where the need is greatest. In Poland the council has worked closely with the American Red Cross and American Relief organization.

The president of the council is Rev. H. G. Stub, D. D., of Minneapolis. It is a federation of ten Lutheran bodies for practical church activities at home and abroad. Its next annual meeting will be held on Dec. 7 in Chicago.

N. D. Pioneer Suicide.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 19.—J. D. Carpenter, 60, pioneer North Dakota insurance man, committed suicide at Oak Grove park here Tuesday by shooting himself with a revolver. No reason is given other than that he had been in ill-health for the last few months.

Mr. Carpenter had been a resident of North Dakota for forty years, coming to Edgeley in 1880. Twenty years ago he removed with his family to Fargo and had been engaged in the insurance business.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Albert Birch of Fargo, and one son, Harry.

"But returning to matters lying nearer to the purpose of my visit, let me say that the ministers of Central Europe generally are severe sufferers. They suffer physically. They suffer even more keenly from the lack of opportunity for study and general culture. There is not sufficient money to print books and articles that might be written. Pastors have not even money to buy the necessary literature any minister must have. Often I was asked whether it might not be possible to foster from American funds the publishing of essential books, pamphlets and church papers."

The National Lutheran council of which Dr. Larsen is secretary, has sent deputations to Europe since the armistice and has established permanent headquarters in Copenhagen with Rev. Dr. John A. Morehead, former president of Roanoke college, Virginia, in charge. An extended organization has been effected in all countries where the need is greatest. In Poland the council has worked closely with the American Red Cross and American Relief organization.

The president of the council is Rev. H. G. Stub, D. D., of Minneapolis. It is a federation of ten Lutheran bodies for practical church activities at home and abroad. Its next annual meeting will be held on Dec. 7 in Chicago.

N. D. Pioneer Suicide.

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 19.—J. D. Carpenter, 60, pioneer North Dakota insurance man, committed suicide at Oak Grove park here Tuesday by shooting himself with a revolver. No reason is given other than that he had been in ill-health for the last few months.

Mr. Carpenter had been a resident of North Dakota for forty years, coming to Edgeley in 1880. Twenty years ago he removed with his family to Fargo and had been engaged in the insurance business.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Albert Birch of Fargo, and one son, Harry.

Large Bridge Completed.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 19.—Regarded as one of the largest bridges in the world and one of the engineering marvels of the country, the bridge over Deep creek on the Pacific Great Eastern railway, 1,200 feet long and 239 feet high, has reached completion. Throughout the course of construction not a single accident occurred.

Air Service to Oil Fields.

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 19.—Edmonton aviators are entering upon negotiations for the establishment of an aerial service from Edmonton to the oil fields of Fort Norman on the Mackenzie river. The proposal calls for the establishment of landing stages at intervals along the route and the transportation, in the first instance before flying, of gasoline and other essentials for successful operation. As the crow flies, Fort Norman is situated 900 miles from this city.

IS WORLD'S MAINSTAY

President-Elect Harding Says America Is Sound and Secure.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 19.—Despite a "trying period in which national policy and aspiration have been misinterpreted and misjudged," the United States is "sound and secure" and the "world's mainstay and hope," President-elect Warren G. Harding declared to Bulkeley Wells of Denver, president of the American Mining congress in a letter which was read last night at the annual convention of the congress.

He also declared that he was anxious to take counsel with such men as would attend the congress in outlining the policies of his administration.

Senator Harding's letter folows:

"Hon. Bulkeley Wells, president American Mining congress, Denver, Colo. My dear Mr. Wells: I have to thank you for your invitation to the twenty-third annual convention of the American Mining congress and to express my regrets that it will be impossible for me to accept. My regrets are the more keen because your meeting will bring together a body of men with which I am anxious to take counsel in outlining the policies of the next administration. I am aware of the difficulties that confront the mining industry of the country, and would be glad of the opportunity to familiarize myself with them. Industrial depression is only momentary.

The World's Mainstay.

"Not only is our own country sound and secure, but it is the world's mainstay and hope. We have been through a trying period in which national policy and aspiration have been misinterpreted and misjudged. We have now had a convincing demonstration of the real attitude of the American people, and it will not fail to reassure both our own people and the rest of the world, which so greatly needs our steadfast support and aid. A mighty effort will be required of us to meet the demands that a recovering world will impose. In no direction will these demands be more pressing than in supplying those necessaries of life and reconstruction that must come from the richness of American mines. With wisdom and deliberation such as we hope to secure by dint of enlisting the aid of such expert authorities as your own organization represents, I believe we shall place our country and its industry once more on the high road of prosperity and success. To that end you may be assured that every energy and effort of the new administration will be directed.

"Please be good enough to convey to the congress and all its members the assurance of my pleasure in receiving your invitation, and of my wish to serve you, in common with every other worthy American interest. Most sincerely yours,

"WARREN G. HARDING."

FARM IMPLEMENTS USED BY PIONEERS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 19.—Implements used by the pioneers in the agricultural pursuits of the early days and tools used by the early settlers of the state in building their homes are on exhibit in the museum of the Minnesota Historical society building, St. Paul.

The exhibit of the agricultural implements is interesting in that it shows how the settlers of the state were compelled to carry on the work of the field by manual application. The ground was first turned over with crude plows, drawn by oxen, which required long tedious work, the day's work starting with sun-up and continuing through until long after sun-down.

Where the present farmer turns over acres of land, these hardy tillers of the soil of the early days turned over a small portion. After seeding and planting the crop by hand the farmer was required to harvest the same in a similar crude manner. The cutting knives used for hay and grain are among the exhibit, and in a small way impresses the observer with the arduous labor the early settler was confronted with.

The grain flail, the barley fork, the hay knife, a monstrous piece of steel, which required a powerful arm to swing, can be viewed at this exhibit.

Building tools used by these same men to build their homes are also placed on exhibit in the museum, and these too impress the modern worker with the arduous labor connected with the building of those days.

The large broad ax, used to hew the massive timber which formed the log cabins, and the adz, which was used to work up the timber to a more complete state, are among the most interesting exhibits in the tool division.

WOMEN'S SPHERE AT STOCK SHOW

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Not only for the farm woman were the features of the International Livestock exposition especially designed to arouse feminine interest created. Between city and country women there is a common interest. Housekeeping has been reduced to a science in recent years and is intensifying that character as time works along.

The International Livestock exposition at Chicago, Nov. 27 to Dec. 4, will afford an unprecedented opportunity for the wives and daughters to study domestic science. Skilled demonstrators will expound the principles of that essential art, solving vexed problems associated with living cost by the introduction of modern and efficient methods into domestic culinary operations. Go and see how the cheaper cuts of meats may be prepared to create palatable dishes; investigate other phases of this interesting study and add to your mental equipment for meeting new housekeeping problems.

In recent years the "International" has rapidly developed features of absorbing interest and educational value to the mothers, wives and daughters of the American family apart from the general attractions valuable in an educational and recreative sense to both sexes.

FRENCH TOWN HAD ONLY ONE CHAIR

Washington, Nov. 19.—For many months the little city of Coulogne, in the Aisne region of France, possessed but a single chair and it was the property of the mayor. It was officially known as "the chair" until the Junior Red Cross of America sent to that city a motor truck loaded with chairs and tables that had been made by the boys of America in their manual training schools. Last year thousands of these articles of furniture were sent to the devastated areas of France.

Col. H. S. Todd and Col. Bicknell of the Red Cross recently went to Chamery to adjust some difficulties that had arisen to block construction of the Quentin Roosevelt memorial fountain, the details of which had been entrusted to the American Red Cross by the late Former President Roosevelt. At Chamery they learned that the mayor resided in Coulogne and when they located him there he apologized for having left the city's only chair at the town hall. All were forced to stand throughout the visit.

An exchange of views quickly adjusted matters pertaining to the memorial fountain, and as the Red Cross representatives departed for Paris they promised to relieve the solitude of that town chair. Soon afterward the vanload of Junior Red Cross furniture was sent to Coulogne, and the next time Col. Todd visited the little city it was proudly pointed out that the entire company gathered to confer with him was seated, and gratitude was voiced to the American lads who had contributed the needed tables and chairs.

Cats are considered unlucky to have on board ship.

Reputation-

Next to the test of years of service, values in plumbing equipment can be measured best by the REPUTATION of the manufacturer and the reputation of the local distributor.

Thomas Maddock was the first to make sanitary earthenware plumbing fixtures in America. The leadership then secured has been maintained throughout three generations of the Maddock family. And today the Maddock plant is the largest single factory in America devoted exclusively to the manufacture of earthenware plumbing fixtures.

This is the experience, the leadership and the facilities upon which the Thomas Maddock's Sons Company reputation was built. We know our reputation is in safe hands because we sell and recommend plumbing fixtures bearing the Maddock Anchor trade-mark.

Our display of this equipment is now ready. Come in and see how these modern fixtures will add to the convenience of your home.

TURKEYS IN FAIR SUPPLY

Supplies of turkeys will be ample to take care of the Thanksgiving trade in the opinion of Duluth dealers. The price for dressed live birds will average up at around 45 cents a pound. Heavy turkeys are at a premium owing to the open weather and unfavorable conditions for fattening, and commission men have, therefore, been compelled to bring in supplies from more distant territory than had been ordinarily the case. Other lines of poultry, fowl, ducks and geese are abundant and their quotations average up lower than last year.

Delicacies Plentiful.

That there is no lack of prosperity in this community is regarded by commission men as proven in the good inquiry coming to hand for all kinds of Thanksgiving delicacies in fruits and vegetables. With favorable shipping conditions, as compared with a year ago, no delays have been experienced in bringing shipments forward from California and Florida points. The first car of new Florida oranges for the season has been received on this market. They are being quoted wholesale at $7.50@8.50 a crate. Grapefruit is in abundant supply, and prices are low. The crop of cranberries at Eastern producing points fell off this season owing to dry weather during the critical period of their growth, and their quotations have been advanced. The fruit is of splendid quality, however, and supplies are thought to be enough to take care of the demand for the season.

Michigan Kiefer pears are still being offered at the low basis of $2 a bushel wholesale and California winter Nellis pears of a good quality are also to be had fairly cheap.

Good Apple Sale.

Apples remain the outstanding feature in fruits. High grade New York apples are being offered wholesale at $6.00@6.50 a barrel and the fruit has been going out freely to grocers to cover their trades. A retail grocery that put on an apple sale a week ago, is reported to have had a good run on both medium grade and fancy stock. With the all-rail movement of apples beginning in about two weeks, prices will be advanced to the extent of the additional freight cost by the commission houses.

A full range of green vegetables from California has been listed and shipments are going out freely to dealers over the district. Heavy vegetables, including potatoes, cabbage and onions, are cheap and their movement from the country is being aided by mild weather conditions. Higher quotations in potatoes are looked for early in January when supplies of grown in home gardens and lots are expected to be about exhausted.

Butter Going Up.

Creamery butter prices have been marked up a cent at 59@63 cents a pound wholesale. Fresh eggs are becoming increasingly scarce, but they are still being quoted at 62@65 cents a dozen wholesale.

Stocks of both butter and eggs in Eastern warehouses are low this season owing to difficulty experienced by dealers in financing purchases during the summer.

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.—Advertisement.

THOUSAND TEN-EAR SAMPLES OF CORN

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 19.—A thousand ten-ear samples of corn will form a part of the big exhibit at the International Hay and Grain show in Chicago Nov. 27 to Dec. 4, at which prices totaling $10,000 will be awarded by the Chicago Board of Trade to encourage general crop improvement.

A departure from the method followed last year has just been announced by Prof. G. I. Christie, director of experimental and extension work at Purdue university, who is managing the show. Last year corn samples comprised twenty ears. This year the samples will be only ten ears. Prof. Christie pointed out that it is much easier to pick a ten-ear sample and the exhibitor is able to show corn as good or better. All corn states favored this change. The action, it is believed, will bring the number of corn exhibitors to 1,000 or more.

A class has also been provided for single ear samples of corn. Rivalry in this contest will be keen.

Not only the corn belt but the East, the Far West, the South and Canada are displaying sharp interest in the classes for small grains and seeds for hay and forage crops. There will be interesting competition also for prizes offered for field peas, soybeans, cow peas and clover, alfalfa, timothy, alsike and similar seeds.

W. Q. Fitch, also of Purdue university, has been appointed assistant superintendent of the show and will be in active charge of arrangements.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

SAYS AMERICA IS WONDERLAND

Paris, Nov. 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—Gen. Fayolle said upon his return recently from his three weeks' stay in the United States, "I have just discovered America and America has conquered me. It is a wonderland.

"It has been a hard fight, those three weeks in America," the general went on with the usual humorous twinkle in his eye. "I come back on the verge of collapse with grim dyspepsia holding me in its grip. Without taking back anything that I have said about American expeditionary force cooks being rank amateurs, I must take off my hat to American chefs. There were many banquets, luncheons, I survived them all."

To the suggestion that most of the chefs at the leading hotels were French, Gen. Fayolle replied: "They may be but they certainly have undergone an evolution for they had strange dishes of their own."

"Did you miss your wine with your meals?" he was asked.

"I never missed my wine," Fayolle replied.

"Don't ask me to talk local American politics," Gen. Fayolle went on when requested to explain whether he meant that he had his wine twice a day as is his custom or that he did not miss it temperamentally.

"I have had a grandiose reception that I shall never forget although I am certain that it was not for me personally but because I represented Marshall Foch and the French army.

"I lived through it," concluded the general, "but even the organizers of my tour had to admit that it was a record for endurance."

FORMER KAISER NOT TO BE TRIED

London, Nov. 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—It seems now to be finally settled that the former German emperor is not to be tried in contumaciam. The question was asked the other day of Premier Lloyd George in the house of commons by Charles Frederick White, liberal member of West Derbyshire, whether, "in view of the fact that Holland has refused extradition of William Hohenzollern, the supreme council would summon him for trial, and, in the event of his non-appearance, would arrange that he shall be tried in his absence, so that the promise that he would be tried in London might be fulfilled."

A written reply was made by Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the house of commons, saying:

DAY'S RECEIPTS TO BE INVESTED IN LOAN

Paris, Nov. 19.—Nov. 25 has been decided upon by the presidents of all the chambers of commerce of Paris, as "Loan Day." On that day, the chambers of commerce have resolved all the receipts taken by business houses in Paris shall be invested in the new 6 per cent loan.

"Apart from payments for goods sold previously, you shall bring to the state in exchange for loan certificates, all the money spent by the public that day, whether for nourishment or for amusement, for clothing or for lodgings or for purchase of any object on sale in the stores of the capital," the resolution reads.

"NOTHING IS SACRED FOR THESE AMERICANS"

Paris, Nov. 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sadi Lecointe, the winner of the Gordon Bennett cup race for aviators, was just ready to go up from the Buc aviation field the other day when an American woman stepped up and asked:

"Won't you take me up?"

"Surely," replied Sadi, "where do you want to go?"

"To Gambais, I do wish to see that Landru villa."

Sadi obliged, landing within 100 feet of the villa made famous by the disappearance of eleven women to whom Landru had promised marriage. When she left she carried away a souvenir in the shape of a piece of rabbit bone found in the yard.

"Nothing is sacred for these Americans," Landru said when he heard of the occurrence.

Limit of Oil Leases.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 19.—The limit of lease for oil lands is to be placed at 1,920 acres, according to report. When the petroleum and gas acts were applied to the forest reserves, it was provided that half the profits should go to the crown, and that there was to be a definite limit to leaseholds. It is expected that similar provisions are to be made to apply to the land in the vicinity of Fort Norman, where the rich oil strike of 1,000 barrels per day was made by the Imperial Oil company.

HIGHER RATES ARE ORDERED

New York State Must Increase R. R. Tariffs, Says Commission.

Washington, Nov. 19.—In its first decision on the right of the Federal government under the transportation act to require railroad rates within a state to correspond to the higher levels of interstate tariffs, the interstate commerce commission yesterday ordered the railroads of New York to establish passenger and baggage rates on intrastate traffic conforming to advanced interstate schedules. Similar proceedings are pending affecting more than half the states in the union.

By its order of last August, the commission authorized in the New York region, an increase of 40 per cent in freight rates, 20 per cent in passenger fares, excess baggage charges and rates on milk and cream, and also a surcharge of 50 per cent on Pullman accommodations. The New York public service commission granted the freight advance, except milk, but denied the other increases within the state, and the carriers appealed to the interstate commerce commission.

The Federal body held that there was a general obligation resting on it "to exercise control over intrastate commerce so far as it affects interstate commerce."

Congress directed that rates be allowed which would yield an aggregate return of from 5¼ to 6 per cent on the value of the railway properties, the commission stated, adding:

Power of Congress.

"There can be no doubt of the power of congress to devise and provide for carrying into effect a plan for assuring the nation's interstate railroads a fair return upon the value of their property, and the full control of congress in this matter is not to be denied on the grounds that the carriers' aggregate earnings are a commingling of intrastate revenue and interstate revenue. * * *

"The annual earnings of the interstate carriers operating in New York are now between $11,000,000 and $1[illegible],000,000 less than they would be if the general level of rates and fares approved by us had become effective on intrastate traffic, and to that extent the declared purpose of congress is defeated by a preferential basis of rates and fare maintained by authority of the state of New York.

"It has not happened heretofore that we have had occasion to make such an extensive exercise of our authority as is now contemplated, and we could not be moved to do so save by the most cogent reasons. Such reasons have been supplied by the situation in which the transportation interests of the country were placed and the action taken by congress to relieve that situation."

A dissenting opinion was handed down by Commissioner Eastman, who contended that the decision of the majority was beyond the lawful power of the commission.

Minnesota Will Fight Ruling.

St. Paul, Min., Nov. 19.—The ruling of the interstate commerce commission yesterday in the New York rate case undoubtedly means that the same ruling will apply to Minnesota's case, which is now awaiting decision of the commission along with those of many other states, O. P. B. Jacobson, chairman of the Minnesota state railroad and warehouse commission, said last night.

"Minnesota will fight such a ruling to the last," said Mr. Jacobson, "and the matter will be carried to the United States supreme court. Members of the Minnesota commission have contended from the beginning that such a ruling is in direct conflict with state rights."

OIL RESOURCES OF WORLD ENORMOUS

Washington, Nov. 19.—An oil production sufficient to supply the world for several generations at least was forecast yesterday at the annual meeting here of the American Petroleum institute.

Henry L. Doherty of New York, Thomas A. O'Donnell of Los Angeles, president of the institute, and R. D. Benson, president of the Tidewater Oil company, declared that the petroleum resources of the world were nowhere near exhausted.

Mr. O'Donnell, however, attacked the navy department for its seizure of oil stocks on the Pacific coast. Producers there, he said, "feel that the navy department has not been fair," and added: "We believe this to be due to the extreme prejudice of the head of the department."

Mr. O'Donnell and Mr. Doherty both declared that government regulation of the petroleum industry was likely to jeopardize the world's future oil supply by discouraging development of new fields.

Mr. Doherty predicted there would be sufficient gasoline for all automotive requirements for generations to come. He said scientists undoubtedly would discover new fuel extracts, but was of the opinion that the probability of finding an artificial substitute for petroleum was remote.

Look for quality as well as price

When prices first went skyward during the war, quality of many things came down. As ever we bought the best obtainable and kept up our old unwritten guarantee. Everybody was earning big money then and purchased regardless of price.

The turn has come and people are looking for lower prices now. Be careful that the lowered prices are not attached to lower quality, for poorly made wearables are dear at any price.

FEDERATION OF MILLION

Chicago, Nov. 19.—J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, announces that the federation has now over a million members and has thirty-five state organizations affiliated with it. The national federation took permanent form here last spring and established headquarters in Chicago this past summer.

Sketching the character of this newcomer among the national farm organizations, together with its program, Mr. Howard, himself an Iowa farmer, said:

"The federation is an alliance of county farm bureaus into state farm bureau federations and this in turn became federated into a national organization as the American Farm Bureau federation.

"Its purpose is to work for the economic, social and educational advancement of the farmers of the United States and for the general welfare of the nation. It is proposed to develop this work by means of bureaus.

Study Production Costs.

"Our bureau of agricultural economics and statistics has already been set up. It will make a study of costs of production of the principal agricultural products and will direct and compile statistics in co-operation with the department of agriculture, and the various state agencies. This work will give a much better insight into the supply and demand of agricultural products, with the thought that this will lend to more efficient marketing.

"Our bureau of transportation is making a study of necessary transportation facilities, both by land and by water, for the marketing of our farm products. The purpose of this bureau is to get at the real facts in the transportation problem and govern its actions accordingly. It purposes to establish rate and traffic files, which have never yet been built up for agricultural products.

Supply and Demand.

"The bureau of trades relations will make a study of world supply and world demand, as well as of our national supply and demand. This information, coupled with the work of the farm economics and statictics bureau, will give us accurate world-wide knowledge upon which to base our plans.

"We are already undertaking important investigation of co-operation enterprise in marketing, which looks toward the establishment of a bureau of co-operation. This will make a study in this country and abroad, with the thought that special industries interested in forming local or district co-operative organization may profit by the experience of other people in similar enterprises before starting their undertaking.

Bureau of Education.

"The bureau of education which we have planned but which has not yet been started will present facts relative to the food supply and other necessities produced by agriculture to the daily papers in order that there may be a more general understanding of agricultural production and a closer relationship between producer and consumer. This bureau will be a service to agricultural papers, presenting regional and national facts of particular interest to farm people and be of service to our own affiliated farm organizations, state and county.

"Our bureau of legislation, which is already in operation, is keeping a close record of bills introduced in congress and is working for the introduction of legislation which we consider essential to the proper development of a national agricultural policy."

EXPECT NEW MINE ON THE MENOMINEE

Iron River, Mich., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Residents of Iron county and of the Menominee range expect that within a comparatively short time the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company will open another mine, as a result of recent discoveries of ore near Alpha, on section 12. The Oliver Iron Mining company owns a promising tract adjoining the one under control of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, so that there is a possibility of the Oliver also developing a mine. Ben C. Neely, Jr., formerly of Negaunee, and for some years past living at Crystal Falls, and others, are the fee owners of the property that the Cleveland-Cliffs is exploring.

A drill has been at work on the property for several months. Four downright holes have been drilled close to the line of the Oliver Mining company's find. An underlay hole is now being driven so as to cut under the four downright holes. From indications it would seem that the underlay hole will be driven to a depth to test thoroughly what is lying away down.

This property was drilled about six years ago, at the time that the Oliver Iron Mining company drilled on the land it has under lease from the Ford interests. The findings were so good at the time that the company took a lease upon it and it was expected that the property would have been opened before this, but for some reason they decided to open the Spies mine at Iron River instead.

STRIKE AGAINST BATH.

Brooklyn Eagle: The crew of the Italian steamer Polacky went on strike upon the arrival of the ship in Constantinople the other day because the health officers insisted that they take a bath before landing, as steerage passengers must do. The crew refused to bathe unless first-class passengers also were compelled to do this. The strike ended when first-class passengers agreed to this.

Crew, steerage and first-class passengers all entered the Bosphorus, took a sea bath and then returned to the ship, which proceeded to Naples.

POLAND IN DIRE NEED OF FOOD

New York, Nov. 19.—Numerous appeals in behalf of refugees and destitute adults along the Bolshevik frontier in Poland are being received by the American relief administration, of which Herbert Hoover is chairman. Unless assistance is forthcoming, it is predicted the coming winter will mean extreme suffering for the children and aged.

According to reports from relief administration representatives, Poland is in dire need of food. Thousands are reported starving. Fifty per cent of the operations of the children's relief in Poland this summer were within the soviet lines.

The driving back of the Russians to the natural frontiers has radically changed a situation that seriously threatened the continuation of the American relief administration child feeding program. Operations have been established and authorities estimate that help is needed for at least 50,000 babies under 3 years of age.

In the other four countries in Eastern and Central Europe which are served by the European children's fund 2,250,000 children must be fed until the next harvest through the generosity of Americans, Mr. Hoover estimates. More than 3,000 kitchens providing one meal a day to these starving little ones are now in operation.

FOR PROTECTION OF MOTHERS AND BABIES

Washington, Nov. 19.—For the protection of maternity and infancy last year the British ministry of health made grants totaling over $2,500,000, according to information received by the children's bureau of the United States department of labor.

Six years ago the necessity was recognized of providing medical and nursing care for mothers and babies in order to reduce the high death rates. The first year a small appropriation was granted but the results obtained were so encouraging that the appropriations have been greatly increased each year.

The funds are administered by the ministry of health in co-operation with local authorities. The local authorities appropriate a sum equal to the amount granted by the government. The service available includes instruction in midwifery and maternity nursing, and the hygiene of maternity and infancy, hospital and maternity home care.

NIGHT RIDERS IN ARKANSAS

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 19.—Responsible sentiment in this state is running strongly against night riding which has been undertaken in this and other cotton growing states to prevent the ginning and marketing of cotton at the present low price. Representative planters, bankers and business men feel strongly that this lawlessness is giving the South a "black eye."

At a recent meeting of the Arkansas division of the American Cotton association here, nightriding was condemned as an act of gross ignorance. Governor Brough has taken a vigorous stand against nightriding and he has had further support, among others, from Claude Fitzpatrick, president of the Arkansas Bankers' association. All the forces of the state and local governments in Arkansas are now co-operating to prevent further lawlessness in the cotton ginning centers.

Is Stopping Activities.

The counter movement is believed to be doing much to stop the activities of nightriders. Mass meetings have been held in many towns and the co-operation of the citizens has been proffered officers in maintaining order.

Acts of violence for which night riders have been given credit in Arkansas have taken various forms. In addition to the burning of gins, warehouses and other property, farmers who attempted to market their cotton have been threatened with death or severe punishment, and in some cases have been badly maltreated. Negro families have been intimidated and driven from their homes because they sought employment or worked as cotton pickers. Hundreds of cotton gins in various sections of the state have been posted with warnings against continuing to buy and gin cotton, the threatened penalties for not heeding the warning including destruction of the plants and forfeiture of the lives of the owners.

In one county eight men now are awaiting action of the grand jury on a charge of setting fire to a ginnery, and in another section of the state three white farmers have been sentenced to a year's imprisonment and assessed heavy fines for intimidation of negro cotton pickers.

LAWS ASKED TO PROTECT HEALTH

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 19.—Minnesota is so gravely menaced by disease that the appropriation of special state funds aggregating $516,000 and the enactment of new laws to protect the health and lives of the 2,500,000 men, women and children in the rural and urban communities of the state will be urged upon the 1921 legislature through a state-wide appeal.

This was the announcement made here at the annual meeting this week of the Minnesota Public Health association, at the St. Paul Athletic club. A similar announcement was made at the annual meeting of the state sanitary conference of health officers at the Lowry building medical library, by Dr. C. L. Scofield of Benson.

Dr. Scofield is president of the Minnesota Public Health association, which with affiliated public health associations in every county in the state will direct the state-wide movement to bring the enactment of the legislation declared so vitally essential. These volunteer health agencies, through campaign managers in conference here, are completing plans for the annual Christmas seal sale, which starts Dec. 1 and which provides the funds with which to conduct public health work through education, demonstration, detection and treatment of disease and promotion of improved health legislation.

AMERICAN CUTLERY IS SOLD IN ENGLAND

New York, Nov. 19.—Shipping cutlery to England would seem like carrying coals to Newcastle, because of the importance of Sheffield in the manufacture of cutlery in the days before the war. Nevertheless England has been in recent years one of the best customers for American cutlery of all kinds, most of which finds its way to the large cities. According to statistics supplied by Consul Washington, imports of American cutlery into Liverpool amounted to $342,000 during the year 1918 and $473,000 during 1919. This shows that 30 per cent of all the cutlery imported into England goes through the big Mersey port. The total English annual purchase of American cutlery during the year of 1919 was valued at $1,258,000. Most of the imported cutlery consists of razors, but there is a fair demand also for American table cutlery, pocket knives, scissors and tailor shears in which the American Industry has gained a great reputation in England as elsewhere.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP CLUB AND HOME FILL UNIQUE MISSION; TO OBSERVE THIRD ANNIVERSARY

As the Christmas holidays approach, the attention of everybody at Morgan Park is centered upon the Good Fellowship club and home, which are due to celebrate their third anniversary on Dec. 1. Officers of the club report that the work at this institution is growing by leaps and bounds and that it is gaining yearly in popularity and usefulness.

Reports of the work at the Good Fellowship club by various department heads show interest and enthusiasm to be at high pitch and activities being extended. These reports, which have just been compiled, show this institution to be one of the most unique in the country. In setting forth the unique position of the club, an officer of the institution said:

Common Meeting Ground.

"For years capital and labor have been striving to find a common meeting ground; a place where employer and employe could grasp each other by the hand and exchange courtesies; where each could get a glimpse of the other's problems from his brother's point of view, and where each could be of mutual benefit to the other. The labor organizations have had their clubs for the promotion of social, educational and industrial advantages, and capital has had its clubs for the promotion of its interests, but the great problem has been to establish something that would bring the two together, engender friendly relations, and make each more helpful to the other.

"Up to a few years ago all attempts to establish such an institution had been either total failures or but partial successes. Institutions established by labor had been partisan in spirit and operation, and those established by capital had failed to sense the needs of the times and had lacked the spirit of democracy essential to enlist popular favor.

"The institution that can do most to cement the ties between capital and labor is the one that is neither paternalistic nor condescending in its attitude; it must inspire the feeling of co-operation. Perhaps the best word to describe this is 'good fellowship.'

"When the Minnesota Steel company established its plant at Morgan Park, in the western part of the city of Duluth, the officials, with their keen business sense and foresightedness, sought to hit upon something that would enlist the friendship of their employes and make it possible for them to build up and maintain their efficiency. At the outset they recognized the fact that employes are men and women and not machines, that a human being is a four-square individual—that he has a physical, mental, spiritual and social nature. How could these qualities in their employes be best developed? In answering this important question, they worked on the theory that men and women are merely grown up children and that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." In other words, work and play must be properly combined to make a man or woman efficient and of good character."

Club Is Established.

With these basic principles in mind, the Minnesota Steel company established the Good Fellowship club and home at Morgan Park for the employes of the steel plant, the Portland Cement company, the Morgan Park company, and the Lakeview store; all of which are kindred enterprises of the steel corporation.

Recognizing the fact that there must be adequate facilities for such an institution, a large sum of money was set aside for a modern and thoroughly up-to-date building to provide for the needs of the workman, his wife and his children. The beautiful clubhouse and home at Morgan Park was built in 1917, and the place was opened in December of that year. Since that time this institution has been steadily at work in all departments, making "four-square" men and women.

"This clubhouse and home has all the salient features of a Y. M. C. A., and a workingman's and business men's club, fitted to suit the needs of its own membership.

Membership in Thousands.

The popularity of the institution may be seen from the large number of its members. At the present time there are 3,201 members in the club and 3,124 members in the home. All departments are open from 7 a. m. to 11:45 p. m. during the entire week, including Sundays.

Membership in the club and home is open to all employes of these kindred industries, and fees of admission and regular dues are nominal. Membership in the home is but 50 cents a month per person and but $10 a year for a man and his entire family. The fee is but $9 a year for women. Single men are charged the same as married men. The home has an associate membership but the club has only regular members.

The wide range of activities covered by this association may readily be seen from the varied list of its departments. There are adequate facilities for developing men and women from all sides.

Physical developmnet may be obtained through various forms of recreation. There is a large, well-equipped gymnasium, handball court, pool hall, bowling alley, swimming pool and tennis courts for the grown-ups, and for the junior members there are spacious rooms with a shuffle board, ping pong tables, pool tables and a croquet court.

For the purpose of promoting health and better physical condition among members, special inducements are offered to make the work attractive. The bowling league, the swimming pool and the girls' baseball teams make up an important part of the physical work of the club.

The bowling league is made up of teams from the different departments. There are eight crack bowling teams in the league and a big tournament features the bowling activities each year.

The girls have become skillful and enthusiastic baseball players and won the city championship last year. In winter the girls turn their activities to basket ball and in this line of sport excellent players have been developed.

There are many opportunities offered for mental recreation and development. Reading rooms for men, women and children are open at all times and the best of literature is available free of charge.

Variety of Entertainment.

Entertainment is offered in wide variety and includes something for all, making the clubhouse popular at all seasons of the year. The large auditorium is an ideal place for the showing of motion pictures, dancing and various entertainments. Motion picture programs are given twice a week and many entertainments are given for the children.

It is the aim of the officers of the club to create good fellowship and friendship among the members and their families and numerous occasions are offered at which members may mingle and become well acquainted. The most important of these are the annual picnic, the annual indoor carnival, and the annual minstrel show.

The indoor carnival is given every fall and lasts from three to four days. Events are staged all through the big building and booths and other features are open to the public. Hundreds of people at the Park come to these carnivals and mingle in the spirit of jollity. All the carnival activities are carefully supervised and perfect order is maintained.

The annual picnic is one of the most popular events of the year. All members and their families are invited and thousands attend every year. Everything is furnished free, including ice cream, sandwiches and other refreshments in the line of eats and drinks. Valuable and attractive prizes, also are provided free as an incentive to promote sports and games.

The minstrel show not only creates much enthusiasm at the Park but also draws patrons from all parts of the city. The minstrels are selected from the most talented entertainers in the club and the programs are always of interest.

Both the club and the home are governed by a board of directors, which is made up of the heads of the various departments of the industries represented. Six additional members are selected by members-at-large.

Officers are elected by the board for one year, and include a president, treasurer and general secretary, who acts as manager of the home. The general secretary spends all his time managing the affairs of the club. The other officers have departments at the plant to look after and spend only part of their time at the clubhouse.

With thousands of men employed at occupations more or less hazardous and with the same workmen engaged year in and year out, misfortune is bound to creep in and leave families in temporary need. For this reason the club provides wise and efficient aid through its charity and welfare department.

Welfare Activities.

Two trained nurses, whose services are paid by the club, are employed the year around. Reports on the physical condition of families are received from various department heads, and when any member of the club or any of his family is ill, one of the nurses pays a visit to the home and finds out if the family is in need of assistance. If the case is found worthy, a nurse is placed in the home as long as needed or temporary help is given as the case requires. All this work is done according to a doctor's orders. The nurses also give aid in case a workman is injured and is sent to his home for treatment.

In case of death, flowers are provided free and automobiles for the funeral.

In worthy cases where members or their families are temporarily in need, limited loans in money are made without interest. Such loans are granted under supervision of departments and upon recommendation of the board of directors. Sometimes the money given will be equally divided as a loan and a gift. Payments are made on these loans monthly.

Many loans are granted to prevent workmen being garnisheed for debts which they are unable to meet when due.

At Christmas time the club does everything possible to make the little folks happy and the entire place is turned over to Santa Claus, the children and their parents. Great Christmas trees are erected and loaded down with toys, candies, peanuts and other gifts. The children from the Orphans' and Children's home are invited and these little unfortunates are given an opportunity to enjoy the same privileges that other children enjoy.

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE INSTITUTE

Washington, Nov. 19.—The recent announcement by the United States public health service of its intention to hold an institute, at which health officers and physicians will receive ten-day intensive courses in the latest and best methods of dealing with venereal diseases is meeting with enthusiastic responses from state boards of health and other organizations and persons. A recent letter from the Indiana state board says that Indiana cannot afford to miss the institute and will send several official representatives, supplemented by many unofficial ones.

The institute will open on Nov. 22 for ten days and will be immediately followed on Dec. 6 by a six-day session of the great All-American conference, at which the most eminent physicians, administrators, and other experts of the Western hemisphere will discuss the best ways of fighting the twin diseases.

Whatever You Do Don't Neglect Your Eyes, Says Dr. Lewis, Who

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Philadelphia, Pa.—Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eyestrain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. He says neglect causes more eye troubles and poor sight than any other one thing. Many whose eyes were failing say they had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two or four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

NOTE: Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them." The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist, and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family. It is sold in this city by all leading druggists, including W. A. Abbett and S. F. Boyce.

THE COMMUNITY WELFARE BUDGET.

This, in many cities, is the season for filling the community welfare budget, out of which the community finances its many charity and welfare causes.

Half the newspapers that come to this office tell the story of the success of this experiment, and bring appeals for refilling the local budget chest for another year.

We hear of no city that, having adopted this plan, has gone back to the old plan—which was no plan and no system at all.

On the other hand, we hear of causes that held out at first coming in now that they find their fears were groundless, and we hear of contributors who fought shy of the idea in the beginning but now agree that it is the right idea and that no other plan is thinkable any more.

Cleveland, for instance, is raising four and a half million dollars for this purpose. It calls its budget the Community Chest. The Plain Dealer of that city, in discussing the campaign, gives some arguments out of Cleveland's abundantly successful experience that should be interesting to Duluth, which is thinking of adopting this plan:

> The "Community Chest" is happily named, for it represents a community fund gathered in the community to meet community needs. Mutual effort and mutual benefits are written through it from beginning to end. Everyone identified with the fund campaign is working for the common good.
>
> The "chest" represents the easiest, safest and most adequate method of handling a great city's charities. Formerly, it was the custom for each charitable organization to conduct its own appeal for funds. "Tag days" were frequent. No sooner was one campaign over than another was announced. The path of the busy citizen was beset with solicitors whose pleas, in the main, were for meritorious projects.
>
> With the advent of the "chest" idea all this changed. Tag days were abolished. Instead of many campaigns for funds, we have but one—one week of organized fund-raising by representatives of every authorized charitable organization in the city. The public is saved annoyance, time and expense. The old objects are accomplished with less friction and loss—and new activities permitted which could not be undertaken before.

That is the story of the community welfare fund idea wherever it has been tried and under whatever name. There is no reason why it would not work as admirably in Duluth, given proper co-operation, as it has in other cities.

THE NEW CHIEF OF POLICE.

Commissioner Murnian has our congratulations on his appointment of Detective Warren E. Pugh to be chief of police.

First, because the appointment is from the police force, where it always should be made from if it is possible.

Second, because he has picked a man whose character and military record, as well as a satisfactory though brief experience as patrolman and detective, offer a lively hope that he is the man the police department so vitally needs.

Mr. Pugh has a very important and not at all easy responsibility before him. We hope that he will have the fullest loyalty and co-operation from every member of the police department, and from the public. The community will wish him the greatest possible success in the conduct of an office which is so important to its welfare and peace of mind.

The people of Minnesota did a splendid thing in ratifying Amendment No. 1 by a smashing two-thirds vote, and now the legislature has a task to perform which it must handle with great care.

For while the good roads amendment created a state highway system and defined its routes, the legislature must create the law that makes it possible to change this paper system to a real system; and in doing this it has the delicate task of surrounding the process with as many safeguards as possible against error and waste without constricting the work so rigidly that those who execute it will be shackled with red tape.

Indeed, this next step is in many respects the most important of the series, and the legislature should take what time it needs to do it well, and should be on its guard against the importunities of sections or selfish interests.

The report from St. Paul that an unpaid and nonpartisan commission of five probably will be created to undertake the original responsibility for the work sounds like a good start. The state could have no better man than Commissioner Babcock to execute the great commission the people have just issued; but for his own protection he will no doubt welcome the help and advice of such a commission.

The legislature will have no more important business before it this winter than the enactment of the right kind of law to carry out the mandate of Amendment No. 1, and it should put its best men on the job and give it the best and most unselfish thought of every senator and representative.

> Remember this—that very little is needed to make a happy life.
> —Marcus Aurelius.

VOLUNTEER FOR THE RED CROSS.

Perhaps it should be emphasized more clearly that there is no house-to-house canvass for Red Cross memberships this time.

Everybody is asked to volunteer. Heads of families are asked to send in checks covering memberships for the whole family. Business houses are asked to give their employes an opportunity to join, for themselves and for their families if they will.

Your dollar is good; your membership is better. You want to have a share in this great work of mercy, and you will remember that there is need of mercy not only when there is war, but at all times.

Send your application and your dollar to J. W. Lyder, treasurer, in care of the Northern National bank.

◆

DANGEROUS BUSINESS.

A police campaign to stop speeding with trucks in the business sections—or anywhere else, for that matter—is timely and very much needed.

Yesterday a truck, driven too fast, had to turn into a curb and be wrecked to avoid running down a woman. Every day there are narrow escapes.

There is no need for any truck to exceed the legal speed limits, and such driving as has been common in Duluth is simple recklessness. The wonder is that more people have not been injured or killed.

Sharp punishment for a few caught exceeding the speed limit would be a wholesome thing, and perhaps the only effective remedy.

THE RICHEST INVESTMENT.

All of us freely admit the value of education; but do we really appreciate just how concrete and tangible its values are? We do not; else we would be more earnest in seeing that education gets its due proportion of the public funds so that, for instance, teachers can be paid proportionately to the importance of their work.

So it is worth while thinking of the actual concrete values of education to the individual; for its values to society, especially in a republic where success in self-government must always be in direct proportion to the state of public intelligence, are too obvious to require demonstration.

Banks think in figures, and probably that is why an Indianapolis bank has gathered the figures needed to demonstrate the point, which is that education is the richest material investment that can be made. Here are some of them:

Out of five million children without schooling, only thirty-one will attain distinction; and of course these thirty-one will be of that irrepressible type whose qualities cannot be held down by any imaginable handicap.

Of thirty-three million with elementary schooling, eight hundred and eight will gain distinction. So even a little education, though a little knowledge is said to be a dangerous thing, will help.

But out of two million with high school training, 1,245 will distinguish themselves above the throng, while out of a million who go through college 5,768 will gain distinction in some walk of life. Reduced to percentages, you will note the contrast will become even more vivid, though it is vivid enough as it stands.

Less than one in a hundred of American men are college-trained, yet this small percentage has provided fifty-five per cent of the presidents, fifty-four per cent of the vice presidents, sixty-two per cent of the secretaries of state, fifty per cent of the secretaries of the treasury, sixty-two per cent of the attorneys general, and sixty-nine per cent of the justices of the supreme court.

Now here, more concretely still, is what these figures mean: that with a college education your child has one chance for distinction in 173; with a high school education he has one chance in 1,606; with elementary schooling only he has one chance in 40,841; and with no schooling at all he has but one chance in 161,290.

True, there are rare geniuses whom no lack of education can withhold from distinction, just as there are simpletons, not so rare, whom no amount of education can make anything of; but these are aside from the point. Their existence does not affect the fundamental facts disclosed by these illuminating figures.

Education is absolutely essential to the success of self-governing society, and the lack or shortage of it is an absolute menace to such a society. Education is absolutely essential to the success of the average individual, and the lack or shortage of it is the most fatal handicap imaginable. These are axioms which ought to need no figures to support them. But the figures prove that, for society or for the individual, education is the richest material investment man can make.

Defends American Marriages

Interview in the New York Sun.

That much criticized institution—American marriage—has at last found a defender, and of all defenders an Englishman! W. L. George, British novelist, essayist and feminist, described as a literary Columbus bent on discovering Americans, asserted recently in an interview at the National Arts club that the American marriage appears to him to be happier than the English variety.

Mr. George's reasons, however, for asserting this superior felicity of the American marriage are not so flattering.

"I believe that American marriages are happier for two reasons," said Mr. George in mellifluous British accents. "One reason is that marriages are more easily dissolved in this country, so that two wretched people are not compelled by the law to remain tied together all their lives, as they are in England.

"The second reason is that woman's natural desire to possess things, clothes, furniture, ornaments and books, is more universally gratified by American husbands than by English husbands.

"I once made a study of 150 English marriages. The couples were known to me and I was able to analyze these marriages carefully.

"Out of the 150 marriages I found that nine were very good, twenty-five were very bad and 116 were moderate."

Mr. George has been in America about six weeks now and has been touring in all parts of the country. So far he has observed only two unhappy American marriages. He realizes that there may be more, but believes that even more detailed observation would place the proportion of happy unions above the nine to 150 British rate.

"The American man, from what I have been able to observe," said Mr. George, "is so much absorbed in his business that he hasn't the time to spend his money. His wife spends the money of the family and a great many women are kept happy if they have enough to spend. The wife can go to the stores and indulge in social activities, and that distracts her mind. It's very important that she should be distracted."

"This going to the shops provides a sort of dope for the wife," he said. "No, perhaps it would be better not to call it 'dope.' Call it a sauce."

It developed later that what Mr. George really meant was soothing syrup.

"It may be striking a pessimistic note," he continued, "but my own attitude is that life is not a very comfortable thing. It requires sauces to make it go down.

"The three principal sauces are love, art and philosophy. We know that for most people philosophy is not possible. For almost as many art means just as little and for most of us love lasts only a few years. Especially is this true of women.

"Therefore women have got to find something else to serve as a sauce for existence. And the sorts of things they find are things like fashion, new religion, debating clubs and social entertainments. The American woman, having more money to spend than the English woman—for in England the men of the family spend most of the money—has a better chance of getting those things that serve to distract her and so is more contented."

Mr. George, who has been an active campaigner for woman suffrage in England, is much interested in the suffrage situation in this country.

"Due to suffrage the American woman is a more intellectual being on an average than the English woman," he said. "Probably many American women do not want to be politically educated, nobody ever wants to be educated. But the candidates will force political education upon women now that they have suffrage, and this will result in an even more highly developed American woman of the future.

"The American woman of the future will react sharply against present conditions.

"I find a great many American men talking a great deal about the splendor and nobility of American women. The man seems to have a sort of radiant vision of a beneficent creature who honors a man greatly by marrying him. There is a little idolatry in this attitude, apparently.

"At least it sounds very nice and a great many women may believe it, but for my part I doubt if it goes quite as far as it sounds. As I go around I don't see women in superior positions in their places of employment. When a woman is given an important position a great deal of fuss is made about it, it is noted in the newspapers, her picture published and she is invited to women's luncheons. This means, of course, that it is unusual. If a man were given the same position it would not be noticed.

"I think the American women are beginning to find this out and that in the future they will be less and less content with a tribute of words. They will continue to struggle for equality in the world of affairs, demanding that men recognize them as equals in their hearts, as well as politically."

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON.

The Impossible

I cannot talk worth fourteen cents, and so no spiels I spring; and much I envy gifted gents who make the welkin ring. Chautauqua magnates ply their game, and promise bundles fine, if I'll but write my moral name upon the dotted line. And often I am tempted sore: then I hear Conscience say, "What right have you, I ask, to bore an audience for pay? You know that every time you've tried to paint the welkin red, a lot of wilted eggs were shied, in anger, at your head." How much of boredom we'd avoid, how much of language blue, if fewer fellows were employed at work they cannot do! I'm weary of that singer's screech who knocks the notes to pulp; I'm tired of hearing blacksmiths preach, and seeing farmers sculp. I'm glad that I have sense enough to know where I'm a frost, and so I dodge the platform stuff, though at a frightful cost; for there the easy money lies, and there the soft snaps grow; the country's full of talking guys who trade hot air for dough. But as a speaker I am tough, which cannot be denied; I'm glad that I have sense enough to let the welkin slide.

No Democratic Sabotage

Editorial in the New York World.

Pleading for and promising party government while his campaign was in progress, President-elect Harding now deprecates partisanship and bitter personalities. The impulse that makes him covet the good-will of all his fellow-citizens and leads him to pledge his best efforts in their behalf is greatly to his credit. In that spirit most of our presidents have taken office.

If there were any disposition on the part of Democrats and others politically opposed to Mr. Harding to thwart and discredit his administration at every turn, they would need only to follow the example set for them by the Republicans during the last two and one-half years. While we were still at war and the president as commander in chief was entitled to the loyal support of every American, the campaign of slander which culminated last Tuesday was organized and financed. It will not soon be forgotten that this vicious movement was addressed to every element of discontent in the country, not excepting those who sympathized with the enemy. Wherever anybody hostile to the United States was found, common cause was made with him.

In the one brief statement issued by Governor Cox since his defeat he characterized the attitude of the Republican party in opposition with accuracy. "It is my hope and firm belief that the democracy of the nation will not attempt political sabotage," he said; "the country has seen quite enough of that. We are in the midst of emergency and the nation's every resource should co-ordinate in behalf of the things that are helpful." When the leaders of both parties unite in urging a truce the people generally may well consign to forgetfulness even the misdeeds of those who ask for quarter.

We shall never have a respectable foreign policy or an honorable position in world affairs if the tactics pursued by the Republicans since the summer of 1918 are to be perpetuated. There is a vast difference between decent opposition and political sabotage. The one can be made helpful. The other is simply destructive. Mr. Harding's one pledge on this point is that he will consult and be guided by "the ablest minds," including Democrats and independents as well as Republicans. No doubt, now that the election is over and responsibility takes the place of recklessness, he will find in his most trusted counselors a new appreciation of the respect that is due to the president of the United States.

Mr. Harding's plea for fair treatment by Democrats who have experienced nothing but misrepresentation and abuse will not be in vain. He will be criticized but he will not be maligned. He will escape the calumnies heaped upon President Wilson for two years and more. There will be no Democratic sabotage. What may befall him in his own household we shall not undertake to say.

Revolt

E. V. Lucas in Life: I had been to the Metropolitan museum, looking at beautiful things and rejoicing in them.

And then I had to catch a train and go far into the country.

And as the light lessened and the brooding hour set in, I looked out of the window and reconstructed some of the lovely things I had seen—the sculptures and the paintings, the jewels and the porcelain: all the fine flowers of the arts through the ages.

It seemed marvelous beyond understanding that such perfection could exist, and I thought how wonderful it must be to be God and see His creatures rising now and again to such heights.

And then I came to my station, from which, owing to a misunderstanding, there could be no means of getting away for two hours, and I went to an inn for a meal.

It was a dirty, neglected place, with a sullen, unwashed man at the door, who called raspingly to his wife within.

And when she came she was a slattern, with disheveled hair and a soiled dress and apron, and she looked miserable and worn out.

She prepared a meal which I could not eat, and when I went to pay for it I found her sitting dejectedly in a chair, looking with a kind of dumb despair at the day's washing-up, still to do.

And as I walked up and down the road waiting for the car, I thought of this woman's earlier life when she was happy.

I thought of her in her courtship, when her husband loved her and they looked forward to marriage and he was tender and she was blithe.

They probably went to Coney Island together and laughed with the rest.

And it seemed iniquitous that such changes should come about and that merry girls should grow into sluts and slovens, and ardent young husbands should degenerate into unkempt bullies, and houses meant for happiness should decay, and marriage promises all be forgotten.

And I felt that if the world could not be better managed than that, I never wanted to see any of God's artistic darlings at the top of their form again, and the Metropolitan museum could go hang.

The Author of "J'Accuse!"

When "J'Accuse!"—the most sensational attack on kaiserism made during the war—appeared anonymously in 1915, there was much speculation as to its authorship. It was ascribed to several eminent writers who were bitterly opposed to the Hohenzollern regime. Many people still do not know that it was written by Dr. Richard Grelling, a leader of the German Liberals. During the war Dr. Grelling escaped to Switzerland, where he helped to prepare the plans for the German revolution. When his work became known in Germany his property was confiscated and he was charged with high treason. After the revolution he returned to Germany, but he met with such outrageous treatment at the hands of the so-called "Revolutionists" in power that he is obliged to live in exile. German publishers refuse to print his books, and German audiences and newspapers deny him a hearing. His life was threatened during his visit, and several of his fellow workers have already been assassinated by imperialists in the uniform of the new republican army. The Yale Review for January will publish the first article from Dr. Grelling's pen to appear in America since the war. It is a powerful attack on the pseudo-revolutionary party now in the saddle, ending with a warning against the counter-revolution.

Meals and Efficiency

Ohio State Journal: Men and women in business know well that if breakfast is well prepared, well served and eaten under normal conditions, they may rise from the table knowing they are prepared for whatever the day may bring forth. And they know, equally well, that if breakfast is badly prepared, poorly served and partaken of under unhappy conditions, they go forth to a day of vexation, worry and turmoil. In many ways breakfast is the most important meal of the day. It helps us to begin the day well, it gives us the right start, it prepares us to meet with philosophy things that would worry us if we did not have the good start.

Lunch is less important, and dinner—well, we are tired, hungry, through with the day and ready for a dinner, even if it be somewhat less than our tastes might have preferred.

Health Talks

By William Brady, M. D.

The Beginning of Tuberculosis

How does tuberculosis of the lungs manifest itself in the incipient stage or beginning? With pain in the chest, cough, fever, loss of weight? Not as a rule. The onset of this very common disease is wayward in that respect. Like insanity, it is much more likely to develop in the case of an individual who does not fear or suspect he has it; or putting it in the other way, tuberculosis, like insanity, rarely happens to him who fears he is developing it.

There are several characteristic modes of onset of tuberculosis which are familiar to physicians with an intelligent clientele. By intelligent clientele I mean patients with sense enough to consult the doctor in the beginning of health impairment instead of waiting until they feel convinced they are going to be disabled or die. Fifty or more years ago precious few patients had that much intelligence; it was the custom to call in the doctor only when the illness became serious enough to frighten everybody—and fifty years ago "consumption" was properly deemed a pretty hopeless condition. Today as many as 25 per cent of the laity have enough sense to seek medical counsel immediately when health becomes impaired; and today tuberculosis is one of the most curable of all chronic diseases—curable by intelligent treatment and care, not by any specific.

The most frequent mode of onset is with bronchitis, following what the unenlightened call a "neglected cold." The bronchitis does not get entirely well in the course of two or three weeks; some slight trouble persists, and then the careful physician—if he has the opportunity to see the patient—discovers evidence of tuberculosis. He can discover that evidence only by examining the naked chest repeatedly. But a careful physician does not pretend to examine the chest through the clothing.

A second familiar mode of onset of tuberculosis is with an attack of what seems to be simple pleurisy, usually dry pleurisy. Indeed, the occurrence of pleurisy is always suggestive of beginning tuberculosis, though rather more than half of all such cases prove to be of nontuberculosis character. One who has lately had an attack of pleurisy should certainly have a careful chest examination as a matter of safety first.

A third mode of onest is with spitting of blood or bleeding from the lungs. Of course, there are numerous other causes than tuberculosis for spitting up small amounts of blood, especially in children; but a sudden coughing up of blood in any case warrants careful investigation of the condition of the lungs.

Dyspepsia, so-called, of a persistent or obstinate type, especially in children or youths who are anemic, frail and below the average in growth and development, strongly suggests beginning pulmonary tuberculosis, even though no chest or lung symptoms or cough be noticed.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Hair and Mentality.

A teacher advised a mother to have a little girl's hair cut, as she was "unable to concentrate." The child had very heavy long hair. After it was cut she quickly improved and became as bright as any. (F. C.)

Answer: After my hair began to fall I had to have my appendix cut out. Would the teacher attribute appendicitis to falling hair? Being what I am, I gladly concede that brainy men have little hair and vice versa. But seriously there is no such relation, and it is regrettable that the mother had the child's hair cut. Somebody is always taking the beauty out of life.

Answer: Bathe the face each night for a week with hot soap and water, rinse, and apply a solution of ten grains of zinc sulphate and ten grains sulphurated potassium in each ounce of water.

Just a Moment

Gracious Lord, we have known Thee by many names. We have called Thee our Creator, our Protector, our King, our Father in Heaven. But we are glad that we know Thee also as our Savior. In Jesus Christ, Thy Son, Thou hast sought us and found us and saved us. In His precious blood Thou hast washed our sins away. To His keeping power Thou hast committed our souls. We look into His face and we see Thee there, and there we understand Thy love. O God, help us to take the gospel as it is in Christ to the sinful, the anxious, the broken-hearted. He is sufficient for us. He will be sufficient for them. Lay upon Thy servants a new sense of the supreme value of souls; make us once more sure that only spiritual values abide. As we profess the name of Jesus Christ convince us deeply of His expectations for us. Show us our great opportunity. We ask it in Jesus' Name. Amen.—Rev. Frank H. Stevenson.

Our Friends the Birds

Cincinnati Enquirer: National authority was slow to awaken to the necessity for the protection and conservation of bird life. But now this beautiful and utilitarian propaganda, strengthened by legal encouragement and restrictions, is working for the benefit of the nation and the race. The boy with the sling and the pot-hunter are becoming rare; the outlaw sportsman meets swift retribution; ignorance of bird life and its value to agriculture is disappearing.

We have learned, or are learning, that each bird has its allotted work, which it willingly and persistently performs, setting us an example we would do well to emulate, for it works with a song bubbling from its throat. Behold the vireo flashing among maple leaves, or the swallow, swift corsair of the air, the robin, the catbird and the chebec at their work. Only by unremitting industry do we keep down the weeds which otherwise would choke down and overcome the needful crops, but with all our industry we should fail but for the assistance of the birds, which feed on seeds as well as insects. But for the ceaseless work of these winged friends the death soon would become a devastated waste by reason of the voracity of inconceivable insect life. It is the birds which keep down the tent caterpillar, the gypsy moth, the cut worm, the codling moth, the innumerable myriads of eggs and larva which are found on trees and leaves and the stalks of vegetation. What these joyous songsters take of fruit and grain is negligible in comparison with the service they perform for the good of us all. Hence every farmer in particular should know, as farmers are coming to know, that the birds are agricultural aids to be appreciated and protected by every possible means.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Both Nuisance and Menace

Bemidji Pioneer: Speed maniacs are becoming too great and promiscuous a nuisance in this country. As we have remarked in these columns before, it is quite time to put an effectual curb on their speeding and maiming and killing. The people they maim or kill are of use to society. They are not. If fines will not check them, jail sentences will.

The only recourse left to the public is to put these fellows where they belong. One good jail sentence will do the work in this community. The rest of the maniacs will take to cover and suddenly develop into remarkably good Indians.

Another Job for Landis

Thief River Falls Tribune: We would most respectfully recommend the appointment of Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis for attorney general in President Harding's cabinet. If we could have Landis for attorney general we could get some real action. He would find the profiteers, name them, tell them where to get off at and get a result. They are up at the top. They are grafting the public for millions per day. Will a Republican administration do something to help the producer and consumer and will they make an example of the profiteers? We hope so.

Americans Before Partisans

Stillwater Gazette: The American people are good sports. Lick the Democrats as often as you like and they come around the next morning just as strong for America as they were on election day, when they are always sure of success. And the Republicans are of the same stuff, although not licked so often.

They Deserve What They Want

Fairmount Sentinel: North Dakota farmers after giving Townleyism a fair trial decide they want more of it, and if that's the kind of government they want, that is the kind of government they ought to have.

Neither of the old parties has an organizer of Mr. Townley's energy, endurance and resourcefulness. He is still a power in the land that must be reckoned with in the future.

Neither, Just Selfishness

Redwood Gazette: Every Sunday human beings go to church and send heavenward an appeal "to be made worthy of the blessings God has given us" and then Monday morning we come downtown and refuse to give 50 cents or $1 or some such insignificant amount as that to help further the work of caring for other children of this same God, who may happen to be not quite so fortunate in some ways as we are! That may be religion, but it most certainly is not Christianity.

Experienced in Tribulation

St. Cloud Journal: President-elect Harding is told that he has a hard job to handle, when he becomes president. It might be hard for most folks, but Harding has had a lot of this kind of experience. He's an editor. After successfully publishing a daily paper, running the government will be a soft snap.

May his name lead all the rest, and may his tribe ever increase!

CROATS. SLOVENES AND SERBS DID GOOD WORK

To the Editor of The Herald:

In The Herald of Nov. 15 I read of the nations represented on the rolls of the service men of Minnesota and find no mention given to the Croatians, Slovenes or Serbians or in fact to any of the Jugo-Slavs. I am sure these nationalities gave a large percentage of the soldiers in every state of the Union and especially in Minnesota, where in some localities these nationalities predominate. Why, then, was there no mention made of them? I noticed distinct mention made of Finland which geographically was a part of Russia, also England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, which are all divisions of the British Isles, and several other instances. An Irishman does not give his nationality as an Englishman, nor a Pole that of a Russian, so in all justice neither does a Croat want to be classed as an Austrian. Give the Slavs their due credit. They did their share in making the past war an American success.

I for one want to see that list of nations revised and justice given to one and all, be what their nationality and I am positive that many others share my feelings in this matter. I was born in Austria but does that make my nationality an Austrian? Does the birthplace give one his nationality? An American can be born in any European country and be an American as though born in the United States. Is he then to be classed, say, an Austrian? I will say, though, that in such an instance one is an American providing he is of American parentage.

If another such occasion arises calling for men to service there would be considerably less on the records, if they call for those of Austrian birth but mighty more if calling for Croats, Slovenes, Serbs and Slavs.

URGES MORE BAKING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Wheat has declined tremendously in price; flour is down several dollars per barrel, yet the bread loaf clings tenaciously near summit prices. The consumer is promised relief when the higher priced flour on hand is used up. I always thought the latter were entitled to the full benefit of lower prices and had not to make good to the manufacturer or retailer the loss that otherwise would be incurred by selling higher priced goods. Commodities on hand or their products at the prevailing current values, but it seems as long as the consumer will stand for this work the other fellow will skin his pocketbook without remorse.

Now as a remedy if every good housewife who has the conveniences and knows how to bake, would do so the price of the loaf would soon be on the toboggan slide and the grasp on the consumer's pocket in this line would relax.

ARMISTICE DAY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

What is the matter with Armistice day in Duluth anyway, and what is the matter with its people? Has the great war been so soon forgotten, that the eternal grind for the Almighty Dollar cannot stop for even one-half a day to honor our dead over there and show our respect to our living boys over here? Surely Nov. 11 ought to mean a great deal to us here, or is this another part of the deal that the boys got, similar to what was handed them when they came back, expecting to step back in their old positions? They gave them up to go and fight for us with the promise that their jobs would be open to them when they came back, but many of them came back to find that the slackers who took their jobs when they went were the ones who kept them when they came back. Dozens of the soldier boys were handed anything they had to spare or that they could get.

For shame Duluth! Wake up before Nov. 11, 1921, and honor the day as it should be.

CAN HELP BUT LACK THE HEART.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I was reading in The Herald of Friday the 12th, Mr. Hoover's letter of the slaughter of the innocent children and where so many of the foreign children are starving and he urges the American people to donate to the relief fund. Now there ought to be a law passed to have at least one officer to go into the attics of some of the rich people and search it for old shoes and clothes. I know of at least three where there are boxes of old shoes and rubbers. Some are scarcely soiled and a few coats that aren't hardly worn that would go a long way to keep some poor people warm but they won't even donate them to the Salvation Army.

Oh, the greed of some people!

A RED CROSS WORKER.

DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Belief that a law cannot be enforced contributes to a lack of action in making that law effective. Also, if not enforced it develops a large body of people who become indifferent. This indifferent class is mostly composed of those who want clean government, but who fail to exert their influence for good and condemn public officials for failing to enforce the law; yet they rest smug in their belief that we'll get better results after awhile from something new. This indifference, however, is the real cause for the failure of many laws.

This is the real condition of the prohibition laws. Whole states are somewhat indifferent—they stand back and say let Uncle Sam do it. The skeptic also says that it can't be done. These coupled with those who don't want it done are contributing to the failure to enforcing these moral laws.

Many people don't believe in prohibition. Some are indifferent; but the majority do believe in it, and because of that belief it is written into the Federal Constitution.

If this law is right, we want it enforced. If it is not right, we demand in storngest terms that it be rigidly enforced; because the easiest way to get rid of a bad law is to enforce it. The majority will soon demand a repeal.

To wipe out the indifference on the part of local and state officials to the enforcement of the prohibition laws; let it be urged that the legislature of his state pass a law making it mandatory upon the governor to remove from office any public official who is lax in strictly enforcing these laws, particularly the sheriff, mayor, chief of police, and all who are entrusted with the administration of the law. Failure of the governor to remove from office those who are negligent or lax in enforcing these laws will be a violation of his oath of office and sufficient cause for his removal.

The written complaint of five or more resident taxpayers and citizens in a community will be sufficient notice to cause an investigation by the governor. To aid him in making such an investigation, he will have a permanent commission to whom such complaints will be referred and their written report will be the basis of action by the governor.

The advantages of such a law would be many.

If you want cleanness, morality and decency in public life, let it be strongly urged upon you to take up this idea and demand its enactment by the next session of the legislature.

APPRAISES THE PRESIDENT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Now that the election is over it would seem that those who attack our president and the present administration would cease, but there seems to be no end to their unfair criticisms.

It seems queer that people who are supposed to know something will deliberately make an ass of themselves in this way. I do not believe the president took any active part in the late campaign; therefore it ought to be plain to any thinking man that the attacks made on him are unfair to the extreme.

Permit me to give my opinion of Woodrow Wilson. He is the greatest president and statesman the world has ever known, and some of the wisest statesmen of today look like mere school boys compared with him. He has given his every effort to his country and for the good of the people. No man has been more true and loyal to his fellowman.

Just one mistake on the part of Wilson might have meant a very serious disaster not only to our country, but the whole world. Like the great Lincoln, President Wilson is kind-hearted and sincere. His plain and honest ways will some day make him loved by all true Americans.

Reader, Cloquet, Minn.: I am interested in Canada's mounted police. Can you give me any information about them?

Ans.: The Royal Northwest Mounted Police of Canada was organized in 1873 by the dominion government to preserve law and order in the wilderness northwest of Lake Superior. To join the police a man must be between the ages of 22 and 40, must be in sound health and of good character. He must also be able to read and write either the English or French language, and must both ride well and understand the management and care of horses. The headquarters are at Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada.

Ans.: Nov. 4, 1895.

Buyer, Hibbing, Minn.: Is Hudson seal fur from genuine seal; if not, what is it?

Ans.: No. Hudson seal, so-called, is made from the skins of more common fur-bearing animals, such as muskrat, from which the coarse hairs are removed.

Gardener, Duluth: Is a bushel of carrots as heavy as a bushel of potatoes, or rather does it take as many pounds of carrots to make a bushel as it does potatoes?

Ans.: No. The statutory weight of a bushel of carrots in Minnesota is forty-five pounds, while a bushel of potatoes weighs sixty pounds.

Cut Lumberman's Pay.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 19.—Practically every lumber company in Northern Wisconsin made a cut in wages from $10 to $15 per month, due to the condition of the lumber market. Lumber has decreased from $90 to $60 a thousand, in some grades and many yards are overstocked.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottle of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Advertisement.

TONNAGE TAX PROPOSITION CAN BE BEATEN BY UNITED ACTION

By R. W. Hitchcock, Representative, Sixtieth District.

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 19.—It appears at this time that W. I. Nolan of Minneapolis, speaker of the house two years ago, will be elected speaker for the coming session. Although no caucus has been held Mr. Nolan has received enough assurances of support to make it certain that he will receive more than the fifty-six votes necessary to elect. He will probably receive in excess of 100 votes. There are other members-elect of the house whom former members would be glad to honor—Theodore Christianson of Dawson, Charles H. Warner of Aitkin, Oscar Swenson of Nicollet, John I. Levin of St. Paul, but Nolan made such an extraordinarily good speaker two years ago that if he is a candidate "no others need apply." The Nonpartisan league minority, somewhat smaller than two years ago, will probably put forward as its candidate either Anthony Welch of McLeod county or George Nordlin of Ramsey, although this matter, like all other matters of league policy, will be decided at a secret caucus of the members. Nordlin is not a member of the Nonpartisan league, but is elected as a labor representative from St. Paul. Oscar Arneson, formerly of Chisholm, who has been clerk of the house at every session since 1911, has announced his candidacy and will probably be reelected without opposition.

Issues Affecting Northern Minnesota.

It is my purpose to discuss in my letters before the opening of the session in January some of the issues of prime importance to Northern Minnesota. Among those which I shall try to very briefly outline will be the tonnage tax, legislation to make the good roads amendment effective, state compensation insurance, reapportionment, primary election law changes, co-operative marketing.

Tonnage Tax.

The issue most immediately vital to the people of Northeastern Minnesota is the tonnage tax. It is announced that the advocates of this super tax on the business of mining iron ore will introduce a bill in the house early in the session whose essential provision will be a tax of 10 per cent of the net profits of every concern engaged in the business of mining iron ore. In estimating the net profits, most expenses, including money paid for royalties, will be deducted but no allowance will be made for administrative expenses (salaries of officers, etc.). This net profits, or income tax, is to be paid by mining companies in addition to the taxes now paid.

The business of mining iron ore now pays a higher tax than any other business or property in the state, dollar for dollar. The proposed tonnage, or net profits tax, will levy an additional tax upon the iron ore industry, a tax not levied upon any other industry or any other property in the state.

What will be the effect upon the people of Northeastern Minnesota? Little, if any, at once; but in the end it will undoubtedly have these effects:

Will Multiply Taxes.

First. It will double, triple and finally multiply many times the taxes of every worker, every business man, every farmer in Northeastern Minnesota. There are strong forces in Southern Minnesota which are looking forward to the time when they can divert all the taxes paid by the mines into the state treasury. They begin by a 10 per cent tonnage tax. Next they will reduce the present ad valorem assessment of iron ore from 50 per cent to 33 1-3 per cent. They are already advocating this step. The immediate result of such a step will be to raise the taxes of every man in St. Louis and adjoining counties one-half, for if you decrease the assessment one-third, to obtain the same amount of taxes, you must increase the levy one-half. Will Southern Minnesota be satisfied with this? Never. Having tasted blood, it will never be satisfied until it has devoured the whole carcass. It will constantly endeavor to raise the tonnage tax and to lower the ad valorem assessment of iron ore. With every step the taxes of every person in Northeastern Minnesota will steadily increase. In the end, the tonnage tax will be like the present gross earnings tax—every cent of taxation from the iron mines will go to the state, as now every cent of railroad taxes goes to the state. This is the real, hidden object of the tonnage taxers. This is the thing they are really driving at while they so blandly tell you that they would not, no, not for worlds, do anything to hurt Northern Minnesota. What then of the committees and counties of Northern Minnesota? They will then have become other Proctors, humbly begging the legislature every two years for some small crumbs with which to eke out a bare existence. Every man who can get away will then have fled the iron range, our great schools will then be empty halls of learning save for a few rooms struggling with woefully insufficient funds to teach a handful where hundreds were wont to come, and the iron ranges, once thick with proudly prosperous towns and cities will then become nothing but a collection of ragged mining camps. Would you like to live under conditions which prevail at Proctor? Those very conditions, or worse, will be yours in time if the tonnage tax becomes a law.

A Blow to the Farmer.

Second—With the assessment of the iron mines steadily decreasing for local purposes, St. Louis and the adjoining counties will be unable to build the roads they are now building. Road building must inevitably and steadily decrease, and with it must decrease the development of the wonderful farm lands of our section of the state. The tonnage tax is a direct and mighty blow at the prosperity, the very livelihood, of every farmer of Northeastern Minnesota.

Third—The conditions which make labor on the range desirable—good schools, health supervision, clean streets, efficiently policed communities—will be swept away. Labor, instead of flocking to the Minnesota iron ranges, will shun them. The range towns will no longer be desirable places to live and to rear a family.

Ruin for Minnesota's Second Industry.

Fourth—Iron mining will finally be carried on under the most unfavorable conditions; labor will be hard to get and to keep; the cost of mining will be vastly increased, both by excessive taxes and the conditions of which I have spoken—with what result? With the result that men who want to mine iron ore will look for other and more favorable fields. They will take out of Minnesota its high-grade iron ore as rapidly as possible and they will then abandon all our enormous low-grade deposits. A tonnage tax—call it profits tax, income tax, or what you will; a skunk by any other name will stink the same—a tonnage tax will put a complete end to iron mining in Minnesota within a period of thirty to fifty years, where otherwise it might last for the next 2,000 years.

And for what do the tonnage taxers propose to visit all this devastation and ruin upon the people of Northern Minnesota and upon the state's second greatest industry? Why, so they say in every argument they make, because, forsooth, it will save every taxpayer in Southern Minnesota $5 a year. That's their reason!

Ever hear 'em talk about the justice of a tonnage tax? Well, hardly ever. But they never forget that $5. Filthy lucre—five paltry plunks of it—is their strong, convincing, conclusive argument.

Why do I say so much about the tonnage tax? Because bound up in it is prosperity or the ruin of the people—not the mining companies, of Northern Minnesota, and because we now have an opportunity to kill this thing, which, although honestly advocated by many sincere people, is the spawn of politicians who care only for their own future and nothing for the future of the state.

Tax Can Be Beaten.

The Nonpartisan league, with the tonnage tax as its principal issue, was decisively defeated—nay, overwhelmed—in the recent election. The league's representation in the house is less than two years ago. The moral effect of the election is a blow to the tonnage tax propaganda. If the people of Northern Minnesota will quit whining that the tonnage tax cannot be beaten and get solidly behind the effort to beat it, it will be beaten.

There is no real desire in Southern Minnesota to injure the north. Southern Minnesota thinks that a tonnage tax will only squeeze the fat pocketbook of what they so unctuously call the "steel trust." Too many, far too many, of our own people think the same. They do not realize that the tonnage tax will only be a temporary embarrassment to the mining companies; they fail to see that in the end the people of Minnesota, will be the sole victims of the tonnage tax. If all of Northern Minnesota were making one great outcry against this thing, Southern Minnesota would pause and consider. The opportunity is here to avert this threatened danger. Shall we rise to the occasion and seize opportunity bfore it passes or shall we lie weakly down and allow the disaster to engulf us?

PHILIPPINE INDEPENDENCE

Washington, Nov. 19.—That the recent Republican victory is not in conflict with the Filipino expectation of independence, was the statement today by Jaime C. de Veyra, the senior resident commissioner from the Philippines to the United States. Commissioner de Veyra, who has sent a telegram of congratulation to President-elect Harding, points out that it was the Republican party which gave independence to Cuba, and declares that both McKinley and Taft as well as the entire American policy in the Philippines have been consistent in that they "have from the very first officially held out the hope of independence to the Philippines."

"The Filipino people expect independence from the Republicans as confidently as they would have expected it from the Democrats," said Mr. de Veyra, "and we base this expectation on the Republican record in connection with the Philippines.

"The American promise of independence for the Philippines is not the exclusive patrimony of any political party. Both Republicans and Democrats are responsible for it. It is the policy of the American people.

Believe in Good Intentions.

"The Declaration of Independence declares that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. To assume that the Republican party does not intend to keep inviolate this immortal principle of the American republic could justly be considered an insult to the memory of every great Republican leader. The Filipino people sincerely do not believe that the present leaders of that party are considering for a moment the wisdom of throwing the Declaration of Independence overboard or treating it as the proverbial scrap of paper. We insist before the whole world that we believe absolutely in the good intentions of America towards us. We will be the last to believe otherwise.

"There exists today the most friendly relations between the American and Filipino peoples. At no time since Admiral Dewey's arrival has American capital received the cordial welcome that it is receiving today in the Philippine islands. It is a common knowledge that this splendid feeling has been brought about by the passage of the Jones law which promises the Philippines its independence as soon as a stable government can be established. This measure was passed with the acquiescence, and even support, of the Republicans; in fact, as will be noted by the Congressional Record, the Jones law was passed without even a roll call. The Republican members of the committee of insular affairs had openly announced that they were for the Jones law with the preamble, in place of the Clarke amendment. The Jones law was accepted by the Filipino people as the solemn, unequivocal, and official pledge of the United States.

A Stable Government.

"The policy of setting up a stable government before the recognition of independence is eminently a Republican policy. It was the condition imposed by Republican presidents upon the struggling peoples of South America. This policy was supported by President McKinley in the case of Cuba. It has never been contended that the Filipinos are less deserving or less qualified for independence than the Cubans.

"It was Mr. Taft who announced the American policy of 'the Philippines for the Filipinos,' and in opening the Philippine assembly on Oct. 16, 1907, he declared that the policy of giving every possible Philippine position to Filipinos 'must logically reduce and finally end the sovereignty of the United States in the islands.'

"The Filipino people accepted the promise of independence given by America just as the Cubans accepted in good faith the promise of the United States to withdraw from their island as soon as a stable government had been established there. The Filipino people immediately began to set up the stable government demanded of them and today the task is accomplished. There is now a stable government in the Philippines. That is not only the opinion of the Filipinos, but that is the verdict of America's own representative in the Philippines, the governor-general

"It is the fervent hope of the Filipino people that this policy will be continued to a successful fruition. It matters little to them under whose auspices it is definitely and completely carried out. It was proclaimed by congress under the Democratic administration, but it had received its inspiration from policies established under Republican auspices; and it would not be surprising or illogical should it be completed by the party under whose administration a free Cuba found her place in the concert of nations."

HISTORIC SITES OF THE SIOUX MASSACRE

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 19.—A trip over the historic sites of the Sioux Indian massacre at New Ulm, and the scenes of the Indian conflicts at Fort Ridgley, Berch Coulie and the vicinity of Mendota, in the early '60s is made possible by a collection of photographs, depicting the interesting spots of this historic event, on display in the museum of the Minnesota Historical society building, St. Paul.

This collection, consisting of 120 photographs, is the gift of A. T. Adams, Minneapolis. The pictures were taken by Mr. Adams last summer, when he and a party of friends made a study of the early battlefields.

The collection includes a scene of the Baker cabin, near New Ulm, said to be the first place where the Indians wreaked their wrath. A study of the pictures carries one through the scenes of destruction and heroic defense around New Ulm, Fort Ridgley, Berch Coulie and Mendota. Many of the scenes are not changed and old buildings which figured prominently as places of refuge for the whites are represented among the collection.

The collection, according to W. M. Babcock, curator, is one of the most complete in existence, and will be found valuable to state historians in obtaining a detailed description of the various scenes of the early Indian fighting.

PRE-WAR PRICES LONG WAY AHEAD

New York, Nov. 19.—Prewar prices we may eventually see in the years to come. Prewar prices we may even see before very long for a brief period on a few commodities which are in excessive supply. But prewar prices, or anything like prewar prices, on meat commodities—or for more than a brief period on any commodity—are a long way ahead of us, says the dry goods economist.

Consider textiles. Here prices have been cut so sharply that talk of a prewar level on textiles is especially common. But it ought not to take much thinking on the part of any reasonable person to show how impossible it is that such an expectation could be realized in the near future.

On cottons, for example, prices have been reduced in many instances to about the level reached after the armistice, although since that time wages have advanced 30 per cent and raw cotton has risen 4 or 5 cents a pound. These prices must be pretty close to production costs. To effect a further reduction would entail a lowering of production costs.

To bring production costs down to a prewar level would involve a cut of over 40 per cent in wages, 5 or 6 cents a pound from present prices of raw cotton, and corresponding reductions in fuel, transportation, dyeing and finishing materials and other lines. Such radical revisions are obviously a long way off.

Wshington, Nov. 19.—As a token of thanks and appreciation for services rendered by the women of America to the women of Armenia, the latter have sent a large and richly decorated Armenian flag to the woman's committee of the Council of National Defense. The flag has just been delivered to the state department after being en route from Armenia for nearly a year.

The banner measures 46x56 inches and is completely bordered by a fringe of narrow gold. It is entirely hand made, even to the joining of the tricolor stripes which are sewn together with stitches of almost invisible minuteness. On the reverse of the flag is a greeting, emblazoned in gold embroidered letters as follows: "To American Women from Armenian Women."

Accompanying the flag was a letter dated at Cairo on Nov. 28, 1919, from Dr. H. B. Ketchedjian, president of the Armenian national council, to H. Gary, American consul general, Kasr-El-Doubara, Cairo.

FUNNY MISTAKE OF TEXANS IN MEXICO

Mexico City, Nov. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—In the belief that they were graciously being extended the freedom of the city, several Texas excursionists in Mexico City recently halted a taxicab marked "libre" and toured the city for almost half a day. When presented with a rather large bill they protested, asserting to the driver that his car was labeled "free" and was, no doubt, provided for visitors by the local entertainment committee.

The bill was paid when the Americans were reliably informed that every taxicab that is "at liberty" or "ready to hire" is marked "libre."

BIG INCREASE IN AVERAGE EARNINGS

New York, Nov. 19.—Average earnings in this city's representative trades in September, 1920, were double what they were six years ago and, generally, $2 a week higher than they were a year ago, according to a report prepared by the industrial bureau of the Merchants' association. The report declares that, while the city's industrial activity has receded somewhat from the high-water mark established during the war, there is no indication of a general slump in manufacturing.

Charts giving the average weekly earnings of workmen, combining both office and shop employes, for September, 1914, 1919 and 1920, show for the above-named years, respectively:

Stone, clay and glass products, $13.96, $26.58, $35.11; metals, machinery and conveyances, $14.50, $27.21, $30.67; wood manufacturers, $12.49, $24.26, $28.42; fur, leather and rubber goods, $11.77, $27.09, $26.43; chemicals, oils and paints, $13.67, $24.79, $27; printing and paper goods, $15.58, $27.36, $31.38; textiles, $9.72, $21.03, $24.79; clothing, millinery, laundry, etc., $12.40, $27.68, $26.46; food, liquors and tobacco, $11.60, $23.40, $26.04; water, light and power, $15.79, $30.91, $35.59.

The general average of these industries for the three years runs $13.06, $26.17 and $28.44.

Coffee at first was a man's drink—The coffee houses of the 17th century were filled with the most prominent men of the times and women actually became jealous of their husbands' love of coffee. Then when women discovered they could make coffee at home, how popular they became! This was when salons flourished; women's wits were as sprightly as men's.

Men, Women and Coffee

It was served only in coffee houses which no woman ever dreamed of entering. As the men spent more and more time in the coffee houses, the women became jealous of this new drink. They claimed it was "unsocial and uncivil."

And then came an innovation. The lonely maidens found they could make coffee at home!

Ever since that day, women have striven to make coffee that will satisfy men's idea of what coffee should be. The clever hostess knows that good coffee expresses the warmest, friendliest kind of hospitality.

When Yuban was first discovered it was decided to reserve it for the guests and friends of the greatest coffee merchant. But everyone who tasted Yuban wished to secure it for himself. The fame of it spread so quickly that at last Yuban was offered to the public.

Ever since that time, Yuban has been the most popular coffee wherever it has been introduced. Its beguiling aroma, its rich golden liquor, delight everyone who tastes it. Yuban is the most popular coffee in Chicago among both men and women.

If by chance you have never tasted Yuban, what a surprise awaits you! Your own grocer has it—you can drink Yuban tomorrow.

Good coffee is just as warmly appreciated today as formerly. The hostess that serves good coffee is always popular. The young wife strives to serve coffee that will meet his approval. Yuban has the flavor that men like. It answers their idea of what coffee should be.

PASS BUDGET BILL AT ONCE

New York, Nov. 19.—Members of the present congress have been asked in a letter from the Institute for Public Service, signed by Julius H. Barnes, chairman, to save one, perhaps two or even three years for the national budget reform which both parties have pledged, by passing a budget bill in December instead of waiting for the new congress to convene. The facts about the president's veto of the budget bill passed last spring, its repassage in corrected form by the house and the filibusters which prevented repassage in the senate were summarized as follows:

"Both houses of the present congress, without party division, have already passed a budget bill, the house in October, 1919, and the senate in April, 1920. The president has at different times urged a budget bill. There is therefore no difference of opinion as to the need for immediate action.

Violated Constitution.

"President Wilson vetoed the budget bill June 4 last, he said regretfully, because it violated Article 2, section 2 of the Federal Constitution which says that the president shall have power with the advice and consent of the senate 'to appoint all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herewith otherwise provided for and which shall be constituted by law.' There was no objection to the way in which this officer who is to make outside independent, financial and operative audits of government transactions was to be appointed, namely, by the president with the advice and consent of the senate. The president's objection was that the bill prevented the removal of the officer by the president at will which goes with the power to appoint. As the president said, the bill prevented removal 'except either by impeachment or concurrent resolution of congress.'

"Congress yielded to the president's contention because it was anxious to get a budget bill passed last spring. Attempt to pass the bill over the president's veto failed in the house. Some members insisted that the vetoed bill was not unconstitutional. Others insisted that it was unconstitutional. They stopped debating it because they wanted immediate action and believed that necessary changes can easily be made as the plan is tried. The house passed the corrected bill the very next day after it was returned June 5. The senate majority wanted to pass it as corrected but three minority senators filibustered or talked it out of its chance. The public was so engrossed in convention talk that these budget outcomes escaped general attention.

Bill Now Ready For Passage.

"The correction made to meet the president's objection leaves the appointment of the comptroller-general with the president upon the advice and consent of the senate. The term, instead of being five years, is 'during good behavior.' Removal is left with the president by cutting out the original requirement that the comptroller might be removed by congress if 'inefficient, guilty of neglect of duty, malfeasance in office or involving moral turpitude and in no other way except by impeachment.' Thus, a budget bill agreeable to both houses of congress and the president is ready for immediate passage by the reconvening of congress next month. Its chief provisions are as follows:

"The Federal budget architect is to be the secretary of the treasury who is made responsible for reviewing, revising and consolidating, reducing or otherwise changing any item in any department's estimates. He would work through a budget bureau in the treasury at the head of which would be a budget commissioner with two assistant commissioners and a staff at a cost at first of not more than $200,000 per annum. This budget bureau must study all the year round the needs of the various departments.

President's Program.

"After the secretary of the treasury has done his part the president may still further reduce or change or even regroup services to secure increased economy and efficiency, and he must submit to congress a work program, spending program and revenue raising program for 100 per cent of public business excluding only the cost of congress itself.

"After the president's budget program goes in to congress no officer or employe of any department or establishment may ask either congress or any committee or any member for an increase unless requested to do so by either house or by a committee having jurisdiction over appropriations or revenues. Congress is free to increase a budget if it wishes, but under the new plan would be less apt to make needless increases because it would have the necessary information to show that the original budget was large enough.

"The bookkeeping, accounting and auditing are taken away from the treasury and put on the hands of a comptroller-general over whose appointment the controversy arose that defeated the passage of the bill last spring.

To Prevent Extravagance.

"Three critics or auditors of operation results, which were not audited even during the war, are set up and promise a new era in preventing extravagance and increasing service. The budget commissioner, the comptroller general and the bureau of efficiency, which under this bill will pass from the president to the house of representatives, are charged with the responsibility for telling where economies and increases of efficiency are possible. The comptroller-general must 'in every annual report or at special times, if congress requests, make recommendations looking to greater economy or efficiency in the public expenditures.' The bureau of efficiency must 'conduct a continued investigation of the public expenditures and from time to time submit to congress a report of its investigations with recommendations looking to greater efficiency and economy in the conduct of the public business.'"

TRAFFIC PROBLEMS TO BE DISCUSSED

New York, Nov. 19.—Discussion of transportation problems affecting the country will hold the center of interest at the annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in this city Dec. 7-10. Transportation experts, headed by Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, will address the 2,500 members of the society who are expected to attend.

A statement issued by the society said that transportation is considered by the organization as the most pressing problem before the country. "The industry of the country is being seriously handicapped," said the statement. "From present indications, it will take several years for facilities to catch up with increased traffic and the normal development of the next few years."

In addition to purely railroad questions, the society members will consider water development and the greater use of motor vehicles for moving freight. A special report is expected on the St. Lawrence waterways project, to make possible ocean traffic through to the Great Lakes.

DOCTOR SICK WHEAT BACK TO HEALTH

Moose Jaw, Sask., Nov. 19.—Doctoring sick wheat back to health is the special work of the government "hospital elevator" at Moose Jaw. Built in 1914, it has saved the farmers of Saskatchewan $1,250,000, according to a recent official estimate.

The wheat treated suffers from a mixture of dirt, sand, or weed seed. Much of it is damp and mildewed. The wheat that is mixed with soil or weed seeds is sifted and winnowed by fans until only the wheat kernels remain. The damp wheat is dried on great heaters capable of handling 1,000 bushels an hour. When subjected to these curative processes and ready for shipment to market, the wheat is fit to be classed with the best of its grade.

The hospital elevator is the first of its kind in Canada west of the head of the lakes. Its present capacity is 3,500,000 bushels but it is so built that additional tanks can be constructed, as necessity arises, which will increase its capacity to 10,000,000 bushels. The efficacy of the treatment is shown by the fact that 5,000,000 bushels of the wheat that has undergone the cleaning process has been sold for seed.

BRILLIANT SPECTACLE

Madrid, Oct. 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—More color is to be seen in the palace yard of Madrid when King Alfonso is in residence than is to be found in any other part of Spain. The military spectacle alone is brilliant, with the striking uniforms of red and blue hussars, the dark blue of the artillery men and the red trousers and blue tunics of the infantry as the old and new guards face each other at 10 o'clock, with the flags unfurled in the center and the two regimental bands drawn up in circles playing martial airs. The customary brilliant sunshine makes the fixed bayonets and unsheathed swords flash in the air as the various units carry out the smart military exercises.

Thousands of civilians, mostly visitors to Madrid, gather around the precincts of the palace to watch the spectacle. Numbers of them are from the Spanish provinces and their bright shawls and scarves mixed with the more prosaic dress of the Madrilenos form a fit setting to the bright picture. Further details are added by the itinerant vendors of peanuts and hot butter rolls and other delicacies loved by the children, who under the eye of their nursemaids in their picturesque costumes of varied hues run hither and thither.

Sometimes the king himself comes out on to the balcony to salute his guard, and then all is hushed while he faces the regimental flags and after bowing his head raises his hand to his head.

NATIONAL GRANGE HAS MANY MEMBERS

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Membership in the National Grange stands at approximately 750,000, S. J. Lowell of Fredonia, N. Y., master of the grange, reports.

In this period of active organization of farmers, Mr. Lowell thus briefly sketches the activities of his society, one of the oldest and best known of the farmers' organizations:

"The first grange was organized on April 15, 1868, in Fredonia, N. Y. It is a secret order, similar to all secret orders in many respects, with a ritual surpassed by none.

"It is nonsectarian and nonpolitical and is devoted wholly to agriculture and agricultural pursuits.

"It has one distinction, that in all its meetings it has what is known as the 'lecturer's hour.' This hour is devoted to the going over of matters pertaining to farm life, interspersed with music, recitations, etc., by the younger people. It has done more than any other one thing to build up and strengthen agricultural life.

"The grange is now organized in thirty-three states, which are chiefly in the north, as many of the Southern states have no granges. The largest grange state is New York, which has a membership of 128,000.

"A great deal of co-operative work is done. Insurance of farmers' buildings is probably the greatest financial enterprise. The amount carried in the insurance department runs into the hundreds of millions."

Prohibition Hits Some Dishes.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 19.—The disappearance of several dishes formerly very popular in the eating places throughout this city comes as a direct result of prohibition, according to several of the leading chefs here. Lobster a la Newberg, which, it is impossible to make without wine is gone as are numerous sauces, omelets and sherbets, it was stated.

SKYSCRAPERS BEING BUILT IN MADRID

Madrid, Oct. 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—A gigantic effort to settle the housing problem of the Spanish capital by the inrush of thousands of country folk to the city, is in progress in the northern section adjacent to the suburb of Cuatro Caminos. A private concern has acquired an enormous tract of land and has begun building what for Madrid are skyscrapers of ten stories. Each of these buildings is to contain 400 flats and forty stores.

The new model suburb is to be in all respects modern. Engineers are now engaged in laying out a boulevard running through its center over half a mile long and 130 feet in width, with two carriageways and a central promenade lined with trees.

HORN OF RHINOCEROS DEDICATED TO MUSEUM

New York, Nov. 19.—The horn of an Indian rhinoceros, presented to Pope Gregory XIV in 1590 to protect him against poisoning by its putative medicinal properties, has been donated to the American Museum of National History in this city.

The horn, given to the pope by the prior and brothers of the monastery of St. Mary of Guadalupe in Spain, was credited with sweating in the presence of poison, by way of warning, and if powdered and taken internally, with acting as an antidote.

The tip is missing. It was cut off in 1591 and administered to the pope in his last illness.

For Itching Eczema, Old Sores and Piles

"I guarantee my ointment," says Peterson of Buffalo, "to cure eczema; to stop the itching at once, and any reliable druggist will cheerfully refund your money if PETERSON'S OINTMENT doesn't do everything I say it will do."

William A. Carley of Franklin, N. Y., is surely a wise man. He writes: "I used PETERSON'S OINTMENT on a little boy suffering terribly with eczema. It did the work."

Then there is Alex. Loutell, a brave fireman of Buffalo, who is glad to write as follows: "I had an old sore on my leg for many years. The best doctors failed. PETERSON'S OINTMENT entirely healed the sore quickly." And from over in Canada comes a letter from A. Blockeby, stating: "The best thing I ever hit for itching piles is PETERSON'S OINTMENT." PRICE + PURITY
WAR DEPARTMENT CANNED MEATS

The United States Government, through the War Department, has launched another drive against the High Cost of Living.

Millions of dollars' worth of canned meats—Roast Beef, Corned Beef, Corned Beef Hash, and Bacon—those meats which American soldiers, at home and overseas, consumed for months, and which hundreds of thousands of civilians in every section of the United States tested and found delicious during the initial drive, are again being offered to the public. These War Department Canned Meats will be put on the shelves of the dealers of the United States at such a low cost as to insure their introduction into the home of every American who appreciates a high grade of canned meats and who appreciates the value of saving a dollar.

Seven years ago you bought canned meats at what today are impossible prices—elsewhere. But the War Department is making it possible for you to purchase foodstuffs at figures even below those of pre-war days.

The quality of War Department Canned Meats is unquestioned. For three months, now, these meats have been on the American market. That the thrifty American housewife appreciates their high standard is demonstrated by the fact that more than $10,000,000 worth have left War Department storage house for the consuming field.

Quality plus price will guarantee their resale. The dealer will purchase them at such a low figure that he will be able to re-sell them at a price far below that obtaining in the commercial field, and still make a reasonable profit.

These meats are to be sold in the United States, and the American people, whose money through Liberty Bonds, taxes, etc., purchased them, are being enabled to reap a return by rebuying them. Not only will a big saving be effected, but the best grade of canned meats possible can be obtained. Compare the prices in the table below with a similar list obtainable from your dealer. You will be astounded at the difference. Test the quality of War Department Canned Meats. You will find them the equal of any. The War Department stands behind every can sold.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

FLICKERTAILS FOR IMPROVED HIGHWAYS

Minot, N. D., Nov. 19.—Pledging support to an amendment to the state constitution, similar in effect to the so-called Babcock amendment in Minnesota, the North Dakota Good Roads association, in session here, yesterday mapped out an extensive program for improving North Dakota's highways.

Before adjourning the association decided to hold its first annual meeting in Bismarck on the third Tuesday in January next and elected the following officers: President, J. J. Moe, Valley City; vice presidents, N. B. Black, Fargo, and C. L. Young, Bismarck; treasurer, A. J. Ross, Stanley; secretary, Will E. Holbein, Minot, and directors, H. M. Wilson, Minot; G. L. Ireland, Grand Forks, and A. A. Bradley, Williston.

The proposed constitutional amendment was drafted by State Senator W. S. Whitman of Grand Forks. It provides for the establishment of a trunk system of highways, to be constructed, improved and maintained by the state, and the establishment and authorization of the creation of a fund for such purpose by taxation of motor vehicles, the issuance of bonds or otherwise. It will be introduced at the coming session of the legislature.

NONPARTISAN PAPER IN RECEIVER'S HANDS

Aberdeen, S. D., Nov. 19.—The Northwest Square Deal, Nonpartisan league daily newspaper here, yesterday went into the hands of a receiver. A petition filed in circuit court Tuesday by stockholders stated that farmers of this vicinity invested $51,585.52 in cash and notes in support of the paper since January of this year. In addition, a mortgage of $6,000 against the real estate of the newspaper and a running indebtedness of $1,500 monthly, is said to have been incurred by the publication. The mortgaged plant is the sole asset of the firm, stockholders declare.

D. H. Lightner, receiver, announced last night that publication in the briefest form possible would be continued only until the affairs of the paper could be wound up.

"It no longer has any connection with the Nonpartisan league," he said, "and is only being published at all to protect the postal rights pending the closing of its affairs."

All but two printers were laid off last night.

BIG BAY, MICH., BOY IS BURNED TO DEATH

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—While Mrs. Frank Murray of Big Bay was shopping yesterday, her 4-year-old son, Claude, whom she had locked in the house with his brother, Louis, 5, and a 2-month-old baby sister, began playing with matches, and set the rug afire.

A neighbor, Mrs. Oscar Bran, who was passing, saw the smoke and broke in the door. Claude's body was found burned to a crisp. The other children were uninjured, except for their explosure to smoke. The father of the family works at the mill, and it is claimed, Mrs. Murray had been in the habit of locking the children in the house while she did her shopping.

MARQUETTE UNIVERSITY STUDENTS FIRE BOILERS

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 19.—A shortage of regular firemen has forced students to fire the boilers of the heating plant of Marquette university here. Students of the department of engineering are doing the work. When it became known that students would have to do the firing, student sentiment pointed to the engineers, for it was stated they should know more about shoveling coal than students of any other department.

Wadena Depot Robbery.

Wadena, Minn., Nov. 19.—Two men held up the ticket office in the Northern Pacific station here Wednesday and obtained about $200, according to announcement. The men were described as being 20 or 22 years of age, weight 150 pounds and about 5 feet 6 inches in height. One wore a brown coat and green cap, and the other a gray checkered mackinaw and checkered cap.

GETS LARGE SUM TO DROP FARGO ACTION

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 19.—Miss Amanda Larson of Fargo will receive an unnamed amount from Mrs. Clara B. Schmilt-Russell, wealthy property owner of Fargo, for injuries alleged to have been sustained when a brick from one of the Schmidt-Russell buildings fell upon the plaintiff more than two years ago.

This agreement was reached by counsel yesterday shortly before the celebrated case was to have been called for retrial in the Cass county district court.

The sum of $26,000 was awarded Miss Larson in 1918. The case was appealed to the supreme court and was remanded to the district court for retrial.

Miss Larson claimed that the accident had paralyzed her and that since it occurred she had been bedridden.

ST. PAUL JAILBREAKER RECAPTURED AT HURLEY

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 19.—"Big Chris" Dowling, who escaped from the Ramsey county jail here last April after shooting and seriously wounding a deputy jailor, was arrested late yesterday at Hurley, Wis., according to word received here last night. Dowling was under sentence of not to exceed ten years in the state penitentiary for assault in the first degree and was awaiting outcome of arguments for a new trial when he escaped.

Mistaken for Deer; Shot.

Calumet, Mich., Nov. 19.—Albert Koskela of Trap Rock valley, who was accidentally shot Tuesday near Gay when mistaken for a deer by a member of his hunting party, is not seriously hurt, according to Mohawk hospital. Koskela, it is said, had just completed adjusting a trap when he was shot. He had been stooping and when he began to arise, one of his party fired, the bullet entering his back two inches from his spine near the eighth rib, traveling upward to the first rib, where it lodged. Koskela was removed to the Mohawk hospital, where the bullet was extracted.

PLANNING MONUMENT TO FATHER OF TYPEWRITER

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 19.—A movement has been started here for the erection of a monument for Christopher Latham Sholes, former Milwaukee resident, who built the first mechanical writing machine and named it the "typewriter," by Charles E. Weller of La Porte, Ind., it was announced. Mr. Weller assisted Mr. Sholes in his work on the first machine which proved successful in 1867. Mr. Sholes' remains are interred at the Forest Home cemetery here. More than half of the funds needed have already been collected, it was stated.

HOW MILL CITY FOLKS BEAT HOUSE SHORTAGE

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 19.—There is one little colony which is not troubled by the acute housing shortage here. Its members, who live in houseboats on the Mississippi river, never worry about rents or moving. When a change in scenery is wanted, the tenant pulls up anchor and drifts off to a new location.

A dozen or so of these "water residences" are pulled up against the shore below the government dam here. Advance of their rents was the cause of the majority removing to house boats, it is said.

"The river saved me from further advances," is the way one tenant put it, who had had his rent raised from $20 to $35 a month.

Another remarked: "I was sick and tired of paying increasing rent and fuel bills."

Beautiful Actress Attributes Her Wonderful Success to Her Famous Complexion

Tells How You Also May Have One

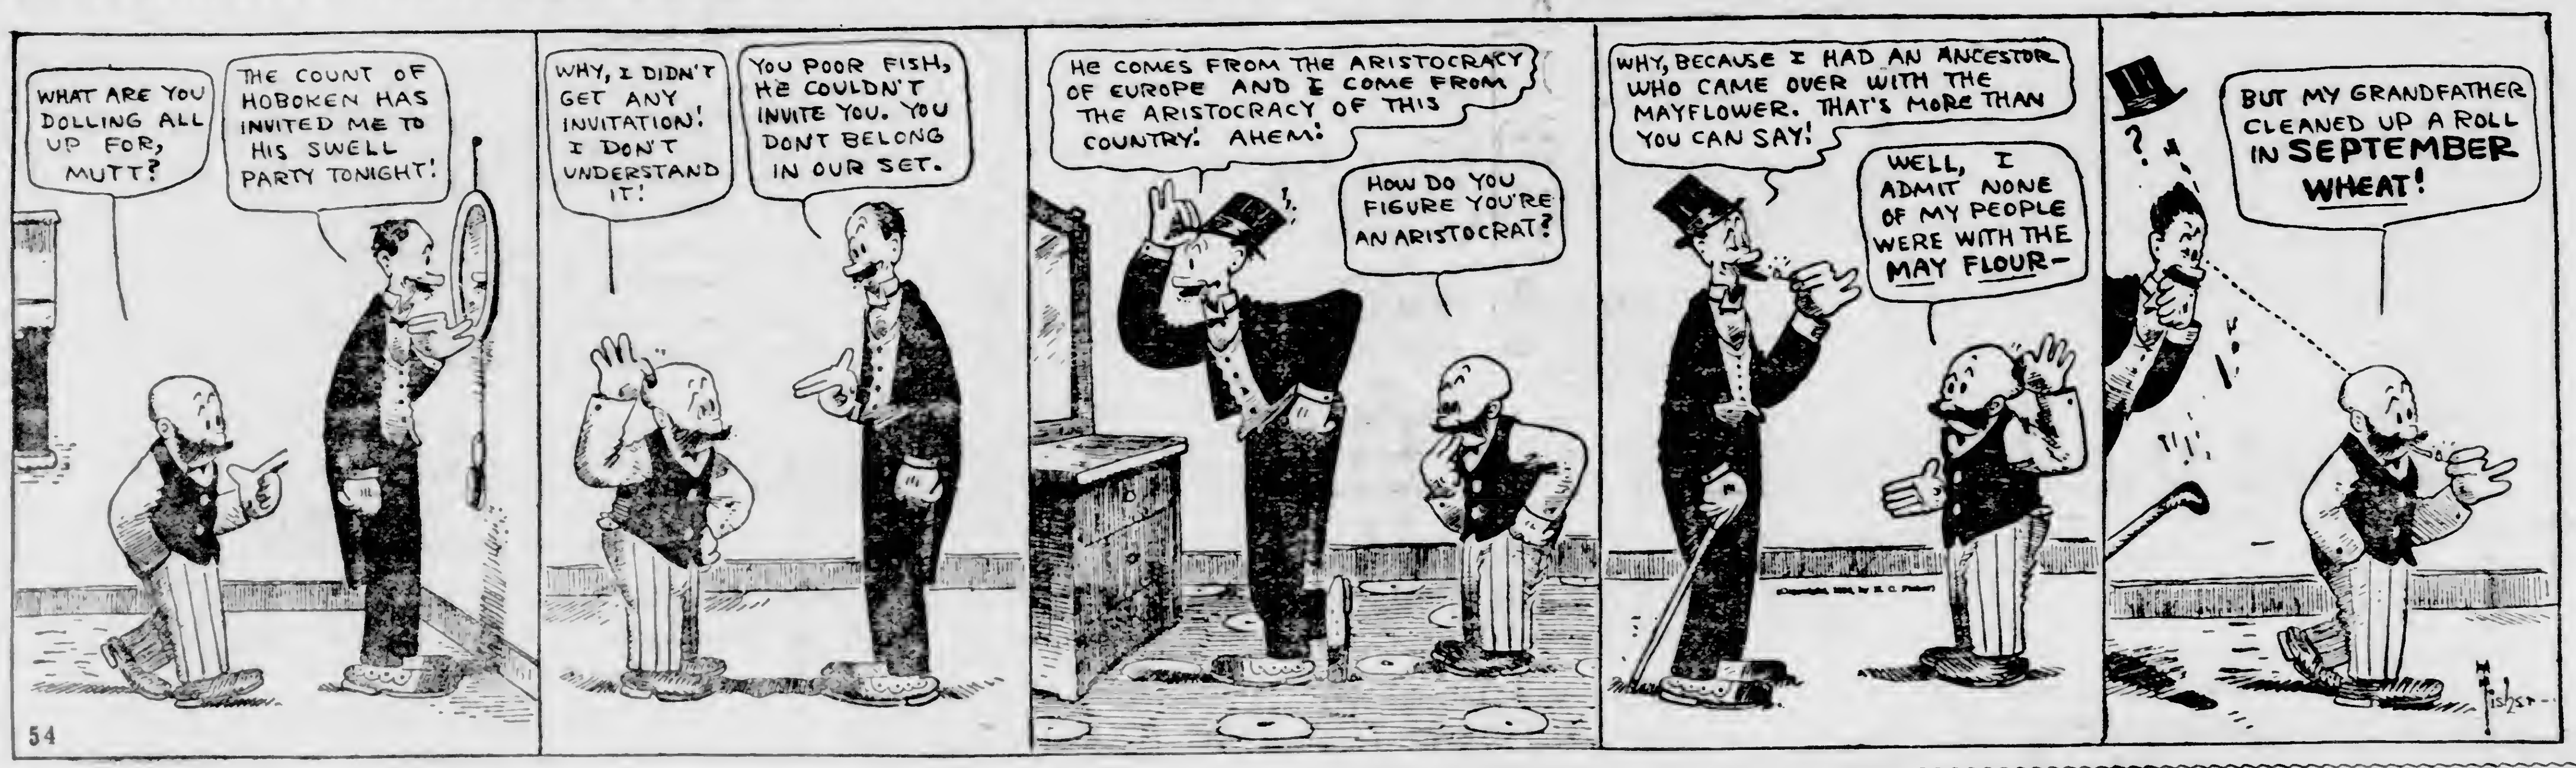
MISS DOROTHY DALTON

New York—When Miss Dorothy Dalton, the beautiful actress who was selected for the leading role in that mammoth New York production, "Aphrodite," was questioned as to the secret of her phenomenal success, she unhesitatingly said, "My complexion." When asked further details she explained: "Every one of my friends always raved about the texture and coloring of my skin, and I have no doubt but that my first engagement was made possible through the reputation I had acquired for a beautiful complexion. Managers are like ordinary mortals, they admire a beautiful skin as much as anyone, and in selecting their casts they naturally prefer those whose complexions are attractive. I think the best asset any girl or woman can have is a beautiful skin and complexion. It is easy to have this if one will spend only a little time in taking care of the skin. A girl may have irregular features, but if she possesses a beautiful complexion she will attract attention anywhere. I am always glad to tell any girl or woman just how she may possess a skin like mine. Here is the recipe: Night and morning cleanse the skin first with warm water, then apply a good cold cream (Liska cold cream I have found to be the best) after massaging it into the skin take off the superfluous cream with a soft cloth. Then before going out during the day or evening I apply Derwillo, a simple toilet preparation which can be purchased at the toilet counter of any up-to-date drug or department store. The first application of this wonderful Derwillo will astonish you. It imparts instant beauty to the skin and makes a rosy-white complexion—every one will talk about it. I find it excellent for my complexion as it protects my skin in all kinds of weather. That's why I prefer it to all other toilet preparations and am never without it. Now that short sleeves are in vogue you will want beautiful hands and arms. There is nothing like Derwillo for this purpose. Many of my professional friends to whom I have recommended Derwillo use it in preference to all other face powders or beautifiers." Just try it once before going to the theater, dances, parties or an afternoon call and note the favorable comments of your friends. Derwillo instantly puts a life-like tint on your cheeks which defies detection. It takes the place of face powder and stays on until you wash it off. Perspiration does not affect it nor will it rub off on clothing; it also prevents the nose and face from shining. It's wonderful for a dark, sallow, rough skin, blackheads, coarse pores, oily skin, freckles, tan and for the instant beauty it imparts. Over 500,000 girls and women are using it. It's absolutely harmless to the most sensitive skin. Just try it once and you will need no further argument to convince you that there is nothing "just as good," "better," or "just like it." Insist on Derwillo, then you will not be disappointed.

NOTE—Druggists and department stores everywhere sell Derwillo with the guarantee that if you don't like it you get your money back. It is the one beautifier that gives satisfaction at all seasons of the year. You can secure it at all toilet counters in this city including W. A. Abbett and Max Wirth.

MUTT AND JEFF—Mutt's Ancestors Landed at Plymouth Rock 300 Years Ago.

By Bud Fisher



WHAT ARE YOU DOLLING ALL UP FOR, MUTT?
THE COUNT OF HOBOKEN HAS INVITED ME TO HIS SWELL PARTY TONIGHT!
WHY, I DIDN'T GET ANY INVITATION! I DON'T UNDERSTAND IT!
YOU POOR FISH, HE COULDN'T INVITE YOU. YOU DONT BELONG IN OUR SET.
HE COMES FROM THE ARISTOCRACY OF EUROPE AND I COME FROM THE ARISTOCRACY OF THIS COUNTRY! AHEM!
HOW DO YOU FIGURE YOU'RE AN ARISTOCRAT?
WHY, BECAUSE I HAD AN ANCESTOR WHO CAME OVER WITH THE MAYFLOWER. THAT'S MORE THAN YOU CAN SAY!
WELL, I ADMIT NONE OF MY PEOPLE WERE WITH THE MAY FLOUR—
BUT MY GRANDFATHER CLEANED UP A ROLL IN SEPTEMBER WHEAT!

BADGERS WILL BID FOR TITLE

If Illinois Defeats Ohio, Wisconsin Will Have Claim.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 19.—The outcome of Saturday's games between Wisconsin and Chicago, and Illinois and Ohio is the subject which receives most absorbing attention in conference athletic circles. The Badgers are determined to win from the opposing Maroons, with hopes centering on the defeat of Ohio by Illinois.

If this combination is worked out, then, according to university athletic officials, Wisconsin will put in a claim for the first place title along with Illinois and Ohio. While Illinois plays one more game than any other conference team, it is pointed out that percentage is no criterion of football ability, inasmuch as the season is so short that a number of contenders for first honors do not have an opportunity to meet.

Victory over Chicago is counted as practically a sure thing by the students, nearly 2,000 of whom are leaving with the team to see the game. For five years Wisconsin plays the Maroons at Chicago in the final game of the season. In the second of these annual trips the Badgers expect to repeat their performance of last year and come out in the lead.

Mixup May Result.

A general mixup to determine the championship will follow if Illinois defeats Ohio at Urbana, it is stated. If Ohio is victorious, Wisconsin will settle definitely into second place without opposition. But following the defeat of Illinois, Wisconsin's hope to a claim to the championship has revived.

The Wisconsin team intact left for Chicago yesterday. The entire squad is ready to play without a seriously injured member, it is said, although Sundt at fullback and Elliot at halfback were rather roughly handled by Illinois tacklers last Saturday. The attack has been given a careful polishing by Coach Richards during the week, and is ready for a more spectacular performance. The defense is declared to be about as perfect as any team could hope for.

Chicago is not considered lightly, however. Coach Stagg and the team he coaches have had two successive defeats, one at the hands of Illinois and the other by Michigan last Saturday. The Maroons have always been among the leaders of the conference and are not in a mood to accept three defeats out of five games. They are expected to put up a strong fight against their traditional rivals.

Five Badgers Finish This Year.

Capt. Weston will be playing his last game, as will Ralph Scott at tackle, George Bunge at center, Howard Stark at tackle, Barr at quarterback and Davey at quarterback. Weston, Scott, Barr, Bunge and Davey have played three years together and are now in top form. Stark is playing his second year at tackle.

With its best players in the game Wisconsin is in the top form this season. The players tested out their possibilities against Illinois last week in the passing game and are ready to open up the attack that baffled their opponents before.

Illinois with Walquist and Carney showed ability with the forward pass that was sensational, but the Badger defense broke up the attack. This same defense in which Waston and Sundt have figured prominently, is expected to keep Chicago from opening up too much.

Football has held more interest this year at Wisconsin than for seasons back. It was recognized from the start by the students that the first string men were equal to any that had represented the school since the championship team in 1912. The only mar to the season has been a defeat by Ohio on a fluke in the last thirty seconds of play.

The team had the students back of them in the fight for the championship.

YANKS GIVE SIX MEN FOR COAST LEAGUES

New York, Nov. 19.—Miller Huggins of the New York American league baseball team, announced today the acquisition of J. Miller, an infielder from the Vernon, Cal., club of the Pacific Coast league. Six players, possibly seven, will be turned over by the Yankees for the California star, but Huggins has not yet made public their names.

The Yankee chieftains, who had a long conference here yesterday, have not arrived at any decision as to where spring training quarters will be located. The club has an option on South field, Jacksonville, Fla.

DULUTH FOOTBALL PLAYER MAY GET PLACE ON ALL-WESTERN TEAM

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 19.—J. Lochlan Taylor, who for three years was the star right tackle of the Hamline university football team, is now the 18-carat gridiron hero of the Ohio State team.

Twin City football fans who have perused the scores of the Big Ten conference teams, have commented on the great work of Taylor of Ohio, and the husky athlete is mentioned as an All-Western possibility.

He is the same player who starred for Hamline in 1915, 1916 and 1917.

Taylor was rated one of the greatest tackles who played in the state colleges. He was captain of the Hamline team in 1917. Later in that year he enlisted in the navy and became an ensign. He was the star of the Cleveland Naval Reserve team during the war.

Taylor is a resident of Duluth and in his high school year there was a football star. He graduated from Duluth Central in 1914. Coming to Hamline in 1915 he jumped into the lineup with a bang and made good from the start.

"Lockey" was also one of the greatest basket ball players ever turned out at Midway. He was a guard and won an all-star position several seasons.

CHICAGO HARD LUCK CHAMPION

Chicago, Nov. 19.—The Western conference title of "hard luck champions" seemed earned by Chicago university when it appeared evident today that not only was this season's football team a mere skeleton of it early season lusty strength, but that next year's team would be minus seven leading players of this year's varsity roster through graduation.

Those who will end their college football careers tomorrow in the game against Wisconsin are Capt. Colville Jackson, tackle; Coleman Clarke, end; Paul Hinkle, end; Roland Barker, end; James Reber, center; Buell Hutchinson, halfback, and Harold Hanison, fullback.

Coach Stagg tomorrow will be minus four important players. Capt. Jackson has a badly infected arm, but pleaded that he be allowed to start in the game. Hanisch has a compound fracture of his right arm, but asked that the plaster cast be removed so he could play with a brace on his wrist. Crisler's injuries in the Michigan game cost the Maroons their best end, and Bobby Cole, quarterback and directing genius of the team, received injuries in the Illinois game which probably will keep him off the gridiron for the rest of his college career.

MEDAL AWARDED BOY CHESS WIZARD

New York, Nov. 19.—Award of a gold medal to Samuel Rzeszewski, the 9-year-old Polish chess wizard, for his solution of three problems propounded by American experts, was announced by Frank J. Marshall, United States champion, last night. The problems were solved in the record time of 3 minutes and 25 seconds.

The medal will be formally presented Thanksgiving day when the boy will play more than twenty American masters.

"BIG BILL" EDWARDS HOST TO TIGER SQUAD

New York, Nov. 19.—Members of the Princeton football squad will be the guests of William H. (Big Bill) Edwards, collector of internal revenue, a former captain of the Tiger eleven, at a banquet and theater party here tonight. The players will leave here early tomorrow morning to attend the Harvard-Yale game at New Haven.

Britton Wins Decision.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 19.—Jack Britton, welterweight champion, won the newspaper decision over Morris Lux of Kansas City in a ten-round, no decision bout here last night.

MAYER TO LEAD ALL-STAR TEAM

Football Classic to Be Staged in Minneapolis Thanksgiving.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 19.—Frank Mayer will lead the University All-Stars against the Marines on Thanksgiving day at Nicollet park. Arrangements for the annual gridiron classic were completed today. The clash will be the sixth and a real battle can be expected. The Marines last Sunday showed by holding the classy Staley combination, 3 to 0, that they must be given a chance to win this season.

The All-Stars have never been defeated, but have been held to a tie twice. Last year the former university stars were victorious, 3 to 0.

Mayer is planning on a very strong team, and with the announcement today that six members of the 1916 University of Minnesota eleven will be in the lineup assures a formidable aggregation. The men from the team that Dr. H. L. Williams says is the greatest that he has ever coached are: Arnold "Pudge" Wyman, Paul Flynn, Conrad Ecklund, Jack Hanson, Harold Hanson and Mayer.

As the majority of the All-Stars are in the Twin Cities, practice will start at once. A number of the former greats have been getting in condition and several informal practices have been held. In addition to the 1916 Gopher stars, Mayer expects to sign a number of other Minnesota and other university stars.

John Dunn, manager of the Marines, announced today that tickets for the game will be placed on sale this week downtown. The admission price will be $1.10. Several out of town players that will appear with the All-Stars will arrive in Minneapolis the latter part of the week to take part in the final workouts.

PARK POINTER KILLS MOOSE

When John J. Harrison and his nephew, Billy Harrison, came motoring home early this week with the first deer carcasses of the local season, Park Point scored signally in the big game sport.

Roy Hewitt, 2115 Minnesota avenue, machinist for the Patrick-Duluth company, added new laurels to the Park Point district last evening when he came drilling in with moose carcass weighing over 1,100 pounds, the first to be brought to Duluth this season and one of the largest trophies that has reached this city in recent years.

Mr. Hewitt killed this prize moose in the wilds of the North Shore where he, in company with several other Duluthians, has been camping since last Sunday. He killed the big fellow far back in the timber and it cost him $10 to get the carcass to the railroad.

Many successful deer hunters are returning daily, now, from their annual chase after big game. Herbert Gooch, Ralph Pluneo, Ben Pfau, A. D. Mahoney and Fred Hjermstad returned last night from the North Shore with five fine deer carcasses. They report that deer are not as plentiful this season as last. Conditions for hunting, they say, are ideal, the fall of light snow facilitating the tracking of wounded game.

Duluthians who are always afraid to get out in the timber during the first week of the season are preparing to leave for the forests tomorrow afternoon planning on enjoying a several days' outing.

GOTHAM TO SEE HEAVYWEIGHTS

New York, Nov. 19.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, will defend his title in a fifteen-round bout against Bill Brennan, the Chicago challenger, at Madison Square garden here on Tuesday, Dec. 14. This will be the first contest between big fellows to be decided in New York state under the Walker law and was made possible by the action taken by the state boxing commission here yesterday during a joint meeting with the license committee.

In a statement last night the commissioners said they had decided that a point had been reached in the operation of the new boxing law where they felt justified in permitting heavyweight boxing contests.

EASTERN SCHOOLS PLAN "BIG FOUR"

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 19.—Formation of a "big four," composed of Dartmouth, Syracuse, Pennsylvania and the University of Pittsburgh, is being urged here.

The only drawback at present is the arranging of a football contest between Dartmouth and Pittsburgh. Syracuse, Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh now meet in regularly scheduled games.

Fred J. Crolius, former Dartmouth man and well-known football official of Western Pennsylvania, has mapped out a schedule for next year, which, he thinks, would fill the bill. His schedule covers the last three Saturdays in November.

PENNSYLVANIA TO PLAY COLUMBIA

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—The University of Pennsylvania football team left here today for New York, where it will meet the Columbia eleven tomorrow at the Polo grounds. More than seventy-five men, including coaches, were in the squad, which was given a rousing send-off. Coach Heisman plans to put the team through a signal drill on the Polo grounds late in the day.

BASEBALL GAMBLING INFORMANT RELEASED

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 19.—The unconditional release of Joe Gedeon, second baseman of the St. Louis American league club, has been announced by business manager Quinn. Gedeon testified before the Chicago grand jury that he bet on the world's series in 1919 after receiving information it had been "fixed." Every club in the majors waived on Gedeon, Quinn said.

NEW INTERNATIONAL YACHT RACE PLANNED

Montreal, Nov. 19.—An international yacht race between entries of the White Bear club of St. Paul, Minn., and the Royal St. Lawrence club here, has been arranged for next summer, it was announced last night. The contest will be held on Lake St. Louis.

Open Boxing Season.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 19.—The boxing season will open here tonight with a ten-round bout between Young Andy Chaney of Philadelphia and Johnny Murray of New York as the feature. The boys agreed to weigh 126 pounds ringside.

SUPERIOR GETS BIG GRID GAME

Duluth and Superior Pro Football Teams Will Play Sunday.

The Duluth and Superior professional football teams will play at Hislop park in Superior next Sunday at 2:30 o'clock. This bceame definite last evening when the mercury continued to rise in the tube, assuring favorable weather conditions for the big contest, the second in the series for the Head of the Lakes professional title. One game in the series, which resulted in a 7-to-7 count, was played here two weeks ago. No matter how next Sunday's game comes out it is probable that a third game will be played in Duluth on Thanksgiving day, providing conditions are favorable.

Great preparations are being made in Superior to take care of the largest crowd that ever witnessed a football game in that city. Mayor Baxter and other city officials are taking a hand in the matter, planning on making the occasion a gala affair. Teams and scrapers were placed at work in the park this morning carting off the overburden of ice and snow that has accumulated in the last two weeks and tomorrow the gridiron and sidelines will be heavily bedded with straw, assuring a dry field for both players and spectators.

Superior began to assemble its team today and will hold practice this evening at the park. Bill and Joe Rooney and Underwood, the Virginia stars have been moved in, along with Gilboten of Eau Claire, the star tackle. Eddie Cole, "Chuck" Darling, Bill Hart and Hank Daugherty, the Duluth players who have been performing with Superior this season will cross the interstate bridge this evening to tune up with the Badgers.

The Duluth team, which will line up the same as it has all season, with the exception that Libby, former star backfield man of the famous Carlisle team, will be in at fullback. Libby is now employed at the Marshall-Wells company here and is in grand shape for a hard game. He will brush up on the signals between now and Sunday. Libby played with Carlisle when Mt. Pleasant, Jim Thorpe, Guyon and other stars were burning up the gridirons of both the East and West.

WITHHOLD WHITE SOX PRIZE MONEY

Chicago, Nov. 19.—The 1920 world's series prize money, amounting to almost $15,000, which belongs to the Chicago American baseball league team for finishing second has not been awarded, it was announced today. The old national commission is awaiting the outcome of the trials of eight White Sox players charged with "throwing" the 1919 championship games to the Cincinnati Reds.

The honest White Sox at a meeting voted to cut up the prize money into sixteen and one-half shares to the exclusion of the players charged with crookedness. This would make each full share about $900.

On the other hand, it was reported today that the commission thinks the money should be divided into twenty-three and one-half shares, which number would include the seven members of last year's team under indictment.

HIBBING ELKS READY.

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Everything is all set for the big Stampede which the local lodge of Elks will stage here this evening and in which boxing and music will be the principal features.

Johnny Nichols and his manager M. T. Caine of St. Paul, arrived here yesterday as did Sammy Terrin, the "fighting tailor" of Minneapolis, and his pilot, Mike McNulty. Nichols and Terrin, who are well known welterweight boxers are booked to step ten rounds this evening in the main bout of the boxing card. Billy Emke, the St. Paul middleweight, is here to meet Tony Machefts of Virginia in an eight-round contest.

Fans from every city on the Mesaba range are pouring into Hibbing today to attend the show which will be the largest of its kind held here in several years.

SOVIET GOVERNMENT IS VIRTUALLY RECOGNIZED BY BRITAIN

SMALL GIFTS ARE ASKED FOR REPUBLICAN DEFICIT

States He Is Not Looking for Any Public Office.

May Become Senator When the Next Indiana Vacancy Occurs.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

Washington, Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Will Hays has carried his point. The deficit of $1,600,000 incurred by the Republican national committee in the last collection will be collected from small subscribers and there will be a $1,000 limit to the amounts that can be accepted.

Mr. Hays has from the start favored the small contribution on the ground that it elicits the interest of the many instead of the few, and that it places a successful candidate under no embarrassing obligations. The canvass for funds will soon be begun. It is a fact that Mr. Hays could have gone out and collected $1,600,000 from a few men in two weeks' time, but he had the united support of his colleagues on the campaign committee when he favored collecting the deficit in exactly the same way as the campaign funds themselves were raised.

Every national chairman has his opponents—and Will Hays is no exception. But the record of the Republican national chairman in this campaign has been such that, no matter what critics may say, his friends are confident he has earned a lasting place in the heart of President-elect Harding. The senator has sent in the last few days several telegrams urging Mr. Hays to make the trip to Panama with him, but the national chairman has been head over heels in work, especially on the big question of collecting the deficit.

Not Seeking Any Office.

To suggestions that he might become a member of the cabinet, Mr. Hays has made it clear to his friends that he isn't seeking any office and is much more interested in continued Republican solidarity and the interests of the party as a whole rather than anything personal. Mr. Hays has talked just one thing—harmony—from the time he took hold of Republican affairs in March, 1918. He used to make frequent trips to Washington and urge Republican senators of all factions to stick together on vital party issues. He thinks it would be a great mistake if factionalism or quarrels of any kind were permitted at this time to disturb the harmonious relations that have

UNPATRIOTIC CHICAGO TEACHER SUSPENDED

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Miss Francis Lloyd, teacher in a local school, was suspended today by Supt. Mortenson on charges preferred against her by Miss Mary Taylor, principal of the school, that Miss Lloyd ignored the instructions of the school board and caused the pupils of her room to be the only school children in Chicago who were deprived of the opportunity to pay tribute to the nation's dead when at 11 a. m. on Nov. 11, the 260,000 pupils stood at attention for one minute in memory of the second anniversary of the signing of the armistice.

"Miss Lloyd did not deny she failed to obey the orders for the observance of Armistice day, but defended her conduct on the ground that she did not believe in patriotism," Mr. Mortenson said.

NAVIGATION MADE SIMPLE

Philadelphia, Nov. 20.—Admiral W. H. Bullard, director of naval communication service, in a paper read before the Franklin institute here, said wireless telegraphy is making navigation simple and safe.

"There will be a time when ships will be without chronometers and will be in constant wireless touch with New York until they reach the British channel," said Admiral Bullard. "This is not a dream; it is near at hand.

"By means of the radio compass a ship can get her bearings when she calls for it, anywhere along the coast of the United States. This instrument has already saved ships which were headed straight for the shore.

Avoids Shallow Waters.

"The depth of water under the ship can now be accurately determined by the hydrophone, which works on the reflection from the ocean bottom of the sound of the ship's propeller. By this device shallow water can be avoided and even the proximity of icebergs detected. Ships also can communicate with each other by underwater waves, sent out by oscillators.

"By means of a cable laid along the bottom of New York channel and energized with current, a pilot, blindfolded, guided a destroyer safely to port, never getting more than fifty yards from the cable. The waves sent out by the cable were detected in telephone receivers, one on each ear, telling him whether he was to right or left of the guiding cable.

"Hurricanes can be detected by sensitive radio telephones, and even the general direction of storms are felt on wireless receiving apparatus. The time is now sent broadcast by coastal stations and by the time given for certain longtitudes the ship can tell its location. Weather warnings and location of wrecks, derelicts and icebergs are given out."

CHAIRMAN OF COMMISSION PROBING IRISH QUESTION

FREDERICK C. HOWE.

OPPOSED BY DRY AGENTS

Object to Reissuing of Permits to Wholesale Liquor Dealers.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Prohibition leaders today protested to the government enforcement officers against the reissuing of permits to wholesale liquor dealers to handle intoxicating liquors. The claim was made by Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, that issuance of the permits to liquor dealers, not manufacturers or wholesale druggists, was not authorized by the Volstead act.

Mr. Wheeler appealed to the prohibition office not to grant renewals, asserting that the permits had facilitated the diversion of liquor to beverage use.

Not Compulsory.

"Even if it is permissible to issue the permits," Mr. Wheeler contended, "it is not compulsory and the disastrous experience of the last year in connection with these permits furnishes sufficient proof to show the wisdom and necessity for rejecting the wholesale permits as a whole."

Mr. Wheeler insisted issuance of the permits was in conflict with the expressed purpose of the Volstead act to "prevent the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage." He declared abuse of the privileges conveyed by the permits was common and consumption of liquor as a beverage was increased thereby.

Eight organizations were parties to the protest.

BOLLING IS MENTIONED

New York, Nov. 20.—R. W. Bolling, brother-in-law of President Wilson and treasurer of the shipping board, was named in connection with a $40,000 bribe alleged to have been paid by a Staten Island Shipbuilding company to procure unusual favors from the board, in testimony before the congressional committee investigating shipping board affairs here today.

Tucker E. Sands, former vice president of the Commercial National bank, Washington, testified that it was his "understanding that $1,800 he "loaned Bolling against his note," and of which Bolling already has paid back $300, was Bolling's share of the "$40,000 bribe" of the Wallace Downey Shipbuilding corporation for unusual shipping board favors.

$40,000 to Be Split.

Sands said that the $40,000 he understood was to be split four ways between himself, Bolling, Lester Sisler, former shipping board secretary, and a man named Kraner.

Sands admitted that he had in an interview with Alfred W. McCann, reporter for the New York Globe, made allegations of the alleged bribe which were incorporated in an affidavit, a photostatic copy of which was submitted to the board today, prepared for his, Sands', signature.

To Be Asked to Testify.

Present and former "high officials" of the United States shipping board will be asked to testify before the Walsh congressional committee, it was indicated here.

During the session yesterday William Denman of San Francisco, who was the first president of the emergency fleet corporation, and the first active head of the shipping board, and around whom much of the "wooden ship" controversy of 1917 centered, appeared and volunteered to testify. He was informed by Chairman Walsh that the committee expected to hear all of the officials. Denman was told the committee would hear him before he returned to the Pacific coast. Following the Thanksgiving holidays the members of the committee expect to go to Washington for the opening of congress.

Foreign Interests.

Allegations that foreign interests, and men who 'had always been opposed to the upbuilding of an American merchant marine," had worked their way into subordinate positions with the shipping board with the intention of helping foreign competition, were made by Edward F. Luckenbach, a ship owner and operator. He said that among the alleged "favored" firms in allocation of ships were subjects of Great Britain. He testified he did not include in this indictment any of the board officials, and he added there were others besides himself who "felt" that foreign interests were favored.

He charged the Kerr Steamship company of New York had been allowed to make "three free trips," that is, exempt from operator hire, with vessels the firm purchased from Austrians after the country entered the war. Mr. Kerr and Mr. Clegg, Kerr's associate, he said, "were then British subjects."

When these free trips were granted, he asserted that freight rates were the highest in the world's history.

LIFE SENTENCE GIVEN PASCAL

Judge Sorry He Could Not Sentence Kidnaper to Death.

Norristown, Pa., Nov. 20.—August Pascal, alias Pasquale, "The Crank," in the Coughlin kidnaping case, was sentenced to life imprisonment this morning by Judge Swartz in Norristown court. Pascal pleaded guilty at his trial to second degree murder and kidnaping for extortion. He stole Blakeley Coughlin, the 13-month-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Coughlin, from their home near Norristown on June 2 last and smothered the infant under his coat. He was sentenced on the kidnaping charge and sentence was suspended on the second degree murder charge.

Pascal will be confined in the eastern state penitentiary in Philadelphia.

Judge Swartz told Pascal he was sorry he could not sentence him to death. The second degree murder sentence will be considered if Pascal is ever released.

Under Pennsylvania law the maximum penalty for kidnaping is life imprisonment. Pascal confessed to the kidnaping and killing of the child. Aside from Pascal's own confession, evidence being lacking, first degree murder could not be pressed against the abductor.

MEALS ARE SERVED FOR 17 CENTS EACH

New York, Nov. 20.—Delegates to the convention of the National Hotel association here couldn't believe that only fifteen minutes from the tip of Manhattan tempting meals are served for exactly 17 cents each. So Frederick A. Wallis, immigration commissioner on Ellis island, invited doubters on a tour of culinary inspection, just to show how they do it on Uncle Sam's doorstep.

A number of the hotel men, who say they are intent on bringing down the cost of tavern fare, accepted the commissioner's invitation, with the idea of infusing some of the Ellis island methods into the conduct of their own kitchens.

"For particulars," said the commissioner, "see MacGowan."

The secret of reducing the costliness of provender as it appears, steaming and succulent, on the dinner table, is a mystery, but MacGowan, D. T. MacGowan, caterer on the island, is on the inside. His explanation runs: "Purchase on a lowest bid basis, quantity, production, and profits never more than 1.95 per cent on the monthly investment; result, 17-cent dinners."

And when someone interposed that MacGowan "couldn't serve a 'regular' meal for 17 cents," he exhibited, as a sample menu, the following:

Breakfast: Rice with milk, stewed prunes, bread and butter and coffee with two lumps of sugar to the cup.

HUMPBACK WHALE WITH TWO HIND LEGS

New York, Nov. 20.—Capture off the coast of British Columbia of a remarkable humpback whale with two hind limbs became known here recently when the bones of the unique appendages arrived at the American Museum of Natural History. Scientists attached to the museum thumbed their tomes on evolution, cudgeled their brains and concluded the legs might have been a singular reversion to primitive type.

Back in prehistoric ages, they said, the multigreat granddads of modern whales may have strutted about on land. But, so far as they knew, no other whale with bones outside the body had ever been seen by man.

There was no earthly or waterly reason for the rear legs on the whale found off the British Columbia coast. It couldn't walk on them, as they were but four feet long, while the whale weighed several tons. It couldn't use them for swimming, as they were not flappers, nor were the pedal extremities webbed. They were simply excess baggage.

But now they are the subject of lectures, lantern slides and profound discussion.

INTERNATIONAL MILITIA FOR LEAGUE PROPOSED

Dutch Delegate Introduces Resolution Referring to Article XVIII.

Geneva, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—An international military force, with an international staff, was proposed to the assembly of the League of Nations today by Senator Henry La Fontaine of the Belgian delegation.

Senator La Fontaine had somewhat startled the assembly by declaring that the world was not yet ready for disarmament.

"It is necessary to say frankly to the people," he said, "that the time for disarmament has not yet come."

Before the world could disarm, he added, entirely different ideas than those that prevailed before the war must be inculcated and applied.

He proposed that the armaments and armies be comprised in an international force, with an international staff, ready to be used "in the cause of right" in such a case as arose from the present situation of Armenia.

Would Revise Covenant.

Geneva, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The first formal step looking toward the revision of the Covenant of the League of Nations was taken by the assembly of the league at today's session. The Dutch minister of foreign affairs, H. A. Van Karnebeek, introduced a resolution for reconsideration of Article XVIII, having to do with the registration of treaties.

The resolution provided that the reconsideration be conducted either by the assembly itself or by a committee, to make the meaning of the article clearer.

Jonkheer Van Karnebeek first called attention to this article of the Covenant at yesterday's session. He said there were several interpretations of the article, which in brief provides that treaties between nations shall not be binding until they are registered with the league, and proposed that it be studied carefully with a view to its clarification.

(The text of Article XVIII reads, "Every treaty or international engagement entered into hereafter by any member of the league shall be forthwith registered with the secretariat and shall as soon as possible be published by it. No such treaty or international engagement shall be binding until so registered.")

Germany Balks on Treaty.

Geneva, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The German government no longer considers itself bound by the clause of the Versailles treaty by which Germany surrenders her colonies to the Allies, according to an official note of protest which has been presented to the League of Nations.

The note declares that the Allies have not fulfilled their undertakings regarding the clause of the treaty concerning the allotment of the German colonies and mandates.

It adds that, having signed the pact of the League of Nations, Germany understood she would be admitted to the league and consequently take part in the allotment of mandates, but that now she no longer considers herself bound by that clause of the treaty.

The German note, addressed to the secretariat of the League of Nations and which will be published later is a long document couched in judicial terms. It is moderate in form, but constitutes a strong protest against league mandates, on which the assembly will have to pass judgment.

The existence of the note became known owing to an indiscretion. Full appreciation of the document will be only when its full text is published by the secretariat of the league.

From such fragmentary parts of the note as had reached the various delegates, however, it was the concensus of opinion in conference circles that the German protest was not founded on any parts of the text of the Versailles treaty or the Covenant of the League of Nations.

NINE LOSE LIVES IN N. Y. TENEMENT FIRE

New York, Nov. 20.—Nine persons, constituting every member but one of two families, lost their lives early today in a fire which destroyed a five-story apartment house at 307 West One Hundred Forty-sixth street. Fourteen other families escaped or were rescued by firemen.

Originating, authorities say, in a baby carriage, on the first floor of the brick structure, the fire swept upward through open stairways, cutting off escape through the halls. Nearly a hundred men, women and children, clad in night clothes, swarmed to the fire escapes, some making their way to the ground while others huddled terror stricken on platforms in mid air until carried to safety. All the dead were found on the top floor after the flames had been controlled. They were: Raphael Gebbia, his wife, Anna, and their four children, Mrs. Ada Frank, Mrs. Bertha Reynolds, her sister, and Ruth Reynolds, a girl of 16.

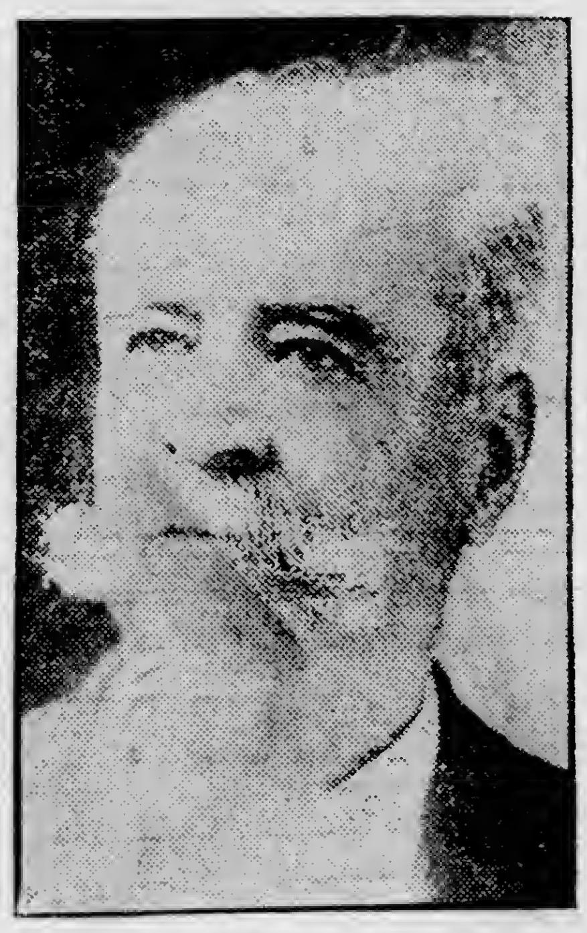
MARKED DECLINES IN FLOUR MARKET

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 20.—Marked declines were registered in the flour market here today, which brought quotations under $9 a barrel, the first time in four years. Reductions of 40 to 75 cents a barrel for family patents were put in effect by the mills, making today's range of prices $8.90 to $9 a barrel when sold in carlots in 98-pound cotton sacks. This market followed the action of wheat yesterday, millers said.

CONGRESSMAN-ELECT KILLED IN AUTO WRECK

Pomona, Cal., Nov. 20.—Congressman-elect Charles F. Vandewater, Republican, of Long Beach, Cal., and his secretary, Miss Jesse Leuvin, also of Long Beach, were killed at Walnut, twelve miles from here, early this morning when the automobile in which they were riding struck a motor truck.

VETERAN PUBLISHER RETIRES AT AGE OF 81



GEN. FELIX AGNUS,
Who has sold Baltimore American after forty years' management.

TO SUCCEED E. H. WINDOM

G. J. Barrett, Philadelphia, Becomes Claim Agent for Steel Corporation Here.

To succeed the late Edward H. Windom, G. J. Barrett, manager of the insurance department of the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet corporation at Philadelphia, has been appointed general claim agent of the United States Steel corporation interests in this territory. He will assume his new duties on Dec. 1, and will bring his family to Duluth as soon as he can obtain suitable accommodations.

The appointment of Mr. Barrett was announced yesterday by Frank D. Adams, general counsel for the steel corporation here. Mr. Barrett was in Duluth to look over the ground this week, but has returned to Philadelphia to clean up his business in connection with the emergency fleet. As general claim agent for the Steel corporation in this territory, he will have charge of such matters for the Oliver Iron Mining company, the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road, the Duluth & Iron Range road, the Minnesota Steel company and other subsidiaries.

Mr. Barrett, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, is well known for his excellent work as the associate for fifteen years of Stephen W. Tener, manager of the accident and pension department of the American Steel & Wire company. He entered the accident and pension department, which has its headquarters at Pittsburgh, when he was 20 years of age and it was in recognition of his peculiar fitness and ability in such work that on July 1, 1918, he was given a leave of absence in order to become associated with Gilbert A. Hayes, manager of the insurance department of the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet corporation.

Given Big Task.

In addition to the task of supervising safety and insurance work for this immense department, Mr. Barrett, by reason of his previous training, was able to initiate a system of compensation for injured workmen based on the plan of the United States Steel corporation. Other plans of benefit to the workers and for a marine self-insurance system which saved large sums for the government were carried out successfully by Mr. Barrett who on May 1, 1919, succeeded Mr. Hayes as manager of his department.

It is regarded as a tribute to Mr. Barrett's executive ability and foresightedness that the extensive and elaborate department which he managed was organized in such a manner that with the cessation of its activities it can and is being demolished without friction or loss to the government, a predominant factor in its organization being recognition of the fact that it was an ephemeral institution required to meet extaordinary conditions and was not to be regarded as a permanent affair.

'KILLING AND SLAYING' CHARGE FOR MINISTER

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 20.—Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, Methodist minister and former license inspector, will be arraigned in police court upon his arrival from Toronto today on a charge of "killing and slaying" Beverly Trumble during a raid by prohibition officers on Trumble's inn two weeks ago. Although not formally under arrest, counsel for Rev. Mr. Spracklin had pledged his presence for arraignment, according to Attorney John H. Rodd.

"Killing and slaying" is a blanket charge that may embrace either murder or manslaughter, according to evidence introduced at the preliminary hearing.

Vanderlip, the American who recently announced the granting by soviet Russia of important concessions in Siberia to an American syndicate which he represented, was met shortly after his arrival here last evening from Russia by a demand from the British authorities for an inspection of the documents in his possession, he declared in a statement today. He declared he refused to show the officials these documents.

WASHINGTON SO CONSIDERS TRADING PACT

Moscow Government Plans to Carry War Into Neutral Zone.

Due to Failure of Gen. Balakovitch to Stop Fighting Given as Reason.

Washington, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—In the view of state department officials, virtual de facto recognition of the Russian soviet government is extended by Great Britain in the proposed trade agreement between the two countries. A copy of the agreement has been received at the department.

To Carry on War.

London, Nov. 20.—The Russian soviet government declares in a wireless message from Moscow that it is compelled to carry the war into the neutral zone between Poland and Russia because of the attacks being made on the soviet forces by Gen. Balkovitch, in command of Polish volunteer forces which refused to cease fighting when the Polish-Russian peace was made, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Berlin today.

PREMIERS TO DISCUSS NEAR EAST SITUATION

Paris, Nov. 20.—Premiers Georges Leygues and David Lloyd George of France and Great Britain, respectively, probably will meet in London soon for a conference which is considered necessary because of the serious situation in the Near East.

The conference will determine upon joint action relative to three questions—the defeat of Premier Venizelos in Greece, which brings into question the status of the Greek army in Asia Minor; the advance of the Russian Bolsheviki in the new states of the Caucasus region, particularly the co-operation of the Bolsheviki with the Turkish nationalists, and the consequences of the defeat of Gen. Baron Wrangel, head of the South Russian government.

Paris, Nov. 20.—Paul Cambon, former French ambassador to Great Britain, submitted to the French foreign office yesterday a note declaring the return of Former King Constantine to the Greek throne would be "intolerable." He said that if such a step was imminent, Greece should be warned the Allies could not maintain friendly relations with her.

REUNITED BY FLAT SCARCITY

Divorced Paris Couple, Unable to Find Apartments, Make Up.

Paris, Nov. 20.—The great difficulty of finding lodgings in Paris has been the cause of many unusual incidents recently.

Divorced persons seeking separate apartments are having such difficulty in finding them that, in one case at least, they composed their temperamental differences in order to keep their old apartment.

A painter and his wife, who had been divorced by mutual agreement, were both looking for apartments. Frequently their paths crossed in their search for quarters. The first time they met they bowed gravely but politely. Their mutual smile gradually broadened as the hunt for flats narrowed down to a few hovels in the slum section.

"Let's kiss and make up and go back to our flat," the wife finally said, and they did.

Landru Loses His Flat.

Henry Landru, who has been in La Sante prison for the past twenty months awaiting trial on charges growing out of the disappearance of eleven women, recently was dispossessed from the flat that he had occupied on the Boulevard Rochechouart, a rather sordid section of Paris. Requests came from every quarter in Paris, some even from aristocratic Auteuil, asking that the flat be reserved.

A vagrant just finishing thirty days in La Sante prison told his cellmate, under sentence of five years for swindling, that he dreaded to return into cold, dreary Paris. He was homeless, and prospects of spending the winter nights under Paris bridges did not appeal to him. The prisoners exchanged clothing and cards of identity and, when the warder called for the vagrant to send him out into the cold world, the swindler responded. The fraud was discovered only when the swindler's lawyer called at the jail.

SMALL GIFTS ARE ASKED FOR REPUBLICAN DEFICIT

States He Is Not Looking for Any Public Office.

May Become Senator When the Next Indiana Vacancy Occurs.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

Washington, Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Will Hays has carried his point. The deficit of $1,600,000 incurred by the Republican national committee in the last collection will be [illegible] from small subscribers and there will be a $1,000 limit to the amount that can be accepted.

Mr. Hays has from the start favored [illegible] contribution on the ground that it enlists the interest of the many instead of the few, and that it places the successful candidate under no embarrassing obligations. The canvass [illegible] will soon be begun. It is a fact that Mr. Hays could have gone out and collected $1,600,000 from a few men in [illegible] time, but he had the general support of his colleagues on the [illegible] committee when he favored [illegible] the deficit in exactly the [illegible] as the campaign funds themselves were raised.

[illegible] national chairman has his opponents, and Will Hays is no exception. But the record of the Republican [illegible] chairman in this campaign has been such that, no matter what critics may say, his friends are confident he has [illegible] a lasting place in the heart of President-elect Harding. The senator has sent in the last few days several telegrams urging Mr. Hays to make the trip to Panama with him, but the national chairman has been head over heels in work, especially on the big question of collecting the deficit.

Not Seeking Any Office.

To suggestions that he might become a member of the cabinet Mr. Hays has made it clear to his friends that he isn't seeking any office and is much more interested in continued Republican solidarity and the interests of the party as a whole rather than anything personal. Mr. Hays has talked just one thing, harmony—from the time he took hold of Republican affairs in March, 1918. He used to make frequent trips to Washington and urge Republican senators of all factions to stick together on vital party issues. He thinks it would be a great mistake if factionalism or quarrels of any kind were permitted at this time to disturb the harmonious relations that have

UNPATRIOTIC CHICAGO TEACHER SUSPENDED

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Miss Frances Lloyd, teacher in a local school, was suspended today by Supt. Mortenson on charges preferred against her by Miss Mary Taylor, principal of the school, that Miss Lloyd ignored the instructions of the school board and caused the pupils of her room to be the only school children in Chicago who were deprived of the opportunity to pay tribute to the nation's dead when at 11 a. m. on Nov. 11, the 260,000 pupils stood at attention for one minute in memory of the second anniversary of the signing of the armistice.

"Miss Lloyd did not deny she failed to obey the orders for the observance of Armistice day, but defended her conduct on the ground that she did not believe in patriotism," Mr. Mortenson said.

NAVIGATION MADE SIMPLE

Philadelphia, Nov. 20.—Admiral W. H. Bullard, director of naval communication service, in a paper read before the Franklin institute here, said wireless telegraphy is making navigation simple and safe.

"There will be a time when ships will be without chronometers and will be in constant wireless touch with New York until they reach the British channel," said Admiral Bullard. "This is not a dream, it is near at hand.

"By means of the radio compass a ship can get her bearings when she calls for it, anywhere along the coast of the United States. This instrument has already saved ships which were headed straight for the shore.

Avoids Shallow Waters.

"The depth of water under the ship can now be accurately determined by the hydrophone, which works on the reflection from the ocean bottom of the sound of the ship's propeller. By this device shallow water can be avoided and even the proximity of icebergs detected. Ships also can communicate with each other by underwater waves, sent out by oscillators.

"By means of a cable laid along the bottom of New York channel and energized with current, a pilot, blindfolded, guided a destroyer safely to port, never getting more than fifty yards from the cable. The waves sent out by the cable were detected in telephone receivers, one on each ear, telling him whether he was to right or left of the guiding cable.

"Hurricanes can be detected by sensitive radio telephones, and even the general direction of storms are felt on wireless receiving apparatus. The time is now sent broadcast by coastal stations and by the time given for certain longitudes the ship can tell its location. Weather warnings and location of wrecks, derelicts and icebergs are given out."

OPPOSED BY DRY AGENTS

Object to Reissuing of Permits to Wholesale Liquor Dealers.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Prohibition leaders today protested to the government enforcement officers against the reissuing of permits to wholesale liquor dealers to handle intoxicating liquors. The claim was made by Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, that issuance of the permits to liquor dealers, not manufacturers or wholesale druggists, was not authorized by the Volstead act.

Mr. Wheeler appealed to the prohibition office not to grant renewals, asserting that the permits had facilitated the diversion of liquor to beverage use.

Not Compulsory.

"Even if it is permissible to issue the permits," Mr. Wheeler contended, "it is not compulsory and the disastrous experience of the last year in connection with these permits furnishes sufficient proof to show the wisdom and necessity for rejecting the wholesale permits as a whole."

Mr. Wheeler insisted issuance of the permits was in conflict with the expressed purpose of the Volstead act to "prevent the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage." He declared abuse of the privileges conveyed by the permits was common and consumption of liquor as a beverage was increased thereby.

Eight organizations were parties to the protest.

TO SEIZE BREWERIES VIOLATING DRY LAW

Washington, Nov. 20.—All breweries manufacturing beer containing more than one-half of 1 per cent alcohol will be seized by the Federal government, it was indicated today at the bureau of internal revenue.

Officials of the bureau said an analysis of beer brewed in a number of places was now being made and that where the product was found to exceed the legal limit in alcoholic content the government would act to enforce the law.

At the present time, he said there are 870,000 telephones.

BOLLING IS MENTIONED

New York, Nov. 20.—R. W. Bolling, brother-in-law of President Wilson and treasurer of the shipping board, was named in connection with a $40,000 bribe alleged to have been paid by a Staten Island Shipbuilding company to procure unusual favors from the board, in testimony before the congressional committee investigating shipping board affairs here today.

Tucker E. Sands, former vice president of the Commercial National bank, Washington, testified that it was his "understanding that $1,800 he "loaned Bolling against his note," and of which Bolling already has paid back $300, was Bolling's share of the "$40,000 bribe" of the Wallace Downey Shipbuilding corporation for unusual shipping board favors.

$40,000 to Be Split.

Sands said that the $40,000 he understood was to be split four ways between himself, Bolling, Lester Sisler, former shipping board secretary, and a man named Kraner.

Sands admitted that he had in an interview with Alfred W. McCann, reporter for the New York Globe, made allegations of the alleged bribe which were incorporated in an affidavit, a photostatic copy of which was submitted to the board today, prepared for his, Sands', signature.

To Be Asked to Testify.

Present and former "high officials" of the United States shipping board will be asked to testify before the Walsh congressional committee, it was indicated here.

During the session yesterday William Denman of San Francisco, who was the first president of the emergency fleet corporation, and the first active head of the shipping board, and around whom much of the "wooden ship" controversy of 1917 centered, appeared and volunteered to testify. He was informed by Chairman Walsh that the committee expected to hear all of the officials. Denman was told the committee would hear him before he returned to the Pacific coast. Following the Thanksgiving holidays the members of the committee expect to go to Washington for the opening of congress.

Foreign Interests.

Allegations that foreign interests, and men who "had always been opposed to the upbuilding of an American merchant marine," had worked their way into subordinate positions with the shipping board with the intention of helping foreign competition, were made by Edward F. Luckenbach, a ship owner and operator. He said that among the alleged "favored" firms in allocation of ships were subjects of Great Britain. He testified he did not include in this indictment any of the board officials, and he added there were others besides himself who "felt" that foreign interests were favored.

He charged the Kerr Steamship company of New York had been allowed to make "three free trips," that is, exempt from operator hire, with vessels the firm purchased from Austrians after the country entered the war. Mr. Kerr and Mr. Clegg, Kerr's associate, he said, "were then British subjects."

When these free trips were granted, he asserted that freight rates were the highest in the world's history.

HARDING PLAYS QUOITS AS SHIP SAILS SOUTH

On Board S. S. Parismina, Nov. 20.—(By wireless to The Associated Press.)—With all thoughts of his coming responsibilities thrown aside, President-elect Harding today amused himself with quoits, shuffleboard and other deck games as the Parismina continued on her way to the Canal zone.

SPECTATORS VOTE ON GUILT OF PRISONER

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 20.—For the first time, it is said, in the history of local courts, a police court judge today passed ballots through the court room and asked the spectators to write the verdict on the slips of paper.

Of the thirty-four ballots, twenty-seven were marked "not guilty." The prisoner, on trial for alleged bribery, was declared not guilty by the judge, James Austin.

MICHIGAN LUMBER CAMP WAGES CUT

Ironwood, Mich., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A general reduction of $20 and $25 per month in wages of camp laborers and loggers was announced here by the Scott & Howe Lumber company.

The new scale of wages, which is operative immediately, affects 250 men and was made as a result of the lumber market conditions. Other lumber concerns in this section of the Northwest have announced similar cuts.

SUGAR REFINERIES CLOSE: NO DEMAND

New York, Nov. 20.—All six refineries of the American Sugar Refining company have been closed as a result of slight demand for the commodity, it was announced here today.

An official of the company, explaining the shutdown, said:

"We have ample stocks on hand and are prepared to make prompt delivery of all grades of refined sugar. Refineries have been closed temporarily only to lack of demand from the trade."

LIFE SENTENCE GIVEN PASCAL

Judge Sorry He Could Not Sentence Kidnaper to Death.

Norristown, Pa., Nov. 20.—August Pascal, alias Pasquale, "The Crank," in the Coughlin kidnaping case, was sentenced to life imprisonment this morning by Judge Swartz in Norristown court. Pascal pleaded guilty at his trial to second degree murder and kidnaping for extortion. He stole Blakeley Coughlin, the 13-month-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Coughlin, from their home near Norristown on June 2 last and smothered the infant under his coat. He was sentenced on the kidnaping charge and sentence was suspended on the second degree murder charge.

Pascal will be confined in the eastern state penitentiary in Philadelphia.

Judge Swartz told Pascal he was sorry he could not sentence him to death. The second degree murder sentence will be considered if Pascal is ever released.

Under Pennsylvania law the maximum penalty for kidnaping is life imprisonment. Pascal confessed to the kidnaping and killing of the child. Aside from Pascal's own confession, evidence being lacking, first degree murder could not be pressed against the abductor.

MEALS ARE SERVED FOR 17 CENTS EACH

New York, Nov. 20.—Delegates to the convention of the National Hotel association here couldn't believe that only fifteen minutes from the tip of Manhattan tempting meals are served for exactly 17 cents each. So Frederick A. Wallis, immigration commissioner on Ellis island, invited doubters on a tour of culinary inspection, just to show how they do it on Uncle Sam's doorstep.

A number of the hotel men, who say they are intent on bringing down the cost of tavern fare, accepted the commissioner's invitation, with the idea of infusing some of the Ellis island methods into the conduct of their own kitchens.

"For particulars," said the commissioner, "see MacGowan."

The secret of reducing the costliness of provender as it appears, steaming and succulent, on the dinner table, is a mystery, but MacGowan, D. T. MacGowan, caterer on the island, is on the inside. His explanation runs: "Purchase on a lowest bid basis, quantity production, and profits never more than 1.95 per cent on the monthly investment; result, 17 cent dinners."

And when someone interposed that MacGowan "couldn't serve a 'regular' meal for 17 cents," he exhibited, as a sample menu, the following:

Breakfast: Rice with milk, stewed prunes, bread and butter and coffee with two lumps of sugar to the cup.

HUMPBACK WHALE WITH TWO HIND LEGS

New York, Nov. 20.—Capture off the coast of British Columbia of a remarkable humpback whale with two hind limbs became known here recently when the bones of the unique appendages arrived at the American Museum of Natural History. Scientists attached to the museum thumbed their tomes on evolution, cudgeled their brains and concluded the legs might have been a singular reversion to primitive type.

Back in prehistoric ages, they said, the multigreat granddads of modern whales may have strutted about on land. But, so far as they knew, no other whale with bones outside the body had ever been seen by man.

There was no earthly or waterly reason for the rear legs on the whale found off the British Columbia coast. It couldn't walk on them, as they were but four feet long, while the whale weighed several tons. It couldn't use them for swimming, as they were not flappers, nor were the pedal extremities webbed. They were simply excess baggage.

But now they are the subject of lectures, lantern slides and profound discussion.

INTERNATIONAL MILITIA FOR LEAGUE PROPOSED

Dutch Delegate Introduces Resolution Referring to Article XVIII.

Geneva, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—An international military force, with an international staff, was proposed to the assembly of the League of Nations today by Senator Henry La Fontaine of the Belgian delegation.

Senator La Fontaine had somewhat startled the assembly by declaring that the world was not yet ready for disarmament.

"It is necessary to say frankly to the people," he said, "that the time for disarmament has not yet come."

Before the world could disarm, he added, entirely different ideas than those that prevailed before the war must be inculcated and applied.

He proposed that the armaments and armies be comprised in an international force, with an international staff, ready to be used "in the cause of right" in such a case as arose from the present situation of Armenia.

Would Revise Covenant.

Geneva, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The first formal step looking toward the revision of the Covenant of the League of Nations was taken by the assembly of the league at today's session. The Dutch minister of foreign affairs, H. A. Van Karnebeek, introduced a resolution for reconsideration of Article XVIII, having to do with the registration of treaties.

The resolution provided that the reconsideration be conducted either by the assembly itself or by a committee, to make the meaning of the article clearer.

Jonkheer Van Karnebeek first called attention to this article of the Covenant at yesterday's session. He said there were several interpretations of the article, which in brief provides that treaties between nations shall not be binding until they are registered with the league, and proposed that it be studied carefully with a view to its clarification.

(The text of Article XVIII reads, "Every treaty or international engagement entered into hereafter by any member of the league shall be forthwith registered with the secretariat and shall as soon as possible be published by it. No such treaty or international engagement shall be binding until so registered.")

Germany Balks on Treaty.

Geneva, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The German government no longer considers itself bound by the clause of the Versailles treaty by which Germany surrenders her colonies to the Allies, according to an official note of protest which has been presented to the League of Nations.

The note declares that the Allies have not fulfilled their undertakings regarding the clause of the treaty concerning the allotment of the German colonies and mandates.

It adds that, having signed the pact of the League of Nations, Germany understood she would be admitted to the league and consequently take part in the allotment of mandates, but that now she no longer considers herself bound by that clause of the treaty.

The German note, addressed to the secretariat of the League of Nations and which will be published later is a long document couched in judicial terms. It is moderate in form, but constitutes a strong protest against league mandates, on which the assembly will have to pass judgment.

The existence of the note became known owing to an indiscretion. Full appreciation of the document will be only when its full text is published by the secretariat of the league.

From such fragmentary parts of the note as had reached the various delegates, however, it was the concensus of opinion in conference circles that the German protest was not founded on any parts of the text of the Versailles treaty or the Covenant of the League of Nations.

New York, Nov. 20.—Nine persons, constituting every member but one of two families, lost their lives early today in a fire which destroyed a five-story apartment house at 307 West One Hundred Forty-sixth street. Fourteen other families escaped or were rescued by firemen.

Originating, authorities say, in a baby carriage, on the first floor of the brick structure, the fire swept upward through open stairways, cutting off escape through the halls. Nearly a hundred men, women and children, clad in night clothes, swarmed to the fire escapes, some making their way to the ground while others huddled terror stricken on platforms in mid air until carried to safety. All the dead were found on the top floor after the flames had been controlled. They were: Raphael Gebhia, his wife, Anna, and their four children, Mrs. Ada Frank, Mrs. Bertha Reynolds, her sister, and Ruth Reynolds, a girl of 16.

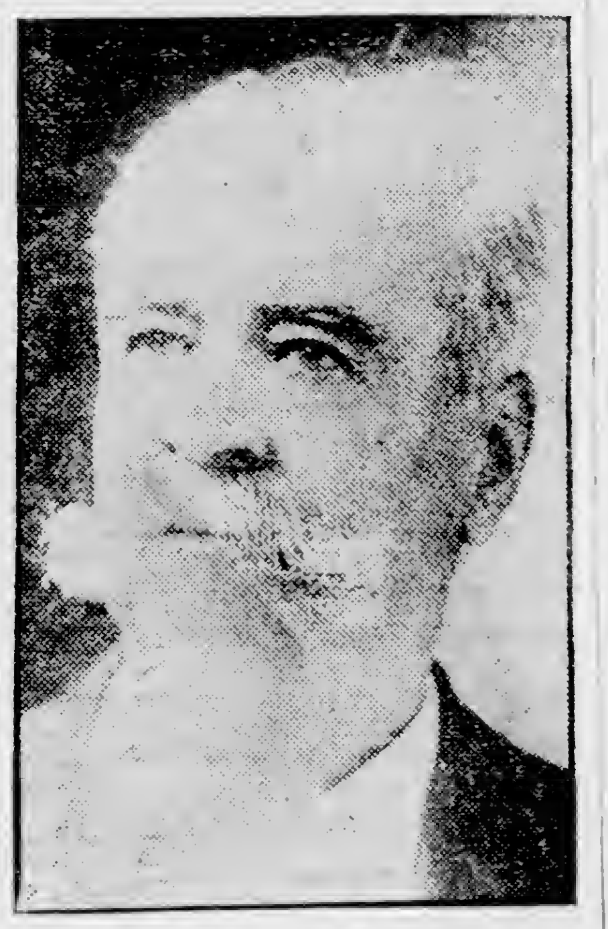
MARKED DECLINES IN FLOUR MARKET

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 20.—Marked declines were registered in the flour market here today, which brought quotations under $9 a barrel, the first time in four years. Reductions of 40 to 75 cents a barrel for family patents were put in effect by the mills, making today's range of prices $8.90 to $9 a barrel when sold in carlots in 98-pound cotton sacks. This market followed the action of wheat yesterday, millers said.

CONGRESSMAN-ELECT KILLED IN AUTO WRECK

Pomona, Cal., Nov. 20.—Congressman-elect Charles F. Vandewater, Republican, of Long Beach, Cal., and his secretary, Miss Jesse Leuvin, also of Long Beach, were killed at Walnut, twelve miles from here, early this morning when the automobile in which they were riding struck a motor truck.

VETERAN PUBLISHER RETIRES AT AGE OF 81



GEN. FELIX AGNUS,
Who has sold Baltimore American after forty years' management.

TO SUCCEED E. H. WINDOM

G. J. Barrett, Philadelphia, Becomes Claim Agent for Steel Corporation Here.

To succeed the late Edward H. Windom, G. J. Barrett, manager of the insurance department of the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet corporation at Philadelphia, has been appointed general claim agent of the United States Steel corporation interests in this territory. He will assume his new duties on Dec. 1, and will bring his family to Duluth as soon as he can obtain suitable accommodations.

The appointment of Mr. Barrett was announced yesterday by Frank D. Adams, general counsel for the steel corporation here. Mr. Barrett was in Duluth to look over the ground this week, but has returned to Philadelphia to clean up his business in connection with the emergency fleet. As general claim agent for the Steel corporation in this territory, he will have charge of such matters for the Oliver Iron Mining company, the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road, the Duluth & Iron Range road, the Minnesota Steel company and other subsidiaries.

Mr. Barrett, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, is well known for his excellent work as the associate for fifteen years of Stephen W. Tener, manager of the accident and pension department of the American Steel & Wire company. He entered the accident and pension department, which has its headquarters at Pittsburgh, when he was 20 years of age and it was in recognition of his peculiar fitness and ability in such work that on July 1, 1918, he was given a leave of absence in order to become associated with Gilbert A. Hayes, manager of the insurance department of the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet corporation.

Given Big Task.

In addition to the task of supervising safety and insurance work for this immense department, Mr. Barrett, by reason of his previous training, was able to initiate a system of compensation for injured workmen based on the plan of the United States Steel corporation. Other plans of benefit to the workers and for a marine self-insurance system which saved large sums for the government were carried out successfully by Mr. Barrett who on May 1, 1919, succeeded Mr. Hayes as manager of his department.

It is regarded as a tribute to Mr. Barrett's executive ability and foresightedness that the extensive and elaborate department which he managed was organized in such a manner that with the cessation of its activities it can and is being demolished without friction or loss to the government, a predominant factor in its organization being recognition of the fact that it was an ephemeral institution required to meet extraordinary conditions and was not to be regarded as a permanent affair.

'KILLING AND SLAYING' CHARGE FOR MINISTER

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 20.—Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, Methodist minister and former license inspector, will be arraigned in police court upon his arrival from Toronto today on a charge of "killing and slaying" Beverly Trumble during a raid by prohibition officers on Trumble's inn two weeks ago. Although not formally under arrest, counsel for Rev. Mr. Spracklin had pledged his presence for arraignment, according to Attorney John H. Rodd.

"Killing and slaying" is a blanket charge that may embrace either murder or manslaughter, according to evidence introduced at the preliminary hearing.

VANDERLIP ASKED TO SHOW DOCUMENTS

London, Nov. 20.—Washington D. Vanderlip, the American who recently announced the granting by soviet Russia of important concessions in Siberia to an American syndicate which he represented, was met shortly after his arrival here last evening from Russia by a demand from the British authorities for an inspection of the documents in his possession, he declared in a statement today. He declared he refused to show the officials these documents.

Moscow Government Plans to Carry War Into Neutral Zone.

Due to Failure of Gen. Balakovitch to Stop Fighting Given as Reason.

Washington, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—In the view of state department officials, virtual de facto recognition of the Russian soviet government is extended by Great Britain in the proposed trade agreement between the two countries. A copy of the agreement has been received at the department.

To Carry on War.

London, Nov. 20.—The Russian soviet government declares in a wireless message from Moscow that it is compelled to carry the war into the neutral zone between Poland and Russia because of the attacks being made on the soviet forces by Gen. Balkovitch, in command of Polish volunteer forces which refused to cease fighting when the Polish-Russian peace was made, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Berlin today.

PREMIERS TO DISCUSS NEAR EAST SITUATION

Paris, Nov. 20.—Premiers Georges Leygues and David Lloyd George of France and Great Britain, respectively, probably will meet in London soon for a conference which is considered necessary because of the serious situation in the Near East.

The conference will determine upon joint action relative to three questions—the defeat of Premier Venizelos in Greece, which brings into question the status of the Greek army in Asia Minor; the advance of the Russian Bolsheviki in the new states of the Caucasus region, particularly the co-operation of the Bolsheviki with the Turkish nationalists, and the consequences of the defeat of Gen. Baron Wrangel, head of the South Russian government.

Paris, Nov. 20.—Paul Cambon, former French ambassador to Great Britain, submitted to the French foreign office yesterday a note declaring the return of Former King Constantine to the Greek throne would be "intolerable." He said that if such a step was imminent, Greece should be warned the Allies could not maintain friendly relations with her.

DE CASTRO HEAD OF PORTUGUESE CABINET

Lisbon, Nov. 20.—A new Portuguese cabinet has been formed by Alvaro Xavier De Castro, at present high commissioner in Mozambique, who will act as premier and minister of the interior. The portfolio of foreign affairs has been intrusted to Domingos Pereira, former premier, and Senhor Cunhaleal, minister of commerce in the Silva cabinet, will be minister of finance.

REUNITED BY FLAT SCARCITY

Divorced Paris Couple, Unable to Find Apartments, Make Up.

Paris, Nov. 20.—The great difficulty of finding lodgings in Paris has been the cause of many unusual incidents recently.

Divorced persons seeking separate apartments are having such difficulty in finding them that, in one case at least, they composed their temperamental differences in order to keep their old apartment.

A painter and his wife, who had been divorced by mutual agreement, were both looking for apartments. Frequently their paths crossed in their search for quarters. The first time they met they bowed gravely but politely. Their mutual smile gradually broadened as the hunt for flats narrowed down to a few hovels in the slums [illegible] on.

"Let's kiss and make up and go back to our flat," the wife finally said, and they did.

Landru Loses His Flat.

Henry Landru, who has been in La Sante prison for the past twenty months awaiting trial on charges growing out of the disappearance of eleven women, recently was dispossessed from the flat that he had occupied on the Boulevard Rochechouart, a rather sordid section of Paris. Requests came from every quarter in Paris, some even from aristocratic Auteuil, asking that the flat be reserved.

A vagrant just finishing thirty days in La Sante prison told his cellmate, under sentence of five years for swindling, that he dreaded to return into cold, dreary Paris. He was homeless, and prospects of spending the winter nights under Paris bridges did not appeal to him. The prisoners exchanged clothing and cards of identity and, when the warder called for the vagrant to send him out into the cold world, the swindler responded. The fraud was discovered only when the swindler's lawyer called at the jail.

NEW POLICIES FOR A. F. OF L.

Washington, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor concluded its work here last night without making any formal announcement as to what had been accomplished during its two weeks of discussions.

Although members of the council, including President Gompers of the federation, were disinclined to talk of proceedings in the executive sessions, it is known that certain programs were discussed which by common consent will practically become policies of the organization. These include what was described as a healthy stand against radicalism within organized labor and for sharp restriction of immigration.

There was also an almost unanimous agreement among the labor heads, it is understood, for closer co-operation between labor and industrial engineers. In this labor leaders believed they were accomplishing the dual purpose of eliminating waste and inefficiency and creating an atmosphere which would foster greater production. The council was said to have made plain in its discussions its realization of world needs in this respect, and members of the council held that labor's conduct should be such that no blame for low output could attach to the workers.

Plan Conferences.

It was said that council members had planned a series of conferences with industrial experts looking to gradual establishment of a co-operation which many deem invaluable. Some such conferences have been held during the last year, including that with Herbert Hoover, former Federal food administrator, who met here with the council early this week. Mr. Gompers was represented as being highly pleased with the results of the Hoover and other conferences and having expressed a desire to continue them.

The plea was made in council sessions here on more than one occasion, it was said, that labor leaders employ every effort to clear their attitude of suspicion, which some leaders held had attached to labor's position when seeking reforms. The belief that this might handicap labor in seeking the advice of industrial experts as the labor program is developed was said to have been expressed.

Unqualified support is said to have been given the stand against radicalism, within and without organized labor, as voiced by President Gompers and Vice President Woll.

Legislation to be urged on congress was discussed by the council, but the nature of these plans were not disclosed. It was regarded as certain, however, that Mr. Gompers or his aides would appear before congressional committees during the coming session.

ENCOURAGED ME TO GO

"THIS I FORTUNATELY DID"

CHARLES GRAMBERG.

I enclose herewith my picture and letter to be published for the purpose of informing those who are in need of proper assistance as to where they may obtain it.

It is well known that influenza made people sick and that it left many of them with other ailments in some form or another. I had an attack of the 'flu' which developed into pneumonia leaving my lungs in bad shape. I was in the hospital under the care of a physician for four months, during which time I suffered much pain and was wholly confined to bed. As is the habit of physicians, I was operated on, though very weak, without an anesthetic, with the hope of curing me. When the doctors figured that I was about to die on their hands last April, they had me discharged from the hospital. I was so weak that I could hardly walk, so I went to live with one of my friends who would take care of me. Then for many weeks I was under the care of a doctor, taking his medicines without any results. About six weeks ago I was about to consult another doctor, because my condition became very critical. It just happened that I saw a man who spoke very highly of Dr. Wentworth and he encouraged me to go and see him. This I fortunately did. When I commenced to take treatments from Dr. Wentworth I weighed 115 pounds, although I am six feet tall and of a matured age. From the very first treatment I observed relief; I was further consoled and encouraged when I had a whole night's rest. Previous to my taking Dr. Wentworth's treatments I would roll about restlessly in bed all night long, not getting any sleep at all. After taking treatments for two weeks I began to feel very well; I was able to eat anything I wished, I slept well nights and it was a pleasure to live again. I have now been under the care of Dr. Wentworth for six weeks and during this time I have become a normal, healthy man. I do not feel the effects from nor have any of my former suffering, but to make sure that I am entirely well I am going to take a few more treatments. I believe that not many have suffered as much as I have, yet Dr. Wentworth was able to cure me. He uses no medicines, nor does he perform any operations. Therefore, to all of you who are suffering, I recommend that the short road to recovery is to submit myself to his care. He cured me and I'm sure that he can cure you, too.

CHARLES GRAMBERG,
Box 476, Gilbert, Minn.

The above letter speaks for itself. Charles Gramberg, knowing that Dr. Wentworth publishes testimonial letters, sent it unsolicited out of a true spirit of gratitude—a kindly desire on his part to help others find relief. Nothing more need be said, except that

FEDERAL LAND BANKS IN GOOD CONDITION

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 20.—Although the Federal land banks have been prevented by court action from making loans for almost a year, they are in firmer position and making larger dividends than ever before, declared E. G. Quamme, St. Paul, president of the St. Paul Federal land bank, at the annual meeting of the North Dakota local land bank association officials in Fargo yesterday.

The land bank paid 6 per cent dividend on stock in 1919 and 1920, and will pay 12 per cent in 1921, Mr. Quamme promised. Each borrower subscribes to stock in the bank to the amount of 5 per cent of his loan. The dividend is paid to him and applies to reducing his interest. These earnings will reduce the interest to close to 5 per cent next year.

Mr. Quamme predicted a decision in December or January by the United States supreme court on the case attacking the constitutionality of the land bank law.

BADGER CHIPPEWAS ARE HEAVY BONDHOLDERS

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—One hundred and nine thousand dollars worth of Liberty bonds were sent from the Ashland Indian office this week to Washington to be transferred for new bonds bearing 4¼ per cent interest. Indian Agent P. S. Everest is custodian of bonds bought by the Indians amounting to $458,000. Some of these, including $70,000 worth of Victory bonds, bear 4¾ per cent interest. No single class of citizens bought bonds during the war to the extent of the Chippewa Indians. Many of them spent every cent they could raise buying bonds. It was the eleventh hour purchase of these Northern Wisconsin Chippewas that put the Ninth Federal reserve district over the top, putting it in first place as compared with every district in the United States.

CHARGES AGAINST GRANGER SUSTAINED

Boston, Mass., Nov. 20.—Four of the eight charges against William Bouck, master of the Washington State grange were sustained by a vote of the national grange late yesterday. The penalty voted by the grange was an apology to be made by Bouck and a reprimand for his alleged disloyalty to the national grange and for permitting politics to be introduced at grange sessions.

Bouck, who has been known as a leader of the radical element in the grange, was the unsuccessful candidate of the Farmer-Labor party for congress in the Second Washington district at this year's election.

The charges were brought against him by five members of Pomona Grange 19, Yakima county, Washington. They were considered by the committee on claims and grievances of the national grange, which heard representatives of Bouck and of the complainants. The committee's report was submitted and its ratification brought to a close the fifty-fourth national grange assembly.

NEW POLICIES FOR A. F. OF L.

Washington, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor concluded its work here last night without making any formal announcement as to what had been accomplished during its two weeks of discussions.

Although members of the council, including President Gompers of the federation, were disinclined to talk of proceedings in the executive sessions, it is known that certain programs were discussed, which by common consent will practically become policies of the organization. These include what was described as a healthy stand against radicalism within organized labor and for sharp restriction of immigration.

There was also an almost unanimous agreement among the labor heads, it is understood, for closer co-operation between labor and industrial engineers. In this labor leaders believed they were accomplishing the dual purpose of eliminating waste and inefficiency and creating an atmosphere which would foster greater production. The council was said to have made plain in its discussions its realization of world needs in this respect, and members of the council held that labor's conduct should be such that no blame for low output could attach to the workers.

Plan Conferences.

It was said that council members had planned a series of conferences with industrial experts looking to gradual establishment of a co-operation which many deem invaluable. Some such conferences have been held during the last year, including that with Herbert Hoover, former Federal food administrator, who met here with the council early this week. Mr. Gompers was represented as being highly pleased with the results of the Hoover and other conferences and having expressed a desire to continue them.

The plea was made in council sessions here on more than one occasion. It was said, that labor leaders employ every effort to clear their attitude of suspicion, which some leaders held had attached to labor's position when seeking reforms. The belief that this might handicap labor in seeking the advice of industrial experts as the labor program is developed was said to have been expressed.

Unqualified support is said to have been given the stand against radicalism, within and without organized labor, as voiced by President Gompers and Vice President Woll.

Legislation to be urged on congress was discussed by the council, but the nature of these plans were not disclosed. It was regarded as certain, however, that Mr. Gompers or his aides would appear before congressional committees during the coming session.

"THIS I FORTUNATELY DID"

CHARLES GRAMBERG.

I enclose herewith my picture and letter to be published for the purpose of informing those who are in need of proper assistance as to where they may obtain it.

It is well known that influenza made people sick and that it left many of them with other ailments in some form or another. I had an attack of the 'flu' which developed into pneumonia leaving my lungs in bad shape. I was in the hospital under the care of a physician for four months, during which time I suffered much pain and was wholly confined to bed. As is the habit of physicians, I was operated on, though very weak, without an anesthetic, with the hope of curing me. When the doctors figured that I was about to die on their hands last April, they had me discharged from the hospital. I was so weak that I could hardly walk, so I went to live with one of my friends who would take care of me. Then for many weeks I was under the care of a doctor, taking his medicines without any results. About six weeks ago I was about to consult another doctor, because my condition became very critical. It just happened that I saw a man who spoke very highly of Dr. Wentworth and he encouraged me to go and see him. This I fortunately did. When I commenced to take treatments from Dr. Wentworth I weighed 115 pounds, although I am six feet tall and of a matured age. From the very first treatment I observed relief. I was further consoled and encouraged when I had a whole night's rest. Previous to my taking Dr. Wentworth's treatments I would roll about restlessly in bed all night long, not getting any sleep at all. After taking treatments for two weeks I began to feel very well; I was able to eat anything I wished, I slept well nights and it was a pleasure to live again. I have now been under the care of Dr. Wentworth for six weeks and during this time I have become a normal, healthy man. I do not feel the effects from nor have any of my former suffering, but to make sure that I am entirely well I am going to take a few more treatments. I believe that not many have suffered as much as I have, yet Dr. Wentworth was able to cure me. He uses no medicines, nor does he perform any operations. Therefore, to all of you who are suffering, I recommend that the short road to recovery is to submit myself to his care. He cured me and I'm sure that he can cure you, too.

CHARLES GRAMBERG,
Box 476, Gilbert, Minn.

The above letter speaks for itself. Charles Gramberg, knowing that Dr. Wentworth publishes testimonial letters, sent it unsolicited out of a true spirit of gratitude—a kindly desire on his part to help others find relief. Nothing more need be said, except that

FEDERAL LAND BANKS IN GOOD CONDITION

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 20.—Although the Federal land banks have been prevented by court action from making loans for almost a year, they are in firmer position and making larger dividends than ever before, declared E. G. Quamme, St. Paul, president of the St. Paul Federal land bank, at the annual meeting of the North Dakota local land bank association officials in Fargo yesterday.

The land bank paid 6 per cent dividend on stock in 1919 and 1920, and will pay 12 per cent in 1921, Mr. Quamme promised. Each borrower subscribes to stock in the bank to the amount of 5 per cent of his loan. The dividend is paid to him and applies to reducing his interest. These earnings will reduce the interest to close to 5 per cent next year.

Mr. Quamme predicted a decision in December or January by the United States supreme court on the case attacking the constitutionality of the land bank law.

BADGER CHIPPEWAS ARE HEAVY BONDHOLDERS

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—One hundred and nine thousand dollars worth of Liberty bonds were sent from the Ashland Indian office this week to Washington to be transferred for new bonds bearing 4¼ per cent interest. Indian Agent P. S. Everest is custodian of bonds bought by the Indians amounting to $458,000. Some of these, including $70,000 worth of Victory bonds, bear 4¾ per cent interest. No single class of citizens bought bonds during the war to the extent of the Chippewa Indians. Many of them spent every cent they could raise buying bonds. It was the eleventh hour purchase of these Northern Wisconsin Chippewas that put the Ninth Federal reserve district over the top, putting it in first place as compared with every district in the United States.

CHARGES AGAINST GRANGER SUSTAINED

Boston, Mass., Nov. 20.—Four of the eight charges against William Bouck, master of the Washington State grange were sustained by a vote of the national grange late yesterday. The penalty voted by the grange was an apology to be made by Bouck and a reprimand for his alleged disloyalty to the national grange and for permitting politics to be introduced at grange sessions.

Bouck, who has been known as a leader of the radical element in the grange, was the unsuccessful candidate of the Farmer-Labor party for congress in the Second Washington district at this year's election.

The charges were brought against him by five members of Pomona Grange 19, Yakima county, Washington. They were considered by the committee on claims and grievances of the national grange, which heard representatives of Bouck and of the complainants. The committee's report was submitted and its ratification brought to a close the fifty-fourth national grange assembly.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Nov. 20.—Funeral services were held at Escanaba for Norman Miller, who died Wednesday evening at his home, 104 West Hughitt street. He had been ill for the last two weeks. Mr. Miller is survived by his wife and a brother.

GOVERNOR HERE MONDAY IN BEHALF OF CARLETON

GOVERNOR J. A. A. BURNQUIST.

Women will have an opportunity Monday noon of meeting Governor Burnquist and President Cowling of Carleton college when they speak at a noon-day meeting following a luncheon to be served at the Spalding hotel. Governor Burnquist, an alumnus of the Northfield institution, is doing what he can to help his alma mater raise money for her proposed development, but no collection or subscription will be taken Monday. The governor and the president of the college will merely tell the story of what is proposed and let it go at that.

It was intended at first to have only men present at the luncheon, but so many demands by women were made that the barriers were thrown down. They will have to telephone the Spalding hotel management for reservations before 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, however. Mayor T. W. Hugo is expected to preside.

HEAR STORIES OF OUTRAGES

Committee Listens to Tales of Killings and Burnings in Ireland.

Washington, Nov. 20.—After receiving more reports of conditions in Ireland resulting from the movement for independence from both American and Irish witnesses at the second day of its hearings here, the commission of the committee of 100 investigating the question late yesterday adjourned over Thanksgiving. The hearing will be resumed probably the first week in December, subject to the call of Frederick C. Howe, commission chairman.

Personal accounts of the killing of citizens and police last September at Balbriggan and the burning and looting of homes and stores there and at Galway and other Irish towns yesterday were related by John Derham, town commissioner of Balbriggan, and Americans who toured the country recently, including Mrs. William A. King of Ironton, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hackett of New York. A copy of the report made by the Quaker commission from Great Britain, which investigated Irish affairs recently, was submitted by Paul J. Furnas of New York, representing the Society of Friends.

"Terrorism."

"Terrorism" was the term applied by all of yesterday's witnesses to the military rule in Ireland. Mr. Derham said the "black and tans" bayonetted two citizens of Balbriggan and burned twenty-five houses during a raid in reprisal for the shooting of two officers by unknown persons. He said he was himself beaten with bayonet butts and otherwise maltreated. No compensation, he said, was offered by the British goverument for property destroyed by the military.

A picture of the military rule, maintained with armed lorries and tanks in Cork, Limerick, Dublin and other cities was given by Mrs. King, who said that street shootings were nightly occurrences.

Mr. Hackett, associate editor of the New Republic, said that magistrates and civil police had resigned in shoals," and that the people generally were submitting their civil and other controversies to the republican courts. Barring only the nominal authority of Dublin castle, he said, there would be little British dominion in Ireland except that of the military forces.

Eighty Per Cent Sinn Fein.

"Eighty per cent of the people are for Sinn Fein," Mr. Hackett said. He stated that he always had sympathized with the Sinn Fein government. The judicial administration of the Sinn Fein officials, the witness stated, included formal, although secret "trial" of police, constabulary and soldiers charged with killing Irish citizens.

"Responsible Sinn Fein leaders told me," Mr. Hackett said, "that these killings of policemen were a necessary act of justice, most of them having committed actual murder."

Conditions in Ireland are "working up to massacre," Mr. Hackett said. He added that many of the "black and tans" were ex-convicts and other desperadoes.

'The English are pursuing a policy of oppression and assassination," he continued, "and making no effort to bring to book those guilty, among the military forces, of lawlessness."

The British policy rgearding restitution for property destroyed by the military is to impose assessments on citizens of the community where violence has occurred, the witness said. He added that Sir Arthur Griffith had told him that in September there were about 150,000 troops in Ireland, and he estimated the number of police killed within the last few years at about 120.

Before the World war, Mr. Hackett stated, British officials permitted Ulster revolutionists to import arms from Germany without hindrance, but balked, with military force, attempts at similar importations into Southern Ireland.

DULUTH ASKED TO HELP STARVING VIENNA CHILDREN

Children in Austria are starving in thousands and others are becoming weakened and diseased for life from lack of suitable food, according to reports of the Friends (Quaker) Service committee with whom the Minnesota Committee for the Relief of German Children is co-operating. Colin Thomson, American Exchange National bank, Duluth, is acting in this city for the committee and all wishing to aid the Quakers in their work for relief may send their contributions to him. These checks should be marked "For Austria," and funds designated thus will be used for Austrian relief.

The Minnesota committee, for whom Robert W. Webb, Minneapolis Trust company, is treasurer in Minneapolis, has received bulletins telling of the alarming conditions in Vienna. These will gladly be given to any one interested. They report the words of Dr. Ethel Williams, a doctor of thirty years' experience.

"What struck me most when walking about the streets was that there were no toddlers. Children of 3 and even 4 years of age had to be carried by their mothers. The children did not run about or shout or quarrel. At least 95 per cent of the comparatively well children were painfully emaciated. Osteomalachia has become epidemic, a disease so rare before the war that the only two cases I had ever seen were shown to me as a curiosity. It seemed to come from lack of fresh food. The bones soften and become distorted."

DEER HUNTERS FLOCK TO SAWYER COUNTY

Couderay, Wis., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The deer season will open up with several thousand hunters in the woods in the southern part of Sawyer county. Incoming trains for the last few days have been packed, the regular passenger train hauling four extra coaches and three extra baggage cars to accommodate the hunters.

It is a safe estimate that there will be over 3,000 hunters in the woods in the southern part of this county when the deer season opens.

The deer are reported quite numerous and some snow on the ground, so there should be a big slaughter from the start.

Suicide at Chatfield, Minn.

WHY HAVE CATARRH?

So Disagreeable to Yourself and All About You.

Catarrh is generally conceded to be a constitutional disease. Therefore it requires a constitutional remedy like Hoods' Sarsaparilla, which reaches every part of the system by thoroughly purifying and enriching the blood. This medicine removes the cause of the trouble, which if not checked may lead to more serious disease.

In 46 years of use and test Hood's Sarsaparilla has relieved many cases, as told by voluntary letters of commendation. Why not get a bottle today and give it a trial. It combines economy and efficiency. Keep Hood's Pills on hand as a family cathartic.—Advertisement.

THE EAR IS A DELICATE ORGAN

Catarrh of the nasal passages will eventually affect the ear, resulting in loss of hearing. It isn't worth while taking the risk, when it can be prevented.

CHARITY BALL, SOCIETY'S BIG EVENT OF YEAR FOR BENEFIT OF CHILDREN'S HOME, TO BE REVIVED TUESDAY

MRS. F. H. RAISKY.

MRS. NORVEN H. GILLESPIE.

Two members of the board of directors of the Children's Home society are Mrs. F. H. Raisky and Mrs. Norven H. Gillespie. Mrs. Raisky is a member of the house committee and Mrs. Gillespie is one of the newly elected members of the committee on supply.

Nothing of so large a magnitude or holding such possibilities in a way of pleasurable entertainment has been undertaken by the Children's Home society during the year as the annual Charity ball which will be given at the Armory next Tuesday evening.

Tuesday's ball will mark a return to the pre-war practice of annually having one immense jollification party as a means of bringing sustaining members and friends of the home together for a happy evening, and at the same time raising funds for furthering the work of the society in caring for small children who are without parent or other person interested in their protection and general care.

"If there is one person who doubts that the function of the Children's Home is at once commendable and altogether a happy event for the small boys and girls at home there, a visit to this institution would be convincing and prove beyond question that in contributing to the support of the home one is conferring a great kindness to the deserving little people sheltered within its keep, to say nothing of the merits of the act as a purely charitable one," is the manner in which a member of the board expressed herself this morning.

Since the Charity ball is the annual fund-raising day of the society members are in hopes that the 1,200 persons who have been closely identified with contributing to the finances of the home in the past, together with the hundreds of new friends the home has made in the last year, will show their generosity and goodwill by remembering that even though they do not feel disposed to attend the ball they will return their tickets, accompanied by a check, to Mrs. L. C. Barnett, chairman of the committee on finance, at her home, 1723 East First street. Also persons wishing to attend the ball and who have not received tickets may obtain them through Mrs. Barnett.

Officers, committee members and the board of directors of the Children's home are:

President, Mrs. G. Herbert Jones; vice president, Mrs. B. E. La Londe; secretary, Mrs. Russell Duncan; assistant secretary, Mrs. George G. Barnum, Jr., and treasurer, Mrs. W. B. Brinkman.

PLANS OUTLINED FOR FEDERATION

The first work of General Federation of Women's Clubs under the new administration will be to complete the 1920-1922 directory; the second will be to build up a helpful reference library augmented by a clipping bureau; the third will be to affiliate with other national organizations and government bureaus in Washington which are in a position to co-operate with the federation for the common good; and the fourth will be to establish a direct personal communication with state federations and individual clubs throughout the length and breadth of the country.

Miss Lida Hafford, new director of headquarters, says:

To Finish Directory.

"My first work will be to finish the directory. The real task comes in hearing from delinquent clubs, receiving the material and whipping it into shape for publication and then, proofreading. Twenty-five states are holding state conventions this fall and all of that data is yet to be collected. The directories will be printed in Chicago but will be distributed from the Washington office. We will not go to press until all of the November conventions have been held.

"I wish to urge each club to send in data needed if this has not been forwarded and to send in at once any changes which may have occurred since a report sent in the early fall.

"I also urge that clubs forward to headquarters at once a copy of their year book or program, as these help the small, inexperienced club in planning programs and in revising constitutions.

Club Papers Acceptable.

"Club papers which would be of assistance to those removed from library facilities will be acceptable, as well as clippings from magazines on up-to-date club subjects. I hope to build up a helpful reference library, and later on I shall appeal to state federations and individual clubs to remember headquarters in some way each year, by donations of books or money.

"Mrs. Thomas G. Winter has presented national headquarters with a copy of 'Who's Who' and has promised other reference books for the general federation reference library.

"There are doubtless many women who would be glad to follow Mrs. Winter's example if they knew how little we have to work with and how urgent is our need."

To Form Clipping Bureau.

The department of literature and library extension membership of the District of Columbia federation have promised to form themselves into a clipping bureau to clip from magazines live topics on all subjects of interest to club women, the clippings to be filed and catalogued according to subjects, where they will be accessible to all clubs or club women. The magazines from which the clippings will be taken will be contributed by the club women of Washington.

The student members have the privilege of attending all other meetings of the Matinee Musicale, including the artist's recitals.

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING DINNER

Written by Miss Rose Briggs of Plymouth, Mass.

It is a tradition in Plymouth that the eating of turkey and cranberry sauce on Thanksgiving day goes back to the first Thanksgiving held by the Pilgrims.

That little band of self-exiled, devoted Christians crossed the stormy sea in the Mayflower and landed at Plymouth Rock on Dec. 21, 1620 (just 300 years ago). Their first winter in the new world was one of great suffering, marked with famine and hardships.

During the spring of 1621 the Pilgrims, who had survived the bitter winter, sowed their seed and watched its growing with much anxiety. For upon the success of the crops at harvest time depended their very lives. The following October the first harvest was gathered in, and to their great joy, they were blessed with an abundance. Then Governor Bradford (following somewhat the custom of the English harvest home) declared a three days' celebration for feasting and thanksgiving. Chief Massasoit, and other friendly Indians, were invited to this first Thanksgiving day party, and a grand celebration it was.

Governor Bradford, in his account of the Pilgrims' first Thanksgiving, does not give a menu of the dinner, but he often refers to the wild turkeys as one of the luxuries of the colony. However, John Josselyn, an English traveler and naturalist who visited New England in 1638 and wrote an account of its "rarities," says, "Cranberry or bear berry (because bears used much to feed upon them) is a small trayling plant that grows in salt marshes that are overgrown with moss. The Indians and English use them much, boiling them with sugar for sauce to eat with their meat."

That cranberries belong to the traditional Pilgrim dinner is shown by the menu of the "decent repast" served at the first "Celebration of the Landing of Our Forefathers," which was observed on Dec. 22, 1769. This day was celebrated by the Old Colony club of Plymouth with a procession and a dinner consisting of "a large baked Indian whortleberry pudding; a dish of sauquetach (succatash); a dish of clams; a dish of oysters and a dish of codfish; a haunch of venison, roasted by the first jack brought into the colony; a dish of fowl; cranberry tarts; a dish of frost fish and eels; an apple pie; a course of cheese made in the old colony. These articles were dressed in the plainest manner (all appearance of luxury and extravagance being avoided in imitation of our ancestors, whose memory we shall ever respect)."

Turkey, succatash and cranberries still play their part at the Thanksgiving dinners in Plymouth, and five grains of parched corn are laid beside each plate in remembrance of the early years of famine.

Duluth Girl on Class Play Committee in East

That all-important event of junior year at Mount Holyoke college, South Hadley, Mass, the presentation of the "class show," took place last evening. The production, a happy combination of delicate fantasy and vivacious musical comedy, was entitled "The Color Seeker." Ruth E. Ashton of San Diego, Cal., and Elizabth L. Osgood of Boston were the authors of the play. Music, dancing, costuming and setting were the original work of the class, each member of which had some part in the production.

Miss Mary C. Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Baldwin of 1529 East Second street, Duluth, was on the costumes committee for the show.

The story, set in a Greenwich village atmosphere, is that of an artist, successful but dissatisfied because he has never been able to produce on canvas the "pure color" of which he has dreamed. In search of this idealized color, he is led by the Moon Queen on a visit to the moon, where he finds what he has been seeking. In the end, however, he discovers that he is mistaken—the one perfect color is that of the firelight on the face of his wife.

Perhaps the work of the choruses was the most effective feature of the performance. In the first act a group of picturesque models in brilliant colored smocks and black velvet tams did a modern dance to a breezy song. Of a different nature was the Firefly dance by little folks in brown firefly costumes with flashing lights. The costumes worn in the dances of the second act were particularly striking. The Gems, representing topazes, emeralds and amethysts, were costumes shaped like cut stones with gold head dresses. The Northern Lights were in metallic cloth in pastel shades in long flowing lines. The Color Sprites were grouped to represent an iceberg which burst into colors—shades of yellow, blue, green, lavender and gray. In the last act the dance of the Hearth Fire Fairies in flame-colored chiffon with gray scarfs was charming for its color and rhythm.

Side Talks

By Ruth Cameron.

WHAT WILL THEY GROW INTO.

DO YOU ever wonder what the marvelously favored children of this day and generation are going to grow up into? If they do not grow up something most remarkable, surely there is something wrong in the scheme of things.

I sat at the table recently with a woman who teaches the kindergarent, which is attended by several children whom I know. She was talking about a course in psychology which she has been taking at one of the big universities. This course is to supplement elaborate training abroad. Think of the treasure of training she is bringing these children!

And then think of the women who ran kindergartens in the days when we were children. Usually the kindergartener was some woman with, at most, a high school education, who had not married when her other friends did and who, being fond of children and capable of playing the piano, and having a good-sized house, just naturally appropriated the parlor, bought a few colored blocks, etcetera, and opened a kindergarten to which the children of her married friends went.

And the Vacation Opportunities!

Then think of all the riches of opportunity and nejoyment and education such movements as the Boy and Girl Scouts give the child of today.

Think of his vacations. In the first place, take the length of them—in the private schools there is little work done from the first of May until the first of October. Even in the public schools there is a good ten weeks in the summer, besides a month or so of holidays during the winter. And yet I heard a mother complaining that vacations were altogether too short. I wonder if the next generation will reverse the ratio to a three months' work and nine vacation?

Then think of the way these vacations are spent. I suppose there are ten children to whom the opportunity of swimming, tramping in the woods and fields, and for sports in general, is given in the summer today to every one who had such a chance twenty years ago.

Operations as Expected as Children's Diseases.

As for the attention that is given to children's health nowadays! An exclamation point was the only way that sentence could possibly be finished. Think of the way their tonsils, their adenoids and their appendixes are looked after—children's operations are becoming almost as common and as inevitable as children's diseases. Then think of the care that is given their diet, the way their teeth are looked after, the prophylactic measures that are used against colds, the disinfecting of scratches—to mention only a few of the ways in which more attention is paid to children's health. If the neglect of these things really causes all the harm that we are assured it does, surely the infinite attention that is given them should produce a super-generation.

Won't It Be Fun to Know?

There are many things which are going to make it interesting to keep on living these next twenty years quite apart from one's own stake in the game. We want to go on living so we may see how capital and labor are coming out in their struggle, whether flying machines really will become as common as flivvers, what Mr. Edison will accomplish in the line of communication with other worlds, and, last but not least—what this intensive cultivation of the possibilities of childhood is going to bring forth.

Efficient Housekeeping

By Laura A. Kirkman.

THE NOURISHING RAISIN.

THE raisin is one of those foods which represent concentrated nutrition. A pound of raisins, stemmed and seeded, contains three-fourths of a pound of carbohydrates, which gives them a fuel value of something over 1,500 calories—more by 400 calories than a loaf of whole-wheat bread.

A cup of raisins added to a cake or a pudding, will increase its fuel value by 300 calories, and for this reason puddings, breads or cakes which contain raisins are often introduced into a meal which is otherwise light and would not be satisfying without a "heavy" dessert.

A one-egg cake will masquerade as something very much finer if a cup of raisins be added to it; and with the present high price of eggs, the thrifty housewife will turn to a raisin as to a friend, in her cake-baking. The following recipes are all good ones:

One-Egg Sour-Milk Raisin Cake—Cream together ½ cup of butter and 1 cup of sugar; add ½ teaspoon cinnamon and a grating of nutmeg, then 1 egg well-beaten and 1 cup of sour milk. Sift together 2 cups of flour and a level teaspoon of soda and add these to the liquid mixture with ¾ of a cup of chopped seedless raisins. Beat well, pour into either a long-shaped pan or into cup-cake tins, and bake.

One-Egg Chocolate Raisin Cake—4 tablespoons butter, ½ cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 square chocolate, ¾ cup dry mashed potato, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¾ cup sifted flour, ¼ cup milk, ½ cup walnuts chopped, ½ cup raisins. Cream the butter, add the sugar, then the egg well-beaten, followed by the melted chocolate, potato and vanilla. Beat this mixture until smooth. Now mix and sift the baking powder, flour and salt and add these alternately with the milk to the first mixture. Add raisins and nuts and pour into an oblong buttered pan. Bake forty minutes. Frost with boiled frosting.

Raisin Health Muffins—1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 cups bran, 1 cup raisins, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons molasses, 2 cups sour milk and 1 tablespoon melted butter. Mix and sift flour, soda and salt; add the bran and raisins. Combine well-beaten egg, molasses and milk and stir into the dry ingredients. Add the butter and bake 30 minutes in muffin tins.

Mrs. K.: Answer—The frugal housewife is now making her dining room between-meal centerpieces, as well as sideboard and console runners, of flowered cretonne because of the high cost of linen. I believe in applying the same practice to bed-covers, pillow-slip covers, bureau covers and bedroom-table covers. Have cretonne valances over the window curtains to match these smaller pieces of cretonne.

Many women, not caring for cretonne covers on their beds, are using unbleached muslin bed and pillow covers and decorating these by featherstitching strips of delicate pink or blue cambric or muslin on these covers in a formal design of some sort. Japanese towelling makes splendid every-day table napkins; and two strips of "runners" of this material crossed over the table will make a fine substitute for a table cloth.

Write me a description of your living room, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and I will gladly advise you in regard to its decorations and furnishings.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

MISS RUTH TAYLOR.

Noteworthy because it presents in artistic and unusually attractive setting the landing of the Pilgrims and the history-making epochs of their existence, is the masque to be given at Pilgrim Congregational church Dec. 10 and 17 in celebration of the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers, and in which Miss Ruth Taylor will play the leading role, that of Priscilla, supported in one of the principal party by Mrs. Robert McGonagle, who will portray the part of "America." Historical facts set forth in the masque date from the landing of the Pilgrims on American soil Dec. 21, 1620, at Provincetown. The first expedition set out from the Mayflower to "look out a place for habitation" Dec. 25, 1620, and tramped to North Truro, a few miles up the cape, and of the subsequent treaties with the Indians, the hardships they endured and the struggles made, given in dramatic story by a cast of seventy men, women and children. Miss Nell Ames Horr is directing the work.

Dr. Pace Issues Book Of Christmas Poems

Dr. Charles N. Pace, pastor of the First Methodist church, has just issued a little volume of verse under the title "Christmas Poems." It is printed in two colors and makes an attractive Christmas booklet. The poems are mostly religious in character. They interpret the spirit of the Christmas season and several of them have to do with the war. There are others which reflect some of the interesting experiences of Dr. Pace in Palestine.

Since coming to Duluth Dr. Pace has brought out three other books: "Bring Him to Me," a treatise on the gospel in modern society; "The Passion of Herman," a story of Oberammergau, and "Hear Ye Him," a volume of sermons preached in the First church.

"Christmas Poems" will be on sale at the ladies' aid bazar at the First church and at the book shop of the Glass Block.

FIFTH FLICKERTAIL STATE BANK CLOSES

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 20.—The Beach State bank of Beach was closed late yesterday, it was announced last night by O. E. Lofthus, state bank examiner, making fourth bank to be closed in North Dakota this week. A fifth bank late yesterday sent word to Mr. Lofthus that it had decided to close.

Directors of the Farmers' State bank of Greene, N. D., notified Mr. Lofthus that they would close their institution and ask for the appointment of a receiver. Expected withdrawal of public funds deposited in it was given as the reason by the board of directors.

Greene is near Tolley, in Renville county, where a bank was closed several days ago.

Failure of farmers to meet notes held by the banks is one of the principal reasons for suspending operations, Mr. Lofthus said. Holding of wheat for higher prices and poor crops in some sections also are responsible, it is said.

John Hagan, state commissioner of agriculture and labor, declared last night that in his opinion the Federal reserve bank could adjust conditions by extending more credit. Mr. Hagan said farmers are being forced to sell wheat below cost of production and others are holding for higher prices.

"TINKER BOB" STORIES

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB

IT WAS THE KING IN THE CAVE.

THE call that came from the outside was the call of a friend of Mr. Wolf. It was coming to the twilight hour again. It was getting dark, and it was time for Mr. Wolf to go out again into the forest and frighten all of the dwellers.

"There is a call for you at the door," said Tinker Bob. "Are you going to let the fellow in?"

"No one dares to come in at that door. If he did he would not go out alive," answered Mr. Wolf as he looked toward the entrance.

"But I'm inside," said Tinker Bob, "and I am going out alive and you couldn't stop me, nor anyone else in the forest."

Mr. Wolf didn't know which way to turn. "Please let me go out to see my friend and I will not do any harm tonight to anyone in the forest, not even the king," he begged.

"Do you think you would know the king if he should come along?"

"Of course I would know him. I have seen him many a time in the forest and could have killed him and had him out of the way, but I didn't want to." Mr. Wolf seemed to be getting braver.

Tinker Bob laughed and laughed, and said: "Gr-r-rr! Why, Mr. Wolf, you couldn't even harm a hair on the head of the king of the forest."

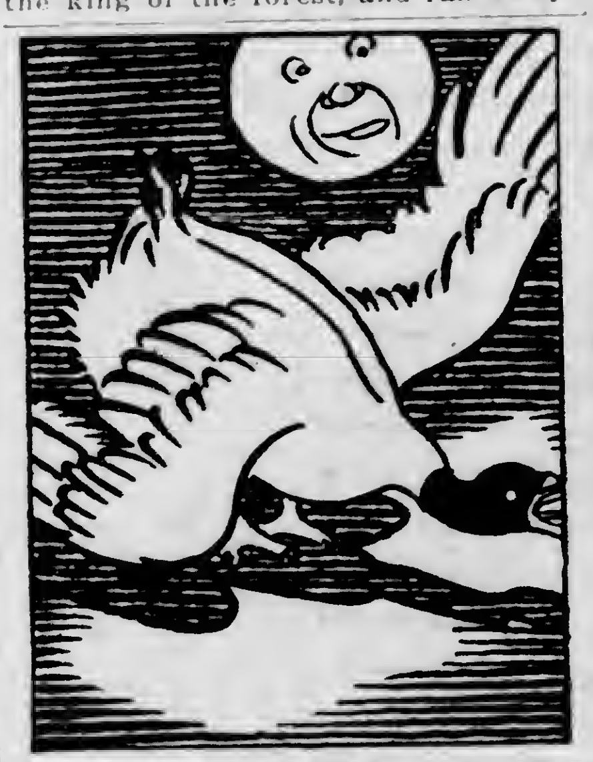
"Please let me go out to see my friend," said Mr. Wolf.

"All right, go out to see your friend, but remember what you said."

Mr. Wolf got out of that cave as quickly as ever he could and he didn't stop running till he came to the opening in the midst of the forest. His friends who were calling him followed his footsteps to the opening and there they stopped, for they, too, saw the strangest sight that had ever appeared to them before. It was the great white spirit that Mr. Wolf had seen some days ago. Really, it was Lady Duck with her wings spread out and her head down. They were terrified.

Mr. Wolf, seeing her first, said: "Oh, great spirit, was it you who frightened me so in the cave where I live? Do tell me quickly."

"Mr. Wolf, I have not seen you since the time you were calling your mate, and you said you wanted to see the king of the forest, and ran away."



It Was the Great White Spirit That Mr. Wolf Had Seen Some Days Ago.

"Oh, great spirit, pray tell me, if you can, who it was that talked to me in my cave. I could hear him speak, but I could not see him. It was the most terrible thing that ever happened in all my life."

"Mr. Wolf, I will tell you who it was. Do you know you were untrue? You said you wanted the king to help you find your mate, but instead you went away from here and planned to destroy the king. Now all of the forest creatures know about it, and they will come to you and destroy you if you plan to harm the king. Mr. Wolf, it was Tinker Bob, king of the forest, who spoke to you in the midst of your cave."

WAGE SCALE DISCUSSED

Employers and Others Give Views Regarding Change in State Law.

Should Minnesota's present minimum wage of $11 for women, established in August, 1919, be raised to meet increased living costs, and if so, to what figure?

These and other questions, affecting wage scales and living costs, were discussed at a public hearing conducted last night at the Commercial club by members of the Minnesota Minimum Wage commission, which is investigating the question preliminary to establishing a new minimum wage for the state, if conditions, in the judgment of the commission, warrant it.

Mostly Employers Present.

About seventy-five people, most of them employers, attended the conference. The working girls were well represented, however, their views being presented by Miss Amy J. Fagundas, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., and John E. Jensen, secretary of the Duluth Trades and Labor assembly.

E. A. Silberstein of the Silberstein & Bondy company was the first to open the discussion. He took the position that the commission should go slow in making any large increase in the present minimum wage and that they should be governed only by facts in making up their mind.

Admits Increase Necessary.

"We believe that an increase in the minimum wage is required, due to the increase in the cost of living since 1919," said Mr. Silberstein. "The present minimum wage of $11 is probably a little low. According to the report of the national industrial commission, living costs have increased exactly 17.3 per cent from August, 1919, to October, 1920. If the commission wants to be fair to all concerned, the present minimum wage should not be increased more than 17.3 per cent, which would make the minimum $12.87. That is taking for granted of course that the present cost of living prevails. As a matter of fact, however, prices and living costs are coming down. The minimum wage should be based on the standard of living at the present time and we believe that this should not exceed 17.3 per cent."

Few Get Minimum Wage.

Mr. Silberstein stated that a survey of the employment and wage situation in five of the largest department stores of the city showed that less than 6 per cent of the employes were receiving wages less than $12 a week. The law provides that the commission may change the minimum wage when it shall appear that more than one-sixth of the employes in any line of work are shown to be receiving less than a living wage.

In one 10-cent store, which has 129 employes, $18 is the average wage paid and $13 is the lowest and $27 the highest, Mr. Silberstein said. The records further showed, he said, that 90 per cent of the girls employed in the five largest stores are living at home and do not have the expenses of a girl who is boarding.

Miss Fagundas of the Y. W. C. A. submitted some figures from three types of working girls. Her figures tended to show that few working girls do not live up to their income. The first case cited was that of a girl in a clerical position. She receives $80 a month and spends it all but $6.50. She pays $42 a month for her board and room. The second case was that of a girl employed as a saleslady in one of the local stores. She receives $60.50 a month and saves nothing. Her board and room cost her $35 a month and she sleeps on a davenport in a sitting room to get it at that price. The third case, a factory girl, receives $14.75 a week and requires it all to live, she claims. Her board and room cost $10 a week.

Board and Room $10.

According to Miss Fagundas the average cost of board and room is $10 a week. As to clothing requirements she submitted a budget of one working girl which placed the figures at $266 for a year and the list did not include toilet articles or handbags or anything except bare necessities. This would make an average of $5.10 a week for clothing, which is higher than has been set by Miss Eliza P. Evans, secretary of the commission, who figures that $3.25 a week is the bed rock allowance for clothing at present prices.

John E. Jensen of the Trades and Labor Assembly spoke on what he knew about living costs and what he had learned from working girls about their requirements and the difficulties experienced in getting along with the present minimum wage.

Girls Like Silk Stockings.

I. Freimuth of the Freimuth store declared that it had been his observation that some working girls would buy silk stockings in preference to cotton, whether they could afford them or not. He said that he had put on a sale of 39-cent cotton stockings, marked down from 75 cents, at his store and that he had been disappointed in the way the sale was received by working girls, who bought silk stockings instead.

The minimum wage commission, consisting of John P. Gardiner, state labor commissioner; John C. Ferguson of St. Paul and Miss Eliza P. Evans of St. Paul will go to Winona for a public hearing Monday and to St. Cloud on Wednesday. This will conclude the public hearings which were started this month in the Twin Cities.

SUPREME COURT WILL DECIDE STATE RATES

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The supreme court of the United States ultimately will be called upon to decide the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission over intrastate passenger and baggage rates, it was announced yesterday at the office of Attorney General Newton. The order of the commission that the railroads operating in New York establish intrastate passenger and baggage rates to conform to the interstate schedules by increasing their passenger rates from 3 to 3.6 cents a mile, will not end the fight of the state authorities for a restoration of the 2-cent-a-mile rate between Albany and Buffalo, the attorney general said.

They were first married in 1867. Mrs. Schmailzl was granted a divorce in 1915, having charged her husband with nonsupport and cruelty. When they appeared for the marriage license yesterday, they said they were as happy as they were the day they were married fifty-three years ago. Mrs. Schmailzl took the initiative in procuring the license. She guided the faltering hand of her husband as he signed the application. Twelve of their seventeen children are living.

DENNIS CHESTER TRIES TO HANG HIMSELF

Chester tore a blanket into strips, tied one end around a bar of his cell, placed the other end around his neck and then allowed himself to fall backward with his feet still on the floor. He was found unconscious in this position.

Chester escaped from officers taking him from Great Falls, Mont., to Kansas City on Monday night by jumping through the window of a sleeping car near Broken Bow.

Physicians reported that the prisoner stood an excellent chance to recover.

PURSE RIFLED AT HOTEL.

AITKIN PRISONER IS ANXIOUS TO RUN STILL

Aitkin, Minn., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—"If you will let me run that thing right where it stands I can clean up $2,500 a month as easy as anything," said a prisoner in the Aitkin county jail to Sheriff I. E. Boekenoogen when he saw a still in the basement of the jail that had been taken from some moonshiners last summer. "It's a pity to have a machine like that lying idle," continued the prisoner as he went about the work assigned him.

ANNOUNCES

After a thorough study of the matter, I have decided to discontinue so far as possible all charge accounts and work only for cash. In so doing I can be fair to all my patients—the honest will not have to pay for the dishonest; there will be no books to keep nor any accounts to collect. This method will cut my expenses and allow me to give my patients a reduction of 25% for cash on all hospital, office and surgical work.

I have several thousand dollars on my books on which I will allow a discount of 15% if paid before December 15th, 1920.

If you wish to take advantage of the cash method, phone for appointment.

WAGE SCALE DISCUSSED

Employers and Others Give Views Regarding Change in State Law.

Should Minnesota's present minimum wage of $11 for women, established in August, 1919, be raised to meet increased living costs, and if so, to what figure?

These and other questions, affecting wage scales and living costs, were discussed at a public hearing conducted last night at the Commercial club by members of the Minnesota Minimum Wage commission, which is investigating the question preliminary to establishing a new minimum wage for the state, if conditions, in the judgment of the commission, warrant it.

Mostly Employers Present.

About seventy-five people, most of them employers, attended the conference. The working girls were well represented, however, their views being presented by Miss Amy J. Fagundas, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., and John E. Jensen, secretary of the Duluth Trades and Labor assembly.

E. A. Silberstein of the Silberstein & Bondy company was the first to open the discussion. He took the position that the commission should go slow in making any large increase in the present minimum wage and that they should be governed only by facts in making up their mind.

Admits Increase Necessary.

"We believe that an increase in the minimum wage is required, due to the increase in the cost of living since 1919," said Mr. Silberstein. "The present minimum wage of $11 is probably a little low. According to the report of the national industrial commission, living costs have increased exactly 17.3 per cent from August, 1919, to October, 1920. If the commission wants to be fair to all concerned, the present minimum wage should not be increased more than 17.3 per cent, which would make the minimum $12.87. That is taking for granted of course that the present cost of living prevails. As a matter of fact, however, prices and living costs are coming down. The minimum wage should be based on the standard of living at the present time and we believe that this should not exceed 17.3 per cent."

Few Get Minimum Wage.

Mr. Silberstein stated that a survey of the employment and wage situation in five of the largest department stores of the city showed that less than 6 per cent of the employes were receiving wages less than $12 a week. The law provides that the commission may change the minimum wage when it shall appear that more than one-sixth of the employes in any line of work are shown to be receiving less than a living wage.

In one 10-cent store, which has 129 employes, $18 is the average wage paid and $13 is the lowest and $27 the highest, Mr. Silberstein said. The records further showed, he said, that 90 per cent of the girls employed in the five largest stores are living at home and do not have the expenses of a girl who is boarding.

Miss Fagundas of the Y. W. C. A. submitted some figures from three types of working girls. Her figures tended to show that few working girls do not live up to their income. The first case cited was that of a girl in a clerical position. She receives $80 a month and spends it all but $6.50. She pays $42 a month for her board and room. The second case was that of a girl employed as a saleslady in one of the local stores. She receives $60.50 a month and saves nothing. Her board and room cost her $35 a month and she sleeps on a davenport in a sitting room to get it at that price. The third case, a factory girl, receives $14.75 a week and requires it all to live, she claims. Her board and room cost $10 a week.

Board and Room $10.

According to Miss Fagundas the average cost of board and room is $10 a week. As to clothing requirements she submitted a budget of one working girl which placed the figures at $266 for a year and the list did not include toilet articles or handbags or anything except bare necessities. This would make an average of $5.10 a week for clothing, which is higher than has been set by Miss Eliza P. Evans, secretary of the commission, who figures that $3.25 a week is the bed rock allowance for clothing at present prices.

John E. Jensen of the Trades and Labor Assembly spoke on what he knew about living costs and what he had learned from working girls about their requirements and the difficulties experienced in getting along with the present minimum wage.

Girls Like Silk Stockings.

I. Freimuth of the Freimuth store declared that it had been his observation that some working girls would buy silk stockings in preference to cotton, whether they could afford them or not. He said that he had put on a sale of 39-cent cotton stockings, marked down from 75 cents, at his store and that he had been disappointed in the way the sale was received by working girls, who bought silk stockings instead.

The minimum wage commission, consisting of John P. Gardiner, state labor commissioner; John C. Ferguson of St. Paul and Miss Eliza P. Evans of St. Paul will go to Winona for a public hearing Monday and to St. Cloud on Wednesday. This will conclude the public hearings which were started this month in the Twin Cities.

SUPREME COURT WILL DECIDE STATE RATES

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The supreme court of the United States ultimately will be called upon to decide the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission over intrastate passenger and baggage rates, it was announced yesterday at the office of Attorney General Newton. The order of the commission that the railroads operating in New York establish intrastate passenger and baggage rates to conform to the interstate schedules by increasing their passenger rates from 3 to 3.6 cents a mile, will not end the fight of the state authorities for a restoration of the 2-cent-a-mile rate between Albany and Buffalo, the attorney general said.

They were first married in 1867. Mrs. Schmailzl was granted a divorce in 1915, having charged her husband with nonsupport and cruelty. When they appeared for the marriage license yesterday, they said they were as happy as they were the day they were married fifty-three years ago. Mrs. Schmailzl took the initiative in procuring the license. She guided the faltering hand of her husband as he signed the application. Twelve of their seventeen children are living.

Cherbourg, France, Nov 20.—Two hundred and fifty emigrants bound for the United States are stranded here penniless because the steamship tickets provided them by the supposed agent of a navigation company in Paris before they left by train for Cherbourg, proved to be forgeries.

DENNIS CHESTER TRIES TO HANG HIMSELF

Chester tore a blanket into strips, tied one end around a bar of his cell, placed the other end around his neck and then allowed himself to fall backward with his feet still on the floor. He was found unconscious in this position.

Chester escaped from officers taking him from Great Falls, Mont., to Kansas City on Monday night by jumping through the window of a sleeping car near Broken Bow.

Physicians reported that the prisoner stood an excellent chance to recover.

John Doran, a laborer, reported this morning to the police that last evening while he momentarily visited the bathroom at the Nicollet hotel, some sneak thief entered his room and stole $140 from his pocketbook. He was unable to give any clew as to the thief.

This is the second robbery of this nature that has been reported to the police from this hotel in the last week. Mike Daley reported that a bank draft for $450 on the bank of [illegible], Minn., had been stolen from him in a similar manner. The draft has not been recovered yet.

PLANS FOR RED CROSS SUNDAY

Tomorrow is Red Cross Sunday.

Not only in Duluth but in many other cities throughout the country, the work of the Red Cross in peace as well as in war will be the burden of the pulpit messages. The Armistice day-to-Thanksgiving roll call of the membership of the organization has reached its height in every section of the country there are coming in glowing reports of the renewals of membership and the number of new memberships that are being received.

Not Fund Campaign.

One of the features of the Red Cross work that is to be particularly pointed out to the congregations of the various churches tomorrow is the fact that the present campaign is not a campaign for funds, it is a campaign for memberships pure and simple and the membership fee is just $1. Every person who has joined the Red Cross before is asked to renew his or her membership.

In the peace campaign that is outlined the interest of the members and the interest of a large membership is of more value than dollars. The purpose of the peace campaign is to give a real object to the membership—something that is a peculiar Red Cross task to do. And it is desirable to have the largest possible membership so that the largest possible number of people can be interested in the work. As the managers of the Red Cross view it, it is absolutely essential in the work of carrying out the plans that have been made for assisting in the public health work of the country, that a large membership should be enlisted. It is also essential to have such a membership on call in case of disaster.

"There is no section of the country that has a more definite reason for being ready to do Red Cross work than the section served by the Duluth chapter," said Chairman W. A. McGonagle today. "Since the Baudette fire, we have realized just what the Red Cross means to this community. We don't know when dire disaster will strike us. We have got to be ready for it when it comes. This last fall, when forest fires threatened us, the Red Cross was ready, with both men and women and supplies. We want to keep always ready. That is why we need a large membership here. We have had as high as 60,000 members in the Duluth chapter. That is a wonderful record that we are all proud of. Let us continue the good work."

When Senator Harding was nominated, there were those who thought he would select his pre-convention manager, Harry Daugherty, to become national chairman, but Mr. Harding didn't. And in the work at headquarters Mr. Daugherty and Mr. Hays have grown to be intimate friends. Unquestionably one of the big powers behind the throne will be Harry Daugherty but it is significant that Mr. Daugherty has recommended Mr. Hays for a position in the cabinet.

Would Reward Faithful.

It must not be forgotten that Warren Harding is a party man and that he believes in rewarding the faithful. He is the last man in public life who could be accused of political ingratitude. Whether Will Hays would accept a cabinet position is for the moment irrelevant but that the man who was in charge of the biggest Republican campaign in history will be offered a portfolio is hardly to be doubted. Republican presidents have usually taken their political advisers of campaign days into the cabinet to help them in the many tangles of politics that come up during an administration. Frank H. Hitchcock and George B. Cortelyou are conspicuous examples of this tendency in recent years. Will Hays could have been governor of Indiana this year, but he preferred to continue the work of national Republicanism. He may become a United States senator when the next vacancy occurs. Politically speaking, he has a future before him, whether he goes in the cabinet or remains for the time being at the head of the Republican national committee.

President-elect Harding is satisfied with Mr. Hays' work and has so advised him. When Mr. Harding returns to Marion, Mr. Hays will begin a series of conferences on political matters and will be constantly at the beck and call of the president-elect during the pre-inauguration period.

The Home of The Northern National Bank.

The Northern National Bank Family—

We consider that good service is largely a problem of personnel.

In our organization are thirty young men and women, courteous, efficient and interested.

We select them judiciously—train them carefully—advance them for ability and experience. From the bottom of the organization to the top they are adapted for the work which they perform.

They believe as implicitly as do the officers in giving that sort of service which the public desires and appreciates.

THE NORTHERN NATIONAL BANK

MAY REGAIN HIS SIGHT AFTER EIGHTEEN YEARS OF LIFE IN DARKNESS

That "hope springs eternal in the human breast" is as true today as when the line was written is evidenced in the efforts that Mike Gary is making to regain his sight after eighteen years of wandering in darkness. Mike, who is your friend the newspaper vendor at the corner of Fifth avenue west and Superior street, will leave tonight for Milwaukee to have his eyes operated on by Dr. Schneider, the famous eye specialist, who, in America, is to eyes what the Mayos are to the rest of the body.

Eighteen years ago, Mike, who is now 55 years old, was injured in a mine blast at Chisholm, Minn., and ever since that he has lived in darkness, or a sort of darkened twilight, for he can distinguish between day and night and can see a match lighted before him, but that is about all. One eye is totally blind. Specialists here say there is a chance that Dr. Schneider may do something for the other eye, but they are none too confident about it. Mike has faith that he will see. His friends hope so.

MARINE

Season Near Close.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Regardless of future weather, the ore season will soon close. Frozen ore has greatly delayed shipments during the last ten days, vessels in some cases having been obliged to remain in port a week before being able to get cargoes. The fact that the capacity of the Northwestern ore docks will be enlarged this winter, shows that next season will be heavier than this.

OLGA ABRAM ASKS DIVORCE AND MANY OTHER THINGS

Olga Abram began suit today in district court for a divorce from Michael Abram, to whom she was married on Jan. 28, 1906. Cruelty is charged. Mrs. Abram asks for the custody of the two children, an order restraining Abram from withdrawing funds which he has now on deposit in the State bank of Perham or the Riverside State bank, and for alimony.

Mrs. Abram charges that her husband "is so stingy and penurious that he refused to furnish proper medical care and attention for her and her children when needed." She also charges that he has habitually found fault and scolded her. She alleges that he has about $4,000 on deposit in the bank at Perham and $1,500 in the Riverside State bank here. Both banks are joined as defendants in the divorce action.

Patrick J. Welch was ordered by Judge Cant this morning to pay his wife, Esther Welch, $12 a week temporary alimony, $50 attorney fees and to refrain from visiting her pending the final outcome of their divorce case. Welch was cited on an order to show cause.

STORM WARNINGS ORDERED UP FOR LAKE SUPERIOR

Northeast storm warnings were ordered up at 10 o'clock this morning on Lake Superior and on Upper Lakes Michigan and Huron. There will be northeast winds today, tonight and Sunday, accompanied by rain or snow.

In view of the fact that storm warnings are never ordered up except when the wind is expected to reach a velocity of at least forty miles an hour, gale weather is forecast.

The temperature will remain about the same as it has been.

RECEIVE THEIR DISCHARGES MONDAY

More than 400 members of the Minnesota naval militia, who served during the war, will receive their discharges Monday night at the New Armory. At the same time Capt. Guy A. Eaton, commander of the Minnesota district, will outline the unusual advantages now offered for re-enrollments in the naval reserve force. All other men now in the naval reserve are also asked to attend.

By a special order received today these advantages will include an opportunity for possibly twenty Duluth men to accompany the Atlantic fleet in its cruise around South America from Jan. 5 to April 30, 1921. Naval reservists who desire to make application will have the details of the proposition explained to them at the meeting.

It is Capt. Eaton's plan to organize a naval reserve force here that will be as effective as the naval militia developed before the war. Meetings will be held regularly. Men who enlist in the reserve force immediately upon receiving their discharge from the militia will get the benefit of an increase of 25 per cent in their retainer pay, which is received by all naval reservists. The annual pay for members of the reserve is equal to two months' pay for a similar rank in the regular navy.

The re-enrollment period will be four years. Each time that a man reenlists, 25 per cent is added to his retainer pay until the total is 100 per cent more than the original amount.

Men who make the trip with the Atlantic fleet will receive full pay while on duty. Fifty men are to be selected from the Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh districts which includes most of the Northwest states. Duluth is in the Eleventh district which comprises Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. Names of applicants will be forwarded to the Great Lakes station for selection by the commandant.

GO TO VENEREAL DISEASE CONFERENCE AT WASHINGTON

Two Duluth physicians will leave this evening for Washington, D. C., to attend an all-American conference on venereal diseases, which will begin there Monday and last for three weeks. They are Dr. E. W. Fahey, Duluth director of public health, and Dr. E. Z. Shapiro, head of the local public venereal clinic.

The conference will be held under auspices of the American Red Cross, the United States departmental social hygiene board, the United States public health service and the American Social Hygiene association. All phases of venereal disease, medical, social and educational will be discussed. The conference will probably be preliminary to a nation-wide fight on these forms of plague.

MOTOR TO FIT PRESENT FUEL

New Principle Being Used to Eliminate Use of Wet Fuel.

The low grade of fuel now in use has brought about a number of rather serious troubles in the operation of a gasoline motor, especially in the operation of high-speed marine engines. In this type of engine, in order to develop the greatest power at operating speed, a much larger inlet manifold is required than in other types of motors. This increased area of manifold reduces materially the speed of the gas when idling the motor or running at low revolutions. This decrease in gas speeds causes condensation on the walls of the manifold and makes it practically impossible to get even gasoline distribution to the cylinders at the lower speeds, forming puddles of raw gas at different points and permitting the ungasified air to travel to other points.

Cause of Fouling.

Spark plug fouling is another attribute of poor gasoline. Repeated experiments have shown that such fouling in a majority of cases is not due to overoiling as commonly supposed, but to the presence of wet fuel on the plug.

The third principal result of using present day fuel with present day carburetion methods is the contamination of the lubricating oil by fuel which is not consumed in the combustion chamber * * * eventually leadoing to burned out bearings and other serious troubles.

The Van Blerck engineers have tried out various forms of heated manifolds, hot spot manifolds, etc., in the endeavor to take the wet mixture as it ascends from the carburetor and turn it into a dry mixture by application of heat before its entrance into the combustion chamber. * * * The experiments conducted were the means of instigating the design and completion to perfection of one of the cleverest developments in automotive history and is so simple and automatic in its operation as to be perfectly reliable under the most severe tests. * * *

Uses New Principle.

The principle of the Van Blerck fuelizer is to take advantage of the vacuum existing on the engine side of the throttle at low engine speeds, taking gas from a small carburetor at the side of the main carburetor by means of several small holes located in the manifold above the throttle and inside of a suitable jacket, passing it through a burner and igniting it by means of a spark plug which is operated from a separate coil in series with the ignition. The flame from this burner applies the necessary heat at the distribution point of the manifold.

It is very difficult to explain or illustrate how really wonderful this little device works, what a tremendous improvement it makes in the operation of a motor.

It typifies one of the biggest advances yet made in engine equipment and the increasing of engine efficiency; it solves the bugbear of poor fuel.—Motor Boating for October.

WIRE HAIRPINS ARE INVALUABLE

"A box of heavy wire hairpins and one of the invisible variety are surprising assets in minor emergencies," says a writer in October Motor. "They come in the most convenient lengths, are adaptable, and easily applied, necessitating nothing but a pair of pliers and a little ingenuity.

"No fan-belt is immune to wear. It may break at almost any time. A wire hairpin may be easily threaded through the leather even though the break comes where holes haven't been left by stitches. Should your awl be in the depths of your tool-chest, your hatpin may be used for making holes through the belting before fastening with the hairpin.

"Any shoe is likely to become pitted with many little cuts. Naturally dust, sand and even fine stones enter. The curved end of the hairpin is entirely efficient in removing these foreign substances. When you get ready to fill in the cuts with tiredough, the hairpin is far more efficacious than the screwdriver for plugging the tiniest tire-wounds. Should any oil-hole become clogged by dust or dirt, the hairpin again may be used in the guise of an awl.

"Wires are acutely sensitive to wear. When any metal cable becomes worn, instant rewinding is necessary or a short circuit may result. The fine wire hairpins, if wound tightly, make an excellent broken-cable reinforcer. And insulation may be attained by winding the result either with bicycle tape or heavy twine. Battery terminals may have their lives enhanced surprisingly by this repair.

"Once in a while a spark plug threading may become a bit worn, thereby permitting the issuance of oil. This can be prevented by winding the spark plug threading with a fine invisible hairpin.

"Again when a little catch on your mudchains refuses to function, the chains may be secured by winding the links together with a hairpin. The only precaution necessary is that the ends of the wire are fastened so that they cannot impale the ires.

"And the humble hairpin may actually play a leading part in a major necessity, when the unescapable tow confronts one. There is always a possibility of losing the towline hookpin. In this case the grapple hook may be made to hold by wiring it tightly with a heavy hairpin.

SMALLER CARS TO ENTER 1920 SPEEDWAY, IS INDICATION

The announcement that smaller racing cars of the type introduced at the sensational 500-mile dash for gold and glory held at the Indianapolis Motor speedway last May will be the pattern of eligible entries in the French Grand Prix, the first big post-war speed contest to be held in Europe may be an indication that racing fans will see the largest field of crack foreign drivers ever exhibited in America roll to the tape for the start of the next 500-mile race which will be held at the Indianapolis Motor speedway, Monday, May 30, 1921.

Autos of the 183 cubic inch piston displacement, 1,650 pounds minimum weight class which were the sensation of the season because of their marvelous speed and durability in the grueling dash over the bricks of the Indianapolis track will also be required in other European races.

MOTOR TRUCKS MAKING GOOD

Serve in Making Favorable Impression of American Goods.

The thousands of American motor trucks which were dumped in Europe at the close of the war are serving at least one good cause for the American truck manufacturer, in the opinion of W. A. Olen, president and general manager of the Four Wheel Drive Auto company, Clintonville, Wis., who has just returned from a two-months' tour of Europo studying truck conditions. These trucks are popularizing American motor transportation in European countries and are paving the way for the entrance of an increasing number of trucks in the European field in the future, according to Mr. Olen.

Old Trucks Everywhere.

"Virtually everywhere I visited I found these old war trucks," says Mr. Olen. "They have been put into shape again, and are now in the hands of consumers where they are doing great work and giving a satisfactory service that promises to reflect favorably in the future sale of motor transportation to these countries."

"They are proving a great advertising medium and are acquainting European buyers with the strength and durability of American trucks. The service they are giving in the hands of consumers, is everywhere, as far as I could learn, most satisfactory, and the trucks are building up a bulwark of good will for future business.

"Among our distributors I found everyone enthusiastic over prospects for a healthy business. That there is a large potential market in European countries not only for motor trucks, but a great range of other mechanical equipment as well, was obvious. In many instances we saw man power doing work that in this country is done by machinery. Even the freight that is loaded aboard the steamer at New York by up-to-date conveyors is unloaded by man power on the other side.

Gasoline High.

"The high price of gasoline in European countries is an important consideration. We found upon arrival in England that gasoline there was selling for 67 cents a gallon while in this country the price was 27 cents. For this reason buyers of pleasure cars and motor trucks as well are interested in obtaining the greatest gasoline mileage possible with their vehicles.

"In some of the countries of Europe labor practices the doctrine of "ca canny" which, in brief, means that the men do as little work as possible. Consequently there isn't the tendency to overload and speed motor trucks that there is here, which undoubtedly adds to their longevity.

"As a general thing prices of foodstuffs and other commodities were from 10 to 25 per cent higher than in this country although the general business depression which has been experienced here is just coming on in Europe and prices in certain lines were already beginning to tumble. The reduction, however, is not so general as in the United States.

"That there is real need for the stabilization of exchange in Europe was apparent. There is considerable of the element of speculation in business transactions with other nations, and while it is doubtful if exchange in some of the countries will ever reach the pre-war levels again, when something is done to fix a more sound basis, buying activity will be greatly increased."

CROSSING HAZARD IS TOLD MOTORISTS BY SAFETY EXPERT

A passenger train approaching and still a quarter of a mile away will cover the remaining distance in eighteen seconds. If half a mile away it will flash past in thirty-six seconds.

These figures are offered by R. C. Cluney, safety specialist of the Southern Pacific railroad, to impress upon the motorist the significance of attempting to cross railroad tracks with a train in sight.

"Motorists should think in terms of time as well as distance. It requires a wait of only a fraction of a minute to permit a train to pass; on the other hand, eighteen seconds allows too small a margin to escape an accident if in shifting gears the engine stops or anything goes wrong," he says.

"Forty-six persons were killed, 173 were injured and 152 automobiles were damaged or destroyed at grade crossings struck by trains during the calendar year of 1919," he says. "Two hundred and sixty-three attempted to cross almost immediately in front of approaching trains; 137, or more than 35 per cent of the total, ran into trains instead of trains running into them; nine skidded to avoid collision after realizing the danger; twenty-one ran into and broke down crossing gates lowered to protect them from passing trains; five ran down and injured flagmen in warning position and fourteen were due to miscellaneous causes."

DRIVER'S CAR ARRESTED AND IS GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

Being arrested for speeding is no longer a novelty—it's almost part of one's everyday life. But when it comes to arresting and incarcerating the guilty and law-breaking automobile itself—well, even the most blase and hardened inmate of the city's dungeons will sit up and take notice. And because fact is stranger than fiction, that is exactly what did happen to a car out in California the other day.

On the fatal evening in question Max Paul was in a particular hurry to get home to supper—hence the reason for his speeding down Weber avenue at thirty miles per hour. At least the "copper" said he was going that fast, and moreover, he of the blue coat and brass buttons—true to form—was not given to prolong the discussion by allowing any argument. Paul and his automobile were ingloriously taken to the police station, where the judge told Paul that he would give the car an indeterminate sentence—and that Paul could walk for a few days. Thus was the majesty of the law vindicated and a new legal precedent established. At last reports Paul had his car back—but he drives now with one eye glued on the speedometer.

TELLS OF UNIQUE OVERSEAS GARAGE

"Conceive of an attractive apartment house that has a handsome automobile showroom on the street floor and you will appreciate the setting in which a most unusual service station is operated," says Th. van der Stempel of the firm of Naaml Venn Hamin of The Hague.

Mr. van der Stempel is in America for several months studying automotive construction.

"Our group of garages is so well arranged and practical in operation that I believe you good people in the United States will be interested in a brief description," continues Mr. van der Stempel.

"Between the very attractive show windows is a driveway that leads to a spacious paved courtyard. This is directly in the rear of the showrooms and comprises a remarkable arrangement of more than sixty easily accessible fireproof garages, constructed of brick, each separated from its neighbor by concrete walls. Every owner has his individual key that unlocks a small compartment in front, from which is released a handle that very easily rolls up a fireproof steel shutter, giving full width opening to the garage. Each garage contains two lockers, a specially made tire rack and a table. Besides a skylight, they have electricity and are steam-heated.

"There is a water faucet at every second garage door. The monthly rental of these garages is forty guilders, equivalent to about $13 in United States gold, for which is guaranteed at least one washing of the car a week and twice when time permits.

"In the main building there are lounging rooms for customers as well as several rooms for the comfort of chauffeurs. Above the show rooms are apartments.

"The cool and dark basement of the main building is used for tire storage, unique racks being employed, over each of which is a small shelf for boxes of inner tubes that properly belong to the tires on that particular rack.

"For those who do not have home garages, particularly residents of the medium and larger size cities in the United States, this community idea should appeal as it gives car owners a sense of security in having their own individual fireproof garage, rather than storing their cars on a floor with many others which practice so frequently leads to damaged fenders and tires, and other accidents caused by carelessness and where it is hard to fix the blame."

"FLIVVER" AND SWITCH ENGINE COLLIDE; ENGINE GOES TO SHOP

A small automobile of popular make, driven by an alleged intoxicated man, collided with a Santa Fe switch engine with the result that the engine was sent to the repair shops, according to a complaint issued here today at the office of the district attorney. The automobile was not damaged. Neither was the driver, W. C. Keeyer, who was charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated. Two companions, J. C. and A. C. Moore were taken to the receiving hospital with minor injuries.

CAREFUL DRIVER WATCHES FAN BELT

The proper working of the fan at any engine speed, and hence the suction of the right amount of air to cool the water in the radiator, says Buick, depends solely on the fan belt. It is, therefore, important that the fan belt be kept in good working order.

When installing a fan belt, the first thing to do is to see that the pulleys are in line. This may be determined by placing a straight edge across the face of both pulleys at the same time. If the pulleys are out of their proper place, the upper pulley may easily be adjusted.

By loosening the fan spring tension and allowing the fan to drop to its lowest position, the belt may be worked around the crankshaft pulley. It is always advisable to place the belt in position by hand, never using sharp tools for this purpose.

The next step is to raise the fan until the belt is tight; then turn down the spring tension adjustment nut. With this done, in order to determine the proper tension on the belt, press on the blades of the fan with the fingers. The fan should turn easily, yet not spin. The spring tension should be adjusted to give this result.

More fan belt trouble results from belts being too tight rather than too loose. A belt that is too tight has a tendency to draw one of the pulleys out of line, causing the belt to run against the flange of the pulleys, fraying the edges, and at high speeds climbing the flange and destroying itself. With the proper tension in the belt there should be no appreciable wear in either belt or pulleys.

Though it may be almost needless to say it here, grease or oil on the fan belt pulleys should be avoided, since either of them is bound to cause slippage and a corresponding decrease in the cooling efficiency of the belt itself. Even the best fan belt will stretch, hence the necessity for occasional examination.

TO ELIMINATE THOMSON HILL

New Route Has Maximum of Six Per Cent Grade.

Plans which will eliminate the steep grade and the two grade crossings on Thomson hill are expected to be carried out next spring, according to J. A. Farrell, commissioner of public works. The public works department has given its sanction to a new route and will arrange to provide the right-of-way and the county will attend to that stretch which lies outside of the city limits.

According to the plans, the new route will be up Cody street from Central and Grand avenues, jogging over to Worden street, or up Fifty-ninth avenue west to Worden street, and on this street to the end of the platted section. From here the new road will curve to the west to near where the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad crosses Kingsbury creek. The road will cross under the tracks and curve to the right, crossing the creek a short distance above the tracks, and joining the present road a few rods beyond. It will follow the present road to the big cut of the D. M. & N., where the county will construct a viaduct over the tracks. It will then parallel the tracks and join the present road a short distance beyond the second railroad crossing.

Grade Only 6 Per Cent.

The present grade is estimated to be about 23 per cent and dangerous on account of the curves. The new route for the road will eliminate most of the heavy grade, giving only about 4 per cent as far as the creek and not more than 6 per cent grade from there on to the proposed viaduct and level ground. In addition to reducing the grade it will give a paved street for part of the way and very few curves. The fact that the road can be reached either from Cody street or Fifty-ninth avenues west, will give West Duluth easy access to the road. Those wishing to reach the road from as far west as Fairmount park or Morgan Park and New Duluth, can use the Short Line park route, reaching the Carlton road in the vicinity of Nopeming sanatorium. This latter road will also be improved in the spring, according to county commissioners.

No Opposition Looked For.

The new route will pass through unplatted sections of the city after leaving Worden street, with the exception of the second division of Stryker & Manley's addition, where it will pass across four blocks. For this reason little opposition is looked for in carrying out the proposed change.

Some time ago the D. M. & N. Ry. agreed to construct the viaduct and bridges necessary to eliminate the grade crossings, it was reported, and it is expected they will still stand by their former agreement. However, no opposition is expected from that quarter and both the city and county hope to start the work early in the spring.

GOVERNMENT TO COMBAT SNOW

Motorists throughout the country will be pleased to learn that the department of agriculture, in co-operation with the states, is taking steps to keep the highways clear of snow during the coming winter. This co-operative effort, starting in the northern states east of the Mississippi, is to be extended, according to tentative plans, to states farther west next season.

An announcement just made by the department says:

"For two or three months each winter the northern state highways have been made impassable, or nearly so, by drifted snow, and the hundreds of millions of dollars invested in them bring no return to the taxpayers during the time the roads cannot be used.

"With a view to remedying this condition the bureau of public roads of the United States department of agriculture has been making this summer a study of the situation with regard to snow removal in the states east of the Mississippi and north of the Potomac. An engineer of the bureau has conferred with the highway commissioners in the states in this territory and reports that definite plans have been made in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Indiana and Illinois which will result in the main trunk lines being kept open all winter.

"In some other states, notably in Ohio, snow removal is the duty of the counties, and while the state highway department is prepared to assist the counties in every way, and is urging the necessity of the work, it is not empowered to initiate the work.

"In some of the states snow fences will be placed for the winter fifty feet from the highway, to stop the snow before it reaches the road. These 'fences,' which are made of slats, are tipped backward until they form a decided angle and then are braced like billboards. In the spring the sections are unbolted from the stakes and stored by the state highway commissioner until winter. This type of fence has been used by many railroads in the past during the months of snow and has proved very effective as a snow guard to the roadbed.

"In other localities snow plows, either horse or motor-drawn, will keep the state highways clear. One of the most efficient types of highway snow plows has a broad blade, which removes the snow, attached to the front of a motor truck. A second truck chained to the first pushes the blade."

SEES UPWARD TREND IN AUTO INDUSTRY

After two months of depression there has been an upward turn in the automobile business, both pleasure cars and trucks, according to Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

"Along with other industries we have had poor sales for two months, but the automobile business is moving upward," he said. "Present production is not averaging more than 50 per cent except in the case of three or four factories. The full year, however, will exceed all records, approaching 1,900,000 cars and 340,000 trucks. Car renewals are about 1,000,000 a year.

"Between the public's disinclination to buy anything and the curtailing of credits, automobile buying reached a low ebb two or three weeks ago, but reports we have just received from twenty-seven different sections indicate a better prospect for trade.

"It was logical and healthful that a business which increased 350 per cent in five years should have a readjustment along with other industries."

HARE'S MOTORS TAKES OVER KELLY SPRINGFIELD TRUCK

Emlen S. Hare, president of Hare's Motors, Inc., announced today that the Kelly-Springfield Motor Truck company and its big plant at Springfield, Ohio, would hereafter be operated by Hare's Motors, the operating organization for the Locomobile, Mercer and Simplex companies. Special significance attaches to this announcement as it means the fulfillment of the promise made last March by Mr. Hare, when Hare's Motors was organized, that a full line of motor trucks, equal in quality and reputation to the original Hare's Motors products, would eventually be added.

Coincident with Mr. Hare's announcement comes the word that the board of directors of the Kelly-Springfield Motor Truck company has elected the following officers: President, Emlen S. Hare; vice presidents, Henry Lansdale, H. D. Church and O. E. Hunt; secretary and treasurer, F. R. Hickman. These men now hold the same respective positions in Hare's Motors, the Locomobile company and the Mercer Motors company. James L. Giddes, who has been president of the Kelly-Springfield company, was elected chairman of the board.

"TORQUE," MYSTERIOUS TERM, AT LAST CLEARLY DEFINED

What is torque?

Despite the fact that this word is one of the most frequently used in the entire automobile vocabulary, its meaning is probably least understood.

And the more the word is explained technically and scientifically, the more confused does its meaning become, in the mind of the average automobile owner.

Thus, when it is explained that torque means the foot pounds of energy developed by an engine at any given speed, the average motor fan may assume an air of intelligence, but the chances are that his mind is registering a blank.

Likewise, when he is told that torque means the turning effort exerted by an engine, as distinct from its power, which is turning effort multiplied by speed, he is as a rule just as much enlightened as he was before.

American slang, lucid and expressive, is due a vote of thanks from the motoring public for finally interpreting the meaning of torque so that the layman can understand.

The definition given to torque by the garage mechanic is vigorous and illuminating.

The torque of an engine says the garage expert, is its "kick." That's all there is to it.

A six-cylinder, high-efficiency engine like that used in the National Sextet, for instance, will have more "kick" than an engine of some other type, giving it a faster pick-up and more power at various engine speeds.

Simple, isn't it, when you think of it that way, instead of befogging the idea with a lot of technical terms.

Slang is a great thing sometimes.

FIFTEEN YEARS OF PROSPERITY

Fifteen years at least of continued prosperity for the motor industry and a decidedly probable shortage of good motor cars next spring are predictions of Walter P. Chrysler, executive head of some of the largest automotive and allied industries in the country.

In his Detroit office Mr Chrysler attributed the period of "dumps" through which the automobile industry has been passing to prodigious production and a paralyzing "sitting habit" acquired during three years of extraordinary motor car demand.

"Detroit has ahead of it at least fifteen years of continuing and increasing motor manufacture prosperity," Mr. Chrysler said. "This is as certain as anything in future can be if manufacturers will curb their appetite for prodigious production and salesmen cure themselves of the deadly sitting habit.

"The fit of dumps through which the industry is passing is due in part at least to indigestion due to overindulgence. Readjustment and a return of nearly normal conditions is a matter of weeks now rather than months, provided the remedies referred to are applied. The cue for the future in the motor car business should be moderation in everything except hard work.

"Discontinuance of production and delay in resuming it will almost certainly bring about another shortage in good motor cars next spring. There probably will never again be a shortage in poor motor cars. The demand for good cars already offers relief from the doldrums of the last few weeks. Sales are increasing satisfactorily from day to day.

"Business is not dead—nor even seriously ill. It is merely in need of exercise. And the best exercise I know is to give the public a good value for its money and work hard to show the public you mean business. Manufacturers and dealers who haven't forgotten how to sell good merchandise are not worrying about the future. The chair warmers are rapidly going by the board.

"Make no mistake, the automobile business is alive and strong. I don't believe in wild optimism which is based on desire rather than on facts, but I haven't any sympathy for the black pessimist who sees only disaster. No catastrophe has happened to deprive people of their purchasing powers or their desires for motor cars. Spinelessness and gloom are, therefore, pure nonsense.

"The pessimists are the weaklings who expect business to be laid in their hands. The hard workers aren't gloomy. And I honestly hope that we will never again have business conditions which put a premium on incompetence. I am for the real workers and the good cars—and I have unbounded faith in the stable market and solid industry they are building."

ANOTHER TRIUMPH FOR LIBERTY MOTOR

Ford-built Liberty motors carried the four army airplanes which on Oct. 20 completed the 9,000 mile journey from Mitchell Field, Long Island, to Nome, Alaska, and return. The fleet was greeted over New York city by a flotilla of forty army planes which escorted it to Mineola. The returning planes touched their wheels to earth at 3:15 in the afternoon.

The Alaskan flying expedition, commanded by Capt. St. Clair Street, undertook the journey to demonstrate the durability of modern airplanes and motors, and to effect the establishment of an aerial route to the Northwestern corner of the American continent and Asia. Such a route would bring mail from Alaska to the States in two or three days, whereas the present method of transmission requires thirty days.

"Talk about service," said Capt. Street. "Those planes and motors sure stood up. Why, the only trouble we had on the entire trip was caused by the worst bit of weather I've ever flown through or want to fly through. We had everything—rain, snow, hail and sleet, clouds, fog and mist. But we kept right on flying.

"The 230 miles of glaciers we traversed was a wonderful sight, but there would have been little hope for rescue had we cracked up in that wilderness. Altogether, it was a rough trip. I never want to fly through such weather again, but the planes stood it magnificently. Instead of battered hulks, flopping to earth after winded flight, they looked brand new. Even the turn-buckles were polished and the motors looked as if they had just come off the testing block.

"We never changed a spark plug. Never a cylinder missed on us the entire trip. The motors are in as good condition today as when we set out."

Due to the nature of the work which engaged the expedition, the fleet required a period of three months to complete the trip. Since all of the original motors completed the journey without repairs or replacements, this is believed to be a record for aerial navigation. It will be recalled that during the war, it was generally the practice to overhaul the airplane motors after approximately each twenty hours of flight.

This is the second notable event in which these Liberty motors have figured prominently, the first being the trans-Atlantic jump of the Liberty-equipped NC4, a feat which commanded world-wide interest.

ECONOMY TO BUY ONLY STANDARD MAKES OF TIRES

Buying automobile tires is like buying eggs. All look very much alike—the bad ones look as good as the good ones, and the "no-name" tires as well as the product of which any manufacturer may well be proud.

The "gyp" tire may have all the beauty and symmetry of the nationally known tire and yet be made out of shoddy. It is not reasonable to believe that a motorist can get a tire "just as good" as a standard make for half the price.

In tire mileage it is not first costs that count, but costs per mile. Adding the cost of repairs to the purchase price and dividing by the mileage, will quickly convince even the most confirmed bargain hunter.

Theater Attendance Begins to Grow

The pre-election slump in theater attendance seems to have been merely temporary in character, and during the last week patronage has increased steadily. Duluth managers are optimistic over the outlook for business during the winter.

That old motto, "Keep Smiling," is a good one to post up during periods of depression, but there is something more effective than print on a card board. If you want to keep smiling and feel like smiling, go to the theater. A good show is better than poor whisky, and the theaters are willing to do their bit in making one forget business depression. The Federal reserve banks may avert panics, but the theaters keep right on every day in the year making life more cheerful and rosy. No better proof of this is needed than to refer to the records of the theaters during the late war. The theaters are beginning to be looked upon as a national tonic.

First Class Circus Needed for the Road

With the sale of the Sells-Floto circus this week, the last of the smaller high-class circuses has passed from the management of big men in this end of the amusement game. H. H. Tammen and F. G. Bonfils of Denver, who have operated this circus ten years and put it into the class of the best, have closed out their holdings to Jerry Mugivan of Denver. Mugivan is owner of the Hagenbeck-Wallace show, the John Robinson shows, the Howes London and the Yankee Robinson circus.

It is to be regretted that Tammen and Bonfils have quit the circus game. They have been among the leading promoters of clean circus amusement and have given the public the value of their money. In fact, the Sells-Floto shows were the only circus that offered the Ringling Bros. any real opposition.

The smaller towns and cities need good, clean circus attractions, and for the last few seasons the Ringling Barnum & Bailey shows have played long engagements in New York, Chicago and the larger cities, but have not paid enough attention to the other parts of the country to satisfy residents of the Northwest. It now looks as if it was up to the Ringlings to send out the Forepaugh Sells shows or organize a new amusement concern for road showing.

Such men as H. H. Tammen cannot be given too much credit for what they have done for clean amusements. Excessive railway fares have driven many amusement companies to abandon their enterprises and, if relief is not granted soon, only the very largest cities will be given their just dues in amusement.

Etiquette Attracts Notice at Theaters

There is no place where etiquette counts more than at the theaters. Pursuing the up-to-date method of studying people rather than books, the following simple rules have been compiled and are being tried out by a few who would set the styles in manners.

If you find a large, impatient crowd lined up at the box office when you go to buy your ticket, edge around the end of the rail and horn in ahead of the line. Place your hands firmly on either side of the box office window, making your position secure. After you have obtained a pasteboard, ask the ticket seller a few trivial questions, holding back the line as long as possible.

When the crowd gets thoroughly incensed, break away, hand your ticket to the doorman and begin talking—that is, if he is open to conversation. Hold your ground at least until the crowd behind you gets nervous again. Then enter the foyer and begin kidding the head usher. If she is sociable, try to date her up, but if she is too busy, then stop long enough to tell her you will return after the show; otherwise somebody else might ring in ahead of you.

When the usher in the aisle takes you to your seat, engage her in conversation and chat amiably until she shows you your seat. But don't wait for the persons seated to rise and make room for you. Brush right by and step on their corns. If the show is in progress, remain standing a few moments and scan the audience to see if there is anybody present that you know. Then remove your overcoat leisurely, shutting off the view of as many as possible back of you. If they are annoyed and call on you to sit down, pay no attention to them. They can't start anything in a public place anyway.

When you get seated, stretch a bit, extending your arms to the sides, yawn and stick your gum on the back of the seat ahead of you. Stretch your legs also and stick your feet under the seat ahead. If it's a man in front of you, he probably has his hat under his seat. You no doubt will be able to reach the chapeau with one of your feet and push it on the floor where he can use it for a foot-rest. If it's a derby you may be able to put a couple of good dents into the crown.

By this time you will be able to pay some attention to the show. If it's a picture, read the subtitles aloud, giving a few audible haw haws occasionally and then start roasting the orchestra. Let it be known that you have seen the picture in New York or Chicago and that it is an old release sent to the "sticks" because it was a flivver in the big cities. Speak depreciatively of the show, say it drags and that the cast is rotten. This will help those about you to enjoy it more. If there is any feature especially good, don't applaud. Screen actors can't hear you from the curtain and besides it might divert attention from yourself.

When the show is nearly over, get up and start for the back end of the theater and don't give any warning to the people sitting between you and the aisle.

Stand for a few moments again. Drop something if you can to attract attention, then pick up your overcoat and throw it over your arm, hitting the couple in front of you. If the fellow looks cross, give him the laugh; he can't get over the back of his seat and start anything. Now you can make a bolt for the aisle and stumble over the feet of the folks next to you. Start toward the door, looking back in the meantime, and if the usher hasn't made a date she may be waiting for you.

When you get into the lobby outside, speak up loudly and with assurance so that everybody can hear you: "That was the rottenest show I've seen this year."

That remark will make a hit with the manager.

About this time the remainder of the audience will start coming out of the theater, and if you hurry, you can get a booth at the chop suey house before the others have a chance to get in.

COMING WEEK HOLDS FORTH MANY ATTRACTIVE OFFERINGS

Duluth theaters for the coming week will offer some of the biggest and brightest attractions of the season. This is not only true of the vaudeville theaters, but the picture houses as well.

Both the Orpheum and the New Grand are announcing extraordinary features. At the Orpheum, Martin Beck is sending "The Dance Shop," a new feature, and the New Grand will present "The Overseas Revue," the biggest act offered there this season.

"The Dance Shop" has scored a big hit in Orpheum houses, being one of the real successes of the current season. Among the featured artists are Jeanette Hackett and Harry Delmar, who have been popular in vaudeville and musical comedy for several years, and the charming Woods Sisters. Manager Edward Furni believes this turn will prove a winner.

"The Overseas Revue," announced by Manager Chester Sutton of the Grand, is a big-time musical act with twenty people. In fact, it is the biggest act of the season. This revue comes from the Twin Cities, where it has received flattering comments. Except for a few principals the personnel of the cast is made up of pretty girls. The Apache dance, characteristic of the underworld of Paris, will be a prominent feature.

Mme. Nazimova will come to the New Garrick the first half of the week in her latest production, a drama of stage life, "Madame Peacock." The last half, Will Rogers in "Honest Hutch" and Johnny Hines in "Torchy Turns Cupid," will divide honors.

Ever popular Eugene O'Brien at the New Lyric in "A Wonderful Chance" will again cause feminine hearts to flutter. At the New Astor is a program that should be given special attention. Sunday and Monday Olive Thomas will be seen in "Darling Mine," dividing honors with Tom Mix in a Western play along with a Torchy comedy.

"The Son of Tarzan" undoubtedly is one of the greatest serials to be presented to the public to date. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday the New Astor will show the fourth of this series, "The Sheik's Revenge." Mary Pickford will also be seen in what is and ever will be her greatest success, "Pollyanna."

George Walsh, who has become so well known for his athletic stunts in pictures, will come to the Zelda in a thrilling Fox film.

* * * *

"Little Miss Vamp," one of the most pretentious offerings going the rounds of the two-a-day circuits this season, will head in at the Duluth Orpheum next week. This is a musical comedy in one act, featuring the Lightner Sisters, Alexander, the Dancing MacDonalds and a beauty chorus. As smart as Old Broadway is what the P. A. claims for this spicy little show.

There is something brewing at the New Garrick, and it looks as if the public was going to get a new treat soon. Manager B. F. Schwie announces that he is putting in equipment for a new stage, and something over $6,000 will be spent on top of what has already been put in. The work will be completed by Jan. 1, in time to start off the winter season with a rush. A huge gridiron of steel construction is being put in, and the stage, when completed, will be one of the largest and most up-to-date at the Head of the Lakes.

The new decorations at the New Grand are complete and the interior is very attractive. The New Astor, also, has been given further improvements.

The New Lyric will have new seats. The seats were ordered some time ago, but shipment was delayed. The new seats are large, comfortable opera chairs, among the finest in the Northwest. These will be installed during hours when the house is dark. The house staff now shows considerable class with new Tuxedo suits.

Sister Stars in Dance Shop

WOOD SISTERS.

These two captivating artists will be featured at the Orpheum next week in "The Dance Shop," one of the most pretentious acts on the two-a-day circuits. Jeanette Hackett, Harry Delmar and a bevy of dancing beauties will make up the remainder of the cast.

PAVLOWA AND BALLET RUSSE AT NEW ARMORY JAN. 6

Nearly twice around the world, or a distance equivalent to that, has been traveled by Anna Pavlowa, "The Incomparable," since her last visit to the United States three years ago. First to South America, then to the West Indies, back to South America, to Mexico, to Spain, Portugal, France, Belgium, and then to the British Isles, appearing in the principal cities of each, the famous danseuse recently completed the most strenuous period of her busy career. Fresh from new triumphs at the Drury Lane theater in London, she is making a limited tour of the principal cities of the United States and Canada, which will bring her to this city under the management of Mrs. Stephen H. Jones Jan. 6 at the Armory.

Among the other performers with the Ballet Russe are the following: Marie Oleneva, premiere danseuse; Alexandre Volinine, premier danseur; Ivan Clustine, maitre de ballet; Hilda Butsova, Hubert Stowitts, Mechislav Pianowski, Father Vauinski, Jan Zalewski and entire London corps de ballet, with magnificent new and old favorite productions and an individually chosen symphony orchestra conducted by Theodore Stier.

King of Pianists Quits.

Ignace Paderewski, king of pianists, will never play in public again. He is suffering from neuritis in his hands. The piano that he has carried with him on all his concert tours is being offered for sale.

Russian Actress in New Role

ALLA NAZIMOVA.

Nazimova, who has scored many successes on the New Garrick screen, will return Sunday in "Madame Peacock," offering new opportunities for this great actress and dancer.

The Show Calendar

ORPHEUM.

The coming bill at the Orpheum, which will open tomorrow afternoon for a week's run, should be an enjoyable one for the reason that it appears to be full of action, dancing, singing and other forms of melody. A bill of this kind is always popular, for the two-a-day patrons seem to like the swing. One particular part of the program, occupied by the headline act, should prove to be unusually popular, for it is regarded as one of the very best dancing acts on the circuit this season. This will consist of Jeanette Hackett and Harry Delmar in "The Dance Shop," assisted by a bunch of comely girls, who, besides being good to look upon, are expert in the foot flickering art. Miss Hackett and Mr. Delmar have been pleasing audiences for quite a number of years now, and they seem to improve as time goes on.

Another team which will feature song, dance, talk and comedy is that of Fenton and Fields. They are blackface comedians and excel in their chosen specialty. Both men have fine voices and know how to use them. As to the quality of the feet nothing so definite is said, but they know how to use what they have in a way that sets the audience mentally jigging.

You remember Gus Edwards' school boys and girls, of course. Well, like most of the stars in that catchy show, Lillian Gonne has become a big hit in vaudeville and will be on next week's bill. She is still known as "Sassy Little," and this year, along with Bert Albert is presenting a musical skit entitled "On Their Way to School."

MUSIC AT THE THEATERS

GARRICK SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

Charles Helmer, conductor.
Gladys Byerly, organist.

Overture—"Orpheus" ....Offenbach
Oriental Sketches—
(a)—"The Lady Picking Mulberries" ....Kelly
(b)—"A Japanese Sunset"....Deppen
(c)—"Chinese Wedding Procession" .... Lange

March—"Hail America"........Drumm

LYRIC CONCERT ORCHESTRA.

G. E. Jackson, director.

Military Symphony.............Haydn
"Romance" ....Rubenstein
Selection—"Tumble In"..........Frink
Specialty—"Margy" .... Conrad

Still another classy song and dance act is on the bill. It is by Burke and Betty, of whom the critics have been saying much in the way of praise. They furnish lively tunes and as lively steps.

Edward Marshall, known widely as an illustrator, will present on the coming bill his art in cartoon work, portraits and sketches, all in chalk. He does it with his left hand, and is the only southpaw artist in captivity, it is claimed. Mr. Marshall is just completing a tour of the world.

The Four American Aces are a quartet of athletes, who offer sensational casting exhibitions. They are claimed to be muscularly perfect and each is an expert caster.

Topics of the Day continue to be one of the most entertaining features of the Orpheum bill and kinograms are still holding their popularity. The orchestral programs devised and directed by Mons. Michaud, are seemingly better than ever.

NEW GARRICK.

What ever the basic reason may be, the fact remains that the theatergoers of Duluth prefer in Nazimova productions to see this remarkable star in "lovable ragmuffin" and highly cultivated woman-of-the-world roles. For this reason they are especially fortunate that she has been able to obtain Rita Weiman's story of the stage, "Madame Peacock," for it brings her to the screen in both of these characters. "Madame Peacock" is the feature of the program opening at the New Garrick tomorrow in connection with the eleventh symphony concert, this afternoon's added attraction between 2 and 3 o'clock, and a Booth Tarkington comedy, "Edgar Can't Stop."

In the early part of "Madame Peacock" Nazimova is Jane Goring, a woman who married for love only to find her romance less alluring than the life back of the footlights. She is bold enough to leave "the grind of married life" because she believes in her ability to act, and cold enough to leave her little daughter to the doubtful care of a husband scarcely able, because of failing health, to support himself. As the successful actress, Nazimova is glittering and hard, but, somehow, in spite of or because of these qualities, undeniably fascinating.

Sharply in contrast to the mature character, the star appears suddenly as Gloria, Cromwell, a shy, stage-struck girl, who worships "the great Jane Goring," not knowing she is her own mother. All sincerity, energy and willingness to please, she wins by the human warmth of her heart, just as Jane Goring attracts as by a metallic, electric force.

As striking as the contrast of these two principal characters portrayed by this supreme star is the skill in unfolding the story.

Mary Miles Minter in "Eyes of the Heart" and the Chester comedy, "One Best Pet" will be seen for the last times today.

NEW GRAND.

The most pretentious vaudeville offering of the year and one of the biggest now on tour, "Overseas Revue," the much-praised and long-awaited revu-musical production comes to the New Grand tomorrow as the feature of a show which has been breaking all records and upsetting all traditions since it started to tour the Loew circuit.

"Overseas Revue," which is presented by Will Morrissey, is enacted by a company of twenty, mostly girls, with Blanche Latell and Billy C. Welp in the principal roles, made famous overseas by Mr. Morrissey and Elizabeth Brice, while others of the Broadway cast are Mlls. Le Roy, Joe Monahan, Herbert Broske, Earl Corr, Rene Braham, and an overseas beauty chorus.

There are three scenes in the production which will run for forty-five minutes, with some most pleasing effects. There are practically a score of special musical numbers, dances and specialties given during the progress of the show, which is declared "bigger and better than 'The Mimic World,'" with the added advantage of being presented by adult performers in place of juveniles.

Because of the elaborate character and great length of the "Overseas Revue," but two other acts can be played on the same bill, and special care has been taken to insure the quality of these. The Ferarros, man and woman, in sensational twists and eccentric novelties, will be one of the offerings, and Johnny Keane, remembered as a former member of Father Finn's Paulist choir, comes billed as "The Boy From Ireland" in "keen" songs and stories, as the other.

The Ferarros work in eccentric clown makeup, presenting an act that is fast from first to last, including not only comedy chatter but barrel-jumping, acrobatics and ground-tumbling.

Johnny Keane is big enough now to be known as John, with long pants and everything, but he is still blessed with the sweet-toned voice which he had when in the choir. He possesses also a world of wit, and both figure in his act, which is of the dapper, swagger sort that stamps him as a regular entertainer.

The "Hidden Dangers" series of photoplays is nearing its end and "At Bay," which is a feature of this show, is the fourteenth and next to the last.

A Rolin comedy, with Snub Pollard, the exceptionally entertaining Screen Magazine, and the Grand News Weekly complete the show which will run for four days, starting tomorrow.

The show which closes tonight is featured by Jonia and her Hawaiians in "A Tropical Serenade." There are four other entertaining acts and good pictures.

STRAND.

Oliver D. Bailey's play, "Branded," is coming to the Strand theater, starting Sunday, as a motion picture under the title of "The Branded Woman," and offers Norma Talmadge with a role which demands the utmost in histrionic capabilities. The star extracts a great deal of feeling from the character of Ruth Sawyer, who is forced to go through life with the stigma of her mother's bad name. Circumstances compel Ruth to flee America and happiness is her reward when she accepts the young diplomat, Courtenay, for her husband.

But this happiness is of short duration since some of her shadows from the past come to haunt her. In the end, however, she is safe from the clouds of yesterday. "The Branded Woman" permits Miss Talmadge to express nearly every emotion known to a feminine heart. The picture offers a goodly number of tense situations which develop into a climax of gripping dimensions. There is a good moral established, too, which points out that no truths should be hidden when one takes a partner for life.

Miss Talmadge wears many stunning gowns that will appeal to the feminine patronage. The supporting cast is splendid. There is something fresh and distinctively individual in the work of Percy Marmont as Douglas Courtenay. His is a more rugged and manly type than many male leads. George Fawcett supplies an unusually good characterization of the old judge. Gaston Glass smiles his way through the part of William Bolton as attractively as he played the leading role in "Humoresque," although his part this time is a minor one. Grace Studdiford does the mother role well and Vincent Serrano as Craft is well cast.

ZELDA.

It is not the easiest thing at times to smile while one is making moving pictures. Getting up in the small hours of the morning to get a flying start for the day's work on location; a near-sandwich and a warm bottle of milk for lunch, because nothing better is available; the terrific heat in summer in combination with that of the Cooper-Hewitts in the studio.

However, George Walsh has always managed to keep smiling—and not alone for the camera's eye, it is just his nature. He wouldn't be natural if he wasn't smiling. And that smile has become known all over the motion picture world.

Miss Ferguson Back.

Elsie Ferguson, in private life Mrs. Thomas Clark, Jr., has returned from a European trip. She started her circle of the globe last May. During her stay in the Philippines she was the guest of Governor-General Burton Harrison. She also made a stop in every city along the Oriental coast.

Mary as Pollyanna

MARY PICKFORD,
"America's Sweetheart," will return to Duluth in "Pollyanna" next Tuesday, when she will open an engagement at the New Astor.

Theater Attendance Begins to Grow

The pre-election slump in theater attendance seems to have been merely temporary in character, and during the last week patronage has increased steadily. Duluth managers are optimistic over the outlook for business during the winter.

That old motto, "Keep Smiling," is a good one to post up during periods of depression, but there is something more effective than print on a card board. If you want to keep smiling and feel like smiling, go to the theater. A good show is better than poor whisky, and the theaters are willing to do their bit in making one forget business depression. The Federal reserve banks may [illegible], but the theaters keep right on every day in the year making life more cheerful and rosy. No better proof of this is needed than to refer to the record of the theaters during the late war. The theaters are beginning to be looked upon as a national tonic.

First Class Circus Needed for the Road

With the sale of the Sells-Floto circus this week, the last of the smaller high-class circuses has passed from the management of big men in this end of the amusement game. H. H. Tammen and F. G. Bonfils of Denver, who have operated this circus and put it into the class of the best, have closed out their holdings to Jerry Mugivan of Denver. Mugivan is owner of the Hagenbeck-Wallace and John Robinson shows, the Howes London and the Yankee Robinson shows.

It is to be regretted that Tammen and Bonfils have quit the circus game. They have been among the leading promoters of clean circus amusement and they have given the public the value of their money. In fact, the Sells-Floto shows were the only circus that offered the Ringling Bros. any real opposition.

The smaller towns and cities need good, clean circus attractions, and for the last few seasons the Ringling Barnum & Bailey shows have played long engagements in New York, Chicago and the larger cities, but have not paid enough attention to the other parts of the country to satisfy residents of the Northwest. It now looks as if it was up to the Ringlings to send out the Forepaugh-Sells shows or organize a new amusement concern for road showing.

Showman H. H. Tammen cannot be given too much credit for what he has done for clean amusements. Excessive railway fares have driven many amusement companies to abandon their enterprises and, if relief is not granted soon, only the very largest cities will be given their just dues in attractions.

Etiquette Attracts Notice at Theaters

There is no place where etiquette counts more than at the theaters. Pursuing the up-to-date method of studying people rather than books, the following simple rules have been compiled and are being tried out by a few who would set the styles in manners.

If you find a large, impatient crowd lined up at the box office when you go to buy your ticket, edge around the end of the rail and horn in ahead of the line. Place your hands firmly on either side of the box office window, making your position secure. After you have obtained a pasteboard, ask the ticket seller a few personal questions, holding back the line as long as possible.

When the crowd gets thoroughly incensed, break away, hand your ticket to the doorman and begin talking—that is, if he is open to conversation. Hold him around at least until the crowd behind you gets nervous again. Then enter the lobby and begin kidding the head usher. If she is sociable, try to make a date, and if she is too busy then stop long enough to tell her you will see her after the show, otherwise somebody else might ring in ahead of you.

When the usher in the aisle takes you to your seat, engage her in conversation and chat amiably until she shows you your seat. But don't wait for the persons seated to rise and make room for you. Brush right by and step on their feet. If the show is in progress, remain standing a few moments and survey the audience to see if there is anybody present that you know. Then remove your overcoat leisurely, shutting off the view of as many as possible behind you. If they are annoyed and call on you to sit down, pay no attention to them. They won't start anything in a public place anyway.

When you get seated, stretch a bit, extending your arms to the sides, then stick your gum on the back of the seat ahead of you. Stretch your legs out and stick your feet under the seat ahead. If it's a man in front of you, he probably has his hat under his seat. You no doubt will be able to crush the chapeau with one of your feet and push it on the floor where he can use it for a foot rest. If it's a derby you may be able to put a couple of good dents in the crown.

By this time you will be able to pay some attention to the show. If it's a movie, read the subtitles aloud, giving a few audible haw haws occasionally and then start roasting the orchestra. Let it be known that you have seen the picture in New York or Chicago and that it is an old release sent to the "sticks" because it was a flivver in the big cities. Speak depreciatively of the story, say it drags and that the cast is rotten. This will help those about you to enjoy it more. If there is any feature especially good, don't applaud. Screen actors can't hear you from the curtain and besides it might divert attention from yourself.

When the show is nearly over, get up and start for the back end of the theater and don't give any warning to the people sitting between you and the aisle.

Stand for a few moments again. Drop something if you can to attract attention, then pick up your overcoat and throw it over your arm, hitting the people in front of you. If the fellow looks cross, give him the laugh; he can't get over the back of his seat and start anything. Now you can make a bolt for the aisle and stumble over the feet of the folks next to you. Start toward the door looking back in the meantime, and if the usher hasn't made a date she may be waiting for you.

When you get into the lobby outside, speak up loudly and with assurance so that everybody can hear you: "That was the rottenest show I've seen this year."

That remark will make a hit with the manager.

About this time the remainder of the audience will start coming out of the theater and if you hurry, you can get a booth at the chop suey house before the others have a chance to get in.

COMING WEEK HOLDS FORTH MANY ATTRACTIVE OFFERINGS

Duluth theaters for the coming week will offer some of the biggest and brightest attractions of the season. This is not only true of the vaudeville theaters, but the picture houses as well.

Both the Orpheum and the New Grand are announcing extraordinary features. At the Orpheum, Martin Beck is sending "The Dance Shop," a new feature, and the New Grand will present "The Overseas Revue," the biggest act offered there this season.

"The Dance Shop" has scored a big hit in Orpheum houses, being one of the real successes of the current season. Among the featured artists are Jeanette Hackett and Harry Delmar, who have been popular in vaudeville and musical comedy for several years, and the charming Woods Sisters. Manager Edward Furni believes this turn will prove a winner.

"The Overseas Revue," announced by Manager Chester Sutton of the Grand, is a big-time musical act with twenty people. In fact, it is the biggest act of the season. This revue comes from the Twin Cities, where it has received flattering comments. Except for a few principals the personnel of the cast is made up of pretty girls. The Apache dance, characteristic of the underworld of Paris, will be a prominent feature.

Mme. Nazimova will come to the New Garrick the first half of the week in her latest production, a drama of stage life, "Madame Peacock." The last half, Will Rogers in "Honest Hutch" and Johnny Hines in "Torchy Turns Cupid," will divide honors.

Ever popular Eugene O'Brien at the New Lyric in "A Wonderful Chance" will again cause feminine hearts to flutter. At the New Astor is a program that should be given special attention. Sunday and Monday Olive Thomas will be seen in "Darling Mine," dividing honors with Tom Mix in a Western play along with a Torchy comedy.

"The Son of Tarzan" undoubtedly is one of the greatest serials to be presented to the public to date. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday the New Astor will show the fourth of this series, "The Sheik's Revenge." Mary Pickford will also be seen in what is and ever will be her greatest success, "Pollyanna."

George Walsh, who has become so well known for his athletic stunts in pictures, will come to the Zelda in a thrilling Fox film.

* * * *

"Little Miss Vamp," one of the most pretentious offerings going the rounds of the two-a-day circuits this season, will head in at the Duluth Orpheum next week. This is a musical comedy in one act, featuring the Lightner Sisters, Alexander, the Dancing MacDonalds and a beauty chorus. As smart as Old Broadway is what the P. A. claims for this spicy little show.

There is something brewing at the New Garrick, and it looks as if the public was going to get a new treat soon. Manager B. F. Schwie announces that he is putting in equipment for a new stage, and something over $6,000 will be spent on top of what has already been put in. The work will be completed by Jan. 1, in time to start off the winter season with a rush. A huge gridiron of steel construction is being put in, and the stage, when completed, will be one of the largest and most up-to-date at the Head of the Lakes.

The new decorations at the New Grand are complete and the interior is very attractive. The New Astor, also, has been given further improvements.

The New Lyric will have new seats. The seats were ordered some time ago but shipment was delayed. The new seats are large, comfortable opera chairs, among the finest in the Northwest. These will be installed during hours when the house is dark. The house staff now shows considerable class with new Tuxedo suits.

Sister Stars in Dance Shop

WOOD SISTERS.

These two captivating artists will be featured at the Orpheum next week in "The Dance Shop," one of the most pretentious acts on the two-a-day circuits. Jeanette Hackett, Harry Delmar and a bevy of dancing beauties will make up the remainder of the cast.

Nearly twice around the world, or a distance equivalent to that, has been traveled by Anna Pavlowa, "The Incomparable," since her last visit to the United States three years ago. First to South America, then to the West Indies, back to South America, to Mexico, to Spain, Portugal, France, Belgium, and then to the British Isles, appearing in the principal cities of each the famous danseuse recently completed the most strenuous period of her busy career. Fresh from new triumphs at the Drury Lane theater in London, she is making a limited tour of the principal cities of the United States and Canada, which will bring her to this city under the management of Mrs. Stephen H. Jones Jan. 6 at the Armory.

Among the other performers with the Ballet Russe are the following: Marie Oleneva, premiere danseuse; Alexandre Volinine, premier danseur; Ivan Clustine, maitre de ballet; Hilda Butsova, Hubert Stowitts, Mechislav Pianowski, Father Vauinski, Jan Zalewski and entire London corps de ballet, with magnificent new and old favorite productions and an individually chosen symphony orchestra conducted by Theodore Stier.

Ignace Paderewski, king of pianists, will never play in public again. He is suffering from neuritis in his hands. The piano that he has carried with him on all his concert tours is being offered for sale.

Russian Actress in New Role

ALLA NAZIMOVA.

Nazimova, who has scored many successes on the New Garrick screen, will return Sunday in "Madame Peacock," offering new opportunities for this great actress and dancer.

The Show Calendar

ORPHEUM.

The coming bill at the Orpheum, which will open tomorrow afternoon for a week's run, should be an enjoyable one for the reason that it appears to be full of action, dancing, singing and other forms of melody. A bill of this kind is always popular, for the two-a-day patrons seem to like the swing. One particular part of the program, occupied by the headline act, should prove to be unusually popular, for it is regarded as one of the very best dancing acts on the circuit this season. This will consist of Jeanette Hackett and Harry Delmar in "The Dance Shop," assisted by a bunch of comely girls, who, besides being good to look upon, are expert in the foot flickering art. Miss Hackett and Mr. Delmar have been pleasing audiences for quite a number of years now, and they seem to improve as time goes on.

Another team which will feature song, dance, talk and comedy is that of Fenton and Fields. They are blackface comedians and excel in their chosen specialty. Both men have fine voices and know how to use them. As to the quality of the feet nothing so definite is said, but they know how to use what they have in a way that sets the audience mentally jiggling.

You remember Gus Edwards' school boys and girls, of course. Well, like most of the stars in that catchy show, Lillian Gonne has become a big hit in vaudeville and will be on next week's bill. She is still known as "Sassy Little," and this year, along with Bert Albert is presenting a musical skit entitled "On Their Way to School."

Still another classy song and dance act is on the bill. It is by Burke and Betty, of whom the critics have been saying much in the way of praise. They furnish lively tunes and as lively steps.

Edward Marshall, known widely as an illustrator, will present on the coming bill his art in cartoon work, portraits and sketches, all in chalk. He does it with his left hand, and is the only southpaw artist in captivity, it is claimed. Mr. Marshall is just completing a tour of the world.

The Four American Aces are a quartet of athletes, who offer sensational casting exhibitions. They are claimed to be muscularly perfect and each is an expert caster.

Topics of the Day continue to be one of the most entertaining features of the Orpheum bill and kinograms are still holding their popularity. The orchestral programs devised and directed by Mons. Michaud, are seemingly better than ever.

NEW GARRICK.

What ever the basic reason may be, the fact remains that the theatergoers of Duluth prefer in Nazimova productions to see this remarkable star in "lovable ragmuffin" and highly cultivated woman-of-the-world roles. For this reason they are especially fortunate that she has been able to obtain Rita Weiman's story of the stage, "Madame Peacock," for it brings her to the screen in both of these characters. "Madame Peacock" is the feature of the program opening at the New Garrick tomorrow in connection with the eleventh symphony concert, this afternoon's added attraction between 2 and 3 o'clock, and a Booth Tarkington comedy, "Edgar Can't Stop."

In the early part of "Madame Peacock" Nazimova is Jane Goring, a woman who married for love only to find her romance less alluring than the life back of the footlights. She is bold enough to leave "the grind of married life" because she believes in her ability to act, and cold enough to leave her little daughter to the doubtful care of a husband scarcely able, because of failing health, to support himself. As the successful actress, Nazimova is glittering and hard, but, somehow, in spite of or because of these qualities, undeniably fascinating.

Sharply in contrast to the mature character, the star appears suddenly as Gloria Cromwell, a shy, stagestruck girl, who worships "the great Jane Goring," not knowing she is her own mother. All sincerity, energy and willingness to please, she wins by the human warmth of her heart, just as Jane Goring attracts as by a metallic, electric force.

As striking as the contrast of these two principal characters portrayed by this supreme star is the skill in unfolding the story.

Mary Miles Minter in "Eyes of the Heart" and the Chester comedy, "One Best Pet" will be seen for the last times today.

The Branded Woman

NORMA TALMADGE,

NEW GRAND.

The most pretentious vaudeville offering of the year and one of the biggest now on tour, "Overseas Revue," the much-praised and long-awaited revu-musical production comes to the New Grand tomorrow as the feature of a show which has been breaking all records and upsetting all traditions since it started to tour the Loew circuit.

"Overseas Revue," which is presented by Will Morrissey, is enacted by a company of twenty, mostly girls, with Blanche Latell and Billy C. Welp in the principal roles, made famous overseas by Mr. Morrissey and Elizabeth Brice, while others of the Broadway cast are Mlls. Le Roy, Joe Monahan, Herbert Broske, Earl Corr, Rene Braham, and an overseas beauty chorus.

There are three scenes in the production which will run for forty-five minutes, with some most pleasing effects. MARY PICKFORD,

"America's Sweetheart," will return to Duluth in "Pollyanna" next Tuesday, when she will open an engagement at the New Astor.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

NEW ASTOR.

Thanksgiving week will be truly a big week at the New Astor with some of the best attractions that that popular house of popular prices has yet offered.

Great audiences have been enjoying Norma Talmadge in "Fifty-Fifty," the feature of the program which closes this evening. Coming tomorrow for two days is an especially notable line-up of offerings with "Darling Mine," starring Olive Thomas, heading the bill, and including also one of the Sewell Ford Torchy comedies, "Torchy in High," and Tom Mix in a Western thriller, "Saved by His Horse." The story of "Darling Mine" is one of those pleasant things which carries an indefinable charm, which carries the trail direct to the star as the orphaned Irish immigrant girl in the beginning of the picture and then as the young actress rising rapidly to fame, with love looking over her shoulder.

Starting Tuesday and continuing through Thanksgiving day the principal attraction will be Mary Pickford in "Pollyanna," now generally admitted the best picture she has made in recent years. In addition the fourth story of the "Son of Tarzan" series will be shown. It is "The Sheik's Revenge" and is filled with thrills.

For Friday and Saturday Douglas Fairbanks comes in "His Majesty, the American," a picture with all the fun that one could look for in a Fairbanks picture, and all the melodramatic thrills that one might anticipate in a Harold MacGrath story. There will be other attractions.

"Take It From Me"—Plaza.

With a story that is entertaining from the rise of the curtain to the finish and abundant comedy, "Take It From Me," a noted musical success, will be presented at the Plaza theater, Superior, Sunday, Nov. 28.

The authors, Will B. Johnstone, who provided the book and lyrics, and Will R. Anderson, who furnished the music, have turned out a highly diverting, up-to-date and snappy show, bound to win favor, while the cast is excellent throughout, it is said.

Marjorie Sweet, as the vampire prima donna, heads the list of individual hits, and she never sang or acted better than she does in this role. Her vampire dance is an exceedingly clever number. John Hennings, Richard Mack and Alice Hills provide the laughs of the piece. Among the specialties the dancing of the Gardiner trio wins no end of applause. Theirs are the real twinkletoes. Then the skating waltz, one of the big hits, no more graceful and charming dance specialty could be imagined.

The hero of "Take It From Me" is left a large department store, which he is to retain permanently, providing that he succeeds in operating the establishment profitably for one year. The amateur merchant calls to his aid two friends, who jump in and work like Trojans to help him "put the store over the top." They put the floor walkers and cash girls on roller skates for "efficiency" and lend the floor of imported gowns to a "movie vamp" for film purposes.

It is all very amazing. Impossible, perhaps! But good for the tired business man. And many and many a tired business man will find his way to "Take It From Me" before it goes down the line of memory.

Marie Nielson has entirely recovered from an injury to her eyes, caused by being hit by a piece of flying glass in the bomb explosion in New York some weeks ago. She has almost completed dictation for her first book, "Ma and We'uns."

Bacon Buys Film Stock.

Frank Bacon, star of "Lightnin'," is one of the principal stockholders of the Better Pictures corporation, which has been granted a charter. The new film concern has a capitalization of $207,500, and has been formed to maintain a clearing house for film productions.

BIG REVU-MUSICAL SPECTACLE AT NEW GRAND

SCENE FROM WILL MORRISSEY'S "OVERSEAS REVUE."

NEW LYRIC.

There are many points of excellence in "The Wonderful Chance," Eugene O'Brien's newest feature, which opens at the New Lyric today, but chief among them is the notable work of the star who has deserted perfect-lover roles to portray that of a crook who would reform and be a gentleman. He makes the characterization so real and appealing that when "Swagger" Barlow tackles "one more job" to help a pal who is ill and in dire need, he wins the sympathy instantly.

H. H. Van Loan has given the story a plot that is intricate and clever, and there is not a moment but what some exciting incident is being enacted. Marked originality is displayed, especially in the incident when the leader of a band of crooks kidnaps an English lord in order that one of them may impersonate him in society, only to discover that another has "beat him to it" and is already masquerading as the nobleman, and "getting away with it."

As "Swagger" Barlow, Eugene O'Brien is ideally cast, demonstrating that in virile roles that have a background of mystery and romance he is at his best. "The Wonderful Chance" has action enough for three photoplays, measured by the ordinary standards, but it all truly belongs to the story, instead of being "dragged in" that the star may perform a few thrilling stunts.

Martha Mansfield is a pretty and delightful leading lady. Others in the cast are Warren Cook, Ida Darling, Joseph Flanagan, Tom Blake, Rudolph De Valentino and others. There will be the usual added attractions including the Lyric News Events and an unusually attractive Outing-Chester scenic, "Lovely Maoriland." The New Lyric concert orchestra will have a special musical program. The attraction for the last half of the week will be "The Best of Luck," starting Wednesday with special features for Thanksgiving day.

"THE BRANDED WOMAN"

From Oliver T. Bailey's Play "Branded"

The Story of a Heaven for Three —That Hung on a Thread

The Soul of Purity dragged in the mire of a mother's cynicism—out of the jeweled slough of degradation fought this beautiful girl; into the arms of the man she loved—to find the scarlet shame, the hideous blot of the past, was to be washed away with tears and Faith.

We proudly indorse "The Branded Woman" as the most pretentious Norma Talmadge production ever presented, and one which does honor to Joseph M. Schenck and The Strand.

JAN KUBELIK.
Kubelik, who is said to be the most skillful artist living with the bow, will appear at the New Armory Dec. 7 in Mrs. George S. Richards' All-Star course. Critics declare that his music has mellowed and become more appealing since his last appearance in America, six years ago.

Chummy Musical Comedy at Plaza

Which will come to the Plaza theater, Superior, matinee and night on Thanksgiving day and Friday night, Nov. 25 and 26, with Olive Reeves-Smith.

"Buddies" at Plaza.

A real treat is in store for the Head of the Lakes when the Selwyns offer "Buddies" at the Plaza theater, Superior, on Thanksgiving, matinee and night, and Friday, Nov. 25 and 26, for this delightful comedy with music comes direct from a run of twelve consecutive months in the Selwyn theater, New York, where its tender romance and melodious music attracted capacity audience all last season.

The company of players which will be seen here are all musical comedy artists of stellar fame, the cast including such names as Denman Maley, Olive Reeves-Smith, Joseph Herbert, Jr., and Ignacio Martinetti.

In weaving his love story around a peasant maid of Brittany George V. Hobart selected a singularly picturesque and delightful theme for his comedy, and one which inspired B. C. Hilliam, composer of all its lilting melodies, to write the most melodious music which the New York stage produced last year. There are such lovely numbers as "Hello Home," and "Please Learn to Love." While the romance is not subservitated to the music, there is yet a constant thread of song running through the story of "Buddies," and adding to its remarkable charm.

For the convenience of Duluth theater-goers seats for all performances will be placed on sale tomorrow at the Lyceum drug store.

MINNESOTA GIRL WINS PLACE IN FILM WORLD

Crookston, Minn., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two years ago a clerk in a civil service department in Washington, D. C., today a coming motion picture celebrity. That is the career of Miss Audrey Hagen, who is now in Crookston on a two-weeks' vacation with her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Hagen. Miss Hagen made the trip to her old home to rest prior to her participation in the filming of "Determination," a ten-reel photoplay to be produced by the United States Film corporation.

Miss Hagen is a graduate of the local high school and has had one year at the University of Minnesota and one at St. Olaf's college at Northfield. When the United States entered the war and the offices were emptied of men who answered the call to the colors, Miss Hagen applied for a civil service position in Washington and her application was immediately accepted.

Two years ago she applied at a Washington film studio for a tryout. Her request was granted and the film experiment showed she had what motion picture men term "the screen face." She was immediately offered a five-year contract by the United States Film corporation, the contract calling for her appearance in five superfeatures, the first of which will be "Determination." Cast in the same play are Maurice Costello, Al Lincoln and "The Fighting Parson."

PERSONAL PROPERTY OF LATE OLIVE THOMAS FOR SALE

The personal property of the late Olive Thomas, actress and film star, will be sold Monday, Nov. 22, at a public sale conducted in the auction rooms of Samuel Marx, 115 West Twenty-third street, New York. The sale will begin at 9 o'clock in the morning and will continue until 5 in the afternoon.

Miss Thomas in private life was the wife of Jack Pickford. She died recently while in Paris after having taken poison.

The property to be auctioned consists of valuable jewelry, furs, wearing apparel and automobiles. The articles have been on exhibition all this week and arrangements have been made to accommodate the large crowds who are expected to flock to the salesrooms for a glimpse at the many beautiful things that once were the property of one of the most popular of American screen actresses.

In the jewelry list are included the following articles:

Diamond and sapphire bracelet, containing 201 diamonds and three oblong sapphires; a diamond necklace, containing ninety-three brilliants and ten small brilliants in a catch for lavalliere, ranging from 1-32 to 3-16 karat, center diamond in catch ¼ karat, thirteen diamonds, ¼ karat each, seventy-nine diamonds, averaging ⅛ karat, and one diamond, ¼ karat, weighing 13½ karats in all; a crystal cigarette case, clasp and hinges set with brilliants and sapphires; a platinum arrow pin, containing thirty-nine brilliants; a platinum ring set with star sapphire and thirty-two brilliants; a cabachon sapphire and pearl ring, containing two pearls; a beaded bar with sapphire clasp.

Hundreds of other valuable articles are included in the list.

OLD ACTORS HOLD STRANGE REUNION

W. J. Ferguson and Mrs. Kathryn Evans, two survivors of the "Country Cousin" cast which played that night in Ford's theater when Abraham Lincoln was shot, had a dramatic meeting last week in the Blackstone theater in Chicago. They had not seen each other in forty years, and they came together at a performance of John Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln" which pictured in its last episode the scene at Ford's theater, which showed the assassination of Lincoln.

Mr. Ferguson and Mrs. Evans were honor guests at a special performance given of the Drinkwater play for members of thirty-one G. A. R. posts in Chicago and 500 wounded A. E. F. boys. Frank McGlynn, other members of the company, musicians and stage hands all donated their services.

Neilan's Persistance Wins.

Now that Marshall Neilan's picture, "Go and Get It," has been safely launched as a great cinema success, the young producer laughingly admits its origin. "It was the very first story I ever wrote," said Neilan. "That was way back in my early acting days. I sent it from producer to producer, but nobody would have it. My mother consoled me. 'Never mind,' she said, 'you'll sell it some day.' And I did," exclaimed Neilan; "I sold it to myself."

KUBELIK, GREAT VIOLINIST, AT NEW ARMORY DEC. 7

Jan Kubelik, famous violinist, who is make his appearance in Duluth on Tuesday evening, Dec. 7, at the Armory, is still the idol of hundreds of thousands of concert-goers in this country and abroad. His six years' absence from America has by no means diminished his popularity. In fact enthusiasm in anticipation of his coming visit is running high and managers from all over the country are requesting Kubelik dates. Kubelik's fame spread like wildfire after his initial concerts in America. His name became a household word wherever music had a foothold.

Kubelik has won new triumphs during the war. He has been hailed in Czecho-Slovakia, where he appeared recently as the star of a great festival. He has been acclaimed in all of the European capitals. Critics have found new qualities to admire in his art. Kubelik's appearance in Duluth is destined to be the high light of the local musical season. Appearing with him as soloist and accompanist will be Pierre Augieras, distinguished French pianist.

MUSICIANS, STAGE HANDS TO GIVE ANNUAL BALL DEC. 10

Duluth musicians and stage hands will give their annual ball at the New Armory Dec. 10 and union musicians will play for no other dances in Duluth or Superior that night. Special features are being provided that should make the affair one of the most successful ever held here.

Continuous music will be furnished from 9 p. m. to 2 a. m. under the direction of Charles Helmer. Fully sixty pieces will be in the orchestra throughout the dance and after 11 p. m. musicians from all orchestras of Duluth and Superior will contribute their services. The latest and best dance music will be played.

Elaborate lighting effects will be arranged by the Universal Lighting company and special stunts will be given. The grand march will be led by dancers selected from one of the vaudeville theaters.

Committees will have charge of every detail and order and courtesy will be maintained regardless of the size of the crowd.

Harding Vaudeville Fan.

President-elect Harding is a vaudeville fan, and it's going to be a pretty hard job to keep him in the traces of conventional business routine. He has already proved a recalcitrant, according to J. C. Matthews, manager of Marcus Loew's Western booking agency, who received the following telegram:

"President-elect Harding did not exactly conform to the routine program outlined for him during his recent short visit to New Orleans. He and his secretary ducked the reception committee for an hour, which they spent in Loew's Crescent theater."

WORK WILL START ON NEW PIT MINE

Chisholm, Minn., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mining operations will be started by the Oliver Iron Mining company on the north half of the southeast quarter, section 23, 58-20, the first of next week, according to reports now confirmed by local mining men.

The mine will be known as the Frasier mine and is located right south of the Billings location, on the road to Buhl. The property comprises eighty acres. Operations will later be enlarged and in time the mine will be second only to the Hartley pit in size in the district.

The new mine will be operated entirely as an open pit and it is conservatively estimated that 2,000,000 yards of overburden will be removed next year. Some tracks are being laid now and the first shovel is expected to cut in next week.

With the close of the ore shipping season the large crew now operating in the Glen pit will be transferred to the Frasier property. The opening of the new property gives assurance of the steady employment of a large force of men who might otherwise be thrown out of employment with the close of the shipping season.

CHISHOLM BAKER TO PROSECUTE G. WOOD

Chisholm, Minn., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Wood, game warden, is accused of assault in a warrant issued this week by the local municipal court and now in the hands of the police awaiting service. Frithiof Syvelin, a local baker, is the complainant.

It is charged in the complaint that Wood accompanied Indian Agents Cohn and Benson on last Saturday night to the pool hall owned by Isaac Rahja and Valentine Mattson, located at the corner of First avenue and Maple street, where the proprietors were taken in custody on an alleged charge of having had intoxicating liquor in their possession.

Syvelin, so he claims, was in the place at the time and on seeing Wood accompanying the officers asked him out of curiosity what he wanted. Wood is alleged to have picked up a billiard cue and broken it over Syvelin's head, which blow, it is said, rendered the victim unconscious and necessitated several stitches being taken in his head to close the wound.

The officers on Wednesday ordered the release of Rahjala and Mattson from the local jail, not requiring them to put up any bail, and the local police are awaiting Wood's return from a hunting expedition to take him in custody.

BALKAN TOWNSHIP TO HAVE RURAL DELIVERY

Chisholm, Minn., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—After a prolonged dispute with the postoffice department lasting over a period of two years the Chisholm chamber of commerce yesterday received notice from the fourth assistant postmaster general that a rural mail delivery would be established in Balkan township.

The demand for the establishment of a rural mail route in the township was made first by a delegation of Balkan farmers over three years ago. A petition was filed at that time and an inspector appointed who after completing his inspection of the proposed route reported unfavorably. When the local chamber of commerce was organized two years ago the matter of mail delivery in Balkan township was one of the first things brought to the attention of the organization and a request was made on the department to reopen the case. This was done and the second inspection resulted in an unfavorable report.

Undaunted the chamber of commerce again requested that the case be reopened and a request was made to include the sawmill location in the proposed route. After a third inspection an unfavorable report was again made to the department. The secretary of the local organization was then instructed to proceed to have the case again reopened and the result is the approval of the Balkan rural mail route.

From the present correspondence it is assured that orders will be issued in a few days authorizing the service which will become effective Jan. 17, 1921.

The route approved will include the sawmill location, the Hayes and Park additions to Chisholm and cover the township in a circuitous route which will serve in all about 300 families.

ELKS' STAMPEDE AT HIBBING IS SUCCESS

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The committee in charge of the Elks' stampede at the armory last night that attracted a full house are today being congratulated for the success of the entertainment, the boxing features (told on The Herald's sport page) coming up to expectations.

The jazz orchestra under the management of Dr. Wilbur Wring was encored time and time again while the vaudeville acts of Collins, roller skater; Louis and Manning, comedy, and the Jordan trio, Hawaiian singers, pleased all.

Women were present and they apparently were pleased with the evening's entertainment, taking as much interest in the boxing as the men. The crowd was orderly and everything was run with a precision and regularity that is considered creditable to Dr. Wilbur Wring, Fire Chief Charles McIlhargey, Pal Brown and L. C. Newcombe.

The program opened with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and then Lafe Safro gave a bag punching exhibition, using his feet as well as most men can use their hands with any amount of bags. His work was not only skillful but pretty to watch. Safro was given a big hand.

ST. PAUL TEAM WILL TAKE DULUTH'S PLACE

Eveleth, Minn., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The management of the Eveleth hockey team has received information to the effect that the Duluth hockey team has withdrawn from the hockey league which was recently organized at a meeting of all teams in Marquette, Mich., and the St. Paul organization has taken up the schedule surrendered by Duluth. A game was to be played here Jan. 4 with Duluth, the first contest in the schedule, but St. Paul will play here on that date instead, according to the present arrangement.

HIBBING, BRAINERD PRIESTS EXCHANGED

Brainerd, Minn., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Father J. J. O'Mahoney, fourteen years in charge of St. Francis Catholic church parish, will leave shortly for his new charge at Hibbing and Rev. Father Hogan of Hibbing is to come to Brainerd. Duluthians Attend.

Eveleth, Minn., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Masons from all over the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges and Duluth attended the annual ball given by the local lodge at the city auditorium last evening. Among those coming from Duluth were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hearding and son, William. Helmer's orchestra of Duluth furnished the music.

EVELETHIAN FAVORED FOR GOOD LEGISLATIVE JOB

FORMER MAYOR E. H. HATCH.

Former Mayor E. H. Hatch of Eveleth will be second assistant clerk of the next state house of representatives, if the slate as fixed last night at a caucus of members at St. Paul goes through.

Most of the St. Louis county delegation attended the conference but only three were present from Duluth: M. B. Cullum of the Fifty-seventh district, Frank B. Scribner of the Fifty-eighth and William L. Bernard of the Fifty-ninth. The range districts were fully represented and in the conference of representatives of this section of the state, following the general caucus, the range men outvoted the city men. Monic Altman of Duluth, who served as second assistant clerk in the last house, was a candidate and had the backing of the Duluth men present, but the range wanted Mr. Hatch and got him through numerical strength. The position is assigned to the Eighth congressional district by common consent, and County Auditor Borgen held it once.

EVELETH BOY'S HURT TERMINATES FATALLY

Eveleth, Minn., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harold Thorne, 20, son of Rev. and Mrs. I. J. Thorne, died at the More hospital yesterday as a result of serious internal injuries which he suffered when a traveling crane fell off a beam at the Leonidas shops on Nov. 1, striking him and breaking his back.

Mr. Thorne was gaining nicely until a few days ago till it developed that the injuries received internally were more serious than at first supposed and these are given as the cause of death.

He was born Oct. 10, 1900, at Dorset, Ohio, and came to Eveleth with his parents in 1917, and was graduated from the Eveleth high school in the spring of 1918, carrying high honors of his class. That fall he went to Mount Union college in Ohio and studied there a part of the year, finishing his term at the University of Minnesota. He returned to Minnesota this year to take his sophomore work, but left about three weeks ago and came home to work. It was but a couple of days after he returned that the accident occurred. While in high school, he showed remarkable ability in athletics of all kinds. He played football and basket ball on the high school teams and was enthusiastically interested in baseball. He won several prizes in swimming contests also.

Funeral services will be held at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon. The parents will leave Monday noon with the body for Greentown, Ohio, their former home, where interment will take place. Rev. A. H. McKee of Duluth, district superintendent of the M. E. church in the Duluth district, will officiate at the local service.

Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics, and a sixty-cent bottle is enough for many months. Eight million bottles were bought at drug stores last year, the largest sale of the kind in the world.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has been on the market thirty years and there must be genuine merit behind it to develop so large and steady a sale. Buy a bottle today and you will quickly see why it is so popular.

RAIN OR SNOW

RAIN OR SNOW

The break has come. With rain this morning as a beginning, rain or snow is predicted for tonight and tomorrow. But the temperature will remain about the same. The sun rose this morning at 7:19 and will set this evening at 4:30, giving nine hours and eleven minutes of sunlight. Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Pressures have fallen rather decidedly from Saskatchewan southward to including Middle and Southern states; low areas of moderate intensity being centered over Southeast Alberta and North-Central Nebraska. The barometer continues high over Southeastern states and strong high pressure has developed over Oregon and California. The temperature has risen somewhat throughout the Southwest and South, the Ohio valley and Atlantic states, and has fallen from the Rocky mountains westward. During the last twenty-four hours there was rain over North California, Nevada, North Utah, extreme West Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington, and snow or rain over Manitoba, Northeast North Dakota, extreme East Ontario and Quebec. A general shift to easterly winds has taken place in the lake region, reaching rather fresh velocities on western Superior."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

SLEEPS WELL AND NERVES ARE STRONG

Michigan Woman, in Poor Health for Years, Now Feels as Well as She Ever Did.

"I was in miserable health for years," said Mrs. Almira Philbrook of No. 215 Willow avenue, Pontiac, Mich. "I was very weak and pale and my lips were without any color. Nothing tasted good and I suffered from sour stomach and other discomforts after eating. I became nervous and had terrible headaches. My rest was broken at night.

"I had known of several people who had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with benefit so I got a box. After taking the pills for a time I found that they were helping me so I kept on with the treatment. My nerves became stronger and then my color slowly returned. I have a healthy color now, food tastes good and I can eat heartily of whatever appeals to me. I sleep well, too, and no longer have nervous headaches. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

When work that you are accustomed to becomes a severe tax on your strength and the glow of health leaves your cheeks, when your appetite becomes fickle and discomfort follows a meal, it is time to tone up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has a direct action on the blood. They build it up and enable it to carry more oxygen. As the blood becomes abundant and rich it strengthens the muscles, tones up the nerves and enables the stomach to digest food properly.

Do not neglect yourself but begin treatment now with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If your druggist cannot supply you the remedy will be sent postpaid by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., on receipt of price, 60 cents per box. An interesting booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be mailed free on request.

ON TO WASHINGTON!

The rivers and harbors congress meets in Washington December 8, 9 and 10.

Word comes that New York interests hostile to the Duluth-to-tidewater project plan to pack the congress, with a view to getting it to pass resolutions against this plan.

All right; then the West should pack it right back!

It is true that Washington is far from the West and handy to New York, and that it will be a great deal easier for New York people to run down for the congress than it will be for Western people.

But this is an important crisis in the campaign for the Duluth-to-tidewater project, and surely enough Western men sufficiently realize the vital consequence of this issue to their own interests to insure an attendance that will prevent the New York plan to swing the congress their way.

Duluth by all means ought to be vigilant. As many of its civic organizations as possible should send as many delegates there as they can. If local citizens plan on those dates to be anywhere near Washington, they should let the organizations they belong to know of it, so they can be qualified as delegates.

Duluth, which has a deeper interest in this project than any other community, should do its share to prevent the success of that New York scheme of packing the congress with a hostile majority.

THE FIGHT AGAINST THE VENEREAL PLAGUES.

Monday there opens in Washington, to continue for three weeks, one of the most important conferences ever held there: the All-American conference on venereal diseases under the auspices of the American Red Cross, the United States departmental social hygiene board, the United States public health service, and the American Social Hygiene association.

In organizing an American institute of venereal diseases, which is planned to result from this conference, probably the delegates will mark the real beginning of the fight against the venereal plagues—a fight that is vitally needed, and that can be made a winning fight.

One great trouble has been that the discussion of this subject has been carried on, like the misbehavior that creates the subject, largely under cover. Individuals and newspapers have followed a Miss Nancy habit of mincing words about this great evil and of calling a spade "a certain agricultural implement" when they should have dared to come right out and call it what it is. It is only recently that the words "syphilis" and "gonorrhea" have commonly appeared in public prints, and even yet there are many who shrink from using them. Yet this great evil never will be boldly met until the world drops its foolish mock modesty and its silly prudery and faces the facts.

And the outstanding fact is that syphilis and gonorrhea cause more misery in this world, shatter more lives, plunge more people, both guilty and innocent, into unutterable woe, than liquor ever did. Indeed, the trouble caused by intemperance, vast though it was, isn't a patch on the trouble caused by the sexual plagues.

One can conceive of nothing more likely to encourage lives of decent continence than the knowledge of the real facts about these diseases, and one great weapon in the coming fight against them will be publicity of these facts.

The coming conference, the greatest if not the first of the sort ever held, is the fruition of years of spasmodic, sporadic work in nation, states and communities. It will be an attempt to co-ordinate and organize this work, to give it great substance and a more effective form, and to mobilize educational, social and medical agencies for a common purpose and a common program.

Though educational and social agencies will be drawn upon, of course the main attraction will be the presence of the leading experts in venereal disease of the country, including Dr. John H. Stokes of Rochester, Dr. John A. Fordyce and Dr. E. L. Keyes of New York, and Dr. H. G. Irvine of Minneapolis, who organized the first free public venereal clinic in the country at the invitation of the state of California. Duluth will be represented by Dr. E. W. Fahey, city health officer, and Dr. E. Z. Shapiro, the head of the local free venereal clinic operated by the national and state governments.

The world is awakening, after many centuries, to the devastation these plagues are working, and to the need of a bold attack upon them. In the fight that is to be made every available agency, whether educational, social or medical, will be drawn upon for help, and a complete revolution in the public attitude toward these diseases is an essential. First, the public should quit its prudery on such subjects and challenge them fearlessly. Second, it should cease to think of the venereal plagues as crimes, and begin to think of them as diseases. Third, it should quit thinking of them as individual problems, and begin to consider them for what they are—social problems of the first importance.

> Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love. In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him. Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins. Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another. No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us. Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit. And we have seen and do testify that the Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world. Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God. And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him. Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment: because as he is, so are we in this world. There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear: because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love.

AMERICANIZATION IN THE RIGHT SPIRIT.

The Service Citizens of Delaware form an organization created to help Americanize aliens. As an exhibit of the work it is doing and its results, they recently issued a pamphlet containing selections from speeches made at the "commencement exercises" of their classes in Americanization.

To show how readily the majority of aliens welcome efforts to help them merge intelligently in the mass of American citizenship, and the spirit in which they cooperate and respond, some of these extracts, just as they were written, are worth reading.

> Suppose some one had told me just a year ago to speak to such a big audience, and to speak in English, I would have had a pretty good reason to believe that some one was trying to make a fool of me. But today, after two years in night school, I can solve that problem to such an extent in front of this audience that every one, I think, can understand me. With a great tensity I am waiting for the time when I can take my second naturalization papers.

These words, written by Antonio Pinazzi with his own hand, manifestly reflect the utmost earnestness of his being:

> I traed to be a good Settasan I whunt to be a good workman I going to respect everybody. I traed to do the best I can for this good Country. I am every glad to help this rich Country becaust I like very much this gentell peopol. I love this country as very biautifl Country.

Says John Orban:

> It gives me great pleasure to say a few words to you in which I will tell you what the Citizen Ship means to me. A Citizen Ship means to me Freedom, and Love and Gladness.

A Greek, Mike Mallus, says:

> I came to America about 10 years ago and am very satisfy as foreign man. I found liberty and many good other things which I can't explain as my heart says but my mout didn't help me. What is the best thing I can do for America? The first thing is to obey the American laws to be a good American citizen.

Peter Stathis, formerly of Athens, speaking of his experiences with the Americanization work, says: "There I met many boys from colleges, boys of rich families, but there was no difference between me and them. We were talking together, play together."

The manifest good faith of these and many other records of personal experiences and emotions is very heartening to those engaged in the work of which they speak, which seems to be very similar to the splendid work that is being done in Duluth by the local Americanization committee.

A thought worth preserving is furnished in the foreword to the pamphlet by Joseph H. Odell, the director of this work, who says that he does not expect all comers "to blend as by magic and become something mysteriously and mystically different—Anglo-Saxon, for instance." He does not even hope to turn them into New England Puritans or Western cowboys.

"America," he says, "is what it is, not by reason of what the earliest immigrants found here, but by reason of what they brought with them. They have never really blended, but they have developed the habit of sharing their possessions." The spirit of true Americanism, he declares, is "inter-racial tolerance," and whatever failures we have made "have come from a local breakdown of toleration."

The earliest immigrants have not blended, perhaps, largely because they were already pretty well blended. They were largely English, Scotch, Welsh and Irish, with smaller elements of Dutch, German and French. Yet in their descendants today, with few exceptions, these racial differences are only a matter of tradition and perhaps of name.

Perhaps the newer immigration, so much different in type and temperament, cannot soon accomplish that change. Certainly it is too much to expect it in the first generation. Yet in the second generation, at least, something of the kind should be looked for, and certainly "inter-racial tolerance" should not be carried to the point of tolerating the perpetuation of alienism in togue and thought.

America was late in getting at the business of Americanization, and much harm was done by its former neglect of it. Even now it is by no means so widespread, nor always so wisely conducted, as it should be. Duluth's work is as intelligent and effective as any in the country, and that Delaware organization looks like another successful effort.

A BIG STEP FORWARD.

The Minneapolis chamber of commerce has told the state department of agriculture that it will admit to membership the representative of a central selling agency organized by the farmers' elevators to market their grain.

This is a wise decision, and we believe it marks a long step forward in clarifying the relations between the producers and their markets.

Indeed, if the chamber of commerce had admitted a farmers' representative to membership ten years ago, when it had a chance and refused, it is very doubtful if Townley ever would have been heard of.

It seems to go without saying that if farmers organize to sell their products cooperatively, they should have direct access to the terminal markets. Though these markets have been built up virtually as private enterprises, and on this ground their owners might have a colorable argument for refusing to admit farmers' representatives, still they have become public facilities of the greatest importance—of an importance too great to make it thinkable that they can be left wholly under private control.

If, when the Equity Co-operative association tried to get a membership in the Minneapolis chamber of commerce years ago, it had been permitted to succeed, political history of the Northwest might have been very different. A farmers' representative in the Minneapolis market, in touch with all that goes on there and with all its processes, would have known that much of the suspicion that has grown up among the wheat-growers was baseless. If there was real ground for any of it, he would know that too, and his knowledge, communicated to his farmer constituents, would have enabled them to get it redressed, if necessary by law. For in the making of laws governing the marketing and sale of grain the farmer has always had full say in this state, and every such law is a farmers' law, offered by farmers' representatives and put through the legislature because the rural districts always have had the balance of power in the legislature

The decision to admit a farmers' representative to membership in the chamber of commerce will prove, we believe, to be the heaviest blow yet struck at Townleyism.

GOVERNOR BURNQUIST.

Governor Burnquist is to be the guest of honor at a luncheon to be held Monday noon at the Spalding in the interest of higher education in Minnesota with special reference to the needs of Carleton college.

It is to be hoped that the governor will be met by a large and representative gathering. This probably is the last time Governor Burnquist will be in Duluth during his term of office, as he will be succeeded by Mr. Preus the first of the year. Duluth, therefore, should be glad of the opportunity to honor him in this way, and the least that can be done to show the community's gratitude for what he has done for it as governor is to make this meeting a success.

◆

INDUSTRIAL PEACE TREATIES.

The organized shoe workers of Lynn, Massachusetts, an important shoe manufacturing center, have signed a treaty of peace with their employers for a period of nineteen months.

The shoe workers, for this period, voluntarily abrogate their right to strike, and agree to rely upon a plan for the peaceful arbitration of any disputes that may arise.

This is intelligent, sane, patriotic and wise on both sides, and the long-suffering public will hail it as a most agreeable sign of hope.

It means continuous and uninterrupted employment for the workers, and continuous and uninterrupted production for the employers.

It means, for that period at least, security for those who deal with and serve the workers of that community, like the merchants.

Written large, the country over, entered into and kept in good faith by both sides, such a movement as this would mean more for the restoration of a sound balance in industry and business than anything else imaginable.

An Interpretation

Sioux City Journal: Often when a man says he is misunderstood, it means he has been found out.

"Dead" Again

By Savoyard.

Washington, Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—And again the Democratic party is dead. The first time it died was in 1840 when it suffered a defeat just a little less disastrous than the one it met Nov. 2, 1920. But as it turned out, victory, overwhelming as it was, proved more harmful to the Whigs than defeat was to the Democrats. The Whig army of 1840 was made up of two antagonistic elements and they were agreed on nothing except that both hated Maj.-Gen. Andy Jackson. John Tyler, an anti-Jackson Democrat, opposed to the bank though he was and to a protective tariff, was nominated for vice president to strengthen the ticket and he did lend much strength to the ticket. Jackson was in retirement and Harrison, the Whig president, died April 4, 1841, just one month after inauguration. Tyler became president, holding to his principles of opposition to bank, and split his party wide open with the result that James K. Polk, a Democrat, was chosen president in 1844.

Again the Democratic party died in 1860 when the split came at Charleston followed by the election of Abraham Lincoln; but the contrary old party refused to stay dead and not long after the Civil war ended it was again very formidable. Stupidity cannot kill the Democratic party, else it had died in 1868 when it nominated a goldbug for president and set him on a greenback platform.

As for defeats—the Democratic defeat of 1872 was, relatively speaking, more signal than the Democratic defeat of 1920. In the electoral college Gen. Grant got 286 votes of a total of 349, whereas in 1920 the G. O. P. gets in the college 404 votes against 127 for the Democrats. And again, the congressional election of 1890 was a greater victory for the Democrats than either party has ever achieved in a national election since the birth of the Democratic party in 1828. That year the Republicans elected but eighty-eight members of the house of representatives out of a total of 313. Every state east of the Mississippi river went Democratic except Maine and Vermont; but eight years later McKinley, the head of the Republican ticket, swept the country.

One thing the election of 1920 revealed was this: The enfranchisement of women has not worked to change the political complexion of a single state unless Tennessee be an exception, and in Tennessee political animosity, not political principle, operated. As a rule the woman will vote as the male members of her family vote. There are exceptions, of course, but those exceptions work to neutralize one another, for there are as many relatively in one party as in the other. All that agony about women suffrage was a waste of ideality. There is a great deal of human nature in a woman and she has her share of the earthy.

It has been dinged into our ears for years that the Democratic party is the minority party. That is generally true on the face of the returns. It is too early to analyze the vote this year; but never since the war of 1861-65 has the Democratic party been defeated when it was democratic. Do not forget that Samuel J. Tilden had a large plurality of the popular vote in 1876, and Grover Cleveland, all three times he ran for president, had a plurality of the popular vote. In those four elections the Democratic party, all but Tammany, was united, and it was united because it was democratic. It would be a grand stroke of political wisdom, reaching to the height of political genius, if the Democratic party could muster the courage to expel Tammany from the ranks of the party.

There is talk of the reorganization of the party. That is nonsense. It is not the Democratic party's move in this game of political chess. All the Democratic party is required to do is to sit back and allow the Republicans to play the game. You couldn't please the G. O. P. better, you couldn't advance the interest of that party more, than for the Democrats to put their hands into the mess up to the elbow. The Republicans have now got the responsibility. It is up to them to do things. And there are more things to do than ever before. They have been adding fastidity to the public taste for eight years. They must now purvey delicacies to gratify that taste and in quantity sufficiently abundant to go around.

Here is the misery of it—What is meat to one faction of the G. O. P. is poison to the other factions of that party.

Greece Returns to Normalcy

New York World: Americans can have no difficulty in understanding what happened in Greece if they will call M. Gounaris Warren G. Harding, M. Venizelos Woodrow Wilson and Ex-King Constantine a composite of the senate Old Guard. Greece has returned to normalcy.

In making a greater Greece, Venizelos has been much out of the county and may have neglected home matters, though his is an able administrator. He had remained in power far longer than Greek premiers are wont to do—or, for that matter, French or Italian premiers. Grieving for its dead and pestered like the rest of us by post-war evils, Greece wanted a change and got it.

As in Mr. Harding's case, Gounaris won by uniting irreconcilable elements. The pro-Germans, as here, voted against the government, and, as here, will claim the credit of victory. Constantinists of all shades are a larger factor, though not big enough to dispense with falsehood in the campaign—such as claiming that the United States favored "Tino's" return! The real winner is Discontent.

Rippling Rhymes

Masterpieces

I stand the bulky book on end, give it a glance, and let it drop—the stuff the wise men recommend to youths who yearn to reach the top. I wonder if the wise men read the dope they'd like to pass along, stale bunk from sages gone to seed, and bards who croak a dreary song. I've tons of volumes in my home, on reading them I'm always bent; but I pass up the musty tome that makes perusal punishment. The mildewed sages, when they wrought, held it a crime to start a smile; I have no use for Gems of Thought couched in a dull and dismal style. The wise men like to stand on end, and say to youth, "Read useful books! Here is a work we recommend—the sermons of Augustus Snooks." But when these wise old boys were lads, they hid in their respective barns, in trembling terror of their dads, and read the Beadle brand of yarns. I say to youth, read high romance, and tales of daring and of gore; the day will come, as years advance, when they won't thrill you any more. Then with the wise men you will stand, and say to striplings blithe and hale (some punk old volume in your hand), "Read anything that's flat and stale!"

Health Talks

By William Brady, M. D.

Dampness and No Heat

Our politicians, as ever eager to seize the more popular horn of a dilemna, base a great deal of their noisy talk nowadays on the popular belief that insufficient heat in living apartments or offices or stores predisposes occupants of such apartments to some disease, preferably pneumonia. And when anyone subjected to the discomfort of insufficient heat does happen to pick up anything like a respiratory infection the coincidence is cited as perfectly convincing evidence of the landlord's wickedness.

Nobody loves a landlord—at least not less than I do. A landlord is to my mind the lesser of two evils—the greater being the evil of having no place to stay when there's no place to go. I'm ready to take the stand and swear away the good name of a landlord at any time. But pneumonia is something else again. I'll gladly give, at my regular rate, expert testimony against a landlord as a factor of nervous prostration, high blood pressure, insomnia and anxiety neurosis, but when it comes to a question of pneumonia, I must testify that the landlord positively is not guilty. It would be love's labor lost for him to grind down on the heat as a means to that end. His chance of success would be better if he would overheat 'em to the verge of suffocation.

No doubt it is a reckless and ill-advised thing to say, as I do say, that the conventionalized landlord, skimping about 10 deg. Fahrenheit on the heat through every cold spell, is in reality acting as a good friend of his tenants. He is taking nothing from them, save imprecations; he is giving them something akin to a hygienic indoor temperature. Deduct 10 deg. Fahrenheit from the average indoor temperature of flat, office and store and you have approximately the ideal normal or hygienic indoor temperature, which is 65 deg. Fahrenheit.

Landlords as a whole are indeed execrable creatures. I hate nothing more than landlords unless it be getting up bright and early in the morning. Nevertheless, speaking from the viewpoint of good health, we must grudgingly concede to the landlord an important role in keeping us well. Some people harbor the notion that it is the landlord's place to keep us good and warm. I thank goodness that he is such a uniform success at keeping us cool and well.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

A Lady's Hand.

I see by the paper where a lady praised your hand lotion. Just now one of my chief occupations in life is holding hands. And I have a fancy that a young man likes to hold a nice soft hand, or at least my particular young man does and my hands ain't! (J. A. A.)

Answer: Here is the lotion I suggested for softening and whitening the skin of the hands or face:

Tragacanth, in shavings	80 grains
Glycerin	1 ounce
Boric acid	½ ounce
Oil of bergamot	4 drops
Rain water (or tap water)	1 pint

Boil the tragacanth in the water, stirring constantly, until dissolved. Add water to make up for evaporation. Then add the other ingredients. Apply to the skin two or three times daily, immediately after washing and before the skin is quite dried.

Hyperthyroidism.

What is the difference between hyperthyroidism and exophthalmic goiter? (Bertha.)

Answer: Hyper means more or excess—hyperthyroidism means excessive function of the thyroid gland, which produces and pours into the blood an "internal secretion" or ferment which is the natural stimulant to various vital processes. In exophthalmic goiter the patient suffers from hyperthyroidism.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Talk happiness: The world is sad enough,
Without your woes. No path is wholly rough:
Look for the places that are smooth and clear
And speak of those who rest the weary ear
Of earth, so hurt by one continuous strain
Of human discontent and grief and pain.

Talk health! The dreary, never changing tale
Of mortal maladies is worn and stale.
You cannot charm or interest or please,
By harping on that minor chord, disease.
Say you are well, or all is well with you,
And God shall hear your words and make them true. —Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Being not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work.—James i. 25.

Every man can help on the world's work more than he knows of. What we want is the single eye, that we may see what our work is, the humility to accept it, however lowly, the faith to do it for God, the perseverance to go on till death.—Norman McLeod.

"Influence" a Drawback

John D. Ryan, president Anaconda Copper company, in Forbes Magazine: Influence is the worst handicap any young man can have. It tends to make him feel he need not exert himself to his full capacity and has a bad effect upon him. When other workmen learn that one of their number has a pull with somebody higher up, they look at him askance and the effect upon these other men is bad. Then the foreman, or whoever is over him, will either show him undue favors and push him into a position for which he is not fitted, or, if the boss is of a different stamp, he will hesitate to promote him even when he deserves it because the boss knows the others will think it is a case of favoritism. The effect, therefore, is bad upon the whole organization. When any young engineer or college graduate or anybody else comes to me asking for a letter to enable him to get a job at our works I say to him just what I have said here.

The Honor of the American Press

Toronto Saturday Night: No doubt the defeat of Cox, despite the support of many of the higher grade newspapers, will be hailed by the enemies of clean journalism as evidence that these newspapers do not count for anything. Nevertheless, it is clear that the consistent backing that great publications like the New York Times, World and Evening Post have given the Democratic candidate in the face of practically certain defeat, is the best proof of journalistic honor and conscience that could be forthcoming. They have demonstrated that newspapers have a higher purpose than merely keeping their ears to the ground and getting in on the winning side. They have indeed accomplished something; for they have forced from Senator Harding an acquiescence more or less tangible in the principles on which the League of Nations is founded, and may be trusted to keep up the great educative work they have carried on.

The Gift of Sir Cleges

From "Literature of all Nations:"

Sir Cleges, a very generous knight in the days of King Arthur's father, was by his liberality reduced to want. On Christmas eve, when others were rejoicing, he grieved that he could not, as heretofore, feed all that came. But his good wife, Claris, embraced and kissed him when she called him to his solitary meal. They made mirth together and played with the children, and on the morrow went to church. When they came home he went alone into his garden and knelt under a cherry tree and thanked God with all his heart. But when he pulled himself up by a bough of the tree, behold! It was green and there were ripe cherries on it.

He showed the wonder to his wife, and proposed that the Christmas cherries be put in a basket and taken as a present to King Uther at Cardiff. Sir Cleges, poorly dressed, took his staff, and his eldest son went by his side, carrying the basket. But when they came to the king's castle the porter at the gate threatened to break the poor man's head. However, seeing the Christmas cherries, he let Sir Cleges in on a promise of receiving one-third of what King Uther should give him. The usher at the hall door was persuaded on the same terms. The steward in the hall also required a promise of one-third of the king's expected gift. At last Sir Cleges made his offering to the king and was royally received. The king promised the poor man whatsoever he should ask, and the knight said:

I pray you grant me strokes twal
To deal where liketh me;
With my staff to pay them all
To mine adversaries in the hall
For Saint Charity!

The king said that the beggar had more need of gold or land, and that he was sorry for his promise. But the knight replied that he was glad and therefore received his request.

Sir Cleges then sought out the proud steward and gave him such a stroke that he fell like a block, and then three more strokes till the steward cried, 'Sir, for thy courtesy smite me no more!"

Then went Sir Cleges to the usher and cried "Have here some strokes!" When he had beaten him he said, "Thou hast now the third part of my gift, as I promised thee!"

Then Sir Cleges went to the porter and gave him four strokes, so that he might never for many a day hinder any man that came to the king. He broke his shoulder bone and arm, and thus he kept his promise to him also.

Sir Cleges went back into the hall and found a harper, to whom he had once been liberal, singing his praises, so that the king was reminded of his old knight. Sir Cleges then disclosed himself and explained his actions to the king's delight. King Uther thereupon adorned him as a knight and gave him Cardiff castle.

Along the Yellow River

Omaha World-Herald: There are many odd and queer sayings on the campans of the Yellow river, among the hills of Yun-nan, and along the reaches of the Great Wall builded of old by the emperor, Shi Hwang-ti, as well as on the streets of Canton and Peking, says Arthur Guiterman, in his little booklet, "Chips of Jade," but none that has greater or more far-reaching import than the lines which run:

"The street will be clean as heaven's floor
When each man sweeps before his own front door."

Indeed, what a different world we would have if every man first swept clean his own dooryard before he criticized his neighbor for neglecting to do so. But we do not do this—that is some of us do not. We are too prone to see the mote in another's eye and forget to look in our own reflector.

Then, again, too many times we imagine things are true which are not true. In brief words, we jump at conclusions too readily. Honest thought means impartial investigation. Every charge against a man or enterprise, no matter what it is, needs honest thought to bring honest conviction. And before we are prepared justly to convict, our own floors must be swept clean.

Twenty Years Ago

The old telephone company, as the Duluth Telephone company is generally known among the people of Duluth, has scored first blood in the fight with the city to determine whether it shall continue to do business in Duluth, in spite of the fact that it has no franchise from the city. Judge Lochren of the United States court has decided the case of Gordon Abbott and Francis R. Hart against the city of Duluth in favor of the plaintiffs. They are holders of securities of the Duluth Telephone company and brought the action to restrain the city from interfering with the company and thus destroying the value of their security. Judge Lochren holds that the streets of a city are highways in the meaning of the law and the company has the right to occupy the streets under the act of the legislature which grants telephone companies the right to use public roads and highways of the state. He virtually holds that the telephone company has a perpetual right to do business in the city. He does not rule that the city cannot force the company to put its wires underground, but says that question does not arise in this case. The city will appeal the case to the United States circuit court of appeals.

CITY-WIDE ADULT BIBLE CLASS CAMPAIGN INTEREST DEEPENS; CLIMAX ON UNIVERSAL BIBLE SUNDAY

The present campaign of Duluth Adult Bible classes will close on Sunday, Nov. 28, which will be observed through the country as "Mayflower Universal Bible Sunday." The celebration of the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims on Plymouth rock in 1620 includes this special recognition of Bible Sunday. The plan is being promoted through the American Bible society of New York. In Duluth, the Adult Bible classes invite every adult who appreciates the value of the Bible in laying the foundations of this nation, to attend some Sunday school and take part in the Bible class session on that day. They are broad in their invitation, and ask that men and women will attend the Sunday school of their choice. Doubtless the classes will be crowded on that day, and many who have lost the habit of regular attendance at Sunday schools, and have given up the habit of Bible reading and study, will make this great national day the occasion for renewal of their responsibilities on this line. The leading thirty-one adult classes in the campaign stand as follows:

At a special meeting of the adult classes, to which one representative of each class was invited, held at the boys' department building of the Y. M. C. A., last Tuesday night, there was a fine attendance and great enthusiasm prevailed. Dr. William F. Scoular, pastor of Glen Avon Presbyterian church, where the leading class in this campaign is located, delivered an earnest evangelistic address, wherein he outlined the definite ways in which the adult classes may be of material assistance to the pastors and church leaders in carrying on the work of the winter. W. L. Smithies, state superintendent of the adult division, also addressed the meeting. He congratulated the classes on the splendid spirit of the campaign and for the fine work done to date. He conducted a conference on the campaign plans, which were very freely discussed, as were also the plans to be followed by the adult classes for the winter. Unanimous decisions were made regarding the winter work, and these will be announced later.

TITLE FIGHT IN BIG TEN

Chicago, Nov. 20.—The climax of the Western football conference's 1920 season today presented six teams in a complicated mixup for the first four positions in the final standing, Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Indiana and Chicago.

The center of attention was directed to Urbana, Ill., where the 1919 champions, Illinois, and runner-up, Ohio State, meet to decide the championship.

The standings, before the games today, were:

Team—	Won.	Lost.
Ohio State	4	0
Illinois	4	1
Wisconsin	3	1
Indiana	2	1
Iowa	3	2
Chicago	2	3
Northwestern	2	3
Michigan	1	2
Purdue	0	3
Minnesota	0	5

Ohio Is Slight Favorite.

Ohio State, in first place with an undefeated record and victories over Wisconsin, Michigan, Chicago and Purdue, was a slight favorite over the Illini. However, the latter team, playing on its own field, was determined to offset the defeat given it by Wisconsin.

Wisconsin, facing Chicago, was given the advantage by previous scores. Indiana was at Purdue for their annual battle. Iowa went outside the conference to tussle with the Ames Aggies at Ames. Northwestern received Notre Dame at Evanston, in the most important of the non-conference games.

Michigan went north to grip with the Minnesota eleven. Nebraska meets the Michigan Aggies at Lincoln in the only other game of importance in the Middle West. The Corn Huskers hoped to save their men for the contest with Washington State Thanksgiving day.

WOLVERINES AT MINNESOTA

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 20.—Michigan invaded Northrop field for the first time in eleven years today and met Minnesota in the last football game of the season for the two teams. It was homecoming day at the Gopher institution and more than 27,000 reserved seats were sold for the game this afternoon.

Michigan was the favorite before the game, but the Minnesotans, who have suffered five straight conference defeats this year, were determined to uphold their record of never having been beaten on Northrop field by a Yost-coached eleven.

To the victor will go the historic "little brown jug," which has been the bone of contention between Minnesota and Michigan since 1903. The jug was found in the Michigan lockers after the game that year and the 6-to-6 score painted on it. The Wolverines captured the jug in 1909 and it stayed at Ann Arbor until last year, when Minnesota's victory brought it back to Minneapolis.

ATTELL GETS GATE IN NEW YORK HOTEL

New York, Nov. 20.—Abe Attell, who once passed out visiting cards as featherweight champion of the world and who has been a prominent figure in the world's series baseball scandal, received a knockout blow this afternoon when he was ejected from the Claridge hotel. The "bout" was short and sweet while it lasted. Needless to say, the decision went to the hotel manager and his house detective, who told Abe that he needed the "air" and that his presence did not add to the hotel lobby's beauty.

Attell, who disappeared some time ago after he threatened to "spill the beans" in the baseball gambling investigation, later bobbed up in Montreal where he announced that he was taking a little rest, promising to return to the United States if his presence was needed by the baseball investigators.

Abe got back to New York last night and stepped into the Claridge this afternoon to have a look at other pugilistic celebrities who were on hand, some to arrange a date for the Dempsey-Carpentier bout for the heavyweight championship of the world, and many more just to see and be seen. Abe did some smiling, said "Howdy" to a few friends and then flopped himself down in a nicely plush-covered lounge to await developments. They happened soon.

His presence was noticed by a lynx-eyed manager and detective and he was promptly told that he was not wanted. It was quite humiliating to Abe for most of the newspaper boys who used to write nice things about him when he was a champion were on hand. Suffice it to say that Able was much chagrined.

OHIO ASKS GAME WITH OKLAHOMA

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 20.—Possibility of a postseason game between the University of Oklahoma and Ohio State, which might develop into a Big Ten Missouri Valley interconference championship, gave a new impetus to the closing stages of the year's football campaign in the Missouri valley today. A tentative offer for a game between the two teams at Columbus a week from today was received last night by Benny Owen, Oklahoma coach, from Charles P. Newell of Ohio State. Under the valley rules postseason games are not permitted, but this restriction might be lifted by the conference officials.

WHITE SOX SIGN TWO YOUNGSTERS

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 20.—President Charles Comiskey of the White Sox is sojourning at Excelsior Springs, Mo., for a spell, but during his absence Secretary Harry Grabiner is busily engaged at the south side park signing young ball players for Manager Gleason to take to Texas for a trial in the spring. As the outfield of the club was virtually shot to pieces with the dismissal of Joe Jackson and Happy Felsch, men for their positions are being secured.

Two youngsters have already been signed for the coming season. One of them is Mickey Collins of the Independent Packers team. He was recommended by Ray Schalk, who caught a few games for that club in exhibition games after the close of the American league season. The star south side receiver was so impressed with Collins' batting and fielding that he advised Secretary Grabiner to get his signature to a contract before he was grabbed by another ball team. This was done and the semipro player will be taken South for a trial.

Mostil Again With Team.

The other player whose contract is safely stored in the club's safe is Johnny Mostil, who has belonged to the White Sox for two years. He, too, is a product of the local field. He was picked off the semipro field in 1918 and played second base for Clarence Rowland after Eddie Collins left the team to go to war. Mostil went South with the team in the spring of 1919, but was sent to Milwaukee for more seasoning. He showed wonderful improvement, but had no chance to break in as a regular with such players as Jackson, Felsch, Leibold and Murphy on the club. As a consequence he was returned to Milwaukee again last year.

Sox Looking for New Players.

The White Sox must do considerable rebuilding and are not overlooking the chance to sign promising outfielders, infielders and pitchers who apply for positions. Secretary Grabiner planned to take a long vacation after the season closed, but business has been so active that he has had to postpone it. With the winter season half gone and President Comiskey away, he will have to stick close to headquarters to get the contracts of the new men as they arrive.

Pitcher McWeeney, who was purchased from Milwaukee in the fall by the White Sox, called on Secretary Grabiner yesterday, but did not come to terms. There is a little difference over the deal that was made, the pitcher declaring he was promised a bonus of some sort if advanced to the majors. Grabiner is taking the subject up with the Milwaukee club and it is more than likely McWeeney, who lives here, will be signed before the holidays.

Quiet prevails on the north side. President Veeck, after several strenuous weeks of trying to put Judge Landis over as head of the new board of control, decided he also required a little vacation and went to Excelsior Springs to keep President Comiskey company for a week or ten days.

MIKE KELLEY TO HEAD PHILLIES

St. Paul Manager Picked to Replace Gavvy Cravath.

Philadelphia, Nov. 20.—Mike Kelley, manager of the St. Paul American association baseball team, will replace Gavvy Cravath next year as manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, according to an announcement yesterday by William F. Baker, president of the Philadelphia team. Baker said Cravath has been given his unconditional release.

Although Kelley has not yet signed a contract, Baker said they had agreed on all details and that Kelley was anxious to come to Philadelphia.

"Kelley is in St. Paul arranging his affairs with the American association club there," Baker said. "If he can get away, as I have no doubt that he can, he will be our manager next season."

WELTERWEIGHT RETAINS CROWN

London, Nov. 20.—Ted "Kid" Lewis last night knocked out Johnny Basham, former welterweight champion of England in the nineteenth round of a twenty-round bout in Albert hall.

The bout was for the welterweight championship of Great Britain, which Lewis wrested from Basham three months ago. It was a hard fought contest and anybody's victory up to the eighteenth round, when Basham, although bleeding freely from an injured ear, was fighting gamely.

In the nineteenth round, Lewis sent his opponent down for the count of eight, and then, when Basham arose, landed a terrific right to the point of the jaw. Basham went down and was counted out.

CRIMSON COMES TO NEW HAVEN

Harvard-Yale Game Overshadows All Other Eastern Contests.

New York, Nov. 20.—The historic Yale-Harvard contest at New Haven easily dominated all other football matches on Eastern gridirons today in point of general interest.

The Crimson was a top-heavy favorite to win by a comfortable margin. Many observers, however, remembering past performances, believed that the Blue eleven, fighting with its back to the wall, would "find" itself and wage a terrific battle against its ancient rival.

A poll taken among members of the Princeton team—which tied Harvard and defeated Yale 20 to 0—showed that nine players favored Harvard to win, while six believed Yale would come through.

Physically the elevens entered their thirty-ninth contest on a comparatively even basis, but Harvard had an apparent advantage of alertness, strategy and polished team play. Yale's team has been slow in developing and while the latent strength has been apparent all during the season, the team play has been crude.

Greatest of All Crowds.

The contest drew to New Haven the greatest crowd in the history of football in America. More than 75,000 people—a city in itself—had tickets for the twenty-one miles of seats in the great "bowl."

Other games of outstanding importance were the Dartmouth-Brown clash at Boston, the Pennsylvania-Columbia contest at the Polo grounds in this city and the Syracuse-Colgate match at Syracuse. Dartmouth was generally favored in the wagering to tame Brown on the strength of the Green's steady improvement in the past few weeks. Columbia and Penn apparently were fairly evenly matched, with the Red and Blue a slight favorite. Syracuse, on paper, had a wide margin of advantage over Colgate.

ILLINI CRIPPLED FOR FINAL GAME

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 20.—Football teams of the University of Illinois and Ohio State met today in the contest for the western conference title, with the Buckeye eleven a favorite because of its unbroken string of victories and the two weeks' rest in preparation for this game. The conditions of the 1919 championship contest, when Illinois won 9-7 by a field goal in the last few seconds of play were duplicated today.

Illinois was not in good shape. Capt. Depler, slated as an all-conference center possibility, was not in uniform yesterday and watched his men from the sidelines with a stiff shoulder and sore from injuries received in Wednesday's scrimmage. Don Peden, crack halfback, was also on the bench with an arm slowly mending. Both, however, were expected to get into the fray for a time. Mohr, the big guard, may replace Depler, with the substitute Hughes at left guard, or Zuppke may decide to use his home reserve center, Reitsch. Neither will be a match for Nemeck, Ohio's veteran center, but the Illini coach has no other players available.

WISCONSIN AT STAGG FIELD IN LAST GAME

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Chicago and Wisconsin meet today at Stagg field in their last game of the 1920 season. A big influx of followers of the Badger team was in Chicago early today, confident of victory.

As it is the last game, coaches and trainers said every man who could walk would be given a chance.

Pirates Train at Hot Springs.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 20.—The Pittsburgh National league baseball club will train at Hot Springs, Ark., for the 1921 season, according to an announcement here. The Pirates have used this site for many years.

CURLING YEAR IS LOOKING UP

Duluth Club Has Largest Membership in Six Years.

The Duluth Curling club has wound up its membership campaign, placing 321 names on the roster and bringing the total roll up close to 800, which is the limit. Paul Larsen and H. H. Daugherty, prominent in curling circles, tied for first place in the race for signing up new members, each getting forty-one. A year's membership was awarded to each as a prize.

The D. C. C. membership is now the largest that it has been in six years and with this big list of active people the curling sport is assured one of the most brilliant seasons in its history.

The officers and directors are now laying plans for a number of big special features for the entertainment of their members and the winter season of ice sports really promises more than ever before.

NOTRE DAME FAVORITE OVER NORTHWESTERN

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 20.—Northwestern and Notre Dame meet today in a nonconference game. Notre Dame, generally adjudged the strongest of Middle West teams, outside the conference, had a record showing all victories this season, including conquests over the Army and Nebraska.

The Indiana team was a favorite before the game although it was materially handicapped by the absence of Gipp, who was laid up with injuries.

ST. THOMAS WINNER BY NARROW MARGIN

Winona, Minn., Nov. 20.—St. Thomas' college football eleven of St. Paul yesterday defeated St. Mary's college here, 7 to 6, in a hard-fought game. The visitors scored in the third period when Houl ran forty yards for a touchdown. Goal was kicked. Hudson, St. Mary's negro fullback, tore through St. Thomas' line for a touchdown in the last period but goal was missed.

DULUTH FANS TO SEE GAME

BY SANDY MACDONALD

More than 1,000 Duluth football fans will travel across the bay tomorrow to see the Duluth and Superior teams battle for the Head of the Lakes professional championship. The game, which will be staged at Hislop park, starting at 3 o'clock, promises to be one of the best and certainly one of the hardest fought ever pulled off in this section of the country.

While most of the local fans will make the journey in the interurban street cars, quite a few are planning on going in autos and large motor trucks which will leave from the downtown district around 1 o'clock. Special parking spaces have been set aside for the Duluth spectators and autos on the left side of the gridiron while the Superior fans will occupy the right side.

The party gives every indication of being one of the real, old-time affairs, filled with plenty of zip-bang, bellows-lunged rooting and many a merry jest with a tart edge such as is used only when Superior and Duluth teams meet on the field of combat.

Mayor Baxter, other city officials and several leading business men of Superior have interested themselves in the arrangements and have really framed a nice party for the Duluth visitors. Hislop park has been thoroughly groomed, all of the ice and snow have been entirely removed and the gridiron and sidelines have been bedded with straw. Additional bedding will be added tomorrow morning.

Bill Bill Returns.

Duluth fans will be interested in knowing that Bill Bill, former star fullback of the Badgers, will be in the Superior lineup. Bill, who has been living out in the wild and wooly West, got back home yesterday morning and was promptly given a moleskin and assigned to a backfield position.

Superior has assembled the same players that made up the all star aggregation that showed here two weeks ago. Underwood and Joe Rooney of Virginia will play the end positions, with Hart of Duluth and K Boten of Eau Claire at tackles. Olson and Grant of Superior will be the guards and Anderson of Superior will perform at center. In the backfield will be Bill of Superior, Darling, Daugherty and Cole of Duluth, Brew of Superior and Bill Rooney of Virginia.

The Duluth team will line up the same as it has all season, with the exception that Libby, former Carlisle fullback, will be in the backfield. Anderson and Woodward will take care of the ends and Caldwell and Harney will be the tackles. Braden and Juntilla will be in the guard positions. In the backfield will be Bratt, Method, O'Donnell and Libby.

MACHEFTS WINS IN FAST FIGHT

Hibbing, Minn., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tony Machefts, patrolman boxer of Virginia, added new laurels to his list here last evening when he defeated Billy Emke of St. Paul in four of eight rounds. Two of the rounds were even and one went to the St. Paul man.

The contest was one of the feature numbers on a big athletic and musical card staged by the local lodge of Elks and was witnessed by over 1,500 people, many of whom were women.

Emke, who was six pounds lighter than Machefts, worked fast in the opening round in the hope of trimming his opponent down to his size. He handed out a lot of punishment, but the Virginia policeman assimilated it all without showing any marked sign of distress. Emke started fast in the second session, but several well directed wallops to his body robbed him of his speed and from then on the Virginian had the better of the going. Emke was bleeding profusely from the nostrils in the seventh round, when he was in a bad way and hanging on.

Sammy Terrin, the "fighting tailor" of Minneapolis, who was to have met Johnny Nichols of St. Paul in a ten-round boxing contest, had to cancel at the last minute when he learned that his sister was dangerously close to death. The cancellation was a big disappointment to the many fans who were anxious to see these boys in action. As a substitute, Pal Brown of Hibbing, former well known lightweight boxer, stepped through six exhibition rounds with Nichols.

Labe Safro, St. Paul middleweight boxer, gave an exhibition of bag punching. Art Champagne of Duluth filled the role of referee and Harley Davidson, former well known professional skater and bicycle rider, was announcer.

MACALESTER PLAYS CARLETON FOR TITLE

Northfield, Minn., Nov. 20.—Carleton and Macalester are settling their annual argument here and also the state conference title. The winner of today's game will have the best claim to the state title. Macalester, in the event of a win or tie, will have undisputed title. In case of a Carleton win, Carleton will have the advantage on a percentage basis. The probable lineup:

Toledo After Tourney.

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 20.—Toledo is going after its fourth national bowling tournament. Bowling promoters made this clear when they brought about a visit from A. L. Langtry of Milwaukee, secretary of the American Bowling congress. It is planned to send a large crowd of boosters to the Buffalo meeting to land the tournament for Toledo in 1922.

RECORD SUM IS PAID FOR RAPP

St. Paul Star Brings $15,000 and Two Players to Kelly.

New York, Nov. 20.—Joe Rapp, a husky third sacker who set the woods afire in the Northwest last season when he helped St. Paul win a championship in the American association, is the man John McGraw depends on to round out the infield of the 1921 Giants.

Rapp has been purchased by New York at a record price—that is, for a minor league ball player. According to dispatches from St. Paul, Charles A. Stoneham signed a check for $15,000 for the youngster, and McGraw tossed in a pitcher and an infielder to boot. Folks opened their eyes a year ago when Garry Herrmann paid $10,000 and one player for "Chad" See of the Rochester club to bolster up the Reds, and they took notice when McGraw paid $11,000 for Rube Marquard as a youngster, but the total given up for Rapp is far bigger than either of these deals.

Rapp, whose nickname is "Goldie," hit over .300 in the association, and played great ball at third base. He was with the Reds last spring and the Yanks saw him in action in the training season games at Miami and Palm Beach. He gave the impression of being a hitter, but not very fast on his feet then. He may have improved.

At any rate, McGraw figures on starting him at the hot corner and shifting Frank Frisch over to second, his natural position. Bancroft and Frisch ought to make a great pair of men on double plays. There isn't a faster combination in the league.

Now rumor has it that Lee Fohl will be the new manager of the Browns. He has been coach of pitchers. The reason Jimmy Burke quit was because of friction with Bobby Quinn, Phil Ball's business manager.

It is also reported that Clarence Rowland, erstwhile leader of the White Sox, will succeed Hugh Jennings at Detroit. Ty Cobb wants to play for another season or so without managerial cares.

There are still vacancies in two National league clubs—Philadelphia and Boston. Jack Miller is talked of to succeed Cravath with the Phillies, and Fred Mitchell leads for Stalling's place as head of the Braves.

Philadelphia reports that it's all settled that Joey Dugan is to be with the Yanks next spring. A slashing young hitter and a fine infielder.

N. D. AGGIES LOSE TO HAMLINE, 21-6

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 20.—Hamline university's powerful, well-balanced gridiron aggregation closed its 1920 season yesterday with a victory over the North Dakota Aggie eleven at Norton field, 21 to 6, in a game featured by sensational end runs and long forward passes.

The Methodists scored all of their points in the first half, the first touchdown coming after three minutes of playing. During the first two quarters North Dakota was helpless but braced in the third period when they scored their touchdown and came within a few yards of another. Hamline was kept on the defense most of the second half with numerous substitutes in the lineup, but came back strong in the last few minutes and carried the ball well into enemy territory. For Hamline, Quarterback Kaplin was the outstanding star. In advancing the ball he was materially assisted by Halfbacks Barnes and Smith and Fullback Kruger.

Kraemer, Sage and Duerner, who substituted at quarter for Bute, were the big ground gainers for North Dakota, while Capt. Huey played a strong game at tackle.

POST SEASON GAME IS STILL UNSETTLED

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 20.—The Notre Dame university faculty board of athletic control announced tonight that no action had been taken on the proposed football game between Notre Dame and Penn State, to be played in New York on Dec. 4.

The announcement said the board would meet soon to consider the proposed game. Rockne, the head coach, said he is not in favor of the contest unless Penn State beats Pittsburgh on Thanksgiving day.

New York, Nov. 20.—Tickets for this game, which if played will be at the Polo grounds, are being printed, indicating that somebody at least thinks the chances are most favorable.

CHICAGO FIGHTER INVADES GOTHAM

Tar Baby Sends Jack Duffy, Slugger, to Joe Woodman.

New York, Nov. 20.—Jack Duffy, the Chicago middleweight, who was discovered by Sam Langford and sent to New York by the Tar Baby to his former manager, Joe Woodman, to guide him to the championship ladder, makes his debut in Gotham at the Commonwealth club, next Tuesday, where he boxes Terry Mitchell.

Duffy was a spectator at the recent O'Dowd-Smith bout. "Say, if I couldn't beat the pair of them," said Duffy to Willie Lewis, "I'd pack up and go right back home. They are my perfect idea of grabbing up a lot of easy change. I'd box O'Dowd anywhere and guarantee you I'd beat him easy."

Lewis, who boxed them all in the welter and middleweight divisions some years ago, has seen Duffy in training, and makes the prediction he is the nearest thing to the late Stanley Ketchel that has been brought to the surface thus far.

"He can hit, but his greatest stunt is to go in there and take a few punches in order to get one in," said Lewis. "Then the other fellow either falls down or looks around to see how he can get away. He is the hardest punching middleweight of the present day and when you see him in action remember what I said about him."

Langford saw Duffy boxing around Chicago. He put the gloves on with him one day. Duffy let go of a smash; it connected with Sam's jaw and it almost rocked him to sleep. Sam managed to stand on his feet, but when Duffy insisted on going further, Sam said he was tired, and besides, he did not need the exercise. It was then he forwarded him to Woodman.

MANY ASHLAND WOMEN TO HUNT

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Approximately 100 Ashland county women have taken out hunting licenses to join the army of 2,400 deer hunters, who will invade the deer country when the season opens at sunrise Sunday morning. County Clerk Quistorff is still busy issuing hunting licenses, and the total may be nearly 2,500 licenses for Ashland county alone. Hunters are leaving Ashland ahead of time, establishing their camps. The season legally opens at midnight Saturday, but as night hunting is prohibited by law, the season practically opens Sunday morning, ending Nov. 30. The snow that has covered Northern Wisconsin for a week has been rapidly disappearing since Thursday.

SEMI-FINALS IN HIGH SCHOOL CONFERENCE

Green Bay, Wis., Nov. 20.—East high school of this city and the Appleton high school of Appleton, will clash on the gridiron today for the semi-final game for the state championship. Superior plays the strong Antigo team at Antigo and the winner of this game will play the winner of the East high-Appleton contest for the state high school championship.

NEW YORK MAY NOT GET CHAMPIONSHIP FIGHT

New York, Nov. 20.—Persons close to Governor-elect Miller declare that should any attempt be made to stage the proposed Carpentier-Dempsey bout in New York state, not only will the governor prohibit the match, but also may recommend the repeal of the Walker law.

"The elements who elected Judge Miller," this person stated, "are unalterably opposed to prize fighting. They want to see the Walker law repealed. Boxing promoters allied with Tammany Hall, worked against Mr. Miller's election, using propaganda that he would stop all sports. Under such circumstances they cannot expect favors.

"The Republican state organization is not enthusiastic over the amount of patronage bestowed on the Tammany organization by the Walker law," the same authority declared.

COLLEGES MEET IN CROSS-COUNTRY RUN

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 20.—Harriers from nine western conference universities and five other colleges faced the starter in the annual cross-country run of five miles here this morning.

Ames, which won the race last year, was picked to place well to the front, and Purdue, undefeated this year, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Illinois were also given favorable chances to capture the event.

With five veteran runners Ames was expected to make a strong fight, depending mainly upon the Frevert brothers. Purdue has Furnas and Magruder to carry the Boilermaker standard and Wisconsin relies on Dayton and Wall.

The cross-country event was a curtain raiser to the championship Illinois-Ohio game this afternoon and was witnessed by hundreds of visitors. The following universities were entered:

MAJOR FOOTBALL CONTESTS IN SOUTH

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 20.—Although many of the big elevens were resting up in anticipation of their Thanksgiving day battles, today was not without its major football contests in the South. Most important among these was the clash between the undefeated universities of Alabama and Georgia. Virginia Polytech Institute and Centre college meet at Louisville, and Georgetown plays Washington and Lee at Washington. The Tennessee-Mississippi game scheduled for today has been canceled.

14-YEAR-OLD GIRL DAREDEVIL RIDER

New York, Nov. 20.—Winner of 450 ribbons, seventy-five cups and numerous other prizes as a daredevil rider and jumper—and not even yet a debutante—is the record of 14-year-old Miss Becky Lanier, who has brought many thrills to Madison Square Garden horse show visitors this week. She has won fifty ribbons during the present meet.

Her father, Charles D. Lanier, a follower of the hounds, of Greenwich, Conn., said Becky began to ride at 5 years of age, when she used to steal out to the field and ride bareback on some of his frisky ponies.

SEEKING HARVARD GAME.

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 20.—Agitation by students at the University of Illinois and by football devotees all over the Middle West for a game between Harvard and Illinois has moved George Huff, director of athletics of the University of Illinois to promise efforts in the direction of scheduling a game between the two elevens next year.

Interest in the proposal has been on the rise since a year ago when Harvard offered the Illinois team a date for a game to be played at Harvard. Illinois requested that Harvard repay the compliment by accepting a return engagement at Urbana. Harvard did not express a willingness to do this and the proposal was dropped until public sentiment has induced Director Huff to take further action.

YOUNG FITZSIMMONS RETURNS TO RING

Elizabeth, N. J., Nov. 20.—Young Bob Fitzsimmons, son of the former heavyweight champion, in his first appearance in the ring after a year's absence, defeated Carl Danner, a local heavyweight, here last night in the fourth round. The referee halted the twelve-round match to save Danner from further punishment. Fitzsimmons' temporary retirement was for the purpose of developing a "punch."

St. Paul Man Victor.

New York, Nov. 20.—Billy DeFoe of St. Paul received the judge's decision over Gene Delmont of Memphis at the end of a fifteen-round bout last night. Defoe weighed 125½ pounds and Delmont a quarter pound heavier.

Hoppe Challenges European.

New York, Nov. 20.—Willie Hoppe, champion balk-line billiardist, has issued a formal challenge to play Edouard Horemans, European champion, to decide the world's championship, it was announced today. The challenge specifies that the match be played before Jan. 1.

Reds to Train in Texas.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 20.—The Cincinnati National league team will train next spring at Cisco, Texas. The Reds will begin training March 3 and remain at Cisco until March 25. Eleven exhibition games have been booked for the team while on its way north.

Peoria to Have New Park.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 20.—The Peoria team of the Three-I league will play in a new $100,000 city owned park next season. Work on the new plant is under way and it will be finished before the opening of play in 1921. The bond issue to provide the new park was authorized by Peoria voters in an election last spring. The stands and bleachers will all be of concrete and steel construction. The seating capacity will be 10,000.

WHITE'S SERVICES MUCH IN DEMAND

Chicago Lightweight Gets Offers From Pacific Northwest.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Charley White's services are in demand more at present than they have ever been before. This despite the fact that many believe the local lightweight is on the decline. In the last two weeks he has received ten offers to box throughout the country, but he has accepted only three because the purses proffered did not come up to his expectations. His first battle will be Nov. 16 at Seattle, Wash., the next in the same town, and the third, Dec. 8 at Portland, Or.

White has "taken things easy" for the last two weeks, but says he will make up for lost time in the next three months, in which he plans to accept every match offered, providing terms are satisfactory. He has set a certain value on his services and will not agree to enter the ring until he is guaranteed the amount he demands. He has taken this position since the fight he put up against Benny Leonard last summer at Benton Harbor, Mich.

Milwaukee Wants White.

Milwaukee is after White's services for a clash with Benny Leonard, champion lightweight, some time in December or soon after Jan. 1. Tom Andrews wants to put on this show and probably will land it, if the boxers do not demand too big a purse. They will be a great drawing card up north after the interesting bout they fought at Benton Harbor. In that contest White virtually had the champion whipped to a frazzle in eight rounds, but in the ninth grew careless and allowed Leonard to slip over a lucky right hand wallop, which sent him to the mat for the count of nine.

Anxious ot Meet Ben Again.

The local lightweight declares he has not given up hopes of acquiring the championship and says he would like to meet Leonard in a fifteen-round fight at New York, where decisions are allowed. White contends he would rather battle in a town where verdicts are allowed because he figures if the bout goes the distance he will have a chance to win the referee's decision. He has great confidence in his ability to beat the champion and is waiting for word from Billy Gibson, giving him a return match.

FORMER GOVERNOR COACHES GRID MEN

A former governor of Nebraska as coach of a football team is unusual enough to be interesting. Former Governor Keith Neville is the coach of the North Platte high school team. In fact as coach he is a part of the traditions of that institution; for he has aided the school in that capacity since his graduation from St. Joseph's college, Annapolis, fifteen years ago.

He is not known, however, to the members of his teams or to the students of the high school as Governor Keith Neville or even Keith Neville. To them he is just plain "Skip." And if they realize that he has ever been governor of Nebraska there is no outward indication of it. It seemed as natural to fall back into comradeship with the boys of the town as though he had never been away.

Not a Great Player.

The North Platte coach, according to his own admission, was never more than an average player while at college. He "got by" through conscientious training and hard work. He enjoyed good coaching, however, and absorbed football.

When he returned to North Platte after completing his course at college, football was in its infancy. It was only natural that he should interest himself in the high school team of his home town, and when his viewpoint with reference to football is learned it is not surprising that his interest has never waned.

Mr. Neville has always maintained that properly conducted athletics in institutions where the students have not reached the age where their traits of character have become established and fixed, does as much to prepare them to make a success in life as any subject taught, and more than most.

Furnishes His Recreation.

Many will, no doubt, wonder how a busy man could find time to devote to the coaching of a football team, but Mr. Neville declares that he does not devote any more time to football than he would have to devote to some other form of exercise and recreation if he hopes to keep in fairly good physical condition. An hour a day is little enough to devote to this purpose by those who are engaged in more or less sedentary pursuits, especially if they have in the past attained a considerable physical development.

HELPING A HARD LUCK CHUM GOT MAN O' WAR FOR RIDDLE AT $5,000

Few followers of the record of the famous Man o' War have heard the story of how Samuel D. Riddle came into possession of the "superhorse" at a price of $5,000.

Louis Feustel, who developed and trained the world famous chestnut, came near being a policeman. He was on the high road to get his diploma when Samuel D. Riddle happened along and took him in hand. Feustel's stable of horses had dwindled down to one lone plater. He was discouraged.

Fate seemed to beckon him to other endeavors, then Dame Fortune flirted with Louis, and he followed her into the Riddle cottage. There he met the present owner of Man o' War, who said to Louis: "Get thee out and gather a stable of horses." He went to Saratoga and took a peep at all the yearlings on the market.

He looked over many, then pulling up beside a smart looking chestnut, decided he was desirable. Outbidding several prospective buyers, he laid down $5,000 and led him to the barn. The rest is history.

Bresnahan After Pilot.

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 20.—Roger Bresnahan, president of the Toledo baseball club of the American association, is scouring the country for players for his 1921 club. Roger made money in the 1920 campaign and is going to spend it, he says, to bring a pennant to Toledo for the first time in the history of the American association. Bresnahan has not yet signed a manager.

New Badger Boxing Club.

Rhinelander, Wis., Nov. 20.—Preparations are being made here for a schedule of boxing contests to be conducted during the winter by the Twenty-fifth Separate Guard company which has been granted a boxing permit by the state. These bouts will be the first held in this city since the appointment of the state boxing commission, it is said.

Konetchy Signs Up.

New York, Nov. 20.—Ed Konetchy first baseman of the Brooklyn Nationals has returned his signed contract for the 1921 season, it was announced today. The only other players who have signed so far are Manager Wilbert Robinson and Ivan Olson.

Inverness Club Gets Busy.

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 20.—Inverness club, which staged the national open golf championship tournament last August, is after the tournament again next year. Inverness wanted the national amateur, but was told that Detroit was in line for that one so decided to ask the U. S. G. A. to send the professionals back here next season.

Tommy Gibbons to Fight.

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 20.—Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul and Chuck Wiggins of Indianapolis will meet in a twelve-round bout at the Coliseum here the night of Dec. 6, according to announcement made today by the Toledo Athletic association, which is promoting it. The men are light-heavyweights.

MOTHERS-AND-DAUGHTERS BANQUET GREAT SUCCESS

The Girls' club of the Robert E. Denfeld high school entertained last evening at the most successful mothers-and daughters' banquet in its history. The affair was the fourth annual banquet and was attended by 168 guests, including a few members of the faculty.

Orange and white, the Girls' club colors, featured the decorations. Streamers were stretched through the third floor hall from which daintily trimmed lights were hung. Candles and baskets of flowers with yellow chrysanthemums were among the table decorations.

Miss Dorothy Shaw, president of the club, was toastmistress. Miss Shaw gave a toast to "My Mother." Among those on the program were Mrs. G. W. FORMER DULUTHIAN TO WED IN TEXAS

HORACE C. ROSS.

Horace C. Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Ross, 5830 West Eighth street, and who is a well known football player in the western end of the city, now with the Waldman-Ross Lumber & Grain company of Hull, Texas, will be married Dec. 12 to Mrs. Josie Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cornwall of Sour Lake, Texas, according to information just received by his parents. The ceremony will take place at the Baptist church of Sour Lake and the couple will come to Duluth on their wedding trip.

The young man played on the Denfeld high school football team and later on the West Duluth football team. At the outbreak of the war he left with the Third Minnesota and went overseas with the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth field artillery. He was a sergeant in his company at the time of his discharge. Mr. Ross left Duluth a year ago for Hull, Texas, where he became identified with the Waldman-Ross company.

"TEMPEST IN A TEA POT"

Theater Manager Has Film Distributors Cited for Contempt.

Contempt proceedings against Max J. Weisfeldt, state representative of the Fox Film corporation, and A. Roberts, an employe under Weisfeldt, which were conducted before Judge Dancer in district court this morning, furnished a new angle to the legal fight that Samuel J. Bennett, manager of the Tempest theater at West Duluth, is making to enforce a contract with the Fox Film corporation for furnishing certain pictures for his house.

The contract was made last spring. It contained the stipulation that it might be canceled by either party after Jan. 1, 1921, and the fight that is now being made in the courts is to compel the film corporation to furnish the service contracted for during the remainder of the year. In October the Fox corporation notified Bennett that it could furnish no more pictures under the contract.

Injunction Granted.

Bennett then applied to the court for an injunction restraining the Fox Film corporation and its local representatives in Minnesota from violating the terms of the contract. Judge Dancer granted the injunction but no pictures were forthcoming, although some features of the "Victory" series named in the contract were furnished to other Duluth theaters under a new series name.

Weisfeldt and Roberts appeared in court this morning in response to an order to show cause why they should not be punished for failure to obey the court's order. The proceedings were dismissed as to Roberts, when it appeared that he was merely an employe of the company and unauthorized to exercise any discretion. Judge Dancer took the case against Weisfeldt under advisement and will announce his decision within a few days.

AUTO CLASSES GAIN IN FAVOR

The automobile repair and gymnasium classes are the most popular of the night classes at Denfeld high school, according to M. D. Sutton, principal of the night school at the high school in the western part of the city. Until recently there has always been a waiting list for the automobile classes. The gymnasium classes, which are not limited as to their size like the other classes, have been very well attended.

Four women have applied for a women's class in autoboile mechanics and were informed that it would be necessary to interest eleven others to make up the fifteen required in starting any class. The women have not presented themselves in the required number to date. What authorities think is a decidedly healthy note in the night school work is the consistent attendance in the citizenship classes. One hundred and seventy people are enrolled in the Denfeld night school. The courses are offered in citizenship, automobile mechanics, cooking, sewing, millinery, mechanical drawing, commerce and general machine work.

PRETENTIOUS THANKSGIVING PROGRAM AT MORGAN PARK

The boys and girls of the Morgan Park school will give a Thanksgiving program at the school next Tuesday evening. The first number on the program, the only one which does not smack of the November holiday, is a little playlet, "Snowdrop and the Seven Dwarfs," a delightful tale of childhood, to be given by the 1B grade. The junior high school pupils will offer the drama, "The First Thanksgiving Dinner."

The pupils of the upper grades will put on a pageant written in honor of the tercentenary landing of the Pilgrims. The pageant is an allegorical story written about one John Robinson, a Pilgrim who desired to see America of the future. His wish is granted and he sees the great events of American history enacted before him. The last number on the program is a dramatization of "Hiawatha."

COLD WEATHER OPTIMIST.

Kansas City Star: We met in the midst of a raging blizzard, at a corner where the wild winds whizzed the snow around us until we were almost hurled from our feet. He grinned broadly, though his face blazed from the icy kisses of the blast.

"It won't last," he yelled over the roar of the storm. "The goose bone, the bark on the north side of the trees, the squirrels' scanty stores of nuts and Hostetter's faithful old almanac all predict an exceptionally mild winter. Hi-lo! Hi-lee!"

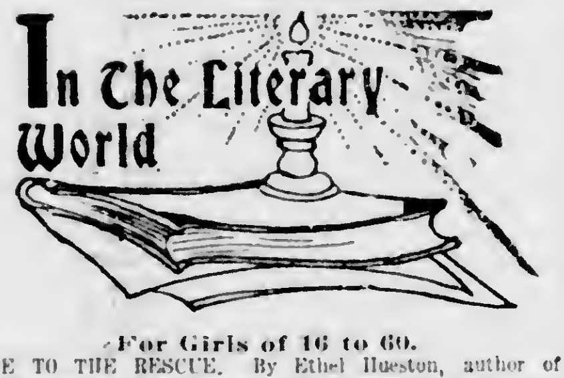
In The Literary World



For Girls of 16 to 60.

EVE TO THE RESCUE. By Ethel Hueston, author of "Prudence of the Parsonage," "Leave It to Doris," etc. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill company. $2 net.

Those acquainted with Mrs. Hueston's charming stories will not find their high expectations disappointed by this pleasant and wholesome story "for girls of 16 to 60." Eve is a peacemaker, a doctor of domestic difficulties, the confidant of all the little troubles and carking cares of her friends. Charming and enthusiastic, sweet and wholesome, good and wise, yet full of fun and deeply in love with the world in general—and more than incidentally with one young man in particular—she makes a powerful appeal to the affection and interest of the reader. The story contains all of the heart interest and lively humor of "Prudence of the Parsonage," which is saying a good deal. There is plenty of action, and a very, very nice young man for hero.

The Unromantic Fur Traders.

GENTLEMEN OF THE NORTH. By Hugh Pendexter. Garden City, N. Y.: Doubleday Page & Co. $1.50.

This stirring tale of the rough and ready adventurers who handled the fur trade of the Northwest about a hundred years ago is a vivid and probably overdrawn picture of the struggles of the whites to outwit the Indians of that early day. If the methods followed were half as unscrupulous as indicated in Mr. Pendexter's story, the title of "Gentlemen of the North" applied to the gang of brutal ruffians then in the fur business is about as appropriate as "noble red men" for the dissolute specimens of the race to which he introduces us. The traders are depicted as principally engaged in seeing who could drug the most Indians with bad whisky, and the more successful at the game got the most furs. If there should happen to be no Indians around the traders put in the time fighting and drinking the whisky themselves.

The scene is laid along the Red River of the North in the territory between what is now Grand Forks and Pembina, N. D., and there are some interesting descriptions of the country and the game that roamed over it at that time. The "hero," a young trader, tells the story himself and is the center of many exciting encounters with both white men and Indians before he finally wins the beautiful red-headed girl, "Medicine Hair," dragged in to give a semblance of sentiment to his otherwise sordid adventures.

Delicious Comedy.

Agatha Kent, 19, and with the piquancy associated with beautiful girls and red hair, lived in a dilapidated old homestead with a younger brother and a maiden aunt. At the time of the reader's introduction to this delightful young person she is wracking her brains to devise some plan that will bring in money enough to pay expenses and put the brother in college. As the place was near a city, summer boarders appeared to be the answer to the vexatious question, so an advertisement was sent to the newspapers. Response was prompt but the results disappointing. While the place was attractively located, the old house was so badly run down and in need of repairs and furnishings that all the prospects took one look and went elsewhere.

Then came a—or rather the—letter. It was from one Burton Forbes who stated that he had learned of the advertisement and recognized the name of Miss Kent as an old friend of his father's, and he recalled a happy time he had enjoyed when, as a boy twenty years before, he had passed his vacation at her home. Now he was alone and had just returned from a South American trip suffering with a temporary blindness and very anxious to spend the summer at a quiet place such as she had advertised, until he could recover his health. Would she take him? "The remembrance of your benevolent face is my only reason for thinking your answer will be favorable," he concluded.

"He's mistaken me for my great-aunt, who would be nearly 70 if she was alive," said Agatha.

It was too good to miss, not only because it would solve financial difficulties but offered an opportunity for masquerade and diversion that to a girl of Agatha's type was more necessary than money. So in the role of the great-aunt Agatha took the blind young man as a summer boarder. What happened to the loveable young people involved makes up most wholesome and delicious comedy. It's an unusually entertaining story.

The Lilliputs Reappear.

GULLIVER'S TRAVELS. By Jonathan Swift. Philadelphia: The J. B. Lippincott company. 75c.

This delightful old tale of Gulliver's shipwreck upon the Island of Lilliput, where most of the people were less than six inches high and 1,500 of the emperor's largest horses were required to draw the traveler, is another contribution to the children's classics republished by Lippincott's. Generations of young people and adults as well have enjoyed Swift's lively humor, and that boy or girl who has not read Gulliver's remarkable adventures has a treat in store. The book contains several handsome illustrations in colors.

A Cowboy Tackles the Metropolis.

THE BIG TOWN ROUND-UP. By William MacLeod Raine. Boston: The Houghton Mifflin Company. $2.

Mr. Raine has written some mighty readable Western stories, but in this new book he reverses the situation and brings a Western cowboy from the sun-drenched desert of Arizona to New York to pit his recklessness and resourcefulness against the toughs and gun men of the metropolis. Clay Lindsay, the Westerner, is, as his pal Johnnie put it, "a sure enough go-getter, every jump of the road. The bronco never was built that can pile him, nor the man that can lick him.' With these qualifications, combined with a hair-trigger mind and considerable judgment, Clay waded in to beat at their own game the city dwellers who lived by bluff and, as a popular versifier once wrote in describing a similar adventurer, "he did, the cuss, he did." Added interest is given the tale when Clay's attention is diverted by a personable girl. The ensuing events will fully satisfy the most romantic reader.

The local delegation went from here to Gonvick, Clearbrook and Bagley to see why traffic was being diverted from the highway, and found that the road markings had not been changed to mark a new route that had been established. NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

LARGEST PRINTING PRESS IN WORLD

Chicago, Nov. 20.—The Chicago Tribune will remove its editorial, mechanical and circulation departments today to a new plant containing what is said here to be the largest printing press in one drive in the world.

By this move the Tribune transfers its editorial, mechanical and circulation departments across the Chicago river, the new plant being situated on the recently opened Michigan Boulevard link. The Tribune building in the Loop district will continue to house the newspaper's business offices. The present presses will be used for a time to supplement the work of getting out the Sunday editions. The rotogravure work and the color presses will continue in the building on Ontario street near the lake.

Eventually the new North side plant will cover the half block on North Michigan boulevard, Austin avenue and St. Clair street. The first unit is a five-story and basement building at the east half of the lot, fronting 100 feet on St. Clair and 165 feet on Austin avenue. The pressroom extends through to Michigan avenue.

The press is 300 feet long and contains twenty-five units. It is made by the Goss Printing Press company of Chicago. A novelty is the aerial folders by which it is possible to collect sheets from any unit to make up any number of combinations. There is room for a duplicate of this 300-foot press.

REFUSE TO GIVE UP OLD FISHING RIGHTS

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Refusing by a 5-to-1 vote to relinquish their ancient fishing grounds on the Apostle Isles, the Bad River tribe of Chippewas adjourned Thursday afternoon after having participated in a general council of the tribe. Sixty-six years ago, by the treaty of 1854, 200 acres of land on the northeastern tip of Madeline island was set aside as a fishing reserve for the whole tribe. The spot was well chosen adjacent to the fishing shoals between Madeline and Michigan islands, although there have been so many other good fishing grounds, that it has seldom been used. As timber became scarce and valuable the half million feet of hardwood and hemlock on the fishing preserve has become attractive, and offers from would-be buyers have spurred members of the tribe to the conviction that now is the time to lay aside sentiment and realize something out of it. The council Thursday was to decide the question whether the tract should be added to the allotted lands or to leave it as a preserve for future generations. Fully one-half of the council hall at Odanah was filled with women, one of whom was nominated as interpreter, but declined. The women took an active part in the proceedings, voting with the men, the final vote being decisively in favor of retaining the site as a permanent fishing preserve.

LIBELED N. D. BOOZE CAR GIVEN RESPECTABILITY

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 20.—A sedan automobile, once property of Louis Sands of Cleveland, Ohio, stolen from him in Chicago last May and later implicated in alleged whisky running escapades in North Dakota, was restored to respectability in the Federal district court here yesterday.

The car had been libeled when it was seized in La Moure county recently in possession of alleged whisky runners, that is, it had been confiscated by the government.

The matter had come to the attention of the insurance company in which Mr. Sands originally had the car insured, and which paid for it after its theft. The company brought suit to recover the car, pleading ignorance of its whereabouts, or the uses to which it had been put and the libel was removed yesterday.

CO-OPERATION POINTING WAY TO GOPHER FARMERS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 20.—Farmers of Minnesota, through spokesmen yesterday at the second annual meeting of the state farm bureau federation, declared their intention of obtaining for their products a price that bears a close relation to the cost of production, plus a reasonable profit. This they propose to do through co-operative effort along marketing lines and the cost would be determined by a uniform system of bookkeeping which farmers in all parts of the state will be urged to adopt.

This decision was one of the outstanding features of a three-hour discussion of the agricultural program that was submitted to the delegates by a special committee which had been working on the problem for several weeks.

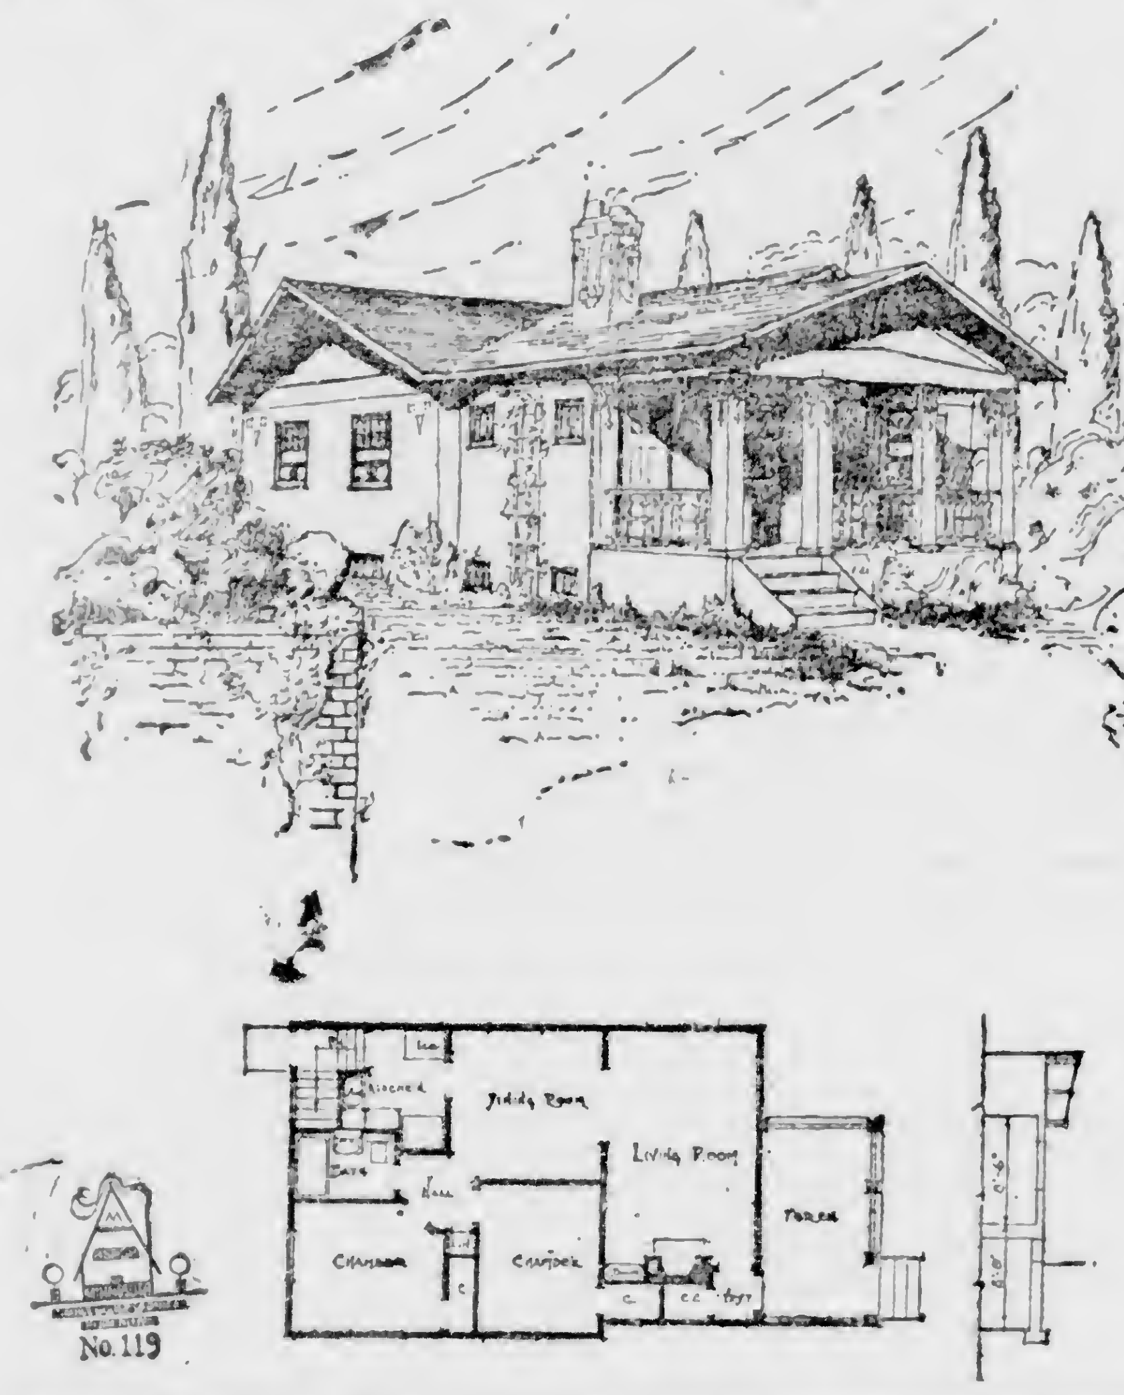
ALL ESSENTIAL BUNGALOW FEATURES HERE

Beautifully Designed House of Spacious Appearance



Most successful bungalows are built around three requirements. First, a large well lighted living room. Second, a cheery dining room with kitchen adjoining in order to save steps. Third, sleeping quarters with bath so separated from the rest of the house as to insure quiet and privacy.

If you study this bungalow plan, you will see how successfully these essential features have been provided for. If desired the front porch can be screened without darkening the living room. The living room is provided with three outside windows and insures plenty of light and air.

SPACIOUS APPEARANCE.

In the small vestibule, opening directly from the front door, there is a generous coat closet for outside wraps. The living room, which measures 11 ft. 3 ins. by 17 ft., extends almost the entire width of the house. At one end there is a spacious fireplace with built in book shelves on one side. The living room and dining room can be separated by a colonnade with or without bookcases, as desired. Such a treatment will give a more spacious appearance to both dining and living room, as well as supplying additional light for the dining room.

The exterior of this bungalow is stucco on wire lath or keyboard with insulation. A full basement is planned permitting ample space for heating equipment, vegetable, fruit cellar and laundry. The kitchen is small, compact and designed especially to save steps and labor. The sleeping quarters and bath are separated from the rest of the house by a door that opens directly into the dining room. This provides private access to the bath from the bedroom, which is most desirable in this kind of house.

The cost of erecting this house today, based on current prices of materials in the Twin Cities, provided the house is let on a lump sum contract basis for the completion of the entire job, including heating, plumbing, electric wiring and full basement, is approximately $8,100.

The plans, specifications, complete working drawings and details for this home are ready to use and offered to home builders by The Architects' Small House Service Bureau of Minnesota, Inc.,

Duluth office, 411 Exchange building.

INDUSTRIAL SITES SOUGHT

Investment inquiry for inside property and acreages suitable for industrial sites was an interesting development in real estate circles during the last week. Continued nibbling for long-term leases of centrally located Superior street frontages was noted and one of the offices reported the signing of an agreement covering the taking over of the ground lease for a fifty-foot frontage in the business district upon which is located a four-story business block. It is expected that the transaction will be closed up next week.

Negotiations were asserted to be under way for the purchase of a large block of acreage in the western part of the city. The prospective purchaser is a manufacturing concern that contemplates establishing a plant in this city. The putting through of this deal is said to await the straightening out of the financial situation and an easing up in the money market.

Fair inquiry for house properties continues and from present indications operators are counting upon an active period next spring. Sales of lots for building purposes are expected to be on a larger scale than at any period during the last two years as a result of the probability that conditions as regards costs of materials and the availability of labor for carrying through deferred house construction programs will improve.

* * *

The Calvin F. How company reported the sale of a house and lot at 927 East First street for T. A. Scarlett to A. E. Botsford at $8,000.

* * *

John A. Stephenson & Co. reported the following sales during the week: House and lot at 4708 Cooke street for J. A. Murphy to G. E. Valencourt, at approximately $6,500; house and lot at 526 Sixteenth avenue east for H. G. Gibbs to G. E. Krelwitz, at $4,100, house and lot at 3913 Oneota street for John Mahoney to Edward Gilbert at $3,000; lot at Eighth avenue west and Seventh street for F. L. Alexander to A. J. Rawden at $700.

BUILDING ON LARGER SCALE

Cheaper Materials Looked For; $100,000 Church for Morgan Park.

That building operations in Duluth and district will be on an extended scale next season is indicated in announcements being made regarding projects to go out for figures next January and February. Interests contemplating building are going ahead with their plans on the assumption that a substantial scaling down in costs will come about as a result of general reductions in prices of building materials from their war levels, and more satisfactory labor conditions than has been the case during the last two or three years.

Projects announced during the week included the erection of a United Protestant church on Third street, Morgan Park, at an estimated cost of $100,000. The building will have a reinforced concrete foundation, and the superstructure will be of brick and steel. John M. Davidson is chairman of the building committee. It is expected that the plans will go out for figures next month.

The People's church congregation proposes to erect a church at Virginia estimated to cost $110,000. It will be of brick on a reinforced concrete foundation, according to advices received at the Duluth Builders' exchange. The plans have been prepared by Charles F. Frybort of Virginia.

The board of regents of the Superior normal school has announced that the building of a gymnasium for the use of the school will be undertaken next season. It will be of fireproof construction and is estimated to cost $300,000. W. J. Little is the secretary of the board of regents.

* * *

Only eleven permits were issued at the building inspector's office during the last week. They included two small houses, alterations in the basement of the Salter school on London road, and repair work.

Edwin E. Johnson is building a frame bungalow at 5921 Huntington street to cost $2,500.

BREAK WINDOW GLASS.

Passing Cars Hurl Too Much Gravel Against Eau Claire Windows.

Eau Claire, Wis., Nov. 20.—Because of the numerous plate glass windows which have been broken along North and South Barstow streets, the main thoroughfare of the city, from pieces of gravel and crushed rock thrown against them by passing automobiles, the city council has amended the traffic ordinances of the city forbidding the hauling of any gravel or crushed rock over these streets. Automobile tires picked up the loose gravel from the brick pavement, hurling it with sufficient force to break the windows when these were struck.

Insurance companies doubled their rates on plate glass recently in Chippewa Falls, wherever these windows were located on paved streets.

"BLUE SKY" LAWS ARE DISCUSSED

Denver, Colo., Nov. 20.—Animated debate which led to withdrawal from the report from the resolutions committee of a clause upholding all "blue sky" laws marked the last session of the twenty-third annual convention of the American Mining congress here yesterday. Selection of a 1921 convention city was left to the board of directors.

Report of the resolutions committee was adopted unanimously after the debated clause had been stricken out. Federal "blue sky" legislation was objected to.

Repeal of excess profits taxes, creation of a Federal board to settle taxation cases arising out of war conditions, a Federal "hands off" policy in the coal industry, higher tariff on mineral imports and lower railroad ore rates were among resolutions which received the convention's sanction.

GRAIN PRICES AGAIN BREAK

Wheat Market Panicky on Heavy Selling; Flax Off 9 Cents.

Duluth Board of Trade, Nov. 20.—The debacle in the wheat market was even more pronounced today. Prices broke heavily with urgent selling, and with no export on Eastern millers' demand. Traders asserted that it appeared to be impossible to predict when the bottom in the market would be finally reached.

December spring wheat closed 5c off at $1.58 asked, March 7½c off at $1.51½ asked, December winter 5½c off at $1.57 nominal, December durum 6c off at $1.64 asked, and March 6½c off at $1.62 asked.

Spot rye closed 4½c off at $1.47½; December 4½c off at $1.38½ bid, and May ½c up at $1.36½.

Operators were unable to derive any hope from Eastern reports regarding any prospective picking up in foreign demand. It was claimed though that 2,000,000 bu of wheat had been worked for export yesterday, part of it going to Germany. Receipts on this market were more liberal, there being 273 cars of all grains on track for the day, including: Spring, 38; durum, 150; rye, 53; barley, 20, and flax, 12.

Flax Again Slumps.

The flax market ran off in chunks on selling induced by weakness at Winnipeg, where 71 cars of flax were on track for the day. The close was weak here. November flax closed 9c off at $2.08 bid; December, 9c off at $2.08 bid; January, 9c off at $2.11 nominally, and May, 8½c off at $2.22.

At Winnipeg, November flax closed 17c off at $2.00, and December, 17c off at $1.97 bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Broomhall cabled: "Clearances from Argentina this week are very heavy, and this with liberal offerings of American corn, has induced holders here to renew their efforts to re-sell even at drastic reductions. Buyers are extremely loath to purchase any sizeable quantities even at the reduced levels and the tone of the market in general can be described as extremely heavy. Market for mixed corn rules heavy owing to pressure of offerings of American shippers. General depression in American offerings and the downward tendency in all commodities in that country continue to be reflected in the United Kingdom. Liverpool futures for corn are being sympathetically affected by the weakness in the parcel market. Plate corn on spote in the United Kingdom has been offered freely at lower prices."

Australian advices report heavy oats and barley crops, assuring exportable surpluses."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—New low figures on the crop were again recorded today for wheat and corn futures. There was a fairly strong opening influenced by export conditions but after initial buying by seaboard houses ceased there was no support to the market and it slumped from 3c for December wheat to 2½c for March. Liverpool advices had it that United Kingdom wheat supplies had reached such a value that the British wheat commission was likely to reduce the fixed prices of wheat to millers.

Wheat prices which were from ¼@1¼c lower at the opening with December $1.72@1.71½, and March, $1.63@1.62½ first stiffened at the higher levels and then fell to $1.69 for December and $1.60¾ for March.

Commission houses sold corn and there was renewed liquidation in that pit. The opening was from ⅛c higher to ½c lower with December, 66½@66¼c, May at 72@71½c, and July, 72¼@72c. The slump carried December to 65¼c, and May to 70⅞c.

The wheat rally had small effect on corn and when it wore off the market eased off again. December corn closed at 61¾c to 64c and May at 70c to 69⅞c. Oats followed corn closely with the May option closing at 48c to 47¾c after a rally to 48¼c from its low of 47⅝c.

Oats yielded to the corn influences and dropped from an opening of 48¾@48¼c for May down to 48c.

Provisions were also weak with fresh pork and lard at reductions in the cash market.

BETTER TONE IN COPPER STOCKS

A better tone was shown in the mining stocks market at New York and fair recoveries were made in some issues. Anaconda sold around the close $1 up at $38; Butte & Superior, 87 cents off at $10.75; Chino a shade off at $20; Kennecott, 37 cents up at $19.37; Inspiration, 75 cents up at $33, and Utah, 87 cents up at $50.87.

Commenting upon the current situation in the mining stocks market Skilling's Mining Review of today says:

"Many stocks have been below intrinsic value for some time and the conditions which have caused the decline are unchanged. Whether they will work to lower levels than now prevail depends upon the attitude which the public may assume toward the market at any time. At the present time the market is controlled by the speculative element and the only help the market gets, aside from the moderate accumulation by investors, is from the occasional short covering. It is quite evident that the market is dangerously low for the bear element to conduct extensive drives with confidence. Sharp rallies often feature markets when the levels are obviously low, for many of the representatives of the short interest are timid under such circumstances and a regular buying rally is always possible."

WOOL MARKET.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 20.—The Commercial Bulletin says:

"Business in wool in the American markets this week has been less active although there has been some business in a moderate way. Prices are showing a tendency downward all over the world. Australian cables indicate a lower tendency and the same is true in South Africa and South America, while London has ruled dull and irregular.

"The goods market is still and unsettled, although the announced cut in prices by the wholesale clothiers is taken as a good omen. Talk of an early tariff action is also encouraging the trade somewhat."

TO BE WATERWAYS SPOKESMAN.

Governor Harding of Iowa to Represent Association at Indianapolis.

Governor W. L. Harding of Iowa will represent the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association at a meeting of the American Farm Bureau federation at Indianapolis on Dec. 6 at the request of Charles P. Craig of Duluth, executive secretary of the association.

Mr. Craig will be in New York on the same date in order to attend a further meeting of the international joint waterways commission. Although the commission's sessions were to have ended at Cleveland, the New York interests were dissatisfied with the showing made at the previous hearing there and were granted another opportunity to present their claims.

HARD TO MAKE BELIEVE.

Detroit News: "I wish my dolly didn't have such a round face and such rosy cheeks," said little 4-year-old Dorothy.

"Oh, that makes her look strong and healthy," said her mother.

"Yes, that's the trouble," replied Dorothy. "When I want to play that she's sick and almost dying she looks so awfully fat and healthy I just can't feel one bit sorry for her."

Sir A. Conan Doyle once wrote a 12,000-word story without leaving his desk.

STOCKS ARE UNSETTLED

Heavy Opening Followed By Weakness, With Irregular Recoveries.

New York, Nov. 20.—The stock market was very unsettled again today, a heavy opening giving away to further weakness, irregular recoveries following later. Yesterday's weakest features, especially steels, oils and railway equipments, were under increased pressure, with new low records for several leaders such as Crucible Steel, Mexican Petroleum and Baldwin Locomotive. Food, leather and miscellaneous specialties also went lower on renewed liquidation. The better class of rails and shippings rose 1 to 3 points, but canceled some of their gains when industrials became more reactionary. Such firmness as was shown in isolated instances probably resulted from short covering, there being little public interest or support. The closing was irregular. Sales amounted to 550,000 shares.

RED CROSS SEAL DRIVE WILL BEGIN SOON

Christmas seals will be placed on sale in Duluth early in December, it was decided at a meeting of the committee today. Dr. A. L. McDonald is the chairman and has named the committee that will work with him. It is the intention of the committee to make one of the greatest drives for sales ever put on in the city.

The committee as announced today comprises, besides Dr. McDonald, Miss Louise Schlender, Mrs. H. J. Grannis, A. W. Tracy and C. H. Barnes.

The Christmas seal sale is a yearly event and is usually begun early in December and lasts until about Christmas. The revenue derived from the sale is used to combat tuberculosis under the direction of the public health association.

WANT DISEASES CHECKED.

Woodland Club Declares City Health Officials Are Lax.

Prevalence of smallpox and scarlet fever in Woodland led to a protest against alleged lax enforcement of quarantine laws at a meeting of the Woodland Community club last night at the Cobb school. The following resolution was adopted:

"Strong indignation is expressed by the members of the Woodland Community club at the lax enforcement of the quarantine ordinance, whereby children and teachers have been needlessly exposed to smallpox and scarlet fever. Instances were cited where the children were allowed to attend school who were sick with what later turned out to be smallpox or scarlet fever. We feel that when health officials are in doubt that the ordinance should be enforced so that the children will be kept at home until the nature of the disease is made certain."

EDUCATIONAL COSTS FOR BADGER STATE

Madison, Wis., Nov. 20.—Educational institutions of Wisconsin, exclusive of the common schools, are to cost the state $21,428,974 during the coming biennium if requests presented to the state board of education are accepted by the legislature.

The present budget is an increase of $6,767,357 over the $14,661,517 approved in 1919.

The university has asked for $15,299,764. The normal schools request $5,257,343. This includes a building fund of $3,505,000, and $1,820,000 for normal schools. State institute asks for $300,000.

The university during the past biennium has had $10,730,000 available, and the normal schools $3,563,749.

ROBBED OF HIS AUTO GIVING MEN A RIDE

Edward Threba of Hawthorne, Wis., carried two men in his automobile last night when he left the village for Superior. He had gone but a mile out of the village when one of the men poked a revolver into his ribs and told him to stop the car and get out. He complied with the request and the two men drove off. The machine or the men have not been seen since. Thiebe reported the theft of the auto to the Superior police this morning. He told them he had a large sum of money with him at the time, but that the men had not asked for the money.

GOLF TOUR NETS $30,000.

Vardon and Ray Stage Most Successful Games in History.

Harry Vardon, the most famous of the English pros, and Ted Ray, who annexed the United States open championship this year, have finished the greatest golfing tour ever known in the history of the game. It has been the greatest from a monetary standpoint and in the numbers that have seen them play.

Thousands upon thousands watched this pair in action during the last few months. They averaged at least five games a week since their arrival in America, about the middle of July.

According to Arthur Pearson, who managed their tour, they have had so many calls upon their services that not all the exhibitions could be played. Each will take back to England the tidy little sum of $15,000 for his performances in Canada and the United States.

Retaining Wall on Boulevard.

Sliding earth has made it necessary to build a retaining wall on one side of the Boulevard near the Chester Creek bridge, according to Capt. Henry Cleveland, in charge of the park department. This location is just back of the Afterno society's new home for the aged, which is now being built, and to protect this property and to avoid the possibility of the bank sliding down into the roadway, a retaining wall is necessary. The wall will be about 80 feet long and 6 to 8 feet high. Approximately 5 feet will be set below the surface to anchor the wall and prevent it from giving when the frost causes the ground to heave.

INSTRUCTED NOT TO VISE FALL'S PASSPORT

Washington, Nov. 20.—The Mexican consular agents on the border, it was said today at the Mexican embassy, have been directed by Roberta V. Pesqueira, Mexican confidential agent in the United States, not to vise the passport of Senator Fall of New Mexico, for the senator's proposed visit to Mexico to attend the inauguration of President-elect Obregon on Dec. 1.

Information at the embassy was that Mr. Pesqueira's action was predicated upon what was regarded by him as the intervention attitude of Senator Fall, who is chairman of the senate subcommittee which for upwards of a year has been investigating conditions in Mexico.

It was denied at the embassy that Mr. Pesqueira also had ordered the consular agents not to vise the passports of Governor Hobby of Texas and Col. F. A. Chapa of San Antonio, who also plan to attend the inauguration of General Obregon.

WARRANT ISSUED FOR E. J. SAILSTED

A warrant was issued this morning by District Attorney Archibald McKay for the arrest of Edward J. Sailstad, wealthy Eau Claire, Wis., manufacturer who is believed to have lost his life in a fire which destroyed his cottage and three others on the night of Aug. 26 at Lake Nebagamon. The warrant was issued on information procured by C. N. Good, deputy state fire marshal.

Mrs. Leona Sailstad, wife of the manufacturer, has given out a statement today in which she feels certain that her husband was murdered at the cottage and that the building was burned by those committing the deed to hide the evidence.

This morning a story came from Eau Claire stating that in some quarters of that city the belief is that Sailstad has gone to Canada and is in hiding there. This is said to be given credence because shortly before his disappearance he called on an Eau Claire tailor and had his winter overcoat fixed.

The association includes every state between Maine and Oregon and parts of Canada. The Eastern terminal of the highway is Portland, Me., and the Western at Portland, Or.

M. N. Koll is the president of the Minnesota association and will have a number of important matters to bring up for consideration. The national headquarters are at Duluth, with E. J. BUILDING UP OF AMERICA'S FORESTS

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, in the Middle West, New York, Maine, Pennsylvania and New England generally in the East, and the entire Pacific Northwest are involved in important action taken at the second fall business conference of the American Paper and Pulp association at Chicago, for the building up of America's forests. A great program for the maintenance of the nation's forests was approved, involving $10,000,000 a year for addition of new forest lands, this program having previously been approved by the American Newspaper Publishers' association and all of the associations involving the wood-using industries.

The individual states, however, are involved in a program also indorsed for prevention of forest fires in the state as well as national and private forests. The program asks for a Federal appropriation of not less than $1,000,000 a year for use when duplicated by individual states within their own areas. The Federal appropriation will be available when duplicated by the several states which maintain forest fire protective organizations.

While the manufacturers advocated this national and state legislation, however, they did not rest with this, but organized a woodlands section to aid in the application to privately owned timber land of the principles asked for governmental agencies.

Among the suggestions for this section are the establishment of an "international forest experiment station" to test growing of paper producing trees, use of the tractor in logging and like problems.

GREAT CHEMICAL CONCLAVE COMING

Washington, Nov. 20.—English speaking chemists from all parts of the world, following the annual meeting of the British Society of Chemical Industry, to be held in Canada, are to meet in New York next fall with their American brethren.

According to the announcement made by Dr. Charles L. Parsons, secretary of the American Chemical society, this is likely to be the largest convocation of chemists ever held on this continent.

The Society of Chemical Industry of Great Britain, which has branches in every quarter of the globe, has several sections on Canadian soil, including that in Montreal, which will be its host. There will be hundreds of delegates from Great Britain and from other nations where there are English speaking chemists, as well as the Canadian members. At the conclusion of the meetings in the dominion the delegates from abroad and many of their Canadian associates will cross the border and go to New York, where they will foregather with the metropolitan branch of the Society of Chemical Industry and also with the American Chemical society. The British Society of Chemical Industry has approximately 8,000 members, while the American Chemical society has a membership of 15,500.

This joint meeting is a direct outgrowth of the closer relations which have sprung up among chemists of Anglo-Saxon blood as a result of the World war. The research work of the chemical warfare services of Great Britain and the United States established a bond of sympathy which is to be further strengthened by the assemblage in New York.

JURY CASES UP MONDAY

Negroes Will Face Trial; Many Judges Called to Bench Here.

Jury cases of the November term will be taken up in district court next week.

Twelve cases on the civil calendar have been set for trial in addition to the trials of seven negroes jointly charged with the rape of a 17-year-old white girl on June 14 last, the day before three negroes were lynched for alleged participation in the same crime.

Judge L. S. Nelson of Worthington will continue on the local bench and two more outside judges, C. C. Haupt of St. Paul and A. E. Giddings of Anoka, will also be here.

The Moose Lake group of fire cases, which is occupying the attention of the five local judges, will be adjourned from Wednesday to Monday, Nov. 29, Judge William A. Cant, presiding, said yesterday. This will enable Judge Martin Hughes to conduct naturalization hearings and Judge Edward Freeman to hold a special term on the range.

Judges Cant, H. A. Dancer and Bert Fesler will have an opportunity at the same time to catch up with their work on the November term.

Lake County Term Deferred.

Judge Freeman yesterday filed an order to adjourn the Lake county December term of court at Two Harbors. This is the first time that a term of court has been adjourned, but on account of the common trial of the Moose Lake fire cases, it has been found necessary.

A new point will come up in the fire cases Wednesday when Attorney H. J. McClearn on behalf of the plaintiffs will move the court to strike out the intervention of the insurance companies as parties to the action.

The insurance companies, represented by Arnold & Arnold of this city and Bates & Felonie of Chicago, have been cited with an order to show cause why the motion should not be granted.

The position taken by Attorney McClearn is that the plaintiffs are seeking to recover from the railroad administration such losses as are not covered by fire insurance.

The case of Attorney C. J. Dodge of Moose Lake will be argued as a test case. Mr. Dodge claims a total loss of $15,781.50. The insurance companies paid him $5,900 and he is suing for the remainder of $7,881.50.

BANDIT HOLDS UP THREE

Julius Jensen Loses $20; Meager Description of Robber.

Julius Jensen, 315 West Fourth street, was held up and robbed of $20 by a highwayman, who accosted him and two companions at the alley entrance between Third and Fourth street on Third avenue west at 11:30 o'clock last night. Jensen's companions were Frank Lovhin, 310½ West Second street, and Ray Clifford, 232 West Second street. One of the latter told the police that he had a big roll with him, but he bluffed the highwayman into believing him "broke."

The police arrived on the scene a short time after the holdup, but the bandit had disappeared. The only description the three men were able to give was that he was about six feet tall and wore a slouch hat and carried a big revolver.

TRACTOR SCHOOL SESSIONS DRAW MANY TO DULUTH

The Tractor Service school, held by the Knudson Auto company for tractor owners and mechanics of Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin during this week, drew large numbers and it is reported that much valuable instruction was given to those who attended.

Cletrac tractors were overhauled and full instruction given in the operation, care and repair of the machines. J. C. Sheridan, district supervisor of service for the Cleveland Tractor company, assisted by R. S. Matson and R. E. O'Dell, their traveling salesmen, were in charge of the school.

A score of Cletrac owners from surrounding counties attended the four-day course and are returning home enthusiastic boosters for power farming. The Cletrac was the only tractor demonstrated by the university on the land clearing special train throughout the cut-over district of Minnesota last summer.

MUST OBEY UNION RULES

Court Upholds Trainmen in Refusing to Take Back Members.

Provisions of the constitution and rules of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, which specify that if any of its members join the organization known as the Switchmen's Union of North America or other similar orders, he shall be expelled from membership, are upheld by Judge W. A. Cant in a decision filed yesterday afternoon in a test case brought by W. F. Jensen against Nip and Tuck lodge, No. 889, Proctor.

Jensen and a number of other switchmen at Proctor belonging to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, joined the Switchmen's Union of North America and in October, 1918, they were expelled by the lodge for violating a constitutional provision of the order. Jensen brought a test case and sued for reinstatement, but Judge Cant ruled against him. Middaugh & Cuthbert appeared as attorneys for Jensen and Leo A. Ball for the Proctor lodge of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Judge Cant holds that Jensen agreed to be bound by the regulations of the order and that unless there are compelling reasons to the contrary, agreements must be kept. Discussing the case, Judge Cant in his memorandum says among other things:

Test Case, Says Cant.

"This is a test case and no dishonorable motives are imputed to relator. He freely admits joining the aforesaid Switchmen's union while he was a member of the defendant lodge, but claims that the provisions above referred to as found in the constitution and rules of the defendant is void as against public policy and that his agreement to be bound thereby is invalid.

"My opinion is that there are legitimate reasons which might well lead the railway employes belonging to the defendant organization to agree upon the provision of their constitution and rules which is here attacked, and that if they do so agree, there is no point at which they contravene any sound rule of public policy. Such a regulation tends to insure loyalty to the organization, to greatly increase its strength and its usefulness among the men and should be upheld."

FARM LANDS

It Will Pay You to Get Our List

CHEAP LANDS

We have some especially fine tracts of low priced lands. These lands are scattered, but are choice listings that we have picked up during the summer. Much of this land is well timbered, other tracts from 40 acres up are very suitable for farming purposes. If you wait to buy for speculation and with a view to farming it at the same time you had better consult us before you buy.

IMPROVED FARMS

Our improved farm list contains some of the best money-making farms in Minnesota. Several of these farms are the equal of any in the state. We have a selected list that we can recommend as big bargains—in some cases the selling price is hardly equal to the value of buildings alone. If you want a money-making farm, one that pays a big yearly income, select one of our underpriced improved farms. Tell us what you want and we will submit a few bargains.

TIMBER LANDS

We have sorted out some especially fine timbered tracts that will pay well to log this winter. The better tracts will go quick, so we would urge those planning on timbered lands to act now.

FEELING IS VERY GLOOMY IN NEW YORK

No General Cessation of Manufacturing or Reductions in Wages.

BY THEODORE H. PRICE,

Editor, Commerce and Finance.
(Copyright, Theodore H. Price Publishing Corp.)

New York, Nov. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—In New York the feeling that pervades the stock exchange affects the whole community and it is not unlikely that in a financial and commercial sense the metropolis was the gloomiest place in the country last week.

On Thursday the American International corporation announced that its usual quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent would not be paid and the stock, which had previously declined to 47 after having sold at 132¼ last year, dropped nearly 10 points more to 38¾. As the corporation has a cash capital of $50,000,000 the decline represented a depreciation of $30,000,000 and it is not surprising that it was somewhat depressing. Concurrently, many disturbing rumors were put in circulation about concerns in the export business but none of them as far as ascertainable are entitled to credence. The Cuban and Paraguayan moratoriums and the depreciation in the currencies of Brazil, Argentina, Chile and continental Europe has undoubtedly made it very difficult to collect for merchandise shipped to those countries.

As a result many acceptances drawn against such shipments will have to be renewed but the merchandise has not perished nor is it perishable, as has been alleged. In time it will pass into consumption and be paid for in exportable commodities. Some losses will no doubt be incurred, but those upon whom they will fall made large profits until recently and are able to stand them.

Most industrial stocks were carried lower by the decline in American International and the securities of the shipping companies in which it is known to be largely interested, but on the whole the market showed remarkable resistance and the railway shares in particular have been well bought at the comparatively slight declines established. Call money has been distinctly easier, loans having been made as low as 6 per cent on two days of the week and ninety-day loans on stock exchange collateral are now to be had at 8 per cent.

Abundance of Credit Seen.

The bankers and the Federal reserve board, apparently alarmed by the destructive success of their deflationary policy have been issuing reassuring bulletins which remind one of the stable door that was locked too late, but a close analysis of the Federal reserve bank statement of Nov. 12 reveals an abundance of credit in some districts which, if it becomes general, may warrant and compel a reduction in the rediscount rate. The Cleveland bank, for instance, would have had a reserve ratio of about 75 per cent if

SAYS AGENT ACTED WITHOUT AUTHORITY

Mexico City, Nov. 22.—Robert V. Pasquiera, Mexican confidential agent in the United States, acted without authority in ordering Mexican consular agents on the international frontier not to vise the passports of United States Senator Albert B. Fall of New Mexico, who proposed to visit Mexico City and attend the inauguration of Gen. Alvaro Obregon as president on Dec. 1.

This statement was made to the newspaper El Universal yesterday by Dr. Culberto Hidalgo, under secretary of foreign affairs, who pointed out that Pesqueira's attitude in no way reflected the sentiments of the Mexican foreign office. He said no decision had been reached as to what should be done officially to rectify the action of Pesqueira.

ARE CALLED INTO COURT

New York Legislative Committee Faces Test of Its Powers.

New York, Nov. 22.—The joint legislative committee investigating the housing situation here faced a court test of its power today. Members of the committee were directed to appear in supreme court to show cause why the summons issued last week for the appearance of Miss Elizabeth O'Dea, an employe of the builders' supply bureau, should not be vacated.

The committee had asked her to bring books of the concern to be placed in evidence. John A. McCarthy, a contractor, obtained the order to show cause, claiming that compelling an employe, not an official of a firm to produce private accounts, represents seizure without warrant.

Mayor Hylan announced that the investigation by the city administration of its contracts for public buildings would begin today, despite objections from Samuel Untermyer, the legislative committee's chief counsel, that it was a "whitewashing operation."

Starting with a slight rumble in 1919, investigation of New York's "building trust" has gained such momentum in the last few weeks that its roar has been heard from coast to coast.

1. The city of New York already has rescinded several contracts for public work reaching into the millions and now has considered the advisabil-

HELD IN CONNECTION WITH DEATH OF TWO ACTRESSES

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Michael Cox, alias McCarthy, formerly a lightweight pugilist under the name of "Kid Corbett," was brought here last night from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., in connection with the death of Maree Ramey and Lillian Thompson, actresses, whose bodies were found in Grant park last Sunday. He is held without bail pending the inquest.

Cox admitted, according to the police, being on the "joy ride" with the two women, Marcus Brumbach and Lawrence and Harris Jorgenson, which ended in the actress' death. Cox denied that he attacked the women or that they were boisterous, as stated by the Jorgensons and Brumbach. He said the women got off the car in the park and refused to get back in. "We left them for a copper to pick up," he said.

RECOGNITION OF MEXICO

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

Washington, Nov. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The United States government stands ready to recognize the government in Mexico over which President-elect Alvora Obregon will rule next month, provided the legal questions pending between the two governments can be satisfactorily adjusted.

For the first time in more than a decade a government has arisen in Mexico which appears to realize fully the necessity of co-operation with the United States, but public opinion below the Rio Grande is still as sensitive about any attitude that might seem cringing or suppliant. This accounts for the official statements insisting that Mexico cannot afford to accept any recognition which has conditions attached to it. Naturally the American government has no desire to impose conditions as such. Moreover, the Washington administration realizes that American public opinion will not be satisfied with mere promises and that actual performance is necessary. Some start must be made toward the settlement of pending difficulties, and when enough action has been taken by the Mexican government to warrant a belief that the points which the United States wishes cleared up will be eventually settled then recognition will be gladly extended.

Playing Both Ends.

There is some suggestion that the new Mexican government is trying to play as between the Wilson and the Harding administrations. There are those who are counseling Mexico that easier terms will be secured from the Republicans than the Democrats. In 1912 practically the same situation existed. Secretary Knox was ready to recognize the Huerta government but wanted the Chamizal dispute about boundaries in Texas settled. The Mexicans got the idea that they would get recognition easier if they delayed beyond March 4, but they were sadly mistaken because Mr. Wilson refused absolutely to recognize Huerta on other grounds.

It so happens that among the friends of Senator Harding are many who believe military intervention alone will solve the Mexican question. There are others who have a feeling that recognition of the Obregon government will mean a new era of peace and prosperity with our Southern neighbor, yet if the question is left to be taken up after March 4 it will be the first step in the assumption of responsibility for Mexican affairs on the part of the new Washington administration. Any action, on the other hand, by the Wilson regime will still be charged up to Wilsonian policy. Under that line of reasoning some of Harding's friends hope

TO SHOW DANGER OF OVERCROWDING

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 22.—Plans are developing rapidly for a national health conference to be held in Detroit Nov. 30 and Dec. 1, at which representatives of health departments from all of the larger cities in the country will discuss the housing situation and its effect upon the health of the people.

Officials of the local board of health are conducting a health survey to determine the difference in death rate between centers of the city that are crowded and those where the number of persons in a given territory is not as great. Similar surveys are being conducted in other large cities of the country and reports will be submitted at the meeting here.

In previous surveys a much higher death rate was found in crowded centers than in less populated districts and the same finding is expected this year.

The aim of the conference, according to Dr. Henry F. Vaughan, Detroit's health commissioner, is to bring to the attention of the country the danger of over-crowding.

PLAN TO END HOSTILITIES IN ARMENIA

League Adopts Resolution Looking to Raising of an Army.

Possibility of American Aid Touched Upon During the Debate.

Geneva, Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—A resolution presented by M. Viviani, inviting the council of the League of Nations to confer with the various powers with the view of constituting a force sufficient to put an end to hostilities in Armenia, which was joined to Lord Robert Cecil's resolution along the same lines, was adopted by the assembly of the league this afternoon.

The possibility of American aid for the Armenians was touched upon in debate today by the assembly on resolutions demanding intervention by the league in Armenia.

Supporting Lord Robert Cecil's demand that the assembly appoint a committee to examine into means for ending the hostilities between the Turkish nationalists and the Armenians, M. Spalekjovitch of the Serbian delegation recalled that the United States senate at one time had approved the use of the American fleet to succor the Armenians. It was recalled here in this connection that Senator Harding was the senator who reported the resolution.

Offered by Harding.

(A resolution requesting the president to send marines to Batum was adopted by the senate May 13 last. It was offered by Senator Harding on behalf of the foreign relations committee).

A. J. Balfour of Great Britain, speaking on the resolution, said that if the United States had been willing to take the mandate for Armenia, she had the men, money and spirit to make her an ideal mandatory. The league has been unable to accomplish anything with regard to the Armenian situation, Mr. Balfour admitted, because the condition of Armenia, he argued, was not such as the league was organized to deal with.

Mr. Balfour said an appeal must be sent to the forty-one states of the league for a united effort to save Armenia.

Compassion No Longer Suffices.

Rene Viviani of France, following Mr. Balfour, said all were agreed that compassion would no longer suffice for Armenia.

"It is not the fault of France if the league today is disarmed before the situation in Armenia is righted," said M. Viviani. Virtually the entire assembly applauded this statement. It was noted, however, that the British delegation did not applaud.

"If the conference had listened to France," continued M. Viviani, "we would have had an international staff and an international force to deal with this situation."

M. Viviani presented a resolution inviting the council of the league to consult the powers with a view to the construction of a force sufficient to

JEALOUS MAN KILLS ONE, WOUNDS ANOTHER

Chicago, Nov. 22.—John Hunt was arrested this morning at his home as he sat calmly smoking a cigarette and twirling a revolver from which four bullets had been fired. He was charged with having shot one man to death and wounded another, because he was jealous of Mrs. Florence Thompson, a divorcee.

Hunt, police said witnesses had told them, went first to a cabaret where he found a man named Walter Mayer talking with a girl who proved not to be Mrs. Thompson, but the resemblance was close enough for Hunt to fire three shots at Mayer. He fled and went to another cabaret where Mrs. Thompson was seen, as Earl Smith, a baker, was asking her to dance. Hunt, witnesses said, fired at Smith, killing him and escaped. Mayer's condition is serious.

PLAQUE GIVEN STRASBOURG

Strasbourg, Alsace-Lorraine, Nov. 22.—A large bronze plaque commemorating "the Marseillaise," the French national song, which was written here in 1872 by Capt. J. H. Rougett de Lisle, was presented to Strasbourg yesterday by a delegation from Milwaukee, Wis. Marshal Foch voiced France's good feeling toward the United States and the marshal's own optimism as to the future.

In addition to Marshal Foch, there were present Gen. Weygand, assistant to Foch during the war, and Gen. Gouraud, who commanded the army that entered Strasbourg after the war; G. F. Alapetite, commissioner general to Alsace; M. Reibel, under-secretary for foreign affairs, and Col. T. Bentley Mott, the American military attache, representing Hugh C. Wallace, the American ambassador.

After a review of the troops, the American delegation, the spokesman of which was Lawrence Fitch, assembled before the statue of Kleber, opposite the city hall.

Local organizations paraded to the tune of "The Marseillaise," shouting "Long live the United States!" "Long live the Americans!" and "Long live our brothers of America."

Symbol of Affection.

"This plaque, sculptored by Daniel Chester French of New York," said Mr. Fitch in his presentation speech, "will remain here as a permanent symbol of our affection—a symbol not only of Milwaukee, but of all the American

Aboard Steamship Parismina, Nov. 22.—(By Wireless to the Associated Press.)—"The troubles of my heart are enlarged; oh, bring me out of my distresses."

So read President-elect Harding last evening from the Twenty-fifth Psalm as he led the religious services in the women's saloon of the ship which is taking him to the Panama canal zone.

To Mr. Harding's companions gathered about him as he solemnly intoned the words of David, there seemed a peculiar and dramatic significance to the simple lines he had deliberately selected from the appeal of the psalmist, and the lines seemed to become the personal prayer of Senator Harding himself, as he faces tremendous problems.

"Look upon mine affliction and my pain and forgive all my sins. Consider mine enemies, for they are many and they hate me with cruel hatred. Let integrity and uprightness preserve me, for I wait on Thee."

Senator Harding made it clear the verses revealed and reflected his attitude toward the assumption of the presidency.

SAYS GREEKS NOW UNITED

Members of New Cabinet Working Hard to Establish Regime.

Athens, Nov. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Members of the new Greek cabinet are working overtime to establish the new regime and to reinstate thousands of functionaries and military officials removed by Former Premier Venizelos.

Apparently the new ministry is attempting to pursue a policy of moderation toward followers of the former premier. An indication of this sentiment may be found in the retention of Sterialias as governor of Smyrna, while M. Politis has been asked to continue his work as foreign minister.

"Please call the attention of Americans to the fact that the nation is now united," said Demetrius Gounaris to the Associated Press today. "This is shown by the joy over the nation's deliverance during the past few days. We are no longer trying to assassinate others, as M. Venizelos predicted, because of his non-election."

Will Continue Role.

"Greece will continue her role of civilization in the Orient," he continued. "Wherever you go in the Orient you will find us playing this role. I do not believe the Allies will revise the Turkish treaty. So far as we are concerned we were given Thrace and Smyrna not because of Venizelos. I do not believe the Allies will oppose the return of Constantine or details of our work toward progress. If necessary, Constantine would reunite our armies, with which he is popular. This is a matter for consideration if we should be obliged to fight the Turks.

"It is time nations quit wars and returned to work again. We wish to live at peace with all nations, and we trust our Turkish relations will not throw us in contact with the Russian Bolsheviki."

Paris, Nov. 22.—The French government will not oppose by physical force the return of Former King Constantine to the Greek throne, which the foreign office now regards as inevitable, the Associated Press was informed today.

It was stated Premier Leygues will advocate at his meeting with Premier Lloyd George that a joint note be sent to the Greek people pointing out strongly the consequences of Constantine's restoration, prominent among which would be the withdrawal of all financial and economic support of Greece.

The foreign office is convinced that the plebiscite to be held on the question of Constantine's return will overwhelmingly favor the proposition and this has caused a change in the French attitude. The plebiscite is set for next Sunday.

The meeting between Premiers Leygues and Lloyd George probably will be held Thursday or Friday.

HOLD 400 SUSPECTS FOR IDENTIFICATION

Chicago, Nov. 22—Four hundred of the nearly 800 suspects arrested in Saturday's and last night's raids on gambling houses and saloons today were hosts at a police station to victims of recent robberies and holdups, who reviewed them for possible identification.

The four hundred to "pass in review" were culled from the large number of arrests as men wanted by the police for participation in recent crimes. The rest of the men arrested are being held, it was said, until they have proven their innocence.

The raids of Saturday and Sunday nights were a part of the general "cleanup" which newly appointed Chief of Police Fitzmorris announced he would make. Fashionable districts furnished a large number as did the part of the city generally considered to harbor the underworld.

ACHILLEON VILLA READY FOR GUEST

Corfu, Nov. 22.—Achilleon villa, the property of Former Emperor William of Germany, is being repainted and thoroughly put in order as if to receive a guest. The neighborhood has been cleaned up, and the avenue leading to the villa from the main road, which during the regime of Premier Venizelos was known as "Liberty avenue," now bears its original title, "Avenue William II."

It is rumored here that one of the first efforts of Queen Sophia upon returning to Athens will be to secure consent from the Allies for a visit of the former emperor to Corfu.

FIRST RAPE CASE IS UP FOR TRIAL

Result of Case That Caused Lynching of Three Negroes.

Selection of a jury to try Max Mason, the first of the seven negroes awaiting trial on a charge of criminally assaulting an 18-year-old West Duluth white girl on the night of June 14 last, occupied the morning session in Judge L. S. Nelson's division of the district court today. Testimony in the case is being presented by the state this afternoon.

One of Sixteen Arrested.

Mason, the defendant on trial, was one of a number of negroes who came to Duluth with a circus on June 14 last. Sixteen circus hands were arrested by the police, following the story which the girl and her escort, James Sullivan, aged 18, told the authorities a few hours after the alleged rape.

Three of the first six taken to the city jail were taken by a mob which stormed the jail the next evening and lynched. Later the grand jury which investigated the lynching and returned several riot and murder indictments also indicated seven of the thirteen negroes who escaped lynching.

Besides Mason, other defendants awaiting trial are William M. Miller, Clarence Green, Frank Spicer, Louis Hayes, Nick Grays and Louis Williams. County Attorney Warren E. Greene is prosecuting the case for the state and the defense is represented by three colored attorneys, F. L. Barnett of Chicago, former assistant state's attorney in Cook county; Charles W. Scrutchin of Bemidji and R. C. McCulloch of this city.

Riot and Murder Cases.

After the rape cases are disposed of it is expected that the riot and murder cases growing out of the lynching will be taken up, County Attorney Greene stated today. Seven of the riot cases were tried at the September term of court, resulting in three convictions, three acquittals and one disagreement.

INCREASED RATES ON GRAIN SUSPENDED

Washington, Nov. 22.—The interstate commerce commission today suspended until March 22, 1921, schedules providing for increased commodity rates on grain and grain products in carload lots from St. Louis, Mo., Minneapolis, Minn., Chicago and Peoria, Ill., and all points taking the same rates to Kansas City, Mo.

The commission also suspended schedules of increased rates on grain and grain products from Mississippi and Missouri river crossings and other producing points to points in Arkansas.

Try to "Queer" Dance.

Cherbourg, France, Nov. 22.—Young men who did not receive invitations to a dance given by the commander of the American destroyer Broome here tonight, banded together in an attempt to induce the young ladies of Cherbourg not to attend the affair. The girls objected and, guarded by their fathers and mothers, nearly 100 appeared at the party.

SOVIET PLANS GREAT ARMY

Would Clean Up "Irregular" Forces in the Armistice Zone.

Warsaw, Nov. 22.—Negotiations looking to a permanent peace between soviet Russia and Poland have been broken off by the former at Riga, where the delegations have been in conference.

Great soviet armies are being gathered to crush Gen. Balakovitch, commander of "irregular" forces which have been operating east of the armistice zone between Poland and Russia proper, and other Bolshevik legions are pursuing shattered Ukrainian armies which are fleeing from the region west and northwest of Kiev.

All along the southeastern frontier of Poland there is pouring in a perfect rabble of refugees, civilian and military, who are seeking safety before the advancing wave of Bolshevik armies.

Causes Much Concern.

This has caused concern here notwithstanding the official optimism over the break in the Riga peace conference. It is stated that the soviet government refused to go on with the peace negotiations because some Polish troops have not withdrawn to the line fixed in the preliminary treaty between the Bolsheviki and the Warsaw government.

It is stated the demands of the soviet delegation will be met, and that the pourparlers will be resumed almost at once.

Commissioners sent into Lithuania by the council of the League of Nations have been held up by damaged bridges, and apparently have been able to do little toward reaching an adjustment between the Lithuanian government at Kovno and "the central Lithuanian republic," established at Vilna by Gen. Zeligouski.

STEAMER SHEADLE HITS ROCK; SINKS IN PRESQUE ISLE BAY

Word was received here today that the steamer J. H. Sheadle of the Cleveland-Cliffs company is on the bottom of Presque Isle bay, close to Marquette harbor. The only word received was by the Tomlinson company, and it gave the information that the steamer backed into a rock, evidently while turning yesterday, stove a hole in her stern and settled in twenty-one feet of water.

No lives were lost and the hull is well protected from heavy weather. A marine surveying company has been sent for to arrange for raising the steamer.

GIVEN $10,200 FOR ALIMONY

Mrs. Ray Culver Simon Granted Divorce and Custody of Daughter.

District Judge C. C. Haupt of St. Paul, who is holding court in Duluth, this morning granted alimony of $10,200 per annum to Mrs. Ray Culver Simon of this city after he granted her a divorce from Johann H. Simon on the grounds of desertion. The divorce action was not contested, and the alimony judgment had been consented to by Simon before the case came on for triad.

Simon, defendant in the case, is the American representative of the French grain firm of Louis Drefus & Co., and during the war he was with the French high commission and was in charge of all grain importations to France. Mrs. Simon was formerly Miss Ray Culver of Duluth and is the daughter of Duluth's first mayor, the late Joshua B. Culver.

The Simons were married in this city on April 7, 1910, and are parents of one daughter, aged 3, the custody of of whom was awarded to Mrs. Simon. The law firm of Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell of this city represented Mrs. Simon at the hearing of her case before Judge Haupt this morning.

MANY RESIGNATIONS IN ARMY TANK CORPS

Washington, Nov. 22.—The army tank corps has suffered from many resignations and few re-enlistments because soldiers trained in this arm of the service find it easy to obtain lucrative employment in civil life, says the annual report of Brig.-Gen. S. D. Rockenbach, chief of the corps, made public today.

The corps returned from France in July, 1919, with a greatly depleted personnel, but in the past fiscal year a net gain of twenty officers and 1,546 enlisted men was made, the report says, leaving however, a considerable shortage still to be made up.

Although the corps possessed more than 800 tanks when it left France, all were in poor repair and none ready for battle, Gen. Rockenbach states. Considerable progress has since been made in repairing damaged material, and in designing and manufacturing new machines, the report added.

Technical recommendations included the stationing of the chief of the corps in the office of the chief of infantry in the war department rather than at Camp Meade, Md., as now located, and the production of a durable and fast cross country tank, without which, the report asserts, "no army can count on a swift advance in the theater of operations."

Demobilization Details.

Final details of the demobilization of America's war-time armies are given by Adjt.-Gen. Harris in his annual report to Secretary Baker, made public yesterday. The adjutant-general points out that in the year ending Nov. 15, 1919, a total of 3,422,233 officers and men were returned to civilian life.

Gen. Harris' report shows that at the end of the last fiscal year or on last June 30, the strength of the army was 15,451 officers and 184,848 enlisted men. At the close of the preceding fiscal year, or on June 30, 1919, the army was composed of 77,966 officers and 758,879 men.

MURDEROUS DISORDERS AT CITY OF DUBLIN

Trouble Begins With Deliberate Shooting at Football Game.

Sending of More Troops to Ireland Considered By War Office.

London, Nov. 22.—A violent scene occurred in the house of commons this afternoon during the period of questions regarding the situation in Ireland. Joseph Devlin, Nationalist, and a Unionist member came to blows. The sitting was suspended.

London, Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—The sending of additional troops to Ireland is being seriously considered, it was stated at the war office this afternoon.

London was waiting anxiously today for further news from Dublin following the reports of yesterday's horrors, but up to early afternoon only meager dispatches had been received.

Reports to the Irish office from Dublin at noon said three or four unidentified persons had been killed in that city late last night. Several policemen had been killed in other parts of Ireland, the Irish office announced.

A brief telephone message at 8 o'clock this morning had reported the city at least temporarily quiet. Then came a gap in the reports, up to the noon hour, but whether this indicated a censorship was not known.

Shooting Going On.

Meager reports during the night stated that shooting was going on as a sequel to yesterday's assassinations and the subsequent clash between the military and a crowd at Croke park.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, the chief secretary for Ireland, was in conference this morning with members of the cabinet in preparation for the expected bringing up in parliament today of yesterday's Irish happenings. Nationalist members, it was understood, were prepared to move an adjournment of the house in order to secure an opportunity for full debate on the situation.

A dispatch to the Press association from Dublin early this afternoon placed the number of dead resulting from the Croke park shooting at twelve.

Twenty-five Reported Killed.

WOULD CHANGE SELLING PLAN

Under Present Method Surplus Goods Sold Back to Government.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Immediate revision of the present method of disposing of surplus government stores to prevent speculators from buying Federal property from one department and reselling to another branch of the government at a higher figure is recommended in the annual report to Maj.-Gen. J. L. Chamberlain, inspector general of the army, to the secretary of war, made public today. A recent investigation disclosed that one department of the government sold surplus cement for $1 per ton to a civilian who immediately resold the same cement to a branch of the war department for $6 a ton, the report states.

Gen. Chamberlain said that while hazing at West Point has not yet been entirely eliminated, considerable progress has been made to that end.

Prompt measures to check abuse of the army uniform are recommended, the report declaring that "civilian authorities have not always co-operated to stop such abuse."

Other Recommendations.

Other recommendations of the inspector general include:

More care with regard to promises made recruits, particularly with regard to the army's educational courses, in order that all pre-enlistment promises may be fully complied with.

Abandonment of civilian instructors at army schools.

Renewal of the clothing allowance system for enlisted men, a change in the type of collar on the service coat and more care in seeing that each recruit has one new, well-fitting uniform.

Revision of the post exchange system.

Consolidation of air service units so far as possible and replacement of civilian employes in this branch with enlisted personnel.

Suitable Headgear.

Adoption of suitable headgear for service in the tropics.

Revision of the property accountability system.

A favorable progress is being made in building up army morale after the depression incident to demobilization of the emergency forces, the report says, and discipline has greatly improved due to eradication of unsatisfactory conditions.

A clean bill of health is given the forces in Germany by the inspector general with the exception of proficiency at target practice due, he says, to the large percentage of new men and lack of experienced officers to supervise their training.

Conditions in the army transport service in the Pacific are described as "satisfactory," but in the Atlantic the service is "far from satisfactory," the report says, recommendation being made that legislation be secured to provide adequate commissioned and enlisted personnel for army transport.

FEELING IS VERY GLOOMY IN NEW YORK

No General Cessation of Manufacturing or Reductions in Wages.

BY THEODORE H. PRICE,

Editor, Commerce and Finance.
(Copyright, Theodore H. Price Publishing Corp.)

New York, Nov. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—In New York the feeling that pervades the stock exchange affects the whole community and it is not unlikely that in a financial and commercial sense the metropolis was the gloomiest place in the country last week.

On Thursday the American International corporation announced that its usual quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent would not be paid and the stock, which had previously declined to 47 after having sold at 132¾ last year, dropped nearly 10 points more to 38¼. As the corporation has a cash capital of $50,000,000 the decline represented a depreciation of $30,000,000 and it is not surprising that it was somewhat depressing. Concurrently, many disturbing rumors were put in circulation about concerns in the export business but none of them as far as ascertainable are entitled to credence. The Cuban and Paraguayan moratoriums and the depreciation in the currencies of Brazil, Argentina, Chile and continental Europe has undoubtedly made it very difficult to collect for merchandise shipped to those countries.

As a result many acceptances drawn against such shipments will have to be renewed but the merchandise has not perished nor is it perishable, as has been alleged. In time it will pass into consumption and be paid for in exportable commodities. Some losses will no doubt be incurred, but those upon whom they will fall made large profits until recently and are able to stand them.

Most industrial stocks were carried lower by the decline in American International and the securities of the shipping companies in which it is known to be largely interested, but on the whole the market showed remarkable resistance and the railway shares in particular have been well bought at the comparatively slight declines established. Call money has been distinctly easier, loans having been made as low as 6 per cent on two days of the week and ninety-day loans on stock exchange collateral are now to be had at 8 per cent.

Abundance of Credit Seen.

The bankers and the Federal reserve board apparently alarmed by the destructive success of their deflationary policy have been issuing reassuring bulletins which remind one of the stable door that was locked too late, but a close analysis of the Federal reserve bank statement of Nov. 12 reveals an abundance of credit in some districts which, if it becomes general, may warrant and compel a reduction in the rediscount rate. The Cleveland bank, for instance, would have had a reserve ratio of about 75 per cent if

SAYS AGENT ACTED WITHOUT AUTHORITY

Mexico City, Nov. 22.—Robert V. Pesqueira, Mexican confidential agent in the United States, acted without authority in ordering Mexican consular agents on the international frontier not to vise the passports of United States Senator Albert B. Fall of New Mexico, who proposed to visit Mexico City and attend the inauguration of Gen. Alvaro Obregon as president on Dec. 1.

This statement was made to the newspaper El Universal yesterday by Dr. Culberto Hidalgo, under secretary of foreign affairs, who pointed out that Pesqueira's attitude in no way reflected the sentiments of the Mexican foreign office. He said no decision had been reached as to what should be done officially to rectify the action of Pesqueira.

ARE CALLED INTO COURT

New York Legislative Committee Faces Test of Its Powers.

New York, Nov. 22.—The joint legislative committee investigating the housing situation here faced a court test of its power today. Members of the committee were directed to appear in supreme court to show cause why the summons issued last week for the appearance of Miss Elizabeth O'Dea, an employe of the builders' supply bureau, should not be vacated.

The committee had asked her to bring books of the concern to be placed in evidence. John A. McCarthy, a contractor, obtained the order to show cause, claiming that compelling an employe, not an official of a firm to produce private accounts, represents seizure without warrant.

Mayor Hylan announced that the investigation by the city administration of its contracts for public buildings would begin today, despite objections from Samuel Untermyer, the legislative committee's chief counsel, that it was a "whitewashing operation."

Starting with a slight rumble in 1919, investigation of New York's "building trust" has gained such momentum in the last few weeks that its roar has been heard from coast to coast.

1. The city of New York already has rescinded several contracts for public work reaching into the millions and now has considered the advisabil-

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Michael Cox, alias McCarthy, formerly a lightweight pugilist under the name of "Kid Corbett," was brought here last night from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., in connection with the death of Maree Ramey and Lillian Thompson, actresses, whose bodies were found in Grant park last Sunday. He is held without bail pending the inquest.

Cox admitted, according to the police, being on the "joy ride" with the two women, Marcus Brumbach and Lawrence and Harris Jorgenson, which ended in the actress' death. Cox denied that he attacked the women or that they were boisterous, as stated by the Jorgensons and Brumbach. He said the women got off the car in the park and refused to get back in. "We left them for a copper to pick up," he said.

RECOGNITION OF MEXICO

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1920, by The Duluth Herald.)

Washington, Nov. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The United States government stands ready to recognize the government in Mexico over which President-elect Alvora Obregon will rule next month, provided the legal questions pending between the two governments can be satisfactorily adjusted.

For the first time in more than a decade a government has arisen in Mexico which appears to realize fully the necessity of co-operation with the United States, but public opinion below the Rio Grande is still as sensitive about any attitude that might seem cringing or suppliant. This accounts for the official statements insisting that Mexico cannot afford to accept any recognition which has conditions attached to it. Naturally the American government has no desire to impose conditions as such. Moreover, the Washington administration realizes that American public opinion will not be satisfied with mere promises and that actual performance is necessary. Some start must be made toward the settlement of pending difficulties, and when enough action has been taken by the Mexican government to warrant a belief that the points which the United States wishes cleared up will be eventually settled then recognition will be gladly extended.

Playing Both Ends.

There is some suggestion that the new Mexican government is trying to play as between the Wilson and the Harding administrations. There are those who are counseling Mexico that easier terms will be secured from the Republicans than the Democrats. In 1912 practically the same situation existed. Secretary Knox was ready to recognize the Huerta government but wanted the Chamizal dispute about boundaries in Texas settled. The Mexicans got the idea that they would get recognition easier if they delayed beyond March 4 but they were sadly mistaken because Mr. Wilson refused absolutely to recognize Huerta on other grounds.

It so happens that among the friends of Senator Harding are many who believe military intervention alone will solve the Mexican question. There are others who have a feeling that recognition of the Obregon government will mean a new era of peace and prosperity with our Southern neighbor, yet if the question is left to be taken up after March 4 it will be the first step in the assumption of responsibility for Mexican affairs on the part of the new Washington administration. Any action, on the other hand, by the Wilson regime will still be charged up to Wilsonian policy. Under that line of reasoning some of Harding's friends hope

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 22.—Plans are developing rapidly for a national health conference to be held in Detroit Nov. 30 and Dec. 1, at which representatives of health departments from all of the larger cities in the country will discuss the housing situation and its effect upon the health of the people.

Officials of the local board of health are conducting a health survey to determine the difference in death rate between centers of the city that are crowded and those where the number of persons in a given territory is not as great. Similar surveys are being conducted in other large cities of the country and reports will be submitted at the meeting here.

In previous surveys a much higher death rate was found in crowded centers than in less populated districts and the same finding is expected this year.

The aim of the conference, according to Dr. Henry F. Vaughan, Detroit's health commissioner, is to bring to the attention of the country the danger of over-crowding.

PLAN TO END HOSTILITIES IN ARMENIA

League Adopts Resolution Looking to Raising of an Army.

Possibility of American Aid Touched Upon During the Debate.

Geneva, Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—A resolution presented by M. Viviani, inviting the council of the League of Nations to confer with the various powers with the view of constituting a force sufficient to put an end to hostilities in Armenia, which was joined to Lord Robert Cecil's resolution along the same lines, was adopted by the assembly of the league this afternoon.

The possibility of American aid for the Armenians was touched upon in debate today by the assembly on resolutions demanding intervention by the league in Armenia.

Supporting Lord Robert Cecil's demand that the assembly appoint a committee to examine into means for ending the hostilities between the Turkish nationalists and the Armenians, M. Spalekjovitch of the Serbian delegation recalled that the United States senate at one time had approved the use of the American fleet to succor the Armenians. It was recalled here in this connection that Senator Harding was the senator who reported the resolution.

Offered by Harding.

(A resolution requesting the president to send marines to Batum was adopted by the senate May 13 last. It was offered by Senator Harding on behalf of the foreign relations committee).

A. J. Balfour of Great Britain, speaking on the resolution, said that if the United States had been willing to take the mandate for Armenia, she had the men, money and spirit to make her an ideal mandatory. The league has been unable to accomplish anything with regard to the Armenian situation. Mr. Balfour admitted, because the condition of Armenia, he argued, was not such as the league was organized to deal with.

Mr. Balfour said an appeal must be sent to the forty-one states of the league for a united effort to save Armenia.

Compassion No Longer Suffices.

Rene Viviani of France, following Mr. Balfour, said all were agreed that compassion would no longer suffice for Armenia.

"It is not the fault of France if the league today is disarmed before the situation in Armenia is righted," said M. Viviani. Virtually the entire assembly applauded this statement. It was noted, however, that the British delegation did not applaud.

"If the conference had listened to France," continued M. Viviani, "we would have had an international staff and an international force to deal with this situation."

M. Viviani presented a resolution inviting the council of the league to consult the powers with a view to the construction of a force sufficient to

JEALOUS MAN KILLS ONE, WOUNDS ANOTHER

Chicago, Nov. 22.—John Hunt was arrested this morning at his home as he sat calmly smoking a cigarette and twirling a revolver from which four bullets had been fired. He was charged with having shot one man to death and wounded another, because he was jealous of Mrs. Florence Thompson, a divorcee.

Hunt, police said witnesses had told them, went first to a cabaret where he found a man named Walter Mayer talking with a girl who proved not to be Mrs. Thompson, but the resemblance was close enough for Hunt to fire three shots at Mayer. He fled and went to another cabaret where Mrs. Thompson was seen, as Earl Smith, a baker, was asking her to dance. Hunt, witnesses said, fired at Smith, killing him and escaped. Mayer's condition is serious.

PLAQUE GIVEN STRASBOURG

Strasbourg, Alsace-Lorraine, Nov. 22.—A large bronze plaque commemorating "the Marseillaise," the French national song, which was written here in 1872 by Capt. J. H. Rougett de Lisle, was presented to Strasbourg yesterday by a delegation from Milwaukee, Wis. Marshal Foch voiced France's good feeling toward the United States and the marshal's own optimism as to the future.

In addition to Marshal Foch, there were present Gen. Weygand, assistant to Foch during the war, and Gen. Gouraud, who commanded the army that entered Strasbourg after the war; G. F. Alapetite, commissioner general to Alsace; M. Reibel, under-secretary for foreign affairs, and Col. T. Bentley Mott, the American military attache, representing Hugh C. Wallace, the American ambassador.

After a review of the troops, the American delegation, the spokesman of which was Lawrence Fitch, assembled before the statue of Kleber, opposite the city hall.

Local organizations paraded to the tune of "The Marseillaise," shouting "Long live the United States!" "Long live the Americans!" and "Long live our brothers of America."

Symbol of Affection.

"This plaque, sculptored by Daniel Chester French of New York," said Mr. Fitch in his presentation speech, "will remain here as a permanent symbol of our affection—a symbol not only of Milwaukee, but of all the American

Aboard Steamship Parismina, Nov. 22.—(By Wireless to the Associated Press.)—"The troubles of my heart are enlarged; oh, bring me out of my distresses."

So read President-elect Harding last evening from the Twenty-fifth Psalm as he led the religious services in the women's saloon of the ship which is taking him to the Panama canal zone.

To Mr. Harding's companions gathered about him as he solemnly intoned the words of David, there seemed a peculiar and dramatic significance to the simple lines he had deliberately selected from the appeal of the psalmist, and the lines seemed to become the personal prayer of Senator Harding himself, as he faces tremendous problems.

"Look upon mine affliction and my pain and forgive all my sins. Consider mine enemies, for they are many and they hate me with cruel hatred. Let integrity and uprightness preserve me, for I wait on Thee."

Senator Harding made it clear the verses revealed and reflected his attitude toward the assumption of the presidency.

SAYS GREEKS NOW UNITED

Athens, Nov. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Members of the new Greek cabinet are working overtime to establish the new regime and to reinstate thousands of functionaries and military officials removed by Former Premier Venizelos.

Apparently the new ministry is attempting to pursue a policy of moderation toward followers of the former premier. An indication of this sentiment may be found in the retention of Sterialias as governor of Smyrna, while M. Politis has been asked to continue his work as foreign minister.

"Please call the attention of Americans to the fact that the nation is now united," said Demetrius Gounaris to the Associated Press today. "This is shown by the joy over the nation's deliverance during the past few days. We are no longer trying to assassinate others, as M. Venizelos predicted, because of his non-election."

Will Continue Role.

"Greece will continue her role of civilization in the Orient," he continued. "Wherever you go in the Orient you will find us playing this role. I do not believe the Allies will revise the Turkish treaty. So far as we are concerned we were given Thrace and Smyrna not because of Venizelos. I do not believe the Allies will oppose the return of Constantine or details of our work toward progress. If necessary, Constantine would reunite our armies, with which he is popular. This is a matter for consideration if we should be obliged to fight the Turks.

"It is time nations quit wars and returned to work again. We wish to live at peace with all nations, and we trust our Turkish relations will not throw us in contact with the Russian Bolsheviki."

Paris, Nov. 22.—The French government will not oppose by physical force the return of Former King Constantine to the Greek throne, which the foreign office now regards as inevitable, the Associated Press was informed today.

It was stated Premier Leygues will advocate at his meeting with Premier Lloyd George that a joint note be sent to the Greek people pointing out strongly the consequences of Constantine's restoration, prominent among which would be the withdrawal of all financial and economic support of Greece.

The foreign office is convinced that the plebiscite to be held on the question of Constantine's return will overwhelmingly favor the proposition and this has caused a change in the French attitude. The plebiscite is set for next Sunday.

The meeting between Premiers Leygues and Lloyd George probably will be held Thursday or Friday.

HOLD 400 SUSPECTS FOR IDENTIFICATION

Chicago, Nov. 22—Four hundred of the nearly 800 suspects arrested in Saturday's and last night's raids on gambling houses and saloons today were hosts at a police station to victims of recent robberies and holdups, who reviewed them for possible identification.

The four hundred to "pass in review" were culled from the large number of arrests as men wanted by the police for participation in recent crimes. The rest of the men arrested are being held, it was said, until they have proven their innocence.

The raids of Saturday and Sunday nights were a part of the general "cleanup" which newly appointed Chief of Police Fitzmorris announced he would make. Fashionable districts furnished a large number as did the part of the city generally considered to harbor the underworld.

ACHILLEON VILLA READY FOR GUEST

Corfu, Nov. 22.—Achilleon villa, the property of Former Emperor William of Germany, is being repainted and thoroughly put in order as if to receive a guest. The neighborhood has been cleaned up, and the avenue leading to the villa from the main road, which during the regime of Premier Venizelos was known as "Liberty avenue," now bears its original title, "Avenue William II."

It is rumored here that one of the first efforts of Queen Sophia upon returning to Athens will be to secure consent from the Allies for a visit of the former emperor to Corfu.

FIRST RAPE CASE IS UP FOR TRIAL

Result of Case That Caused Lynching of Three Negroes.

Selection of a jury to try Max Mason, the first of the seven negroes awaiting trial on a charge of criminally assaulting an 18-year-old West Duluth white girl on the night of June 14 last, occupied the morning session in Judge L. S. Nelson's division of the district court today. Testimony in the case is being presented by the state this afternoon.

One of Sixteen Arrested.

Mason, the defendant on trial, was one of a number of negroes who came to Duluth with a circus on June 14 last. Sixteen circus hands were arrested by the police, following the story which the girl and her escort, James Sullivan, aged 18, told the authorities a few hours after the alleged rape.

Three of the first six taken to the city jail were taken by a mob which stormed the jail the next evening and lynched. Later the grand jury which investigated the lynching and returned several riot and murder indictments also indicated seven of the thirteen negroes who escaped lynching.

Besides Mason, other defendants awaiting trial are William M. Miller, Clarence Green, Frank Spicer, Louis Hayes, Nick Grays and Louis Williams. County Attorney Warren E. Greene is prosecuting the case for the state and the defense is represented by three colored attorneys, F. L. Barnett of Chicago, former assistant state's attorney in Cook county; Charles W. Scrutchin of Bemidji and R. C. McCulloch of this city.

Riot and Murder Cases.

After the rape cases are disposed of it is expected that the riot and murder cases growing out of the lynching will be taken up, County Attorney Greene stated today. Seven of the riot cases were tried at the September term of court, resulting in three convictions, three acquittals and one disagreement.

INCREASED RATES ON GRAIN SUSPENDED

Washington, Nov. 22.—The interstate commerce commission today suspended until March 22, 1921, schedules providing for increased commodity rates on grain and grain products in carload lots from St. Louis, Mo., Minneapolis, Minn., Chicago and Peoria, Ill., and all points taking the same rates to Kansas City, Mo.

The commission also suspended schedules of increased rates on grain and grain products from Mississippi and Missouri river crossings and other producing points to points in Arkansas.

Try to "Queer" Dance.

Cherbourg, France, Nov. 22.—Young men who did not receive invitations to a dance given by the commander of the American destroyer Broome here tonight, banded together in an attempt to induce the young ladies of Cherbourg not to attend the affair. The girls objected and, guarded by their fathers and mothers, nearly 100 appeared at the party.

SOVIET PLANS GREAT ARMY

Would Clean Up "Irregular" Forces in the Armistice Zone.

Warsaw, Nov. 22.—Negotiations looking to a permanent peace between soviet Russia and Poland have been broken off by the former at Riga, where the delegations have been in conference.

Great soviet armies are being gathered to crush Gen. Balakovitch, commander of "irregular" forces which have been operating east of the armistice zone between Poland and Russia proper, and other Bolshevik legions are pursuing shattered Ukrainian armies which are fleeing from the region west and northwest of Kiev.

All along the southeastern frontier of Poland there is pouring in a perfect rabble of refugees, civilian and military, who are seeking safety before the advancing wave of Bolshevik armies.

Causes Much Concern.

This has caused concern here notwithstanding the official optimism over the break in the Riga peace conference. It is stated that the soviet government refused to go on with the peace negotiations because some Polish troops have not withdrawn to the line fixed in the preliminary treaty between the Bolsheviki and the Warsaw government.

It is stated the demands of the soviet delegation will be met, and that the pourparlers will be resumed almost at once.

Commissioners sent into Lithuania by the council of the League of Nations have been held up by damaged bridges, and apparently have been able to do little toward reaching an adjustment between the Lithuanian government at Kovno and "the central Lithuanian republic," established at Vilna by Gen. Zeligouski.

STEAMER SHEADLE HITS ROCK; SINKS IN PRESQUE ISLE BAY

Word was received here today that the steamer J. H. Sheadle of the Cleveland-Cliffs company is on the bottom of Presque Isle bay, close to Marquette harbor. The only word received was by the Tomlinson company, and it gave the information that the steamer backed into a rock, evidently while turning yesterday, stove a hole in her stern and settled in twenty-one feet of water.

No lives were lost and the hull is well protected from heavy weather. A marine surveying company has been sent for to arrange for raising the steamer.

GIVEN $10,200 FOR ALIMONY

Mrs. Ray Culver Simon Granted Divorce and Custody of Daughter.

District Judge C. C. Haupt of St. Paul, who is holding court in Duluth, this morning granted alimony of $10,200 per annum to Mrs. Ray Culver Simon of this city after he granted her a divorce from Johann H. Simon on the grounds of desertion. The divorce action was not contested, and the alimony judgment had been consented to by Simon before the case came on for triad.

Simon, defendant in the case, is the American representative of the French grain firm of Louis Drefus & Co., and during the war he was with the French high commission and was in charge of all grain importations to France. Mrs. Simon was formerly Miss Ray Culver of Duluth and is the daughter of Duluth's first mayor, the late Joshua B. Culver.

The Simons were married in this city on April 7, 1910, and are parents of one daughter, aged 3, the custody of whom was awarded to Mrs. Simon. The law firm of Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell of this city represented Mrs. Simon at the hearing of her case before Judge Haupt this morning.

MANY RESIGNATIONS IN ARMY TANK CORPS

Washington, Nov. 22.—The army tank corps has suffered from many resignations and few re-enlistments because soldiers trained in this arm of the service find it easy to obtain lucrative employment in civil life, says the annual report of Brig.-Gen. S. D. Rockenbach, chief of the corps, made public today.

The corps returned from France in July, 1919, with a greatly depleted personnel, but in the past fiscal year a net gain of twenty officers and 1,546 enlisted men was made, the report says, leaving however, a considerable shortage still to be made up.

Although the corps possessed more than 800 tanks when it left France, all were in poor repair and none ready for battle, Gen. Rockenbach states. Considerable progress has since been made in repairing damaged material, and in designing and manufacturing new machines, the report added.

Technical recommendations included the stationing of the chief of the corps in the office of the chief of infantry in the war department rather than at Camp Meade, Md., as now located, and the production of a durable and fast cross country tank, without which, the report asserts, "no army can count on a swift advance in the theater of operations."

Demobilization Details.

Final details of the demobilization of America's war-time armies are given by Adjt.-Gen. Harris in his annual report to Secretary Baker, made public yesterday. The adjutant-general points out that in the year ending Nov. 15, 1919, a total of 3,422,233 officers and men were returned to civilian life.

Gen. Harris' report shows that at the end of the last fiscal year or on last June 30, the strength of the army was 15,451 officers and 184,848 enlisted men. At the close of the preceding fiscal year, or on June 30, 1919, the army was composed of 77,966 officers and 758,879 men.

MURDEROUS DISORDERS AT CITY OF DUBLIN

Trouble Begins With Deliberate Shooting at Football Game.

Sending of More Troops to Ireland Considered By War Office.

London, Nov. 22.—A violent scene occurred in the house of commons this afternoon during the period of questions regarding the situation in Ireland. Joseph Devlin, Nationalist, and a Unionist member came to blows. The sitting was suspended.

London, Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—The sending of additional troops to Ireland is being seriously considered, it was stated at the war office this afternoon.

London was waiting anxiously today for further news from Dublin following the reports of yesterday's horrors, but up to early afternoon only meager dispatches had been received.

Reports to the Irish office from Dublin at noon said three or four unidentified persons had been killed in that city late last night. Several policemen had been killed in other parts of Ireland, the Irish office announced.

A brief telephone message at 8 o'clock this morning had reported the city at least temporarily quiet. Then came a gap in the reports, up to the noon hour, but whether this indicated a censorship was not known.

Shooting Going On.

Meager reports during the night stated that shooting was going on as a sequel to yesterday's assassinations and the subsequent clash between the military and a crowd at Croke park.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, the chief secretary for Ireland, was in conference this morning with members of the cabinet in preparation for the expected bringing up in parliament today of yesterday's Irish happenings. Nationalist members, it was understood, were prepared to move an adjournment of the house in order to secure an opportunity for full debate on the situation.

A dispatch to the Press association from Dublin early this afternoon placed the number of dead resulting from the Croke park shooting at twelve.

WOULD CHANGE SELLING PLAN

Under Present Method Surplus Goods Sold Back to Government.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Immediate revision of the present method of disposing of surplus government stores to prevent speculators from buying Federal property from one department and reselling to another branch of the government at a higher figure is recommended in the annual report to Maj.-Gen. J. L. Chamberlain, inspector general of the army, to the secretary of war, made public today. A recent investigation disclosed that one department of the government sold surplus cement for $1 per ton to a civilian who immediately resold the same cement to a branch of the war department for $6 a ton, the report states.

Gen. Chamberlain said that while hazing at West Point has not yet been entirely eliminated, considerable progress has been made to that end.

Prompt measures to check abuse of the army uniform are recommended, the report declaring that "civilian authorities have not always co-operated to stop such abuse."

Other Recommendations.

Other recommendations of the inspector general include:

More care with regard to promises made recruits, particularly with regard to the army's educational courses, in order that all pre-enlistment promises may be fully complied with.

Abandonment of civilian instructors at army schools.

Renewal of the clothing allowance system for enlisted men, a change in the type of collar on the service coat and more care in seeing that each recruit has one new, well-fitting uniform.

Revision of the post exchange system.

Consolidation of air service units so far as possible and replacement of civilian employes in this branch with enlisted personnel.

Suitable Headgear.

Adoption of suitable headgear for service in the tropics.

Revision of the property accountability system.

A favorable progress is being made in building up army morale after the depression incident to demobilization of the emergency forces, the report says, and discipline has greatly improved due to eradication of unsatisfactory conditions.

A clean bill of health is given the forces in Germany by the inspector general with the exception of proficiency at target practice due, he says, to the large percentage of new men and lack of experienced officers to supervise their training.

Conditions in the army transport service in the Pacific are described as "satisfactory," but in the Atlantic the service is "far from satisfactory," the report says, recommendation being made that legislation be secured to provide adequate commissioned and enlisted personnel for army transport.

DISTRICTS TO SHARE ALIKE

Lighting Appropriations to Be Equally Distributed By City.

All sections of the city are to share alike in the lighting appropriation for next year, according to P. G. Phillips, commissioner of public utilities. Virtually all the business sections of the city will come in for their share of lighting improvements and those who need the light most will be the first served.

The question of giving West Duluth a "white way" has been decided, but whether it will be on Central or on Grand avenue, has not been decided. Last summer the Duluth Edison Electric company was asked for an estimate on what the work would cost. These figures were furnished, but according to W. S. Heald, nothing further has been heard from them. The company stands ready to furnish the equipment as soon as the city is ready. It is estimated by Commissioner Phillips that the new lights in this section of the city will cost about $2,000.

East Superior street from the business section as far as the funds will permit, will be lighted also. The downtown section is well lighted now, but little has been done from Third avenue to Tenth avenues east. Other isolated spots in the central section of the city will also be given attention in the spring program. These require but a few lights here and there and can easily be put in, said Commissioner Phillips.

PRAYERS FOR RELIEF OF IRISH SUFFERERS

Relief for the suffering people of Ireland was asked in prayers uttered in the thirteen Catholic parishes yesterday in response to a letter sent out to all priests by Bishop John T. McNicholas. The letter described the alleged atrocities committed within the last few weeks, particularly, called attention to the daily prayers by the people from Nov. 6 to Nov. 16, and contained a lengthy appeal for sympathy and aid from Americans. Bishop McNicholas also requested that for an indefinite period special prayers be said at the end of every service.

A Bad Cold

Relieved Quickly With MENTHO-LAXENE

You Buy It Concentrated and Mix Pint of Syrup.

Doubtless every reader recalls having neglected a slight cold until in 24 hours it settled into a "Bad Cold," and then about 72 hours of distress, discomfort, if not weeks of bronchitis or pneumonia or catarrh. Now, confess, if you've had such an experience, and take time by the forelock by preparing to check and abort colds, coughs, catarrh, difficult breathing, watering eyes and painful headaches.

It can be done by taking Mentho-Laxene in its raw form—ten drops to the dose—or by making a granulated sugar syrup and mixing in a pint bottle or jar. A pint will last a whole family for a long time and keeps every member free from the distressing aftereffects of a bad cold. Mentho-Laxene is guaranteed to please or money back. The Blackburn Products Co., Dayton, Ohio, and any well stocked druggist can supply you. Don't take a substitute. There is really nothing to compare with Mentho-Laxene. 4,000 barrels used last year. BIG FUTURE FOR DULUTH

Governor Burnquist More Interested in Development Than Politics.

Admitting that Jan. 1 and his retirement from office will feel like entering upon a much needed vacation, Governor J. A. O. Burnquist, who is in the city today in behalf of the Carleton college fund, refused to talk politics, except to say that he feels mighty good over the election of State Auditor Preus to succeed to the governorsnip.

"When Jan. 1 comes," said the governor, "and I turn the office over to Mr. Preus, I don't think that I will deliver a farewell message to the legislature as many outgoing governors do, but I think I will leave it up to my successor, who will have his own ideas to present, and he is fully conversant with the affairs of the state. My only plans for the future, so far as I know at this time, are that I will resume the practice of law in St. Paul."

Governor Burnquist is a deep waterway enthusiast. He believes that Duluth and the Northwest, behind the movement, will win out, and that it portends wonderful development for the entire Northwest, but for Duluth is particular.

"It is an immense thing—greater than the average person realizes," said he. "It will mean not only the opening of the world's markets to this part of the country, but will mean that Duluth will become one of the greatest distributing centers of the continent, and if Pittsburgh Plus is wiped out or fittingly modified, the two will mean a great manufacturing center here. I am more interested in these things than I am in politics right now, and I look for our dreams to be realized before very long."

DOLLIE BEATS IT TO ESCAPE PROBATION MAN; DONS BOYS' CLOTHES

Dollie Ekenberg, 15 and incorrigible, discarded her skirts and donned khaki breeches, a woolen sweater and hiking boots when she ran away from Tower, her home town, on Nov. 4, to escape the prospect of being haled before the juvenile court.

But Dollie's father, John Ekenberg, proprietor of the Tower bakery at Tower, has now reported to the authorities that Dollie cannot be found. She has disappeared completely from sight and all efforts to locate her have failed. He has appealed to the authorities of Duluth and the range towns to help him locate his daughter.

Dollie's conduct during the past summer brought her to the attention of John G. Ross, executive agent for the St. Louis County Humane society, and David Pingree, probation officer of the juvenile court at Virginia. Mr. Ross paid the family a visit at Tower and straightened things out for a while, but later on she rebelled against the idea of being on her good behavior.

On Nov. 4, Probation Officer Pingree visited Dollie and her mother at their home. At that time she was given to understand that she would probably be brought before the juvenile court at Virginia. She then invented a clever ruse to enable her to make a get-away. This was effected when she accused her mother of mistreating her and said that she could prove it by the people living upstairs.

Her mother protested and immediately asked the probation officer to go upstairs and find out for himself what they knew about this charge. Left alone, Dollie improved her time by escaping unobserved from the house. She went directly to the house of a girl chum where she exchanged her clothes for a pair of khaki breeches, a woolen sweater and boots. She left town the same afternoon and has not been seen since.

Lavalle and William Kingsley, chauffeur, were arrested Sept. 5, by Federal agents, in an automobile twelve miles south of St. Cloud. Agents alleged they found the whisky in the automobile. Lavalle and Kingsley were both indicted. The indictment against Kingsley was nolled today when Lavalle declared that Kingsley was not implicated.

MAKING PLANS FOR SALE OF CHRISTMAS SEALS

Plans are being outlined and the committees appointed for the campaign of Christmas seals in Duluth which is to open here Dec. 1. The money raised from the sale is used to combat the spread of tuberculosis. A meeting was held at the Duluth Commercial club today noon at which questions of organization were taken up and the different classes of work apportioned. Publicity and sales organizations were completed and the committees will be ready to launch the campaign the first of next week, it was announced.

According to the plans these will include a corps of speakers, movie slides in the different theaters, billboard advertising and posters. The assistance of teachers and high school students will be obtained and civic organizations asked to assist. The preliminary work will be handled from the office of Miss J. Brotherton in the courthouse. Dr. A. L. McDonald is the director of the campaign.

The committee will hold another meeting at the Commercial club Friday noon.

DAILY BULLETINS WILL BE ISSUED BY DULUTH POLICE

Daily bulletins on all matters of police work of interest to members of the force will be issued beginning tomorrow, according to statement made by Chief of Police Warren E. Pugh. Copies of these bulletins will be given each officer.

"The bulletins will contain orders and other information that the patrolmen and officers should have," said Chief Pugh. "They will also contain descriptions of men or women wanted by the police, descriptions of articles stolen, and any other matters necessary for the capable officer to be on the lookout for."

DIRECTORS OF HIGHWAY HERE

The annual meeting of the board of directors of the Theodore Roosevelt International Highway association is being held at the Duluth Commercial club today. The highway runs from Portland, Or., to Portland, Me. Representatives from Vermont, New York, Montana, North Dakota, Superior and Minnesota arrived in Duluth last evening and today to check up on the work accomplished last year and to outline an extensive program for the coming year.

The morning session was confined chiefly to the reading of reports of different state organizations, what has been done about the improving of the highway in different sections of the state and what has been accomplished towards having the entire route marked. Summing up the reports of this work, Secretary I. W. Lee announced that virtually the entire route with the exception of a few short stretches, had been marked before the touring season closed. The entire route from Portland, Me., to the western boundary of Montana, has been laid out, improvements made and the state organizations put on a working basis, it was announced.

Campaign for Future Work.

The plans for the future include an intensive campaign of publicity and executive work that will place the T. R. I. highway on a standard with the other national highways. Executive officers and a staff with headquarters at Duluth will be established from which a great deal of national advertising will be sent out. The greater work this year will be towards improving the sections of the highway where needed and the opening of a route through the Glacier National park.

Considerable improvement in the different states was reported and attention was called to the improvement now being made in Minnesota.

Among those who are present at today's meeting are J. E. Fell, Ogdensburg, N. Y., who presided in the absence of E. J. Filiatrault, national president, who is ill; Max L. Powell, Burlington, Vt.; L. E. Jones, Glasgow, Mont.; H. F. Dooley, Williston, N. D.; H. M. Stanton, Grand Forks, N. D.; M. N. Koll, Cass Lake, Minn., and John Crowley, Superior, Wis.

Improvement in Various States.

The subject of improvement of the highway in the different states was discussed at the morning session and some idea of the importance of the T. R. I. highway as one of the main highways leading into Duluth was gathered from a report of forest rangers made recently regarding the tourist travel though the Minnesota National Forest last year when the road for the greater part of the year was almost impassable. With the improvement of the stretch between Cass Lake and Bena, which was in a deplorable state, the last bad section will have been eliminated and will open to Duluth and the Head of the Lakes a new host of tourist travel.

Improvement Contract Let.

The contract for the improvement of this section was let last summer on a bid of $165,000 and the work is going forward this season. It is the intention to place the importance of the improvement before congress in an effort to obtain a further appropriation of $146,000 to complete the improvement between Bena and Ball Club. With this accomplished, there will be a well improved highway from Grand Rapids to Cass Lake. At the present time the road is in excellent condition between Grand Rapids and Ball Club, but very sandy over the present route which now runs from Ball Club to Winnibigosish Dam and then to Bena. The new route will eliminate this sandy route and shorten the course between the two points at least eight miles.

The Cass Lake Times has the following to say of the tourist travel through the Minnesota National park during the last summer:

"Rangers in the Minnesota national forest have kept partial tab on the number of auto tourists camped in the forest last summer and have counted 10,460 automobiles, containing 37,580 tourists and days spent in the forests have been totaled at 63,260 or about two days per tourist. These figures have been made when the roads were nearly impassable. What will it be when the Bena-Cass Lake highway is completed? These figures give you a faint idea. Camping and touring is the big item with tourists and Cass Lake will be getting her full share of tourists, if only governmental tape is reeled up fast enough to keep the roads in shape."

Greek Plebiscite Delayed.

CONFER ON CAR SERVICE

Manager Warren Will Meet City Council Next Friday.

Whether or not the city can compel the Duluth Street Railway company to furnish better service on its lines with the present rate of fare charged will be the question that will be decided at the special meeting of the council Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when Herbert Warren, general manager of the street railway company, will be present to offer the company's side of the question.

The proposed conference came about through complaints filed with the city council last Monday and requests that busses be allowed to run without a license to accommodate the school children, as street car service was inadequate. The question was introduced at that time by Commissioner W. F. Murnian.

The complaints cited the East end and the West Duluth lines, where morning and evening cars carried as many as 134 passengers on a trip, passing up many who could not find room on the cars, and causing many school children to be late to school. This was particularly the case, it was declared, on the East end lines, where a large number of high school students took the early morning cars at the same time as others were going to work.

The conference was originally set for last week, but through the absence of Mr. Warren, it was postponed until next Friday. Whether President A. M. Robertson will be present, depends on whether he returns from a trip East in time, it was announced.

Company Statement Ready.

A net decrease of $185,889 as compared with 1917 was shown by the Duluth-Superior Traction company in its statement of earnings for the ten months ended Oct. 31 last. The gross income during that period increased $282,658.71, but the heavier operating expenses turned the gain into a large decrease.

For October the system showed a net operating revenue of $23,001.76, which was insufficient to cover fixed charges by $2,385.36. It has been intimated that these figures will be presented by Herbert Warren, general manager of the company, when he meets the city council next Friday to consider suggested betterment in the car service.

Comparative figures of earnings for 1920 and 1917, as prepared by the company, are as follows:

October.	1920.	1917.
Gross revenue	$157,078.10	$140,986.31
Operating expenses	134,076.34	93,988.33
Net revenue	23,001.76	46,997.98
Interest, sinking fund and taxes	25,387.12	30,489.45
Net income, deficit of	2,385.36	16,508.53
Year.	1920.	1917
Gross revenue	$1,620,745.94	$1,338,087.23
Operating expenses	1,310,727.31	849,881.04
Net revenue	310,018.63	488,206.19

U. S. WOULD DETERMINE RIGHTS OF POWERS IN MANDATE TERRITORIES

Washington, Nov. 22.—Through dispatch of another note to Great Britain, the state department has taken another step in its effort to develop a clear definition of the rights of all powers in mandate territories. The fact that the note had gone forward became known yesterday, but officials refused to discuss its contents.

The new note is one of a series which had its origin in reports that the British and French governments at the San Remo conference last spring negotiated an agreement by which the oil rights in the British mandate territory of Mesopotamia were to be divided between the two countries. The United States is understood to have taken the position from the first that all the powers should possess equal rights in the exploitation of mandate countries.

"BALSAM WOOL" WILL BE MADE FROM BARK

Cloquet, Minn., Nov. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Manufacture of what it terms "balsam wool" from balsam and spruce bark, heretofore a wasted by-product at the local plant of the Northwestern Paper company, promises to add a new industry to Cloquet. Successful experiments have been carried on of manufacturing bark into a suitable insuliting product, and the process has been perfected to a point where manufacture on a commercial scale will be started. The company plans on the immediate erection of a temporary frame building just south of the yard tracks and eighty feet distant and parallel to the finishing room of the main paper mill. This building will be 36 by 150 feet in size and machinery will be installed for the turning out of 10,000 square feet of insuliting felt, and employing about twenty-five men.

"Balsam wool" manufacture will be carried on in a temporary building until a thorough tryout of the machinery under commercial conditions is made, after which it is probable that a large permanent structure will be erected to house this department.

Permanent Work at Dam.

Considerable permanent reconstruction work has been under way at the paper mill for some time. The concrete work on the dam at the flumes is nearing completion, and a permanent concrete breakwater is now being put in at the end of the grinder room. Much of the original work in the dam was put in in 1898, and was of rock and crib construction, which was considered a satisfactory plan of construction in those days, but the new work of concrete is the modern way and will be as enduring as the solid rock on which it stands.

The dam is being further strengthened and protected by the construction of apron work on the lower side, this built of crib and rock, which will protect the dam foundation from undercutting in time of high water.

QUEBEC HAS $500,000 FIRE; NINE LIVES LOST IN PADOUE VILLAGE

Quebec, Nov. 22.—Damage estimated at more than $500,000 was caused yesterday by fire which destroyed the stores of F. W. Woolworth & Co. and Mereeau & Co., in St. Joseph street. The cause of the fire is not known.

The flames reached a celluloid goods storage, causing a violent explosion and spread to the Pauquet Clothing company establishment adjoining. Eight firemen were seriously injured.

Two women and seven children were burned to death in the village of Padoue last night when the explosion of a tank of gasoline set fire to their home. The cause of the explosion is not known.

Composer Dies in Poverty.

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 22.—William John Robjohn, musician and composer, known internationally as Caryl Florio, died yesterday in comparative poverty, in a sanatorium at Morganton, N. C. He was born in Tavistock, Devonshire, England, Nov. 2, 1843.

FORMER RESIDENT OF CLOQUET IS CALLED

Cloquet, Minn., Nov. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Old residents have just heard with regret of the recent death and burial in Spokane, Wash., of William A. Wright, Sr., native of Illinois, aged 87, who came here many years ago and worked as superintendent of the yards and shipping department of the C. A. Nelson Lumber company, leaving in 1896 for the West.

His wife died while the family resided in Cloquet and she is buried here. The surviving children are: William A., Jr., of British Columbia; Charles of Elk, Wash.; Edward of Portland, Or.; Frank C. of Spokane, Wash., and Mrs. Louise Nelson of Ellensburg, Wash.

BRAINERD LOSES CASE INVOLVING MAN'S DEATH

Brainerd, Minn., Nov. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Unless a new trial is granted or the supreme court reverses judgment, this city will have to pay Catherine Undraitis $5,000 for the death of Joseph Undraitis who was killed when he touched a live guy wire, as a jury rendered a verdict for the plaintiff as administratrix in this amount in the case tried before Judge McClenahan.

Cary Mine to Close.

Ironwood, Mich., Nov. 22.—The Odanah Iron company contemplates closing shaft No. 1 of the company's operations at Cary some time between now and Dec. 1, according to L. M. Hardenburg, general superintendent. The closing will be due to general business conditions and the fact that the company has not room in which to stock pile its ore. Between seventy and eighty men are employed at shaft No. 1.

Look Out for Rheumatism As Winter Approaches

If you have had the disease for any length of time, you have doubtless resorted to the misleading treatment of liniments and lotions, in an effort to get relief from its torturing pains. But you want more than mere temporary relief. You want to be freed from the shackles of a disease that will bind you hand and foot.

So many cases of rheumatism come from a tiny disease germ that infests the blood, that physicians are beginning to realize that this source of the disease is becoming quite prevalent. Of course a disease that has its source in the blood cannot be reached by local remedies applied to the surface.

One remedy that has given splendid results in the treatment of rheumatism is S. S. S., the fine old blood remedy that has been sold by druggists for more than fifty years. S. S. S. acts by driving out of the blood the disease germ that causes rheumatism, thus affording real relief.

Begin taking S. S. S. today and if you will write a complete history of your case, our medical director will give you expert advice, without charge. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 825 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia.

GOPHER LAWS HELD MODELS

North Star State's Progressive Legislation Is Attracting Attention.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 22.—Minnesota, according to officials of the various state departments, ranks among the first states of the union in having progressive legislation and laws which are administered to the very best advantage.

This is made evident by the overwhelming number of inquiries received by the various state departments from other states, relative to the administration of the laws of the respective commissions and division, the officials declare.

"Hardly a day passes but that numerous inquiries are received from different states, asking how certain laws are administered by Minnesota officials," department heads said.

The states making inquiries specifically state that they hope to model laws similar to the Minnesota statutes, and wish to make a thorough study of the administrative forces of Minnesota.

Eastern States Make Inquiries.

N. J. Holmberg, commissioner of agriculture, reports that Eastern states are in constant communication with his department relative to the handling of agricultural problems of Minnesota, and comment on the working success of the Minnesota laws. Hugh J. Hughes, marketing director of that department, also announces that requests for the Minnesota plan of marketing are being received constantly from Eastern and Western states, who are endeavoring to formulate laws on similar lines.

Officials of the Minnesota state securities commission report that many states are contemplating enacting laws covering the same scope of activity as the Minnesota department, and are seeking advice as to the working and administrative powers of the same.

The board of education is being asked regarding their proposed legislation and considerable interest is taken by the various educators of the country in the part-time compulsory education law, as proposed by the members of the state board of education.

O. M. Sullivan, director of re-education and rehabilitation, department of education, is a constant recipient of requests for working suggestions as to how the Minnesota law is administered.

States Have Forestry Problems.

The forestry problem seems to give numerous states considerable difficulty, according to the number of requests of "help" received by W. T. Cox, state forester.

Officials of the various state departments say it is difficult to tabulate the number of inquiries received from the different states, but that the number, if tabulated, would reach large proportions. Other departments receiving requests are:

State oil inspection department, state hotel inspector, boiler inspection department, board of control, banking department, children's department, board of control and the state labor and industries department.

URGES FARMER NOT TO SHOW WEAKNESS

Madison, Wis., Nov. 22.—This is no time for the farmer to quit and lie down on the job, even though the present conditions are hard for him to bear, Dean L. Russell of the college of agriculture declared in speaking to a meeting of the county agents here. Within a short period the retailer will be feeling the same pinch, he said.

It is no time for the farmer to lose confidence in the government as it exists, the speaker declared. Agitators were denounced for trying to influence the farmer to have his belief in the present system shaken.

Produce should not be dumped on the market at this time, Dean Russell stated. Dumping would only serve to cause further price reduction and greater distress for the farmer, the speaker said. Farmers were urged to store their products and organize so that their crops might be fed to the market as the demand warranted.

No Time for Expansion.

The present is no time for undue expansion, Dean Russell declared. He said that building was probably safe but should be avoided. He explained that no one buys on a falling market such as characterizes the present situation.

It is no time for the farmer to follow the majority, it was said. While for the leader, for the man who dares to do, there was declared to be a great opportunity.

Farmers were urged to buy cautiously, by the dean. He also urged as a necessity a reduction in the cost of production by the application of scientific methods. Elimination of unnecessary middlemen between the producer and the consumer was spoken of as desirable.

ASKS CHANCE TO PROVE CHARGE MADE AGAINST HIM FALSE

Washington, Nov. 22.—Requests for permission to appear before the house committee investigating shipping board operations "to make a full and complete answer" to the charges of bribery made against him, was sent to Chairman Walsh of the committee last night by R. W. Bolling, treasurer of the shipping board and brother-in-law of President Wilson.

Bolling in his telegram reiterated that the bribery charges made in testimony before the Walsh committee Saturday by Tucker K. Sands of Washington, were "unqualifiedly false and without the slightest foundation of fact."

"My every transaction with Sands before his indictment and while he was vice president of the Commercial National bank (in Washington) whose affairs he has been charged with unlawfully manipulating," said Bolling's telegram, "was open and honorable in every way and in no way connected with any branch of the government of the United States. The statements made by Sands before your committee are the attempts of an embittered man to destroy my reputation and standing in the community because I refused to use my personal relationship with the president of the United States to save him from an indictment.

"My every transaction with Mr. Sands was honorable and legitimate in every way and only a dishonest man would seek to twist and distort its purpose.

"In justice to myself I therefore most respectfully, ask your committee to make full and thorough inquiry into those charges and to give me the earliest opportunity to make full and complete answer to these base and malicious inuendoes."

TO DISCOURAGE THE COMMERCIAL CROOK

New York, Nov. 22.—Announcement of the perfection of a country-wide organization designed to discourage the operations of the commercial crook, was made last night by J. H. Tregoe, secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Credit Men, which has 33,000 members located in 130 cities throughout the United States. Members of the organization in the West will now have the same measure of protection from professional swindlers that has been enjoyed by members east of the Rockies.

C. D. West, manager of the investigation and prosecution department, National Association of Credit Men, has returned from a trip to the Pacific coast, where he established local representatives of his department in Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Salt Lake City and Portland. Mr. West stated that the arrangements he has just completed link up every section of the country and will tend to make any location a poor stamping ground for those who try to get goods on credit for which they never intend to pay.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING TERRITORY ANNOUNCED

Shorty drops in on New York!

New York.
Wednesday

Here we are, Pete!

Camped once more in the plumb centre of our old stamping grounds—rubbing elbows with the roaring racket and running flush into more electric displays, blazing posters and smashing signs that sound the joys of Camel cigarettes than you'd ever believe could be jammed into one town! When I hit Broadway this p.m. I figured "Camel City" had been transplanted right up here!

It seems like all New Yorkers have adopted Camels as their own personal brand! And, Pete, since this is the original speed town, its only what you expect when you see 'em carry a package of Camels in each coat pocket! If their right hand is busy they dig out their left hand deck—they just won't lose time getting a Camel lighted! That's the gait, old thorobred!

And, Peter, the New Yorker has his own A-1 pet reason why he's so keen for Camels! For instance, Doc Marshall will bet his car on Camels for quality against any cigarette in the world! Bill James says to me: "Shorty, there never was mild, mellow body like Camels!" And, as for Dan Boggs—he spills it that Camels are the only cigarette free from any unpleasant cigaretty aftertaste or cigaretty odor! Frank Frazer will tell you it's Camels wonderful Turkish & Domestic blend! And, ALL of them are right!

And, Pete, old proof-of-the-pudding—you tell 'em that Missouri hasn't anything on little old New York when it comes to that "Show me" stuff on cigarettes—or anything else!

Sincerely
Shorty.

Thanksgiving, Christmas and Furs

First—The Thanksgiving Fur Selling at The Glass Block

Fur thoughs may be of our own furs or of those owned by others. But it is a great deal more pleasant to think of our own.

For in the realm of outdoor apparel, furs mean mastery. From capes which hang gracefully to the skirt, hugging the shoulders beneath huge collars—from coats of the prevailing lengths, fashioned of perfectly matched skins—from Neckpieces which are warm bits of exquisite fluffiness, there radiates a charm utterly unknown to other members of the wardrobe family.

That's why this Thanksgiving Sale hits the spot. It starts with something thoughtful women want.

PROBLEM IN WISCONSIN

Legislature Will Face Increased Demands and Falling Revenues.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 22.—The problem of taxation, made acute by demands for increased appropriations from almost every department of the state government, and from state institutions, will be the storm center of greatest intensity in the coming legislature, according to opinions expressed by officials on every hand here.

Proposed budgets are for outstripping those of previous bienniums. The request of the university for over $15,000,000, and of the normal schools for $5,000,000, amounts that have not been approached previously for these institutions, reflect the general tendency toward increased demands, B. A. Kiekhofer, secretary of the board of public affairs, said.

Based on Falling Markets.

These budgets are to be based on a falling market according to present indications. The opinion is general that the legislature will slash deeply into building plans and requests for salary increases, while it will move cautiously in granting any great increase over appropriations of the past biennium. This situation will result, it is said, because of the feeling that a general decline of prices and a tightening of industry will soon bring conditions, in a measure, back to normal.

Marked falling off in state income is likely to run along with the increasing demands for money, according to Nils P. Haugen, chairman of the tax commission. Business has shown a very noticeable decline during the latter half of this year which will result in a smaller return from income taxes. Railroads are depreciating in value and will as a consequence pay lower taxes. Property in general is likely to fall in its assessed value, it was said.

Battle in Legislature.

The legislature is to be the buffer of two opposing forces, it is pointed out. The lawmakers will be asked to meet greatly increased expenses from a rapidly declining revenue. Proposals which are to develop from this situation will form one of the battle grounds of the session, officials generally agree.

Governor Blaine, in his platform, has declared that "taxation should be levied in proportion to the ability to pay." He will recommend, according to his platform, that exemption from income taxes be raised in proportion to the cost of living and that a heavier levy be made upon these higher incomes. The present exemption is $800 for unmarried men and $1,200 for married. He further proposes the abolition of the personal property tax offset, which permits income from personal property to be deducted from the income tax, according to the platform.

Surtax on Incomes.

The Severson bill, introduced by Senator Herman J. Severson of Iola, in the special session last June, which was defeated, provided for a surtax on large incomes. While this proposal is not in the Blaine, Hall, Comings platform, a close follower of the governor says that he approves of it.

The state tax commission in its recommendations to the legislature will not propose a higher exemption limit, Mr. Haugen said.

Any radical suggestions for a change of method for taxation are likely to be defeated in the senate, according to Lawrence O. Whittet, executive secretary to the governor, who says that the upper body is composed largely of members of the conservative wing of the Republican party. Mr Whittet was speaker of the assembly during the 1917 session.

General Property Tax.

A direct general property tax is suggested by both Mr Haugen of the tax commission and Mr. Kickhofer of the board of public affairs, as a possible method of meeting the problem. There has been no general property tax for state purposes during the six-year administration of Governor Philipp.

All of the proposals will fall on an untried legislature for final determination. It is an unusual situation because of the large number of new members, Mr. Whittet said. Sixty members serving for the first time, will be called on to deal with the complicated problems that will likely arise.

Old members will be back to head most of the committees, it was said, and to direct the movement of business. While it is not possible to say what the temper of the law-making body will be, the opinion is expressed that they will proceed cautiously in money matters because of the present unsettled conditions. It is also declared that a sharp conflict will develop over the proposed budgets and means of financing them.

BIG BROTHER BANQUET BY ROTARY AT BOYS' "Y"

With 103 youngsters as their guests at a big turkey dinner at 6:30 tomorrow night at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., Rotary club members will inaugurate their "big brother" movement for the year. Each member has had either one or two boys assigned to him. He will be held responsible for "following up" his cases throughout the year. Most of the boys come from homes where there are no men in the household to give them advice.

An elaborate program of athletics and entertainment was planned at a meeting of the committee in charge today. Miss Elizabeth Richardson will sing. J. A. Smith is chairman of the committee.

BOHEMIANS ARE ANGERED

Object to Police Report That Greenwich Has Been Reformed.

New York, Nov. 22—Greenwich village has been reformed. Richard E. Enright, police commissioner of New York city, is authority for this statement. Indeed, in his annual report to the mayor which has just been made public, he devotes considerable space to New York's Bohemian quarter, famous in play and novel the country over.

Long-haired men and short-haired women who take their temperament seriously received the report on their district with something akin to anger. Proprietors of coffee houses and gift shops in which "atmosphere" is the chief stock in trade displayed mixed feelings, however.

"Every knock a boost—and rattling publicity," was the way they greeted word that their village had been "purified."

What Report Said.

This was the section of Commissioner Enright's report that stirred occupants of attics and basements with shrines to the gods of literature and painting.

"For a year or two prior to Jan. 1, 1918, there had grown up in Greenwich village a series of Bohemian restaurants which had attracted to it a host of sightseers and morbid minded persons with a jaded appetite for sensation. Among those who came were many of the degenerate type of both sexes, who participated in the absurd diversions offered at these places at high prices and danced to jazz music with all of the ridiculous and sometimes suggestive and disgusting conduct which is characteristic of such resorts.

Barnum Was Right.

"A Chinese funeral or a Hopi Indian snake dance would be far more interesting and entertaining, but a certain foolish and degenerate appetite for the unusual or sensational, mostly recruited from outside New York, promoted by sightseeing car grafters and other parasites, kept these places alive and proved that Barnum was right regarding the mental capacity of some people.

"These conditions immediately received the attention of this department, with the result that several of them discontinued business, while those that remained are obliged to keep within the law. As they are no longer allowed to flout the law or to cater to the depraved tastes of their regular clientele, this section will soon become unattractive to the sightseer and will be restored to its previous status of respectable residential and business neighborhood."

ity of cancelling all contracts for public buildings, lest the "trust" had a hand in the bidding.

2. Robert P. Brindell, president of the New York building trades council, has been indicted by a grand jury on charges of extortion from one building contractor and of attempted extortion from another.

Perjury Charged.

3. One indictment, charging perjury, has been returned by the grand jury and threats of more criminal prosecutions are in the air.

4. Testimony already entered in the record of the joint legislative committee investigating the "trust" has given hints that combinations in restraint of trade, charged by committee counsel, may be nation-wide in scope.

5. Sensational disclosures have attracted the attention of the department of justice, which assigned a special official to watch developments, and the senate committee on production and reconstruction, which, with subpoena power, has itself studied the housing situation throughout the country.

Samuel Untermyer, who is conducting the investigation for the joint legislative committee, after claiming a year ago that he had "established a clear case of criminal conspiracy" in the building trades, is confident that the inquiry will soon assume wider scope. He has openly charged that "the most important of these criminal combinations and secret agreements in the building trades are nation-wide in their scope and cannot effectively be reached by local prosecution."

the loans made by it to other Federal reserve banks had been paid off, and upon the same assumption the Boston ratio would have been over 63 per cent. The New York ratio was the lowest at 38.3 per cent and the reserves at Atlanta, Chicago, Minneapolis and Kansas City were all close to or slightly under 40 per cent. If the liquidation accomplished since these figures were made does not so improve the banking position that a reduction in rates is ordered, it is not unlikely that congress will be asked to take a hand in shaping our financial policy, for there are many influential business men who feel keenly and will protest vigorously against the unnecessary hardship that has been caused by an effort to undo the inflation of four years in six months.

Its greatest injustice is that as a result of the precipitate decline in commodities it now takes nearly twice as much corn, wheat or cotton as it did a year ago to pay $1 of taxes and that those who hold our debt are getting their interest and some of their principal in money whose purchasing power is much greater than it was when they made the loan, while the producer, who is not a money lender suffers by the lower prices he is forced to accept.

Process Must Be Gradual.

Meantime those who are so confidently predicting continued deflation and lower prices will do well to remember that we have $24,000,000,000 Liberty bonds outstanding. They are in effect a paper currency circulating at a discount and until they are retired inflation will persist except as it may be from time to time restrained by the bludgeoning methods recently resorted to. Fourteen years elapsed between the end of our Civil war and the resumption of specie payment by the United States in 1879, and a much longer time will be required to absorb the losses and pay the bills of the World war. The process must be gradual and because I believe that it will hereafter be retarded by the force of public opinion I am inclined to expect a recovery from the depression through which we have just passed, with a possible boom as the capital recently disengaged finds employment in the security markets.

With the public seemingly avid for news of trouble the reports of short time in some industries and a complete shutdown in others have been given especial prominence, but except in the textile districts there has been no general cessation of manufacturing activity or any widespread reduction in wages.

Retailers who have made real and radical reductions in their asking prices report large sales. A Newark, N. J., department store that offered 10,000 pairs of good shoes at $3.95 a pair sold the lot in one day, and the police had to be called out to maintain order among the crowd that were attracted to a Brooklyn establishment that had advertised to sell a combination of two boys' suits or a suit and an overcoat for $16.

Cotton has made a new low record but the announcement that an Edge Bill bank with a minimum capital of $6,000,000 will be formed in the cotton states encourages the hope that some way to send our export surplus to continental Europe will soon be found. It must be admitted, however, that the cotton crop is turning out larger than expected and that the recent decline is in a measure due to this fact. Corn and wheat are also lower. The decline in the last named cereal is in part attributed to the offerings of Canadian wheat attracted by the premium on the American dollar in Canada.

Steel and iron are rather easier but no reduction in manufacturing activity is reported. Foreign exchange has recovered from the low prices of a week ago but the fluctuations are not significant.

Trade With Russia.

Aside from the meeting of the League of Nations at Geneva the most important news from abroad is the report that an agreement will shortly be concluded between Great Britain and soviet Russia in pursuance of which trade between the two countries may be resumed. A condition of this agreement is that the soviet government is to acknowledge its responsibility for imperial Russia's debts to private citizens of England and France. The total amount involved is the gold equivalent of about $2,000,000,000, which is to be liquidated over a number of years. The arrangement has the approval of English financers though it has been opposed by the political idealists as tending to strengthen the Bolshevik government. The proposed loan to Cuba has not yet been arranged for and the bankers of the island are urging an extension of the moratorium until the sugar crop shall be marketed in February. A terrible famine in China is threatened, affecting an area containing a population of 20,000,000 persons. A fund of $2,000,000 for the relief of the stricken section has been raised in Shanghai.

Immediate legislation to permit firms that have suffered heavy financial losses to postpone payment of the tax installment due Dec. 15 is urged by Daniel C. Roper, formerly commissioner of internal revenue. He is confident that such legislation can be had although the time seems short. As the date at which congress will convene approaches increased interest in the tax problem is apparent, but it is hardly to be hoped that definite action can be taken until after the fourth of March.

Bank clearings for the week as reported by Bradstreet's show a decrease of 12.1 per cent as compared with last year. The same authority puts the business failures for the week at 307, as compared with 211 last week and 110 in the same week last year. The commercial mortality that these figures connote is not surprising when the decline in prices is considered, but the easier money market now definitely indicated encourages the hope of rising barometer and more salubrious and invigorating weather soon.

the problem will not be on the White House doorstep after March 4.

Unquestionably there are some interests which are counseling the Mexicans to delay a settlement beyond March 4 because the interests really believe military intervention can best be brought about under a Republican administration. Our state department is aware of some of these subtle processes which are not at all friendly either to what is believed here to be the real desire of a man like President-elect Harding. On the trip to the Southern border the dispatches have conveyed the impression that Mr. Harding too wants an amicable settlement of disputes with Mexico.

Is Up to the Mexicans.

President Wilson's viewpoint throughout the last eight years has been that eventually the Mexicans would themselves straighten out their affairs, and that the chaos of revolution was not likely to be removed in a decade as witness the slow processes by which Russia is struggling for self possession. There is no doubt that the present occupant of the White House would like to round out his term with a Mexican problem on the road to settlement. Men who are planning new business enterprises and development are waiting moreover for the act of recognition. Nevertheless the department of state is firm in its determination that something better than promises must be forthcoming this time before recognition is extended. If the Mexicans are misled into thinking they can get easier terms with the next administration in Washington, especially when it probably will take a long time before the Harding administration will be ready to tackle Mexican matters on account of the press of other questions, then the disposition here is to let the Mexicans who advise such a course bear the consequences. The whole thing is up to the Mexicans. There are no insuperable obstacles.

people. The bronze of this plaque, taken from the banks of Lake Michigan, will be as enduring throughout ages as our friendship."

Half the city of Milwaukee, Mr. Fitch added, "was animated by German sympathy," but the delegation for the presentation had come to Strasbourg "to affirm that the other half was profoundly sympathetic to the Allies."

Referring to Mr. Fitch's description of part of Milwaukee having been pro-German, Marshal Foch said:

"But she took her part by bringing strong sentiment, and strong aid in materials and men to the Allies. The United States itself responded with generosity and gave all it had to aid France, which wrote to President Wilson:

"'We do not know when the war will end, but it is necessary perhaps, to prepare more divisions than you can furnish.'"

"But in 1918 President Wilson answered us:

"'You will have in June, 1918, 100 divisions, and if you wish more you shall have them.'"

Gave Without Counting Cost.

"The part of Milwaukee and America I cannot sum up in the brief time I have today, but I who have seen them will tell you that the Twenty-sixth and Thirty-second divisions fought to the limit in the Argonne. They gave without counting the cost, and in particular they took formidable positions at Montfaucon. And they led us victorious to the Meuse and from the Meuse to Sedan. That is why I ask you not to forget Milwaukee day.

"You bring evidence of the sentiment that unites Milwaukee and Strasbourg. When I recall the past, when I see the present, I do not doubt the future that awaits us. Just as union has been our strength and given us incontestable victory in the past, so the union of our peoples and the bonds of sentiment uniting in their glorious past, America and France, which are now one, will bring about the development and prosperity of our two nations."

Under-Secretary Reibel, on behalf of the French government, presented decorations to the Americans. Mr. Fitch was made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor. The insignia was conferred by Marshal Foch. Messrs. Karlow, O'Neil, Querey and Earling were made officers of public instruction; Messrs. Uhler, Firthjarnt, Hickok and Thompson were named officers of the academy and Dr. King, Miss Goodrich and Albert Blum were made chevaliers of the Legion of Honor.

PLAN TO END HOSTILITIES IN ARMENIA

put an end to the hostilities in Armenia.

Dr. Fridtjof Nansen of Norway estimated that 60,000 men would be a force sufficient to deal with the situation. He thought that if the assembly appealed to the whole world, the United States, although it had refused the mandate, would do its share.

Supports Proposition.

Delegate Jonescue of Roumania supported M. Viviani's proposition and also thought the United States might be counted upon for help.

The debate gave the impression of everyone thinking of a resort to intervention and yet not wishing to call it by that name. At the close of the debate, however, Lord Robert Cecil said he would favor armed intervention or any other practical plan of dealing with the situation.

M. Viviani proposed that a committee select one power which would accept the responsibility of taking up negotiations. He carried almost the entire assembly with him in his eloquent demand for immediate action.

Mr. Balfour wanted further light on the proposed negotiations. He asked what the French delegation proposed to offer the nationalist leaders, as it was quite necessary the British delegate said, to Musapha Kemel Pasha either money or territory. He thought it would be very difficult to organize an expedition of 60,000 or 80,000 men.

"Failure to take practical action here on this question," responded M. Viviani, "will be to demonstrate the default of the League of Nations."

To Hear Protest.

Geneva, Nov. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Germany's protest against the method of distributing mandates by the Allies among themselves has been distributed among the delegates to the assembly of the League of Nations. The text of this protest has been withheld from the press, but it seemed probable it would be brought before the assembly today, and would be referred to the committee on mandates without debate.

The Greek delegation has been reduced to one, as a result of the political upheaval in that country. Demetrius Caclamanos, Greek minister in London, and M. Rebedgy have withdrawn, leaving M. Politis, former minister of foreign affairs, as the sole representative of Greece.

The order of business today called for a discussion of resolutions introduced during the debate on the report of the council of the league. These comprised a demand for intervention by the league in Armenia. A number of delegates were prepared to demand that the league ask the powers to organize a sufficient force to prevent the wiping out of the Armenian nation and people.

MEMBERS OF COMMONS COME TO BLOWS ON IRISH QUESTION

through the streets of Dublin yesterday and at nightfall meager reports indicated that at least twenty-five persons had been killed and upwards of 100 more or less seriously wounded. The day's disorders began with the apparently deliberate shooting of fourteen men, who for the most part were military officers. During the afternoon, Irish constabulary, or "black and tans" raided Croke Park, where a football game was in progress, and in the melee at least ten persons were killed.

Communication with Ireland was seemingly interrupted last evening, but latest advices declared fires had broken out in that city. Shooting again began in the streets just before midnight and it was asserted a number of persons had been killed.

Creates Sensation.

Yesterday's murderous outbreak in Dublin produced in this city a sensation comparable to that which followed the Easter rebellion of 1916. Recent declarations by members of the British ministry to the effect that their policy was succeeding, that outrages were decreasing in number and that the authority of the law was being reestablished, had been hopefully welcomed by the general public. The people today recalled with astonishment such phrases as were uttered a fortnight ago by Premier Lloyd George, who said "unless I am mistaken, we have murder by the throat."

Military authorities in Dublin are said to hold the view that the murder of the fourteen army officers will prove the final outburst of a nearly broken conspiracy—the last desperate throw of the fugitives who are known to have flocked to Dublin to escape the severity of the measures employed in the provinces to suppress Sinn Feinism.

There is no lack, however, of scornful inferences, and the fact that these fugitives have been able to enjoy freedom from arrest since having arrived in Dublin, and could have become accurately acquainted with the residences and habits of their victims, who, it is stated, were securing evidence to be submitted before the court-martial which will try recently arrested Sinn Feiners, is regarded as furnishing significant ground for doubting the confidence supposedly held by officials. Today's newspapers condemn with severity the system followed in Ireland. Some demand stringent methods of repression and hint at the desirability of imposing martial law in Ireland.

Say Reprisals Must Stop.

Those journals which have adopted a strong stand against reprisals and hold the government largely responsible for these attacks by the uniformed forces, take occasion to renew their insistence that reprisals must be stopped. The London Times, for instance, while vehemently denouncing the murders of the officers, expresses belief that the strength of the Irish executive would be ten times greater in this emergency, but for an army perilously undisciplined and a police force avowedly beyond control, which have defiled by heinous acts England's reputation.

Ministers responsible for the administration in Ireland were to meet today to discuss the situation. Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, and Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary of state for war, who is responsible for the movements of the army in Ireland, were in constant telephonic communication with Dublin Sunday.

Applied for Protection.

The lord mayor of Dublin applied for police protection last evening, it was stated officially today. The viceroy gave permission for the guard being sent, but no regular military or police being available, a party of "black and tans" was sent to guard the lord mayor.

Official announcement was made this afternoon that the assassinations in Dublin yesterday totaled fourteen, while six persons, including Sinn Feiners, were injured during the attacks. Four prisoners were taken.

These figures do not include the casualties at Croke Park.

Because of the completeness with which the attack upon the officers was planned, says an official report, the troops and police in Dublin had made very few arrests of suspects in connection with yesterday's shootings.

Priest Murdered.

Galway, Nov. 22.—The body of Father Griffin, curate of Bushy Park, who was kidnaped by three unidentified persons last Sunday, was found Saturday in a shallow grave in a bog by the roadside near Darna, four miles from Galway. There was a bullet wound in his temple. The body was brought to Galway yesterday morning. Intense excitement prevails.

Residents in this bleak and sparsely inhabited part of the countryside tell of the mysterious arrival at midnight last Sunday, following the kidnaping of Father Griffin, of a lorry loaded with men. The lorry halted near the spot where the body was found and the lights were extinguished. In about twenty minutes the lamps were relighted and the party drove away.

When the body of Father Griffin was brought into Galway it was placed, uncoffined, on the high altar of the parish church. Huge crowds passed before the bier, while three priests knelt nearby, reciting the rosary. The first intimation the townsfolk had of the tragedy was an announcement made by the priests at the morning masses.

Head Constable Shot.

Newry, Ireland, Nov. 22.—Head Constable Kearney was shot and probably mortally wounded here last evening by unknown persons. Subsequently the house of Former Sergeant Curran to the constabularly, was fired.

RAILROADS ASK AN INJUNCTION

Would Restrain North Dakota From Collecting Privilege Tax.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 22.—Five railroads operating in North Dakota, which began a suit in equity against the taxing officials of North Dakota, restraining them from collecting a privilege tax on the capital stock of the railroad companies amounting to $109,402.61 here today, asked the United States district court of North Dakota for an interlocutory injunction.

Judge Walter H. Sanborn, presiding circuit judge, Judge Wilbur F. Booth, Minneapolis, and Judge Joseph Woodrough of Nebraska are sitting in the case. Judge Woodrough granted a temporary restraining order last Wednesday and the interlocutory injunction from three judges is the next step in the proceedings.

The plaintiff railroad companies are: The Northern Pacific, Great Northern, St. Paul road, Soo Line and the Montana and Eastern Railroad company.

A capital tax of 50 cents on each $1,000 of capital stock of corporations foreign to the state and on that part of the capital stock used in North Dakota was imposed by the legislature of North Dakota, March 7, 1919. The tax on the five plaintiff railroad companies amounted to $55,569.04 in 1919, and in 1920 to $53,833.57.

Main Objection.

The main objection to the levy was made by M. L. Countryman, representing the companies, in court today, is that the allocation of the tax was made on the proportion of the companies physical property in North Dakota to the total physical property of the roads in the United States. This proportion was determined by the taxing officials of North Dakota to be 14½ per cent in the case of the Northern Pacific, which D. F. Lyons for the Northern Pacific alleges the company's business in North Dakota is only 2½ per cent of the total business done.

The law provides that the amount of capital tax shall be based upon the proportion of the business done in the state to the total business with a provision that if these figures are not easily obtained the proportion may be based upon the proportion of property in the state to the total properties of the corporation.

Figures Furnished.

Mr. Countryman insisted that the Great Northern had furnished George Wallace, tax commissioner of North Dakota, with the figures showing the intrastate business and the proportion of the interstate business that could have been justly taxed by North Dakota, but that Mr. Wallace had chosen to use the property proportion because it was greater than the business test.

Another objection was that the railroads were in the hands of the government during the two years for which the tax has been in effect and up to March 20, 1920, and that the government would be responsible for any tax that could be levied.

Frank Packard, assistant attorney general of North Dakota, in opposing the issuance of the injunction, cited an Arkansas case in which he alleged the courts had sanctioned the use of the property test in allocating taxes within a state.

The judges took the matter under advisement after the arguments.

Defendants named are these officers of the state of North Dakota: George Wallace, tax commissioner; Obert A. Olson, treasurer; Carl A. Kositzky, auditor; William Langer, attorney general, and Thomas Hall, secretary of state.

Ashlander Sentenced.
